The error in this argument lies in the assumption that the Statute contemplates that the employee representatives will represent only Puerto Rico employees. However, section 5 (b) requires that they represent "employees in the industry" and directs the Administrator, in the appointment of persons representing each group, to "give due regard to the geographical regions in which the industry is carried on." Lest there be the slightest doubt that the phrase "representing employees in the industry" includes the representation of employees on the continent as well as those on the Island, section 5 (a) requires the membership of the Committee to include residents of Puerto Rico and of the United States outside of Puerto Rico, and section 8 recognizes the interest of the mainland in these proceedings to the extent that the Committee is obliged to avoid any recommendation which will give "any industry in Puerto Rico or in the Virgin Islands a competitive advantage over any industry in the United States outside of Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands."

I find therefore, that the Committee fairly represents the public and the employers and employees in the industry; that due regard has been given in the appointment of the Committee to the geographical regions in which the industry is carried on; and that the Committee has been duly constituted in accordance with law.

The "Jem Group" next objects that the Administrator failed to find that the rate proposed will not give an unfair competitive advantage to the industry on the mainland over the industry in Puerto Rico, and urges that such a finding could not be made upon the record. This objection is based on the assumption that section 8 (c) requires the proposed order to be supported by a finding that it "will not give a competitive advantage to any group in the industry." Actually section 8 (c) merely makes this consideration pertinent to the question of whether classifications within the industry should be recommended or established. As none of the objections contend that the proposed order is wrong in failing to provide classifications within the industry, there is no statutory basis for this objection.

In addition, my assessment of the evidence in the record would lead me to find that the proposed order would not give a competitive advantage to that part of the industry on the continent even if this were pertinent. The evidence in the record convinces me that the proposed order will not substantially curtail employment either in that part of the industry in Puerto Rico or in that part in the United States outside of Puerto Rico. Under the competitive conditions I have considered, this would lead me to make the finding, if it were pertinent, which the "Jem Group" complains I have not made.

The "Jem Group" next objects to any inferences concerning the profit and loss position of employers in the industry in Puerto Rico based on Administrator's Exhibit No. 5, because that exhibit gives data as to only twelve firms. These twelve firms are all those in Puerto Rico who reported this information to the income tax authorities of the Insular Government. The "Jem Group" consists of five of the twelve firms and they alone employ half of the employees in the industry in Puerto Rico. The general manager of the "Jem Group" verified the accuracy of this exhibit as it applied to them. There was no evidence indicating that this exhibit was not fairly indicative of the profit and loss position of all employers in this industry in Puerto Rico. Under these circumstances I feel it fair to, and do, infer that this exhibit fairly represents the profit and loss position of this industry in Puerto Rico.

I have reviewed all other objections and exceptions to the proposed decision and find that no new matter has been presented which I have not previously considered in the document entitled "Findings and Opinion of the Administrator in the Matter of the Recommendations of Special Industry Committee No. 15 for Puerto Rico for a Minimum Wage Rate in the Corsets, Brassieres, and Allied Garments Industry.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 1060, as amended 29 U. S. This order shall take precedence over but not otherwise affect the Departmental orders of November 3, 1936, and December 4, 1940, establishing Idaho Grazing Districts Nos. 3 and 5, respectively.

The use of the lands by the Department of the Air Force shall be subject to the following conditions:

(1) The Department of the Air Force shall take all reasonable precautions to prevent and suppress brush and range fires and the pollution of water on or in the vicinity of the land.

(2) Authorized representatives of the Department of the Interior and other Federal or state officials have the right to enter the area on official business with the permission of the commanding officer of the Air Force base.

(3) The Department of the Air Force shall not enclose roads or trails commonly in public use except at such time as it may be necessary to do so in the interest of safety or national security at the discretion of the commanding officer at the Air Force base.

(4) The Department of the Air Force is authorized to use the area each year from January 1 to March 31, and from July 1 to September 30, all dates inclusive. Grazing use of the area will be permitted by the Bureau of Land Management on the withdrawn area from April 1 to June 30 and October 1 to December 31, all dates inclusive. The Department of the Air Force will destroy all unexploded bombs and other types of ammunitions left on the area prior to April 1 and October 1 of each year.

(5) Pursuant to regulations of the Department of the Army, the Air Force will adequately post the area, specifying the dates closed and open for public use.

(6) The Department of the Air Force shall be responsible for the prevention and prompt suppression of range fires occurring within the withdrawn area between January 1 to March 31 and July 1 to September 30, and outside of the withdrawn area resulting from military use for the periods from January 1 to March 31 and July 1 to September 30 of each year. The Department of the Air Force may enter into an agreement with the local officer of the Bureau of Land Management to provide for the suppression of range fires prior to the beginning of the fire season. Such agreements may thereafter be modified if conditions warrant by mutual agreement.

(7) The Department of the Air Force will exercise every reasonable precaution to prevent the destruction of range resources and to provide for reseeding or such other rehabilitation work as may be necessary on areas damaged either by them or on public domain lands outside of the withdrawn area resulting from military use. Such rehabilitation will be accomplished under cooperative agreement mutually satisfactory to the Air Force and the Bureau of Land Management.

(8) The Department of the Air Force shall repair, restore, or replace existing and future mutually agreed upon range improvements such as roads, fences, wells, reservoirs, etc, damaged or demolished from military operations under such arrangements as may be mutually agreeable between the Department of the Army and the Bureau of Land Management.

(9) The Bureau of Land Management may with the consent of the commanding officer or other representatives designated by the Department of the Air Force authorize additional livestock use of the area during periods other than those specifically provided herein.

(10) The Department of the Air Force recognizing the presence of the need for control of poisonous plant halogeten glomeratus will enter into such cooperative agreements with the Bureau of Land Management as may be necessary to carry out such approved control measures, including chemical treatment or reseeding of disturbed areas as may be necessary to suppress and control the infestation.

GENERAL REGULATIONS GOVERNING IMPORTS OF CERTAIN AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the Department is considering the issuance, pursuant to authority contained in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933, as amended, and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), hereinafter referred to as the "act," of general regulations to govern the importation of tomatoes, avocados, mangoes, limes, grapefruit, green peppers, Irish potatoes, cucumbers, and eggplants during periods when regulatory orders are effective under marketing orders regulating the handling of such commodities produced in the United States.

General. The act provides that, whenever a marketing order issued pursuant to section 8c thereof contains any terms or conditions regulating the grade, size, quality, or maturity of any of the agricultural commodities listed in section 8c that are produced in the United States, the importation into the United States of any such commodity during the period of time such order is in effect shall, with certain exceptions, be prohibited unless it complies with the grade, size, quality, and maturity provisions of such order or comparable restrictions promulgated under the act.

Additional provisions regulating imports of the particular commodities listed in the act may be issued from time to time. The provisions will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER reasonably in advance of the date on which they will become applicable to imports. Currently, only avocados, grapefruit, and Irish potatoes are regulated under marketing order programs but the regulations will be applicable to the other listed commodities when marketing orders become applicable to them.

NURSERY STOCK, PLANTS, AND SEEDS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) that pursuant to § 319.37–16 of the regulations supplemental to Nursery Stock, Plant, and Seed Quarantine No. 37 (7 CFR, 1953 Supp., 319.37–16) under sections 1, 5, and 9 of the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 154, 159, 162) the Administrator of the Agricultural Research Service is considering amending the introductory portion of paragraph (a) of administrative instructions (B. E. P. Q. 571, 2d Revision, effective September 1, 1953), listing approved packing materials and instructions for their use, appearing in 7 CFR, 1953 Supp., 319.37–16a (a) to read as follows:

§ 319.37–16a Administrative instructions listing approved packing materials and instructions for their use. (a) The following materials, when free from sand, soil, or earth, unless otherwise noted, and when they have not been previously used as packing or otherwise with living plants, are approved as packing materials for use in connection with any shipment of restricted plant material imported in accordance with §§ 319.37 to 319.37–28; and such materials when free from sand, soil, or earth, unless otherwise noted, are also approved as packing materials for plants grown exclusively in such materials which have not previously been used in association with living plants other than those that are offered for entry:

* * * * *

The above amendment would have the effect: (1) Of continuing the authorization presently contained in § 319.37–16a for the importation of plants freed of sand, soil, or earth, and packed in one of the approved packing materials; and (2) of authorizing the importation of plants which are growing, and have been grown exclusively, in any of the approved packing materials that have not previously been used in association with other living plants but have been used solely with the plants offered for entry into this country. Packing materials which contain sand, soil, or earth, (except as specified in § 319.37–16a for coral sand from Bermuda and subsoil from Japan and the Ryukyu Islands) or which have been previously used with plants other than those with which they are associated at the time of their entry into the United States, would still be disqualified.

In the inspection of imported plants emphasis would continue to be placed on the freedom from sand, soil, or earth requirement. Entry would be refused to plants found by inspection to be contaminated by sand, soil, or earth. Other conditions of entry would not be affected by this amendment.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with this matter should file the same with the Chief of the Plant Quarantine Branch, Agricultural Research Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days after the date of the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

NOTICES

[Order No. E–8685; Docket No. 6873]

SLICK AIRWAYS, INC., AND FLYING TIGER LINE, INC.

ORDER ON AGREEMENT

In the matter of an agreement filed pursuant to section 412 (a) of the act between Slick Airways, Inc., and The Flying Tiger Line, Inc., Agreement CAB No. 8286; Joint application by these carriers for an exemption of said agreement from the requirements of section 408 of the act, Docket No. 6873.

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 4th day of October 1954.

Order No. E–8022 (Docket No. 6047) adopted January 7, 1954, approved the merger agreement between Slick Airways, Inc. (Slick) and The Flying Tiger Line, Inc. (Tiger) subject to certain labor protective conditions. On August 20, 1954, these carriers filed a joint petition requesting substantial modification in said labor protective conditions through a summary show cause order procedure, with a hearing date on such order to be set no later than September 15, 1954. The carriers alleged that if the proposed modifications were not made an accomplished fact within a few weeks, the merger would have to be abandoned.

On September 20, 1954, the carriers filed the subject agreement (Agreement CAB No. 8286) with the Board under section 412 of the act with an application under section 416 (b) for exemption of the agreement from the requirements of section 408 of the act (Docket No. 6873). The agreement provides that (1) the merger agreement, approved in Docket No. 6047, will be abrogated; (2) Slick will sell Tiger two DC–6A aircraft for $800,000 each, a price equal to their value on Slick's books; (3) Tiger will lease to Slick the aircraft so purchased for $25,000 each a month for six years with an option to renew for three years at $5,000 each a month; (4) Tiger will lease to Slick a DC–6A owned by Tiger for $30,000 a month for three years, and will also lease seven C–46 aircraft owned by Tiger for $1,500 each a month for two years with an option to renew for two years; (5) Tiger will withdraw its application for renewal of its certificate of public convenience and necessity (Docket No. 4770) and will cease operations as a carrier of air freight between points in the United States (except under contract with the U. S. Government) during the pendency of the longest lease made or renewed under the subject agreement; (6) the carriers will settle accounts between them pursuant to a settlement agreement dated September 20, 1954; (7) the agreement is to be nullified unless Board approval or exemption of the agreement is granted prior to October 8, 1954. In support thereof, it is alleged that (1) the carriers cannot complete the merger and continue in the air freight business because of the magnitude of the potential liability under the labor protective conditions included in Order No. E–8022, and because the Board has not seen fit to modify these provisions by September 15, 1954 as requested;[1] (2) because of the shortage of DC–6A flight equipment, the carriers cannot operate independently and successfully compete with each other and with the other major carriers for the freight business; (3) continuation of operations, which in anticipation of merger have been in some degree combined, is impossible with separation in the offing; (4) compliance with section 408 would render the subject agreement impossible; unless this agreement can be put into effect by October 1 or immediately thereafter, it cannot be consummated; (5) the agreement raises no questions which were not fully tried in Docket No. 6047; (6) a hearing under section 408 would impose an undue burden on Slick, would seriously jeopardize and interfere with the service which the public receives, and is not in the public interest.

[1] The Board by Order No. E–8645, adopted September 20, 1954, denied the petition of the carriers filed on August 20, 1954.

On September 21, 1954, Carey E. Bowles on behalf of himself and other Tiger minority stockholders filed telegraphic objection to the subject application, and suggested that a full hearing was desirable. On September 27, 1954, the International Association of Machinists filed an answer alleging that a hearing is required: (1) Because the joint petition does not state in detail the facts relied upon; (2) to determine whether the agreement is motivated by economic necessity or by the desire to eliminate obligation to employees. On the same date, the Airline Pilots in Employ of Flying Tiger Line, Inc. (Tiger Pilots) filed a statement requesting denial of the joint petition, and in support thereof allege, inter alia, (a) the allegation in petition respecting the shortage of DC–6A aircraft contradicts representations in Docket No. 4770; (b) agreement is an attempt, without hearing, to consolidate Slick and Tiger without any provision for Tiger employee protection, contrary to Order No. E–8645; (c) change of circumstances since Docket No. 6047, particularly the probable financial inability of Slick to fulfill terms of the agreement, should be investigated; (d) Tiger proposes to change the character of operations without submitting the agreement to its stockholders. On September 28, 1954, the Air Line Pilots Association, International filed a petition for leave to intervene, alleging, inter alia, that approval of the agreement without an adequate inquiry into its effect upon pilots and co-pilots of the carriers and without adequate provision of preservation of pilots' rights under existing employment agreements would defeat the policies of the act and foment labor disturbances.

After consideration of all of the foregoing, we have concluded that the joint petition of Slick and Tiger should be set down for oral argument before the Board. We are not insensitive to the need of the carriers to secure expeditious relief from the problems which have beset them as a result of their combination of operations in reliance upon Board approval of the merger. In the view of the carriers, such relief calls for immediate and summary action by the Board. On the other hand, opponents to the carriers' application allege that a vindication of their rights in the situation calls for a full evidentiary hearing by the Board.

Upon review of the pleadings filed herein, we conclude that we do not possess sufficient facts to grant the petition for exemption or approve the agreement without further proceedings. On the other hand, we are not convinced that a full hearing is required at this time for the opponents to the carriers' application to make an adequate presentation of facts and argument in support of their position. The Board is desirous of receiving additional factual information and argument from the parties on the problems raised by the agreement, and believes that their resolution may result in greater expedition of these proceedings.

The Board particularly desires to receive factual material and oral argument directed to the following specific questions:

(1) Is it in the public interest to approve the agreements between Slick and Tiger relating to termination of merger operations without a hearing under section 412 of the act, and to grant the parties an exemption of said agreements from the requirements of section 408 of the act?

(2) If the answer to the foregoing is in the affirmative, should the Board attach any conditions to the grant of such approval and/or exemption?

Factual material and supporting factual data should be presented in affidavit form, and should be served upon all parties herein and three copies transmitted to the Docket Section at least three (3) days in advance of the argument.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That all parties herein be and they hereby are accorded the opportunity to submit additional factual material and data on or before October 8, 1954 and to present oral argument to the Board limited to the foregoing issues and specific questions on or before October 11, 1954.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Secretary.

PART 922—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

LIMITATION OF HANDLING

§ 922.325 Valencia Orange Regulation 25—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Order No. 22 (19 F. R. 1741), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective March 31, 1954, under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The Valencia Orange Administrative Committee held an open meeting on October 7, 1954, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Valencia oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein was promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Valencia oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date of this section.

PART 984—HANDLING OF WALNUTS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA, OREGON, AND WASHINGTON

CONTROL PERCENTAGES

Notice of proposed rule making regarding the fixing of control percentages for walnuts during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 18, 1954 (19 F. R. 6042), pursuant to the provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 105 and Order No. 84, as amended, regulating the handling of walnuts grown in California, Oregon, and Washington (19 F. R. 4214), effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). In said notice opportunity was afforded interested persons to submit to the Department written data, views, or arguments for consideration prior to issuance of the final rule fixing the percentages. Except as indicated below, no such submissions were made.

On September 20, 1954, the Walnut Control Board which administers the amended agreement and order not to review the estimates and control percentages recommendations which it had made at its August 20, 1954, meeting. The Board has submitted to the Department its revised estimates and recommendations regarding changes in control percentages adopted at its September 20, 1954, meeting.

The Board on the basis of its revised estimates has recommended that the surplus control percentages as proposed by the Department be adopted. With respect to control percentages for merchantable unshelled walnuts, however, the Board recommended that the merchantable free percentage be fixed at 66⅔ percent, instead of 70 percent as proposed by the Department, and that the merchantable restricted and merchantable allocation percentages be changed accordingly. The Board argued that a carryover of approximately 10,500,000 pounds of merchantable unshelled walnuts on August 1, 1955, would amply provide for the requirements of the domestic inshell market during the early part of the 1955–56 marketing year prior to the availability of new crop supplies. A carryover of this size would compare with 10,656,100 pounds on August 1, 1954, and an average of 11,955,400 pounds for the five seasons, 1949–50 through 1953–54. The Department concurs in the Board's view that the projected carryover of merchantable unshelled walnuts on August 1, 1955, should be revised and estimated at 10,551,000 pounds and that the merchantable free percentage should be fixed at 66⅔ percent, the merchantable restricted percentage at 33⅓ percent, and the merchantable allocation percentage at 50 percent.

Therefore, after consideration of all relevant matters, it is hereby found that that following administrative rule will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

§ 984.206 Control, merchantable allocation, and diversion percentages, for walnuts during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954. During the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, the following percentages shall be in effect: Merchantable free percentage, 66⅔ percent; merchantable restricted percentage, 33⅓ percent; merchantable allocation percentage, 50 percent; marketable percentage, 92 percent; surplus percentage, 8 percent; and diversion percentage, 8.7 percent.

It is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this administrative rule effective upon its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, instead of waiting 30 days after publication, for the reasons that (1) it is desirable that the control percentages be fixed prior to or as soon as practicable after growers begin to deliver 1954 crop walnuts to handlers, (2) such deliveries of 1954 crop walnuts are beginning, and (3) compliance with this administrative rule will not require handlers to make any advance preparation of a special nature.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 5th day of October 1954, to become effective upon publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Section 23.25 (a), Customs Regulations, relating to remission or mitigation of penalties by collectors of customs, amended.

In view of the large number of penalty cases under sections 453 and 584, Tariff Act of 1930, arising in Customs Collection District No. 10 (New York), and since there is a solicitor to the collector in that district who considers petitions for remission or mitigation in such cases, it is deemed advisable to authorize the collector for that district to remit or mitigate, in appropriate cases, penalties incurred under those sections which do not aggregate over $1,000 with respect to one offender in one case. Accordingly, § 23.25 (a) of the Customs Regulations is amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

(6) The collector of customs at the port of New York may remit or mitigate penalties incurred in his district under section 453 or 584, Tariff Act of 1930, provided the aggregate of the penalties incurred under either or both sections by the offender in the case under consideration does not exceed $1,000.

PART 22—LIGHTER-THAN-AIR PILOT CERTIFICATES

NIGHT FLIGHT REQUIREMENT

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 5th day of October, 1954.

Currently effective § 22.13(g) of Part 22 of the Civil Air Regulations requires that an applicant for a free balloon pilot certificate have accomplished 2 night ascents of an average duration of 2 hours each under the supervision of a certificated free balloon pilot. This requirement was adopted with the intention of making our rules for the issuance of such a certificate conform to the recommended standards established by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). Although 2 instructional night flights are specified by ICAO before a pilot may serve as pilot in command on night flights, there is no such requirement for the issuance of a free balloon pilot certificate. Since there has been little activity in free balloon flying in the United States, this error in setting forth such a night flight requirement was not detected. The purpose of this amendment is to delete the night flight requirement for the issuance of a free balloon pilot certificate.

Since this amendment is minor in nature and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary, and it may be made effective without prior notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 22 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 22, as amended) effective immediately:

By amending § 22.13 (g) by deleting the phrase "2 night ascents of an average duration of 2 hours each under such supervision,".

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

CEILING AND DISTANCE FROM CLOUDS

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of October 1954.

Currently effective § 60.30 of Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations prescribes that when operating under visual flight rules aircraft shall not be flown less than 500 feet vertically from clouds or less than 2,000 feet horizontally from clouds. The purpose of this rule is to provide clearance between aircraft breaking out from clouds and aircraft operating above, under, or between clouds. In view of the rapid rate of ascent and the increased speed of modern pressurized aircraft, it is desirable to provide greater clearance between such aircraft breaking out of clouds while climbing and aircraft operating over clouds. This amendment, therefore, changes the visual flight rules of Part 60 to provide that while flying over clouds, aircraft shall not be flown less than 1,000 feet vertically from clouds or less than 2,000 feet horizontally from clouds. It is to be noted that the 1,000-foot vertical separation when flying above clouds is not intended to affect the present 500-foot vertical separation when flying under the clouds. Therefore the word "under" has been inserted after the word "vertically".

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 60, as amended) effective November 10, 1954.

By amending § 60.30 to read as follows:

§ 60.30 Ceiling and distance from clouds. Aircraft shall comply with the following requirements as to ceiling and distance from clouds:

(a) Within control zones. Unless authorized by air traffic control, aircraft shall not be flown:

(1) Less than 500 feet vertically under, 1,000 feet vertically over, and 2,000 feet horizontally from any cloud formation; or

(2) Beneath the ceiling when it is less than 1,000 feet.

(b) Elsewhere. (1) When at an altitude of more than 700 feet above the surface, aircraft shall not be flown less than 500 feet vertically under, 1,000 feet vertically over, and 2,000 feet horizontally from any cloud formation;

(2) When at an altitude of 700 feet above the surface or less, aircraft shall not be flown unless clear of clouds.

(Sec. 205; 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies sec. 601; 52 Stat. 1007, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551)

AGE-4—Compensation Payable to Agents, General Agents and Berth Agents

COMPENSATION OF GENERAL AGENTS FOR HUSBANDING SERVICES, ETC.

Paragraph (a) of section 2, Compensation of General Agents for husbanding services, etc. of NSA Order No. 47 (AGE-4) published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of September 29, 1951 (16 F. R. 9983) as amended by Amendment 1 (16 F. R. 12019), Amendment 4 (18 F. R. 2174), Amendment 5 (19 F. R. 1410), and Amendment 6 (19 F. R. 5628), is hereby further amended by adding a new subparagraph designated "(5)" following subparagraph "(4)" which shall read as follows:

(5) Vessels withdrawn from Reserve Fleets for repairs. Effective as of August 1, 1954:

(i) Mariner ships; turbine repairs and stripping. $75.00 per day for each day the vessel is under tow from and to a Reserve Fleet and during actual stripping operation; $25.00 per day for each day such vessel is not under tow or not being stripped, as determined by the Coast Director, while assigned under this Program: Provided, That, if a vessel does not require stripping, compensation shall be payable in the sum of $25.00 per day for each day it is under assignment, whether or not under tow.

(ii) Vessels in Emergency Ship Repair Program. $50.00 per day for each day the vessel is under tow while assigned under this Program.

§ 145.11 Supervision. (a) The Official State Agency may designate qualified persons as Authorized Agents to do the selecting, blood collecting and blood testing work provided for in §§ 145.5, 145.10, and 145.14.

(b) The Official State Agency shall employ or authorize qualified persons as State Inspectors to perform, or supervise the performance of, the selecting and testing of participating flocks and to perform the official inspections necessary to verify compliance with the requirements of the Plan.

§ 145.12 Inspections. (a) Each participating hatchery shall be inspected a sufficient number of times each year to satisfy the Official State Agency that the operations of the hatchery are in compliance with the provisions of the Plan.

(b) Each year a sample of the flocks selected and tested by Authorized Agents shall be inspected by a State Inspector. This must include the inspection of some flocks of each hatchery. Each flock inspection shall include the examination of a sufficient number of males and females and the blood testing of a sufficient number of birds to determine whether the work of the Authorized Agent was satisfactory and that the flock is qualified for participation.

§ 145.13 Debarment from participation. Non-compliance with the provisions of the Plan, or regulations of the Official State Agency under § 145.2, not corrected within the time specified by the Official State Agency, shall be grounds for the Official State Agency to bar a participant from further participation for a period to be determined in each case by the Official State Agency. Such action shall not be taken until a thorough investigation has been made by the Official State Agency and the participant has been given an opportunity for a hearing.

§ 145.14 Blood testing. (a) The official blood test shall be the standard tube agglutination test, the rapid serum test, or the stained-antigen, rapid, whole-blood test, conducted by an Authorized Agent or State Inspector. (e) All tests with salmonella antigens of flocks participating in or candidates for participation in the Plan shall be reported to the Official State Agency within 10 days following the completion of such tests. All reactors shall be considered in determining the classification of the flock.

(f) Reactors may be submitted to a laboratory for autopsy and bacteriological examination. The laboratory and the number of reactors to be submitted shall be designated by the Official State Agency. The recommended minimum procedure for bacteriological examination is described in Subpart B, Part 147 of this chapter. In case such bacteriological examination fails to demonstrate pullorum or typhoid infection, the flock shall be deemed to have had no pullorum or typhoid reactors. If other members of the Salmonella group are isolated, the Official State Agency may disqualify the flock for participation, or require such other action as is deemed necessary with respect to the infection.

(iii) Eggs shall be collected and hatched from the test pen a minimum of twice a year and as many more times as feasible with available facilities.

(iv) A sufficient number of eggs shall be set to produce 200 straight run chicks. This figure may be modified, depending on the number of entries to be tested, the facilities available, and the number of growth trials to be conducted annually.

§ 146.11 Supervision. (a) The Official State Agency may designate qualified persons as Authorized Agents to do the selecting, blood collecting and blood testing work provided for in §§ 146.5, 146.10, and 146.14.

(b) The Official State Agency shall employ or authorize qualified persons as State Inspectors to perform, or supervise the performance of the selecting and testing of participating flocks and to perform the official inspections necessary to verify compliance with the requirments of the Plan.

§ 146.12 Inspections. (a) Each participating hatchery shall be inspected a sufficient number of times each year to satisfy the Official State Agency that the operations of the hatchery are in compliance with the provisions of the Plan.

(b) Each year at least 15 percent of the flocks selected and tested by Authorized Agents shall be inspected by a State Inspector. This must include the inspection of some flocks of each hatchery. Each flock inspection shall include the examination of a sufficient number of males and females to determine whether the work of the Authorized Agent was satisfactory and that the flock is qualified for participation.

§ 146.13 Debarment from participation. Non-compliance with the provisions of the Plan, or regulations of the Official State Agency under § 146.2, not corrected within the time specified by the Official State Agency, shall be grounds for the Official State Agency to bar a participant from further participation for a period to be determined in each case by the Official State Agency. Such action shall not be taken until a thorough investigation has been made by the Official State Agency and the participant has been given an opportunity for a hearing.

§ 146.14 Blood testing. (a) In the official blood test, the blood shall be drawn by an Authorized Agent or State Inspector and tested by an authorized laboratory, using either the Standard Tube Agglutination or Rapid Serum test. The recommended procedures for conducting such tests are described in Subpart A, Part 147, of this chapter.

(b) There shall be an interval of at least 21 days between any official blood test and any previous test with pullorum-typhoid antigen.

(c) All turkeys to be used as breeders must be tested when more than four months of age.

(d) All domesticated fowl on the farm of the participant shall either be properly tested to meet the same standards as the participating flock or these birds and their eggs shall be separated from the participating flock and its eggs.

(e) All tests with Salmonella antigens of flocks participating in or candidates for participation in the Plan shall be reported to the Official State Agency within 10 days following the completion of such tests. All reactors shall be considered in determining the classification of the flock.

(f) Reactors may be submitted to a laboratory for autopsy and bacteriological examination. The laboratory and the number of reactors to be submitted shall be designated by the Official State Agency. The recommended minimum procedure for bacteriological examination is described in Subpart B, Part 147 of this chapter. In case such bacteriological examination fails to demonstrate pullorum or typhoid infection, the flock shall be deemed to have had no pullorum or typhoid reactors. If other members of the Salmonella group are isolated, the Official State Agency may disqualify the flock for participation, or require such other action as is deemed necessary with respect to the infection.

(g) After a flock has been classified by the Official State Agency, the results of any retesting of such flocks during the current breeding and hatching season shall not adversely affect its classification for the season, except that if in the opinion of the Official State Agency the amount of reaction found in any flock is such as to be dangerous or detrimental to the operation of the Plan, the Official State Agency shall require that such flock or flocks be retested after an interval of at least 21 days, or that use of such flocks as sources of eggs for participants be immediately discontinued. Furthermore, the Official State Agency may require that the hatching eggs from such flocks be removed from the incubator and destroyed prior to hatching.

§ 146.15 USROP; general. The ROP classification is based on records of egg production, hatchability, and body weight made on the breeder's premises under supervision of the Official State Agency. Records made at State colleges of agriculture and State and Federal experiment stations may be recognized as USROP by Official State Agencies in qualifying birds for use of USROP breeders.

§ 146.16 USROP; participation. (a) Any person who, in the opinion of the Official State Agency has the facilities for conducting a systematic program of turkey breeding is eligible for ROP participation.

(b) The participant's farm and all egg production, pedigree and sales records shall be subject at all times to unannounced inspections by a State Inspector.

(c) All young hens of the variety entered which are trap-nested on the premises of an ROP participant shall be considered as entered in ROP.

(d) After the first two years of ROP participation, the participant shall maintain at least five candidate matings.

(e) The term "USROP" or "ROP" may be used in advertising products by any person only if he is a USROP participant and if his candidates have met all the requirements of this classification for the current or preceding season.

(f) The participant shall send to the ROP supervisor not later than the tenth day of each month, a complete report of all trapnesting for the previous month. At the end of each four hatches, he shall also send to the ROP Supervisor on form NPIP 8 (or substitute form) a complete record of all pedigreed eggs set, poults hatched and poults banded.

§ 146.17 USROP; candidate matings. These matings shall be comprised of ROP candidate hens and ROP toms to which the following provisions apply:

(a) Each hen shall be identified with an official sealed and numbered band.

(b) Only one tom, or two full brothers, shall be allowed in a mating at any one time and the date of entry and removal of toms shall be properly recorded.

(c) The hens shall be trapnested at regular intervals each day for at least 8 consecutive weeks.

(d) Each egg shall be accurately identified as to the hen that laid it.

(e) For each hen an accurate record shall be kept of (1) the eggs laid during the trapnesting period; (2) number of eggs sold; (3) number of eggs incubated; (4) number of poults hatched; and (5) number of poults banded.

(f) Each hen shall be weighed by the breeder or the ROP Inspector about the time the candidate begins egg production, and the weight shall be recorded as the nearest whole number.

(g) The poults from these matings shall be banded with sealed and numbered official wing bands marked "Cand".

§ 146.18 USROP; qualification of hens. An ROP candidate hen which is a reasonably good representative of the variety in the judgment of the ROP inspector, may qualify as an ROP hen if such candidate:

(a) Produces eggs at the rate of at least 50 percent for a period of at least eight consecutive weeks from the date the first normal egg is laid in a trapnest; and

(b) Produces eggs that hatch at the rate of at least 70 percent of all eggs set with a minimum of 20 poults hatched. The qualifying requirements for hatchability may be reduced to 65 percent when eggs are hatched at altitudes of 3,000 to 3,499 feet and to 60 percent at altitudes of 3,500 feet or more. All normal eggs produced by the candidate during a period of at least eight consecutive weeks shall be set. Hatchability agreed upon by the breeder and the supervisor and shall be expressed as a whole number (fractions rounded to the nearest whole number).

§ 146.19 USROP; qualification of toms. Toms may qualify for the ROP classification if they are: (a) Produced from ROP poults or from candidate hens which subsequently qualify as ROP hens;

(b) Good representatives of the variety with strong constitutional vigor when examined by the State Inspector not earlier than at 22 weeks of age; and

(c) Banded with an ROP sealed and numbered leg band when passed by the Inspector.

§ 146.20 USROP; exceptions to requirements for qualification. (a) When any disastrous event occurs that affects the breeder's ROP work, and when such event is immediately brought to the attention of his Official State Agency, this agency may, with the consent of the APH Branch, make an equitable adjustment in the application of the qualifying requirements to such breeder.

(b) To make it possible for a breeder to get started in ROP breeding work within his own strain, during the first year of such work on his farm the tom mated with ROP candidate hens in ROP candidate matings need not be a ROP tom provided he is of equal pedigree or is a U. S. Approved tom of outstanding quality. Such toms may be used in similar matings during the second year of ROP breeding work, if re-examined and passed by the inspector. No eggs or progeny from such a mating shall be sold as ROP products. Young toms whose dams qualify for ROP classification may head U. S. Certified flocks owned or controlled by the breeder and may head ROP qualified matings on the breeder's premises.

§ 146.21 USROP; qualified matings. These matings shall be comprised of ROP hens and ROP toms and shall be maintained in accordance with the provisions of § 146.17 (a), (b), (c), (d), and (e).

§ 146.22 USROP; mass matings. (a) These matings shall be comprised of ROP hens with a hatchability record of 85 percent or more, and ROP toms produced from hens with hatchability records of 85 percent or more.

(b) Pen egg production and hatchability records shall be kept.

(c) Poults from these matings shall be identified with sealed wing bands marked "Mass mated."

§ 146.24 USROP; poults. Such poults shall be those produced only from ROP hatching eggs. The poults from each hen shall be individually pedigreed by the ROP breeder or State inspector and identified with sealed and numbered official wing bands at the time of hatching.

(a) Within five days after incubation has begun, send to the Official State Agency a list of the ROP eggs purchased.

(b) Within 5 days after hatching time, send to the Official State Agency a list of the poults hatched from each dam and their respective wing band numbers.

§ 146.26 USROP; sale of products. (a) When ROP products are sold the seller shall, at the time of shipment, send to his ROP Supervisor a report in triplicate showing: (1) the name and address of the purchaser; (2) a list of the products sold with the pen or sire number and dam number of each; and (3) the egg production, hatchability and body weight of each dam.

(b) These reports shall be verified by the ROP Supervisor, who shall retain one copy and send one copy to the purchaser and one to the Official State Agency of the State to which the products are shipped.

§ 146.27 USROP; duties of ROP Supervisor. The ROP Supervisor shall represent the Official State Agency in the supervision of ROP participation. He shall: (a) keep on file in his office for at least five years a record of (1) all ROP qualified toms, with at least one-generation pedigree showing ROP records of the female ancestors; (2) all ROP qualified hens, with records of their egg production, hatchability and body weight; (3) all ROP qualified and candidate matings; and (4) all ROP poults with at least one-generation pedigree;

(7) Average rate of egg production in percent for all candidate hens;

(8) Average hatchability of all eggs set from all candidate hens.

§ 146.28 USROP; duties of ROP Inspector. The ROP Inspector shall work under the direction of the ROP Supervisor. He shall: (a) Visit and inspect the work of each ROP breeder at least three times each year. His visits shall be unannounced, and at least two shall be during the trapnest period;

(b) On each visit during the trapnest period (1) do the trapnesting for the day; (2) record the eggs laid by all hens entered for ROP classification and (3) examine hens apparently out of production and determine whether they are being credited with eggs;

(c) On at least one visit examine all birds in both ROP matings and ROP candidate matings to see that birds in these matings are properly listed with the supervisor;

(d) Compare the number of eggs being incubated from each hen with the number she is credited with having laid during the corresponding period and subsequently with the number of poults reported hatched and wingbanded. (He shall have authority to examine for fertility the eggs being incubated);

(e) Weigh each ROP candidate as provided in § 146.17 (f) or check the weights of a sufficient number of candidates weighed by the breeder to satisfy himself that such weights are correct;

(f) Examine all tom and hen candidates for ROP qualification and band with sealed and numbered leg bands all qualified birds to be used or sold as being of the ROP classification. The body weight and the wing-and-leg-band numbers of all toms banded shall be recorded at the time of such examination and banding.

SUBPART A—BLOOD TESTING PROCEDURES

§ 147.1 The standard tube agglutination test.[1] (a) The blood samples should be collected and delivered as follows:

(1) The blood samples should be taken by properly qualified and authorized persons only, and in containers provided by the laboratory. The containers should be stout-walled test tubes preferable ⅜ by 3 inches, without lip, or small well-selected medicine vials, which have been thoroughly cleaned and dried in a hot-air drying oven. If stoppers are used they should be thoroughly cleaned and dried.

(2) Sufficient blood should be procured by making a small incision in the large median wing vein with a small sharp lancet and allowing the blood to run into the tube, or by the use of a small syringe (with 20 or 21 gage needle) which is properly cleansed between bleedings with physiological saline solution. To facilitate the separation of the serum the tubes are placed in a slanted position until the blood has solidified. After the blood has completely clotted, they are packed and shipped by mail (special delivery), rapid express, or by messenger, to the laboratory. All labeling must be clear and permanent, and may be done with a suitable pencil on etched portions of the tube, or by means of fast-gum labels.

(3) The blood samples must reach the laboratory in a fresh and unhemolyzed condition. Hemolyzed samples should be rejected. It is imperative, therefore, to cool the tubes immediately after slanting and clotting, and unless they reach the laboratory within a few hours, to pack them with ice in special containers, or by some other cooling system which will insure their preservation during transportation. In severe cold seasons, extreme precautions must be exercised to prevent freezing and consequent laking. The samples must be placed in cold (5° to 10° C.) storage, immediately upon arrival at the laboratory.

(b) The antigen shall consist of representative strains of S. pullorum which are known antigenic composition, high agglutinability, but are not sensitive to negative and nonspecific sera. The stock cultures may be maintained satisfactorily by transferring to new sloped agar at least once a month and keeping at 18° to 24° C. (average room temperature) in a dark closet or chest, following incubation for from 25 to 36 hours at 37° C. The antigenic composition and purity of the stock cultures should be checked consistently.

(c) A satisfactory medium which has been used for a long time has the following composition:

Water	1,000 cc.
Difco beef extract	4 gm. (0.4 percent)
Difco Bacto-peptone	10 gm. (1.0 percent)
Difco dry-granular agar.	20 gm. (2.0 percent)

Reaction-pH 6.8 to 7.2.

Large 1-inch test tubes, Kolle flasks or Blake bottles are streaked liberally over the entire agar surface with inoculum from 48-hour slant agar cultures prepared from the stock cultures of the selected strains. The antigen-growing tubes or bottles are incubated 48 hours at 37° C. and the surface growth washed off with sufficient phenolized (0.5 percent) saline (0.85 percent) solution to make a heavy suspension. The suspension is filtered free of clumps through a thin layer of absorbent cotton in a Buchner funnel with the aid of suction. The antigens of the separate strains should be combined in equal volume-density and stored in the refrigerator (5° to 10° C.) in tightly stoppered bottles.

(d) Thiosulfate-Glycerin (TG) medium may be used as an alternate medium for the preparation of tube agglutination antigen. The TG medium, formerly used for the preparation of stained, whole-blood antigen, is described in more detail in the article by MacDonald, A. D., Recent Developments in Pullorum Antigen for the Rapid, Whole-Blood Test, Report of the Conference of the National Poultry Improvement Plan, pages 122–127, 1941. This medium provides a tube antigen of excellent specificity and greatly increases the yield of antigen from a given amount of medium. The TG medium has the following composition:

Difco Bacto-peptone	20 gm. (2.0 percent)
Sodium thiosulfate	5 gm. (0.5 percent)
Ammonium chloride	5 gm. (0.5 percent)
Glycerin, U. S. P. (95 percent).	20 cc. (2.0 percent)
Difco. dry-granular agar.	30 gm. (3.0 percent)

Reaction-pH 6.8 to 7.2.

Large 1-inch test tubes, Kolle flasks, Blake bottles or Erlenmeyer flasks are seeded over the entire agar surface with inoculum from 24-hour beef infusion broth cultures prepared from the stock cultures of the selected strains. The antigen-growing tubes or bottles are incubated 96 hours at 37° C. and the surface growth washed off with sufficient phenolized (0.5 percent) saline (0.85 percent) solution to make a heavy suspension. The suspension is filtered free of clumps through a thin layer of absorbent cotton in a Buchner funnel with the aid of suction. The antigen is then centrifuged. The mass of bacteria is removed from the centrifuge tubes or bowl and resuspended in saline (0.85 percent) solution containing 0.5 percent phenol. After the bacterial mass has been uniformly suspended in the diluent it is again passed through a cotton pad in a Buchner funnel without the aid of suction. The antigens of the separate strains should be combined in equal volume-density and stored in the refrigerator (5° to 10° C.) in tightly stoppered bottles.

(e) The diluted antigen to be used in the routine testing is prepared from the stock antigen by dilution of the latter with physiological (0.85 percent) saline (C. P.) solution containing 0.25 percent of phenol (C. P.) to a turbidity corresponding to 0.75–1.00 on the McFarland nephelometer scale. The hydrogen-ion concentration of the diluted antigen is corrected to pH 8.2 to 8.5 by the addition of dilute sodium hydroxide. New diluted antigen should be prepared each day and kept cold. The diluted antigen may be employed in 2 cc. quantities in 4 by ½ inch test tubes or 1 cc. quantities in smaller tubes in which the final serum-antigen mixtures are made and incubated. The distribution of the antigen in the tubes may be accomplished by the use of long burettes, or special filling devices made for the purpose.

(f) The maximum serum dilution employed must not exceed 1:50 for chickens nor 1:25 for turkeys. The available data indicate that 1:25 dilution is the most efficient. In all official reports on the blood test the serum dilutions shall be indicated. The sera are introduced into the agglutination tubes in the desired amounts with well-cleaned serological pipettes or special serum-delivery devices which do not permit the mixing of different sera. The antigen and serum should be well mixed before incubation. The serum and antigen mixture must be incubated for at least 20 hours at 37° C.

(g) The results shall be recorded as:

N, or —, when the tube remains uniformly turbid and there is no settling of antigen.
P, or P!, when there is a distinct clumping of the antigen, and the liquid between and above the agglutinated particles is clear (4+).
S, when the agglutination is only partial or incomplete (1+ to 3+).
M, or missing, when samples listed on the original record sheet are missing.
H, or hemolyzed, when the blood samples are hemolyzed and unsatisfactory for the test.
B, or broken, when the sample tubes are broken on arrival, and no serum is obtained.

(Some allowance must always be made for the difference in sensitiveness of different antigens and different set-ups, and therefore a certain amount of independent intelligent judgment must be exercised at all times. Also, the histories of the flocks require consideration. In flocks where individuals show a suspicious agglutination, it is desirable to examine representative birds bacteriologically to determine the presence or absence of S. pullorum.)

§ 147.2 The rapid serum test.[2] (a) The procedure for the collection and delivery of blood samples in the rapid serum test is the same as that described in § 147.1 (a).

(b) The antigen is prepared as follows: (1) The antigen consists of representative strains of S. pullorum which are of known antigenic composition, high agglutinability, but are not sensitive to negative and nonspecific sera.

(2) A satisfactory medium which has been used for a long time has the following composition:

Water	1,000 cc.
Difco beef extract	4 gm. (0.4 percent)
Difco Bacto-peptone	10 gm. (1.0 percent)
Difco dry-granular agar.	20 gm. (2.0 percent)

Reaction-pH 6.8 to 7.2.

(3) Large 1-inch test tubes, Kolle flasks or Blake bottles are streaked liberally over the entire agar surface with inoculum from 48-hour slant-agar cul-

[1] The procedure described is a modification of the method reported in the Proceedings of the United States Live Stock Sanitary Association, November 30 to December 2, 1932, pp. 487 to 491.

[2] The procedure described is a modification of the method reported by Runnels, Coom, Farley, and Thorpe, Amer. Vet. Med. Assoc. Jour. 70 (N. S. 23): 660–662 (1927).

tures prepared from stock cultures of the selected strains. The stock cultures may be maintained satisfactorily by transferring to new sloped agar at least once a month and keeping at 18° to 25° C. in a dark closet or chest, following incubation for from 24 to 36 hours at 37° C. The antigenic composition and purity of the stock cultures should be checked consistently.

(4) The antigen-growing tubes or bottles are incubated 48 hours at 37° C. and the surface growth washed off with a very slight amount of 12 percent solution of sodium chloride containing 0.25 to 0.5 percent phenol, filtered through lightly packed sterile absorbent cotton placed in the apex of a sterile funnel.

(5) The washings are adjusted (using 12 percent sodium chloride containing 0.25 to 0.5 percent phenol), so that the turbidity is 50 times greater than tube 0.75 of McFarland's nephelometer or to a reading of 7 mm. by the Gates nephelometer.

(6) The individual strain antigens should be tested with negative sera for their insensitivity and with positive sera for high agglutinability in comparison with known satisfactory antigen. The antigens of the separate strains should be combined in equal volume-density and stored in the refrigerator (5° to 10° C.) in tightly stoppered bottles.

(c) The tests are conducted on a suitable, smooth plate. The serum-antigen dilution is made so that the dilution will not exceed 1:50 when compared to the Standard Tube Agglutination test. When testing turkey blood samples it is desirable to use a serum-antigen dilution equivalent to the 1:25 in the tube method. The serum is added to the antigen and mixed thoroughly by use of the tip of the serum pipette. Most strong positive reactions will be plainly evident within 15 to 20 seconds. The final reading is made at the end of 2 or 3 minutes. Heating the plate at approximately 37° C. will hasten agglutination. Before reading, the plate should be rotated several times.

(d) The results shall be recorded as:

N. or — (negative) when the serum-antigen mixture remains uniformly turbid.
P. or + (positive) when there is a distinct clumping of the antigen, and the liquid between the agglutinated particles is clear (4+).
S. or ? (suspicious) when the agglutination is only partial or incomplete (1+ to 3+).
M. or missing, when samples listed on the original record sheet are missing.
H. or hemolyzed, when blood samples are hemolyzed and cannot be tested.
B. or broken, when sample tubes are broken and no serum can be obtained.

(Allowance should be made for differences in the sensitiveness of different antigens and different set-ups, and therefore a certain amount of independent, intelligent judgment must be exercised at all times. Also, the histories of the flocks require consideration. In flocks where individuals show a suspicious agglutination, it is desirable to examine representative birds bacteriologically to determine the presence or absence of S. pullorum.)

§ 147.3 The stained-antigen, rapid, whole-blood test.[3] (a) The description of the preparation of antigen is not herein included because that product is produced only under license from the Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with specific directions.

(b) A loop for measuring the correct quantity of blood can usually be obtained from the manufacturer of the antigen. A satisfactory loop may be made from a piece of No. 20 gage nichrome wire, 2½ inches long, at the end of which is fashioned a loop three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. Such a loop when filled with blood, so that the blood appears to bulge, delivers 0.02 cc. A medicine dropper, whose tip is adjusted to deliver 0.05 cc. when operated in a vertical position, is used to measure the antigen. A glass plate about 15 inches square providing space for 48 tests has proved satisfactory for this work. The use of such a plate enables the tester to have a number of successive test mixtures under observation without holding up the work to wait for results before proceeding to the next bird.

(c) A drop of stained antigen is placed on the glass plate. A loopful of blood is taken up from the wing vein. When submerged in the blood and then carefully withdrawn, the loop becomes properly filled. On looking down edgewise at the filled loop, one observes that the blood appears to bulge. The loopful of blood is then stirred into the drop of antigen and the mixture spread to a diameter of about 1 inch. The loop is then rinsed in clean water and dried by touching it to a piece of clean blotting paper, if necessary. The test plate is rocked from side to side a few times to mix the antigen and blood thoroughly, and to facilitate agglutination. The antigen should be used according to the directions of the producer.

(d) Various degrees of reaction are observed in this as in other agglutination tests. The greater the agglutinating ability of the blood the more rapid the clumping and the larger the clumps. A positive reaction consists of a definite clumping of the antigen surrounded by clear spaces. Such reaction is easily distinguished against a white background. A somewhat weaker reaction consists of small but still clearly visible clumps of antigen surrounded by spaces only partially clear. Between this point and a negative or homogeneous smear there sometimes occurs a very fine granulation barely visible to the naked eye; this should be disregarded in making a diagnosis. The very fine marginal clumping which may occur just before drying up is also regarded as negative. In a nonreactor the smear remains homogeneous. (Allowance should be made for differences in the sensitiveness of different antigens and different set-ups, and therefore a certain amount of independent, intelligent judgment must be exercised at all times. Also, the histories of the flocks require consideration. In flocks where individuals show a suspicious agglutination, it is desirable to examine representative birds bacteriologically to determine the presence or absence of S. pullorum.)

[3] The procedure described is a modification of the method reported by Schaffer, MacDonald, Hall, and Bunyea, Jour. Amer. Vet. Med. Assoc. 79 (N. S. 32): 236–240 (1931).

SUBPART B—BACTERIOLOGICAL EXAMINATION PROCEDURE

§ 147.11 Laboratory procedure recommended for the bacteriological examination of reactors. (a) The pericardial sac, peritoneum, oviduct and any visibly pathological tissues are cultured on beef extract agar or tryptose agar by means of sterile swabs. Sterile technique should be followed. (Primary culture of these organs in a suitable nutrient broth and transfer to a suitable nutrient agar is optional.)

(b) The following organs are aseptically collected for culture:

(1) Heart (apex, pericardial sac, and contents if present.);

(2) Liver (portions exhibiting lesions or in grossly normal organs the drained gall bladder and adjacent liver tissues.);

(3) Ovary-Testes. Entire inactive ovary or tests. If ovary is active use own judgment, but include any atypical ova.);

(4) Oviduct (if active include any debris and dehydrated ova.);

(5) Pancreas; and

(6) Spleen.

(c) A composite sample of the organs listed in § 147.11 (b) is ground in a sterile mortar or suitable blender. Individual organs may be used if desired. Nutrient broth is added as a diluent. Ten cc. of this suspension are inoculated into 100 cc. of either Selenite F broth or Tetrathionate broth and into 100 cc. of a suitable noninhibitory nutrient broth.

(d) After 24 hours incubation at 37° C. a loopful of the broth cultures from each flask is streaked on a suitable noninhibitory solid medium such as tryptose agar and one of the following selective media: Salmonella-Shigella (SS), MacConkey, Brilliant Green, Bismuth Sulfite, or Desoxycholate Citrate Lactose Sucrose (D. C. L. S.) agar. (All of these media may be obtained in dehydrated form.) If no suspicious colonies are observed after 24 hours incubation the enrichment broths are restreaked on solid media.

(e) A portion of the crop wall and intestine to include the cecal tonsils are put into either Selenite F or Tetrathionate broth and incubated for 24 hours at 37° C. Transfers are made from the broth onto agar plates as indicated in § 147.11 (d).

(f) Suspicious single colonies are subcultured on nutrient agar or triple sugar iron agar slants and incubated for 24 hours at 37° C.

(g) Cultures are transferred to the following fermentable media for identification: dextrose, lactose, sucrose (saccharose), mannite (mannitol), maltose, dulcitol, and salicin broths. Suitable tests are also conducted for the detection of indole, hydrogen sulfide, acetylmethylcarbinol, and urease production. Motility or nonmotility is demonstrated by inoculation of a suitable semisolid medium. For the Gram stain a 24 hour nutrient agar slant culture is used.

(h) All Salmonella cultures isolated should be serologically typed.

If the recommendation is seconded, discussion and a formal vote will follow.

(d) Each committee chairman shall present the proposals which his committee does not approve as follows: "Mr. Chairman. The committee on NPIP General Provisions does not approve Proposal No. —." The chairman will then ask if any official delegate wishes to move for the adoption of the proposal. If moved and seconded, the proposal is subject to discussion and vote. If there is no motion for approval, or if moved, but not seconded, there can be no discussion or vote and the proposal is thereby rejected.

(e) Discussion on any motion must be withheld until the motion has been properly seconded, except that the delegate making the motion is privileged, if he desires, to give reasons for his motion at the time of making it. To gain the floor for a motion or for discussion on a motion, the official delegate in the case of a motion, or anyone in case of discussion on a motion, shall rise, address the chair, give his name and State, and be recognized by the chair before proceeding further. While it is proper to accept motions only from official delegates and to limit voting only to such delegates, it is however, equally proper to accept discussion from anyone interested. To conserve time, discussion should be pointed and limited to the pertinent features of the motion.

(f) Proposals that have not been submitted in accordance with § 147.23 will be considered by the conference only with the unanimous consent of the General Conference Committee. Any such proposals must be referred to the appropriate committee for consideration before being presented for action by the conference.

(g) Voting will be by States and each cooperating State will be allowed one vote. Unless otherwise arranged, the NPIP official delegate shall cast his State's vote on changes affecting the NPIP, and the NTIP official delegate shall cast his State's vote on changes affecting the NTIP.

(h) A roll call of States for a recorded vote will be used when requested by a delegate or at the discretion of the chairman.

(i) All motions on proposed changes shall be for adoption.

(j) Proposed changes shall be adopted by a majority vote of the official delegates present and voting.

(k) The conference shall be open to any interested person.

§ 147.28 Approval of Conference Recommendations by the Department. Proposals adopted by the official delegates will be recommended to the Department for incorporation into the provisions of the NPIP and NTIP. The Department reserves the right to approve or disapprove the recommendations of the conference as an integral part of its sponsorship of the NPIP and NTIP.

Present Subchapters F, G, H, and I in Chapter I of Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations would be redesignated as Subchapters G, H, I, and J, respectively.

Any interested person who wishes to submit written comments, views, or arguments with respect to the proposed revision of the National Poultry and Turkey Improvement Plans and the auxiliary provisions may do so by filing them with T. C. Byerly, Chief, Animal and Poultry Husbandry Research Branch, Agricultural Research Center, Beltsville, Maryland, not later than November 8, 1954. Such comments, views, and arguments will be considered by the Department in acting upon the recommendations made by the National Poultry and Turkey Improvement Plans 1954 Conference.

CALIFORNIA TRADING CO. ET AL.

ORDER REVOKING LICENSES AND DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES

In the matter of: California Trading Company, Jehoszua Pintel, Owner, 106 West Third Street, Los Angeles 13, California; Randolph H. Infield, 868 South Norton Avenue, Los Angeles 5, California; Ignacio Pintel, Avenida Mexico 157, Mexico, D. F., Mexico; Hierros Laminados, S. A., Pedro Echeverria and Jose Llamosas, Officers thereof, Av. Henry Ford No. 3309, Col. Bondojito, Villa G. A. Madero, Mexico, D. F., Mexico; Laminadoras Unidas, S. A., Gabino Alvarez and Manuel Alvarez, Officers thereof, Av. Ferrocarril No. 9, Col. Moctezuma, Mexico, D. F., Mexico; Respondents.

In connection with two separate transactions between the domestic export firm, California Trading Company, its owner Jehoszua Pintel, its then representatives in Mexico, Ignacio Pintel and Randolph H. Infield, and two nonrelated steel rolling mills in Mexico, Hierros Laminados, S. A., and Laminadoras Unidas, S. A., and their above-stated respective principals, said parties were charged with attempting to induce the export from the United States of an aggregate of $1 million of used relaying rails, by false representations and certifications on license applications and supporting documents submitted to the Office of International Trade (now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce), in violation of the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and the regulations issued thereunder.

The principals of Laminadoras Unidas, S. A., and their company were charged also with making false and misleading statements to United States Government officers during the investigation into the alleged violations, in an attempt to divert from themselves any responsibility in said violations.

More specifically, the charges were that two unrelated license applications filed by California Trading Company ("California") on June 12, 1952, one to export 5,500 short tons of No. 1 used relaying rails, valued at approximately $500,000, to Hierros Laminados, S. A. ("Laminados") in Mexico, and the other to export to Laminados Unidas, S. A., ("Unidas") in Mexico a like quantity of similar rails of the same approximate value, contained thereon false representations that the described rails were to be used by said consignees for relaying purposes, and concealed the material fact that such rails really were to be used in the respective rolling mills for rerolling purposes. Each said application was supported by a written contract for the stated quantity of rails, duly executed by California as seller, and Unidas and Laminados as purchaser, respectively; and each said contract provided thereon that the rails were being purchased for use for "relaying purposes in industrial sidings and railroad tracks." The Laminados license application was also supported by a letter of April 15, 1952, from Laminados to California, certifying that the rails purchased as aforesaid were urgently needed by them for relaying purposes.

The charge of false and misleading statements against the Alvarez brothers involved oral and written statements they had made to United States Government officers during the investigation of the above mentioned transaction, whereby they claimed that after their execution of the contract for the purchase of the subject rails, and without their knowledge or consent, California fabricated and inserted into said contract a false representation, to wit, the provision that the rails purchased by Unidas were for use for "relaying purposes in industrial sidings and railroad tracks."

The gravamen of the charges was that the parties to the transactions knew that United States regulations prohibited the export of used rails from the United States for rerolling purposes, but permitted the export of rails for relaying purposes; and that the parties therefore falsified and misrepresented the intended use of the subject rails as being for relaying purposes in order to induce the issuance of export licenses and to effect the exportations.

Following an investigation by Office of International Trade investigators and other United States officers, the license applications submitted as aforesaid were rejected by the Office of International Trade as contrary to the national interest, and none of the rails were exported from the United States.

Hearings on the charges were held before a Compliance Commissioner at Washington, D. C., on October 19, 20, 21 and 22, 1953, and on May 13, 1954. Except for Jehoszua Pintel and his company, none of the above-named respondents requested an oral hearing. The Laminados group and the Unidas group elected to present their defenses to the charges by written answers. Randolph H. Infield did not appear in the proceedings or contest the charges, while Ignacio Pintel, a resident of Mexico, made vague promises in writing that he would be available for testimony as to the extent of his participation in the transactions, but he thereafter failed to submit himself for such questioning in Mexico. The only respondent to appear at the hearings was Jehoszua Pintel, and he testified and presented evidence in his behalf and for California only at the hearings held in October 1953, and did not appear at the extended hearing held in May 1954.

At the said hearings the Compliance Commissioner received the evidence presented by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce in support of the charges, and the testimony of the Bureau's witnesses, the answers submitted by Laminados and Unidas, and the testimony and evidence presented by Jehoszua Pintel. He noted and entered the defaults of Randolph H. Infield and Ignacio Pintel. Thereafter, he issued his report and recommendations to the undersigned Director of the Office of Export Supply.

From the Commissioner's report, and on the evidence, and the record, the following are the facts:

Prior to March 1952, California, through its representatives Ignacio Pintel and Randolph H. Infield, negotiated for the sale of 5,500 tons of used steel rails to each prospective purchaser, Laminados and Unidas. During that period, and for some time thereafter, in accord with National Production Authority (NPA Order M-64) the Office of International Trade pursuant to its regulations was not licensing the export from the United States of used rails for rerolling purposes, unless the NPA issued written authorization for such transaction. However, the NPA was not issuing any such authorization. But, as was also provided in NPA Order M-64, the Office of International Trade was licensing for export used rails for relaying purposes, if the exporter submitted a statement from the foreign consignee which certified to the Office of International Trade that such rails would be used by the consignee for relaying purposes only.

Accordingly, California, knowing or having reason to know that Laminados and Unidas were rolling mills and would use the rails for rerolling purposes, formalized the sales of the subject rails by preparing contracts containing the false representation that the rails were to be used by the respective purchasers for relaying purposes, as aforesaid. The Laminados contract was executed by the parties on March 10, 1952; the Unidas contract was executed by the parties on April 7, 1952. Both contracts were intended to be submitted to the Office of International Trade in support of the export license applications.

However, California and Laminados also executed another contract on March 10, 1952, which had been prepared by Laminados, representing thereon that the rails purchased were for rerolling purposes. This contract was evidently intended by Laminados for submission to Mexican authorities in order to obtain the advantages of a subsidy the Mexican Government was then granting to Mexican firms to import used rails for rerolling purposes.

There were thus two contracts between California and Laminados covering the same rails and containing the same general terms and provisions, except for the vital difference that one contract provided for the purported use of the rails for rerolling purposes, the other for relaying purposes.

California prepared and executed, on April 17, 1952, license applications to export the subject rails to each purchaser, attaching to the Laminados application a copy of the March 10, 1952 "relaying purpose" contract, as well as a certification letter from Laminados, dated April 15, 1952, confirming that the rails purchased were for relaying uses, and attaching to the Unidas application a copy of the contract executed on April 7, 1952. The applications were submitted to the Office of International Trade on June 12, 1952, as aforesaid.

In their answer to the charges, Laminados' primary defense was, in substance, that the aforesaid certification letter and the relaying-purpose contract had been executed by them at the insistence of Jehoszua Pintel, and merely to assist him in obtaining a U. S. export license for the rails. They claimed they were not familiar with U. S. export control regulations and necessarily relied upon Pintel's superior knowledge of U. S. export requirements. Their contentions were rejected by the Compliance Commissioner in view of the conclusion that they were conversant with the Office of International Trade regulations and the NPA order because of their many years of experience in importing U. S. rails into Mexico, and of the consequently deliberate execution of the aforesaid certification letter and the falsified contract to evade the said regulations and order.

The basic defense in the Unidas answer, i. e., that Pintel (California) knew of their intention to use the rails for rerolling purposes, and that to obtain the U. S. export license he had improperly fabricated and inserted the false relaying end-use provision in the sales contract after they had executed it, was ruled invalid by the Commissioner on the basis of a report from the FBI laboratory at Washington, D. C., to which agency the said contract had been submitted for analysis. This report held in effect that the said contract had been complete when it was prepared by California, and that it had contained the relaying-use provision which Unidas claimed was later inserted. In view thereof, the Commissioner concluded that the fabrication claim was knowingly fraudulent, and concluded further that the oral and written representations made by the Alvarez brothers to U. S. officers during the investigation herein, to the same effect, were intended to divert responsibility from themselves in the violations herein.

Finally, with respect to Jehoszua Pintel's position that he had not known that Unidas and Laminados intended to use the purchased rails for rerolling purposes, and had relied upon the integrity of their respective representations (in the contracts and the certification letter) that such rails were for relaying purposes, the Commissioner, in view of the conclusive evidence that Pintel not only knew the true intended use for the rails, but, perhaps, had conceived the plan to falsify the documents and certainly had implemented it by preparing such documents with the intent that the Office of International Trade rely upon them, held that such position was utterly without foundation and that Pintel's testimony in that respect was false.

The Compliance Commissioner then found that the evidence sustained the charges, and that the respondents thereby violated the export control law and regulations as charged, in derogation of the export control program implementing NPA Order M-64, which had been issued in the national defense. He further found that the violations were aggravated by untruthful and evasive testimony given by Jehoszua Pintel at the hearings, and by the misleading and contrived answers of the Laminados and Unidas groups. The Compliance Commissioner concluded that the respondents' attitude foreshadowed possible future violations unless effective deterrent measures were taken in the form of an order denying them export privileges.

The findings and recommendations of the Compliance Commissioner have been carefully considered, together with the charging letters, the evidentiary material, the answers of Laminados and Unidas to the charges, and the entire record. It appears therefrom that the Compliance Commissioner's findings are in accordance with the evidence and, taking into account all factors including that no actual shipments were made, it is concluded that the following order is necessary and reasonable to achieve effective enforcement of the export control law and regulations.

Now, therefore, it is ordered, as follows:

(1) All outstanding validated export licenses held by or issued in the names of respondents, or any of them, or in which they appear or participate as purchaser, intermediate or ultimate consignee, or otherwise, are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

(2) Respondents, and each of them, are hereby denied all privileges of participating, directly or indirectly in any manner or capacity, in an exportation of any commodity from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing, participation in an exportation is deemed to include and prohibit respondents' participation (a) as a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application, (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control document, (c) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing, in any foreign country, of any commodities in whole or in part exported from the United States during the period of this order or to be exported from the United States, and (d) in the financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of exports from the United States.

(3) Such denial of export privileges shall apply not only to the respondents named herein, and each of them, but shall apply and extend also to any other person, firm, corporation, or other business organization with which said respondents, or any of them, may be now or hereafter related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith.

(4) This order shall extend from the date hereof; as to Jehoszua Pintel and California Trading Company for a period of eighteen (18) months; as to Hierros Laminados, S. A., Pedro Echeverria, Jose Llamosas, Laminadoras Unidas, S. A., Gabino Alvarez, and Manuel Alvarez, for a period of twelve (12) months; as to Ignacio Pintel and Randolph H. Infield, for a period of ten (10) months: Provided, however, That during the last six (6) months of each of said periods the export privileges which are denied by the terms of the order shall be restored to respondents without further order of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, but no validated export licenses revoked under the order shall thereby be restored. In the event, however, that any of the respondents or the aforerelated persons and companies in Part (3) shall knowingly violate the terms of the denial order or any of the laws or regulations related to export control during the entire period of such order, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce may summarily and without notice to the person or company responsible for such violation, at such time as it shall determine that such violation has occurred, issue a supplemental order which shall deny to such person or company all export privileges for the said period which has been held in abeyance with respect to him or it, and shall revoke all validated licenses then outstanding and as to which said person or company may be a party, without thereby limiting the Bureau of Foreign Commerce from taking such other and further action based on such violation as it shall deem warranted.

(5) No person, firm, corporation, or other business organization, whether in the United States or elsewhere, and whether or not engaged in trade relating to exports from the United States, shall without prior disclosure of the facts to, and specific authorization from, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly, in any manner or capacity, (a) apply for, obtain, transfer, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to an exportation of commodities from the United States, or (b) order, receive, buy, use, dispose of, finance, transport, forward, store, or otherwise service or participate in an exportation from the United States, or in a reexportation of any commodity exported from the United States, with respect to which any of the respondents herein, or related companies and persons covered by Part (3) above have any interest or participation of any kind or nature, direct or indirect.

RADIO SERVICES OF WELLSVILLE AND ELMIRA TELEVISION

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATIONS FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of J. S. Mumma, J. M. Cleary, J. H. Satterwhite, J. E. Ericson, and C. S. Bromeley, d/b as Radio Services of Wellsville, Wellsville, New York, Docket No. 11186, File No. BP-9021; John S. Booth and Thompson K. Cassel, d/b as Elmira Television, Elmira, New York, Docket No. 11187, File No. BP-9121; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 29th day of September 1954;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled application for construction permit by J. S. Mumma, J. M. Cleary, J. H. Satterwhite, J. E. Erickson, and C. S. Bromeley, doing business as Radio Services of Wellsville for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 790 kilocycles with a power of 500 watts, daytime only, at Wellsville, New York (File No. BP-9021) and the application for construction permit by John S. Booth and Thompson K. Cassel, doing business as Elmira Television for a new standard broadcast station to operate on 800 kilocycles with a power of 500 watts, daytime only, at Elmira, New York (File No. BP-9121).

It appearing that both applicants are legally, technically and otherwise qualified, except as noted below, to operate their proposed stations, and that Wellsville is also financially qualified, but that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in interference being caused to each other; and

It further appearing that the proposed Wellsville operation would cause interference to Station WPIC, Sharon, Pennsylvania and that WPIC, by its attorneys stated in a letter of August 13, 1954 that it intended to appear at a hearing in the matter; and

It further appearing that Elmira Television has not been shown to be financially qualified; and

It further appearing that Thompson K. Cassel, a co-partner in Elmira Television, is licensee of Station WATS, Sayre, Pennsylvania, and that since Elmira and Sayre are only 14 miles apart, a question is raised as to whether a grant of the Elmira application would contravene § 3.35 of the Commission's rules (Multiple Ownership Rule); and

It further appearing that pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the subject applicants were advised by letters dated June 17, 1954 of the aforementioned deficiencies, and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of either application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that timely replies have been received from both applicants; and

It further appearing that after consideration of the replies, the Commission is of the opinion that a hearing is necessary;

It is ordered, That pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed stations, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposed operation of J. S. Mumma, J. M. Cleary, J. H. Satterwhite, J. E. Ericson, and C. S. Bromeley, doing business as Radio Services of Wellsville, would involve objectionable interference with Station WPIC, Sharon, Pennsylvania, and if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine the overlap, if any, which would exist between the service areas of the proposed station of John S. Booth and Thompson K. Cassel, doing business as Elmira Television and of Station WATS, Sayre, Pennsylvania, with particular reference to the ownership by Thompson K. Cassel in both stations; the nature and extent thereof, and whether a grant to Elmira would result in contravention of § 3.35 of the Commission rules.

4. To determine whether the applicant, John S. Booth and Thompson K. Cassel, doing business as Elmira Television, is financially qualified to construct and operate the proposed station.

5. To determine, on a comparative basis, if both applications cannot be granted, because of excessive mutual interference, in the light of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of these applicants would provide the more fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of radio service.

6. To determine, on a comparative basis, if both applications cannot be granted, because of excessive mutual interference, which of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would better serve the public interest, convenience or necessity in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues and the record made with respect to the significant differences between the applicants as to:

(a) The background and experience of each of the above-named applicants to own and operate the proposed stations.

(b) The proposals of each of the above-named applicants with respect to the management and operation of the proposed stations.

(c) The programming service proposed in each of the above-entitled applications.

It is further ordered, That Sharon Herald Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station WPIC, Sharon, Pennsylvania, is made a party to the proceeding.

MONTANA POWER CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

OCTOBER 4, 1954.

Take notice that The Montana Power Company (Applicant), a New Jersey corporation with its principal place of business in Butte, Montana, filed on September 17, 1954, an application requesting an order of the Commission, under section 3 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing Applicant to import natural gas for a period of twenty (20) years, from Canada at a point on the Alberta-Montana border to a point near Cut Bank in Montana, in an amount of not more than one hundred million (100,000,000) cubic feet in any one day, and not more than twenty billion (20,000,000,000) cubic feet in any consecutive twelve month period. Applicant has also requested a permit to maintain and operate facilities therefor at the International Boundary pursuant to Executive Order No. 10485, dated September 3, 1953.

By order of the Commission, issued February 5, 1952, in Docket No. G-1712, and a Presidential Permit, dated February 2, 1952, granted in Docket No. G-1717, Applicant was granted authority to construct, operate, maintain, and connect certain natural-gas facilities and to import natural gas by means thereof from Canada into the United States. The presently effective authorizations provide that the natural gas imported by Applicant shall not exceed 10 billion cubic feet on an annual basis nor 40 million cubic feet on a maximum daily basis, and that such gas shall be used by Applicant exclusively for the requirements of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company for its mining, smelter and reduction operations in Montana. Said authorizations also provide that the importation of natural gas shall be accomplished in exact accordance with the act of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Alberta, Canada, entitled "An Act to Permit the Temporary Export of Gas to Montana for Essential Defense Production", and are limited to a period to extend until April 7, 1956.

Applicant proposes to utilize the natural gas to be imported from Alberta, Canada, to supplement sources available to it within the United States, and to render service thereby to all of Applicants' present and future residential, commercial and industrial customers. Applicant states that the proposed increased importation will conserve and materially extend the life of its domestic gas reserves which are being rapidly depleted, and will also make possible the extension of new service to the City of Missoula and other communities in western Montana. The authorizations requested herein would supersede the aforesaid authorizations granted in Docket Nos. G-1712 and G-1717.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 21st day of October 1954. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

[Docket No. G-3233]

HUMBLE OIL AND REFINING CO.

ORDER ACCEPTING RATE SCHEDULE FOR FILING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED RATE INCREASE

On September 1, 1954, Humble Oil & Refining Company (Humble) tendered for filing with the Commission, pursuant to Order No. 174-A (Docket No. R-138) a certain contract, together with two changes therein which have been designated as FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1, and Supplements Nos. 1 and 2, respectively. (Supplement No. 2 was filed on September 10, 1954.)

Said Rate Schedule is a contract dated July 31, 1952 covering the sale of natural gas by Humble to Trunkline Gas Company. Supplement No. 1 is a request that the charge for the gas sold be increased by approximately 0.1775 cent per Mcf, effective as of October 3, 1954, pursuant to the schedule of periodic increases provided in Rate Schedule No. 1. Supplement No. 2 is a request to put into effect a tax adjustment clause to cover the new Texas gas production tax, effective as of September 1, 1954.

The gas sold by Humble to Trunkline Gas Company, pursuant to the above-mentioned Rate Schedule, is transported and sold in interstate commerce.

In view of the fact that Humble's only justification for the increase requested in Supplement No. 1 is based on the periodic increases scheduled in the contract, such increase may be unjust, unreasonable and otherwise unlawful and should be suspended, as hereinafter provided. Moreover, the proper disposition of rate increases of the nature here involved is before the Commission for its consideration and determination in disposing of the questions posed in the reconsideration of Order No. 174-A and pending in the matters involved in Docket No. R-137 now set for argument on November 4, 1954.

The Commission finds:

(1) Humble Oil & Refining Company is a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act, and its sale of gas to Trunkline Gas Company under FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1, and Supplement Nos. 1 and 2, is a sale in interstate commerce of natural gas for resale for ultimate public consumption.

(2) FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1, and Supplement No. 2, filed by Humble on September 1, 1954 and September 10, 1954, respectively, should be accepted for filing.

(3) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing, pursuant to the authority contained in section 4 of such act, concerning the reasonableness of the increase in rates and charges proposed by Humble in Supplement No. 1 filed on September 1, 1954, and said Supplement No. 1 be suspended as hereinafter ordered and the use thereof deferred pending hearing and decision thereon, except as they may become effective as provided by the Natural Gas Act.

The Commission orders:

(A) FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 and Supplement No. 2, filed by Humble Oil & Refining Company on September 1, 1954 and September 10, 1954, respectively, be accepted for filing.

(B) Pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by further order of the Commission, concerning the reasonableness of the rates and charges contained in Supplement No. 1 filed by Humble on September 1, 1954.

(C) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Supplement No. 1 be and the same is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until further order of the Commission, but not beyond March 3, 1955, and until such further time as it may be made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Adopted: October 1, 1954.

CONSOLIDATED NATURAL GAS CO.

ORDER REGARDING CHARTER AMENDMENT AND SOLICITATION OF PROXIES

Consolidated Natural Gas Company ("Consolidated"), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration pursuant to sections 6 (a), 7 and 12 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rule U-62 thereunder regarding (1) a proposed reclassification and increase of Consolidated's outstanding shares of capital stock and (2) the solicitation of proxies from stockholders to be voted in favor of the amendment.

Under the proposed amendment the total number of shares of capital stock which Consolidated would have authority to issue would be 8,500,000 shares of a par value of $10 per share in lieu of the presently authorized and outstanding 3,683,285 shares of a par value of $15 per share and each share of the presently outstanding stock of $15 par value would be changed into two shares of capital shares of the par value of $10 per share. This change would occur upon the filing and recording of the amendment in the State of Delaware after which the outstanding stock certificates evidencing shares of the $15 par value stock will evidence a like number of shares of the $10 par value stock. Additional certificates will be issued to evidence the additional number of shares of the $10 par value stock.

Pursuant to such change the holders of Consolidated's presently outstanding 3,683,285 shares of $15 par value capital stock, aggregating $55,249,275, would become the holders of 7,366,570 shares of the $10 par value capital stock, aggregating $73,665,700. The increase in the outstanding capital stock will be reflected by a transfer of $18,416,425 from the company's capital surplus account to the capital stock account.

In addition to the 7,366,570 shares of $10 par value capital stock which will be outstanding after the change, the proposed amendment would also authorize 1,133,430 shares of unissued stock aggregating $11,334,300 in par value.

As to the latter shares, it is represented that it will be necessary for Consolidated to seek additional capital during 1955 to pay off $20,000,000 of outstanding construction loans and that for this and other purposes it is tentatively planned to offer 920,822 shares of this capital stock to stockholders for subscription on the basis of one new share for each eight outstanding at the time of the offer. In the event any shares so offered are not subscribed for, it is planned that such shares will be promptly sold, at the subscription price, for ultimate transfer to The Alternate Thrift Trust under The Employee Thrift Plan.

Under the proposed charter amendment, 212,608 shares of the authorized but unissued stock may be issued and sold from time to time, upon order of the Board of Directors, to finance the purchase of operating properties or an interest therein, or of securities of a public utility or natural gas company, and no stckholder of Consolidated will have any preemptive or preferential right to subscribe for any such shares.

The estimated fees and expenses to be paid by Consolidated in connection with the proposed transactions aggregate $155,000, and include $70,400 for Transfer Agent's and Registrar's fees and expenses, $5,000 of legal fees, $19,200 for printing, $26,900 for State and Federal taxes and $18,400 for proxy solicitations.

Due notice of the filing of said declaration having been given in the manner prescribed by Rule U-23 and no hearing having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding that the applicable standards of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary; and that the fees and expenses, as estimated, are not unreasonable; and the Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the declaration should be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act that said declaration be, and hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

FEDERAL REGISTER

Washington, Tuesday, October 12, 1954

TITLE 3—THE PRESIDENT

PROCLAMATION 3071

VETERANS DAY, 1954

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS it has long been our custom to commemorate November 11, the anniversary of the ending of World War I, by paying tribute to the heroes of that tragic struggle and by rededicating ourselves to the cause of peace; and

WHEREAS in the intervening years the United States has been involved in two other great military conflicts, which have added millions of veterans living and dead to the honor rolls of this Nation; and

WHEREAS the Congress passed a concurrent resolution on June 4, 1926 (44 Stat. 1982), calling for the observance of November 11 with appropriate ceremonies, and later provided in an act approved May 13, 1938 (52 Stat. 351), that the eleventh of November should be a legal holiday and should be known as Armistice Day; and

WHEREAS, in order to expand the significance of that commemoration and in order that a grateful Nation might pay appropriate homage to the veterans of all its wars who have contributed so much to the preservation of this Nation, the Congress, by an act approved June 1, 1954 (68 Stat. 168), changed the name of the holiday to Veterans Day:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America, do hereby call upon all of our citizens to observe Thursday, November 11, 1954, as Veterans Day. On that day let us solemnly remember the sacrifices of all those who fought so valiantly, on the seas, in the air, and on foreign shores, to preserve our heritage of freedom, and let us reconsecrate ourselves to the task of promoting an enduring peace so that their efforts shall not have been in vain. I also direct the appropriate officials of the Government to arrange for the display of the flag of the United States on all public buildings on Veterans Day.

In order to insure proper and widespread observance of this anniversary, all veterans, all veterans' organizations, and the entire citizenry will wish to join hands in the common purpose. Toward this end, I am designating the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs as Chairman of a Veterans Day National Committee, which shall include such other persons as the Chairman may select, and which will coordinate at the national level necessary planning for the observance. I am also requesting the heads of all departments and agencies of the Executive branch of the Government to assist the National Committee in every way possible.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this eighth day of October in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and [SEAL] fifty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventy-ninth.

(b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.5 (a) of this chapter.

(c) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141a.5 (b) of this chapter, using a solution containing 200 units per milliliter.

2. In § 146e.414 Bacitracin-neomycin with vasoconstrictor • • •, paragraph (a) (2) is amended by changing the words "18 months" to read "18 months or 24 months".

§ 146e.423 Soluble bacitracin methylene disalicylate—(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Soluble bacitracin methylene disalicylate is a mixture of bacitracin methylene disalicylate, sodium carbonate, and sodium bicarbonate, with or without suitable and harmless diluents. It contains the equivalent of not less than 25 grams of the bacitracin master standard per pound. Its moisture content is not more than 8.5 percent. Its pH in an aqueous solution containing 200 units per milliliter is not less than 8.5 and not more than 9.5. The bacitracin methylene disalicylate used conforms to the requirements of § 146e.416 (a). Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U. S. P. or N. Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

The election shall apply in respect of all property held by the person making the election at any time on or before December 31, 1952, and in respect of all periods since February 28, 1913, and before January 1, 1952, during which such person held such property or for which adjustments must be made under subsection (b) (2). An election or a revocation of an election by a transferor, donor, or grantor made after the date of the transfer, gift, or grant of property shall not affect the basis of such property in the hands of the transferee, donee, or grantee. No election may be made under this subsection after December 31, 1954.

[Sec. 113 (d) as added by sec. 2, Pub. Law 539 (82d Cong.); sec. 102, Technical Changes Act 1953]

PAR. 7. Section 39.113 (d)–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 39.113 (d)–1 Election as to amounts allowed in respect of depreciation, etc., before 1952—(a) In general. (1) Any person may elect to have the adjustments to the cost or other basis of property under section 113 (b) (1) (B) determined in accordance with clause (ii) of such section, by filing with the district director of internal revenue, on or before December 31, 1954, the written statement of election provided in paragraph (b) of this section. The statement must be filed with the district director of internal revenue with whom such person is required (by section 53 (b)) to file his income tax return for the year during which the election is made. Any election made after December 31, 1952, shall be irrevocable when made, and shall apply with respect to all periods since February 28, 1913, and before January 1, 1952. The election shall apply in respect of all properties held at any time on or before December 31, 1952, by the person making the election. For rules with respect to an election made on or before December 31, 1952, see paragraph (c) of this section.

(2) A copy of the written statement of election or revocation must be filed with the first income tax return, amended return, or claim for credit or refund filed on or after the date on which the election or revocation is made.

(3) An election by a partner is not an election by the partnership of which he is a member, but a separate election must be made by the partnership. Similarly, an election by the partnership applies only with respect to the partnership, and is not applicable to the separate property of the partners. A similar rule applies with respect to elections by trusts and beneficiaries of such trusts. These rules are also applicable with respect to a revocation of an election where such election was made on or before December 31, 1952.

(4) An election which conforms in substance to the provisions of this section shall not be deemed invalid solely because it was filed prior to the date on which the regulations in this section were promulgated.

(b) Rules applicable to making of election. The following rules are applicable to the making of an election under section 113 (d):

(1) Form of election. The election shall be in the form of a statement in writing addressed to the district director of internal revenue with whom filed, shall state the name and address of the taxpayer making the election, and shall contain a statement that such taxpayer elects to have the provisions of section 113 (b) (1) (B) (ii) apply in respect of all periods since February 28, 1913, and before January 1, 1952.

(2) Signature. The statement shall be signed by the taxpayer making the election, if an individual, or, if the taxpayer making the election is not an individual, the statement shall be executed in the same manner as is required in the case of the income tax return of such taxpayer.

(3) Filing. The written statement must be filed in the office of the district director of internal revenue on or before December 31, 1954. An election shall be considered as timely filed if it is placed in the mail on or before midnight of December 31, 1954, as shown by the postmark on the envelope containing the written statement of election or as shown by other available evidence of the mailing date.

(c) Election made on or before December 31, 1952. An election made on or before December 31, 1952, in accordance with the provisions of section 113 (d), may be revoked by filing on or before December 31, 1954, in the same office in which the election was filed, a statement of revocation executed in the same manner as the election. Such revocation shall apply to all properties to which such election applied. Such statement made by any person is irrevocable when made with respect to such person, and no new election may thereafter be made by such person.

The term "adjusted normal-tax net income for such year" means the normal-tax net income (consisting of net income computed as provided in § 39.201–7 less the credit for partially tax-exempt interest allowed under section 26 (a) and less the credit for dividends received allowed under section 26 (b)) for the taxable year beginning in 1952 or 1953, as the case may be, plus eight times the amount of the adjustment for certain reserves computed as provided in section 202 (c) (see § 39.202–2), and minus the reserve interest credit, if any, provided in section 203A (b) (see § 39.203A–2). DERIVATION: AFR 35–83.

§ 868.1 Purpose. This part establishes the basic criteria upon which requests for delay in entering active military service and appeals will be considered, and sets forth the procedures for processing and evaluation of such requests and appeals. This part does not apply to those Air Force Reservists assigned to program elements within Training Categories A, B–1, and C, with the exception that such persons may submit requests for delays of not to exceed 90 days under § 868.10 (a).

§ 868.2 Policy. It is to be recognized that the military strength of our nation depends to a large degree on the integrity, efficiency, and readiness of the Reserve components, and that some Reservists are engaged in production and research vital to the national military effort or activities essential to the maintenance of national health, safety, or interest. In any major national emergency, personnel with experience and skills in such occupations will be required by the Air Force and by the civilian economy in numbers far exceeding the supply. The delay policies contained in this part are designed to accommodate themselves to special instances. In order that military manpower objectives may be attained without serious impairment of production and research vital to the national military effort, or activities necessary to the maintenance of national health, safety, or interest, by the sudden withdrawal of critical skills from the civilian economy, it is essential that the military need for a Reservist's service must be weighed, balanced, and reconciled with the civilian requirements to the maximum extent possible in the interest of national security.

§ 868.3 Definitions. For the purpose of this part, the following definitions will apply:

(a) Delay. Postponement of the tentative or actual date specified for entry into active military service of Reservists. The term "delay" is not to be confused with "deferment" which is used in referring to selective service selectees whose reporting dates for military service are postponed under selective service laws.

(b) Appeal. A request for review by an authorized appellate body of a decision of a delay board on a request for delay.

(c) Full-time course of instruction. A full-time schedule prescribed for resident students, including night school students, in accordance with the regulations of the particular educational institution.

(d) Institution of higher education. An institution offering at least a 2-year program at college level, that is, either:

(1) Accredited by a recognized nationwide, regional, or State accrediting agency or operating under State control, or

(2) Able to furnish evidence that its credits are acceptable unconditionally (at full value) by three fully accredited institutions. (Part 3 of the Directory of Higher Education published annually by the Office of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, contains a list of institutions meeting such qualifications.)

(e) Reservist. A person who has been appointed, commissioned, or enlisted as a Reserve of the Air Force or has been transferred to the Air Force Reserve under any provision of law.

§ 868.4 Basic considerations—(a) Delays not indefinite exemption. Delays granted to Reservists will not exempt them indefinitely from military service and may be terminated at any time because of overriding military considerations.

(b) Delays granted on individual basis. Delays will be granted on an individual basis only. Blanket delays will not be granted to groups of persons under any circumstances.

(c) Initial delays and extension. Initial delays will be granted for the minimum period appropriate but will not exceed 6 months. Granting of extensions of delay periods is authorized within the limits prescribed herein wherever warranted. However, a stricter application of the criteria for granting initial delays will be made in evaluating requests for extensions.

(d) Reservists under 26 years of age with insufficient prior service. Requests for delay submitted by Reservists under 26 years of age with insufficient prior service to be exempt from induction under the Universal Military Training and Service Act (62 Stat. 604, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. 451–471), will be considered in exceptional instances only.

(e) Number and duration of previous tours. The number and duration of previous tours of active military service are elements which will be considered in every delay case.

(f) Change in status. Any change in the status of a Reservist granted a delay which would change his availability for active military service will be immediately reported by him to the headquarters which granted the delay. Such headquarters will notify each Reservist granted a delay of his responsibility in this regard.

(g) Requests submitted by Reservist or employer. Requests for delays may be submitted by the individual concerned or his employer. Where the Reservist makes the request based on employment, it must include written representation by the employer, giving specific justifications for delay. Where the employer makes the request, it must include a written statement by the Reservist with regard to his desire for delay.

§ 868.5 Necessity for prompt action. (a) In all instances where a delay is considered necessary, persons eligible to initiate a request for delay or appeal will initiate such action promptly as outlined in § 868.18 (c) (1).

(b) All requests for delay and appeals will be acted upon promptly by every activity processing them in order to eliminate unnecessary travel on the part of the Reservist to the maximum extent possible. Each such activity will take every positive action to notify an applicant for delay or appeal of the final action taken thereon and, if possible, will notify the Reservist prior to the date he must depart from his home to comply with his active military service orders.

§ 868.6 Criteria for delay. Subject to the requirements of the Air Force, and in accordance with the policies stated in § 868.2, Reservists may be considered eligible for delays if they meet the requirements of one of the categories established in §§ 868.7 through 868.12.

§ 868.7 Category A, "Critical Occupation". Reservists principally engaged or employed in an occupation appearing on the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations in an activity appearing on the Department of Commerce List of Essential Activities may be delayed if it is demonstrated that their services are more important for the time being in their present employment than in the military service. For the purpose of determining whether a Reservist is in this category, all of the following elements must be found to exist:

(a) The Reservist must in fact be self-employed or employed, in an occupation appearing on the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations.

(b) The Reservist must be self-employed or employed, in an activity appearing on the Department of Commerce List of Essential Activities.

(c) Call to active duty would cause a material loss in production services necessary to the national health, safety, or interest which would not be alleviated by such devices as job breakdown, upgrading, modification of production processes, training, and so forth.

(d) The urgency of the person's employment in the civilian job outweighs the need of the Air Force for his immediate services.

§ 868.8 Category B, "Key Position". (a) Persons principally engaged or employed in a key position in an activity appearing on the List of Essential Activities or in a Government activity related to the defense effort may be delayed if it is demonstrated that their services are more important for the time being in their present employment than in the military service.

(b) Generally, a key position which is not otherwise accounted for in the List of Critical Occupations is at the management level of an organization. The managerial level is generally understood to include those employees who direct, administer, and control the operations of an organization or a major part of an organization.

(c) For the purpose of determining whether a Reservist is in this category, all of the following elements must be found to exist:

(1) The Reservist must in fact be self-employed or employed in a key position as described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(2) Call to active duty would cause a material loss in production or services necessary to the national health, safety, or interest which could not be alleviated by such devices as job breakdown, upgrading, modification of production processes, training, and so forth.

(3) The urgency of the person's employment in the civilian job outweighs the need of the Air Force for his immediate services.

§ 868.9 Category C, "Students"—(a) Extent of delay. Initial delays will not exceed 6 months. Successive renewals of delay, not to exceed 6 months each, will be granted to cover the periods specified in paragraphs (b) (1) through (11) of this section: Provided, That all other requirements of the applicable subparagraph are met. Delay or renewals may be denied or terminated at any time when overriding military considerations dictate such action.

(b) Persons considered. Reservists enrolled in educational institutions or engaged as students in research in technical or scientific fields will be considered for delay as follows:

(1) A Reservist selected for enrollment or continuance in an officer training program of the Air Force may be delayed during satisfactory progress in the course.

(2) A Reservist without prior active military service who has not attained the 20th anniversary of the day of his birth and who is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at a high school or similar institution of learning, or a Reservist with prior active military service who has not attained the 22d anniversary of the day of his birth and who is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at a high school or similar institution of learning, may be delayed while in good standing until completion of the 12th or equivalent grade.

(3) A Reservist who is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction leading to the first academic degree granted normally at the end of at least 4 years of study in a college, university, or similar institution of learning, whose course of instruction leads to a degree in one of the professions appearing on the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations, and whose scholastic standing during the most recent measurable period ranked him in the upper half of the male students in his class, may be delayed to complete the course.

(4) A Reservist who is currently enrolled in a full-time course of instruction leading to the first academic degree granted normally at the end of at least 4 years of study in a college, university, or similar institution of learning in a profession which does not appear on the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations, and whose scholastic standing during the most recent measurable period ranked him in the upper half of the male students in his class, may be delayed for the then current academic year.

(5) A Reservist who is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction as a first-year graduate student and whose scholastic standing during his last undergraduate year ranked him in the upper fourth of the male students in his class, may be delayed for the then current academic year.

(6) A Reservist who is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction as a first-year student in a professional school of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, or allied specialties appearing on the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations and whose scholastic standing during his last undergraduate year ranked him in the upper half of the male students in his class, may be delayed for the then current academic year.

(7) A Reservist who has satisfactorily completed at least 1 year as a full-time graduate student in a profession appearing on the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations, or as a student in a professional school of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, or allied specialties appearing on that list, and is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course leading to his graduation, may be delayed to complete such course.

(8) A Reservist who has satisfactorily completed at least 1 year as a full-time graduate student in a profession which does not appear on the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations, and is currently enrolled in a full-time course at the time he is selected for active military service, may be delayed for the then current academic year.

(9) A Reservist who, upon completion of a graduate course is required to take State licensing examinations and/or to serve an internship period before practicing his profession, may be granted a delay not in excess of 1 year to complete such licensing examinations and/or internship.

(10) A Reservist pursuing a full-time reseach in a technical or scientific field necessary to the national health, safety, or interest, and where the importance of the civilian work of the individual outweighs the need of the Air Force for his immediate services, may be granted a delay for a maximum period of 12 months.

(11) Any Reservist within one semester or two quarters of graduation from undergraduate or graduate school, may be delayed until after graduation regardless of the nature of the course. Such delays may be in addition to any other student delays granted under this part.

(c) Each request considered on individual merits. Each request under this section will be considered on its individual merits with appropriate weights being given to the Reservist's current standing or his standing in the academic year most recently completed and to the remarks of the officials of the educational institution where such studies are being or will be pursued.

(d) Vacation periods. A student who has been accepted for admission for the next succeeding class, other than the first year of college, and who meets scholastic standards mentioned in paragraph (b) of this section will be considered as satisfactorily pursuing his course during the vacation period.

(e) Supporting evidence. Certification with regard to class standing, satisfactory progress, course content, acceptance for admission, and so forth, must be obtained by the Reservist from the appropriate institution of learning.

§ 868.10 Category D, "Hardships". Reservists whose recall would cause undue personal or community hardship, may be granted delay.

(a) Personal hardship. The individual must establish by documentary evidence that he or his family will, as a result of the call to active duty, suffer hardship greater than that generally being experienced by other Reservists being ordered into active service or by members of their families, and that the condition alleged will be eliminated or materially alleviated by delay. For example, Reservists who are self-employed in activities or occupations which do not appear on the Department of Commerce List of Essential Activities or the Department of Labor List of Critical Occupations may be considered for delay under this section.

(b) Community hardship. It must be established by documentary evidence that the withdrawal of the individual from the community will have a substantially adverse effect on the health, safety, or welfare of the community.

§ 868.11 Category E, "Elected Officials". The following officials of the Government will not be ordered to active service without their consent:

(a) The Vice-President of the United States.

(b) The Governors of the several States, Territories, and Possessions.

(c) All other officials chosen by the voters of an entire State, Territory, or Possession.

(d) Members of the legislative bodies of the United States, and of the several States, Territories, or Possessions.

(e) Judges of the courts of record of the United States and of the several States, Territories, or Possessions.

§ 868.12 Category F, "Apprentices." (a) Reservists undergoing apprenticeship training in occupations appearing on the List of Critical Occupations in an activity on the List of Essential Activities may be delayed. Renewals of delay, where appropriate, may be granted as provided in § 868.4 (c). To qualify for delay within this category, the Reservist must, in fact, be engaged in a recognized apprenticeship program which meets the standards and requirements outlined in paragraph (b) of this section and have completed not less than 2,000 hours of the apprentice training.

(b) The apprentice training program must be an organized plan, written or implied, embodying the terms and conditions of employment, training, and supervision of one or more apprentices in one or more apprenticeable occupations as defined in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and subscribed to by a sponsor who has undertaken to carry out the apprentice training program. The sponsor may be an employer of labor, a joint apprenticeship committee, a trade union, a group of employers of labor, or an association of journeymen.

(1) The apprentice training program must offer apprentice training in an occupation which:

(i) Customarily has been learned in a practical way through training on-the-job,

(ii) Requires 4,000 or more hours of work experience to learn,

(iii) Is clearly identified and commonly recognized throughout the industry,

(iv) Requires during each year of apprenticeship the completion of 144 hours or more of organized and systematic related trade instruction designed to provide the apprentice with learning in theoretical and technical subjects related to the occupation,

(v) Is not merely a part of an occupation normally learned through apprenticeship,

(vi) Involves a development of skill sufficiently broad to be applicable in like occupations throughout an industry rather than of restricted application to the products of one employer.

(2) The apprentice training program must have been in operation with apprentices actually being trained therein for a period of at least 1 year.

(3) Certification of the sufficiency of an apprentice program complying with subparagraph (1) of this section, must be furnished by the employer.

(c) Individuals qualify for delay because of their learning status in order to complete their apprenticeship. Upon termination of the training status, the Reservist must discharge his obligation to serve on active duty before he may become eligible for additional delay because of the acquisition of a "critical occupation" employment status. In exceptional cases only, additional temporary delay may be granted.

§ 868.13 Establishment of delay and appeal boards—(a) Delay boards. Each commander authorized to grant or to deny requests for delay will establish an adequate number of delay boards, each consisting of at least one officer and necessary clerical assistants, for the purpose of considering and determining requests for delay. The officers selected for the board will be of field grade, whenever possible, and at least one should be a member of the Judge Advocate General's Department, USAF, the Air Force Reserve (Judge Advocate General's Department), or an officer with comparable qualifications. A sufficient number of boards should be constituted to insure expeditious handling of delay requests. Classification officers, personnel officers, and technical personnel will be used to assist delay boards in those instances warranting such representation.

(b) Appeal board. An appeal board consisting of at least three senior Air Force officers who possess broad and diversified experience will be established as directed by Headquarters USAF. The primary function of this board will be to review, on appeal, decisions of delay boards on requests for delay.

§ 868.14 Authority to grant delays. All commanders authorized to order Reservists into the active military service will have authority to grant or deny requests for delay submitted by Reservists (or their employers) under their jurisdiction. All appeals from such decisions will be forwarded to the appeal activity established by § 868.13 (b).

§ 868.15 Authority to grant appeals. The appeal board is authorized to hear and determine appeals from decisions of every positive action to notify an appli-processes, training, and so forth.

the delay boards and may confirm the action of the delay board or grant additional delay.

§ 868.16 Delay board decisions—(a) If Reservist is to be ordered into active military service subsequent to delay. If the decision of the delay board is that the Reservist should be ordered into active military service subsequent to the delay period, the delay board will determine the specific date after which the Reservist may be placed on active military service orders.

(b) If Reservist is to be removed from consideration for active military service. If the decision of the delay board is that the Reservist should be removed from consideration for active military service under existing criteria, the delay board will determine a specific date after which the Reservist may again be considered for selection for active military service.

(c) If Reservist is granted student delay. If the Reservist is granted a student delay, the date after which he may be placed on orders or reconsidered for active military service will be 15 days after completion of the course or the academic year, whichever is applicable, unless additional delay is granted.

§ 868.17 Temporary delay. When the commander responsible for taking final action on a request for a delay or an appeal is unable for any reason to make such determination before the date the person is required to report to duty, the commander, if he considers it appropriate, may grant a temporary delay not to exceed 30 days.

§ 868.18 Requests for delays and appeals—(a) By whom submitted—(1) By Reservist or employer. A request for delay may be submitted or an appeal may be filed by the Reservist or his employer. A request or an appeal by the employer of a Reservist must be in accordance with § 868.4 (g).

(2) Appearance before boards. Reservists and their employers may appear in person, be represented by counsel, or both, before delay boards and the appeal board.

(b) Application for delay. A request for delay or an appeal must be in writing and signed by the person initiating the request or appeal.

(c) When submitted—(1) After notification or receipt of orders. Except as indicated in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, a request for delay may be submitted only after a Reservist has received notification of intent to order him into active military service or actual orders ordering him to such service. An appeal may be filed only after notification of the decision of a delay board.

(2) Rehearing or reconsideration. After a decision has been rendered by a delay board on a request for delay, that board will not reconsider the case unless new circumstances develop which were not considered in making the original decision. However, an appeal may be filed with the delay board for forwarding to the appeal board. After a decision on appeal has been rendered by the appeal board, that board will not reconsider the case unless the circumstances develop which were not considered in making the original decision on appeal.

(d) To whom submitted—(1) To delay board. Requests for delay will be submitted to the delay board at the headquarters which issued active military service orders or notification of intent to order the Reservist into active military service unless such orders or notification otherwise direct. Appeals will also be submitted to the delay board which will forward them to the appeal board for final determination.

(2) To Chief of Air Force Chaplains. Requests for delay and appeals filed by chaplains, ministers, priests, rabbis, and Reservists attending theological schools will be submitted by delay boards to the Chief of Air Force Chaplains for determination.

(3) To the Surgeon General, USAF. Requests for delay and appeals filed by Reservists holding appointments in a component of the Medical Service, USAF, will be submitted by delay boards to the Surgeon General, USAF, for determination.

§ 868.19 Evidence to substantiate request. The person requesting a delay or filing an appeal will identify the Reservist concerned, describe his civilian status, and set forth the reasons why a delay should be granted. Mere reference to the appropriate category applicable to the Reservist will not be sufficient.

§ 868.20 Action by Reservist pending decision on request for delay or appeal. Pending notification of the granting of a delay or an appeal, the Reservist will comply with his orders. In any instance, the mere submission of a request for delay or the filing of an appeal will not be considered as relieving the Reservist from responsibility for reporting as directed by active military service orders.

§ 868.21 Request for support of delay and appeals by elements of the Air Force—(a) Requests by contractors. To facilitate effective consideration of the needs of the supporting civil economy, elements of the Air Force having responsibilities for procuring supplies and services, including research and development services, are authorized to support requests by contractors for consideration of delay of Reservists in their employ. Such support will normally be rendered upon request of the contractor, subject to the strict criteria contained in this part, and only when justified by the merits of the particular case.

(b) Presentation. Air Force support will normally be presented in written form by a representative of the command which is responsible for the contract or, in the event of appeal, by the office of the Director of Industrial Resources, Headquarters USAF. Presentations should include such matters as the nature and essentiality of the product, whether the contractor is the sole source of supply, the extent to which schedules are being accelerated, any pertinent verification with regard to the Reservist's occupation and position in the organization, the numbers of persons of like occupation and skill in the organization, the extent to which deliveries are or threaten to fall behind schedule, or similar factors which would effect critical production. In the event that the letter of support contains classified information which cannot be made available to the contractor, such letter should be sent direct to the headquarters calling the Reservist to active duty. In addition to critical personnel of contractors, the procedures outlined in this section may also apply to subcontractors, suppliers, and other organizations of concern to the Department of Defense or the national security in general.

[SEAL] K. E. THIEBAUD,
Colonel, U. S. Air Force,
Air Adjutant General.

AUTHORITY: §§ 518.460 to 518.471 issued under sec. 32, 49 Stat. 774, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 612c.

§ 518.460 General statement. (a) In order to encourage the exportation of raisins held as 1952 and 1953 surplus pool tonnage by the Raisin Administrative Committee which administers Marketing Agreement No. 109 and Marketing Order No. 89, the Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to the authority conferred by section 32 of Public Law 320, 74th Congress, as amended, offers to make payments to United States exporters of such raisins subject to the terms and conditions set forth in this subpart.

(b) Information pertaining to this subpart and forms prescribed for use under this subpart may be obtained from either of the following:

Werner Allmendinger, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 226, Old Mint Building, 5th and Mission Streets, San Francisco 3, Calif.

E. M. Graham, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Fourteenth Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C.

§ 518.461 Eligible countries. Eligible countries include all foreign countries and their territories or dependent areas except: (a) Australia, New Zealand, Cyprus, Greece (including Crete), Iran, Turkey, Spain, and the Union of South Africa; (b) those countries and areas listed in Subgroup A of Group R of the Comprehensive Export Schedule issued by the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, United States Department of Commerce; and (c) those countries, including dependencies of foreign countries, located in North, South and Central America or on the islands adjacent thereto. The islands on which such ineligible countries or dependencies are located include but are not necessarily limited to Greenland, the Bahamas, Bermuda, and the islands of the Caribbean Sea.

§ 518.462 Rate of payment and determination of net weight. The rate of payment applicable to raisins exported under this subpart shall be 2.0 cents per pound, net processed packed weight. The net weight of any lot exported shall be: (a) The net weight invoiced or billed to the buyers; or (b) the net weight shown in the body of the inspection certificate issued by the U. S. D. A. covering such lot, whichever is less.

§ 518.463 Eligibility for payment—(a) Sales contract and application for program participation. (1) No payment will be made under this subpart on any raisins unless they are exported to an eligible country pursuant to a sales contract (as defined in § 518.471 (h)) which the exporter has entered into on or after, but not prior to, the effective date of this subpart. To be eligible for payment, the exporter shall file, on a prescribed form, an application to participate in this program and shall obtain approval thereof by the Administrator.

(2) Exporters whose billing offices are located in California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Idaho, Oregon, or Washington shall file their applications with Werner Allmendinger, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Rm. 226—Old Mint Building, 5th and Mission Streets, San Francisco 3, California. Exporters whose billing offices are located in any other state shall file their applications with E. M. Graham, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. The filing of applications should not be confused with the filing of claims (§ 518.464).

(3) Applications must be filed in triplicate with respect to each sales contract, as promptly as possible after, but not prior to, the date of sale but in no event later than the date of export (see § 518.471 (f)) nor later than 12 o'clock midnight, March 14, 1955, unless, upon a written request by the exporter stating substantial reasons therefor, such time is extended as provided in paragraph (g) of this section.

(4) The Administrator will, in the order in which they are received or on such other basis as he may determine to equitable, approve applications covering sales for export which meet the requirements of this subpart so long as funds which have been allocated to this subpart are available. The Administrator will furnish to the exporter prompt written approval or disapproval, or, in the event the application fails to conform with the applicable terms and conditions of this subpart, will so notify the exporter.

(5) If the exporter finds that an application previously approved by the Administrator should be revised because of modification in the applicable sales contract or for any other reason, he shall notify promptly the person with whom he filed the application of any such requested revision of the application. The Administrator will notify the exporter promptly of his approval or disapproval of the revision of the application.

(b) Minimum grade. Raisins exported under this subpart, except Cluster (non-layer pack) and Cluster (layer pack) Muscat raisins, shall meet or exceed the requirements of "U. S. Grade C" or "U. S. Standard," as defined in "United States Standards for Grades of Processed Raisins," effective May 26, 1952. Cluster (non-layer pack) Muscat raisins and Cluster (layer pack) Muscat raisins shall meet or exceed the requirements for Type II, Muscat Raisins, "U. S. Grade C" or "U. S. Standard," as defined in said United States Standards for Grades of Processed Raisins, except for moisture content and pieces of stems, capstems, and seeds; shall be fairly free from shattered (or loose) berries; shall be uniformly cured; shall contain not more than 19 percent of moisture, by weight of the raisins exclusive of stems and branches; and 30 percent or more, by weight, of the raisins shall be 3 Crown size or larger. Cluster (non-layer pack) applies to Muscat raisins packed in containers having a net weight of less than five pounds, and Cluster (layer pack) applies to Muscat raisins packed in containers having a net weight of five pounds or more.

(c) Inspection. The exporter shall furnish a certificate of inspection for each lot of raisins exported pursuant to this subpart. Such certificate shall be issued by the Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture. The period from date of inspection to date of exportation, both dates inclusive, shall not exceed 21 calendar days: Provided, That, upon written request of the exporter stating substantial reasons therefor, the Administrator may, if he deems it desirable, grant an extension of time of such period. The cost of inspection and issuance of the certificates shall be borne by the exporter.

(d) Packaging. Raisins exported under this subpart shall be suitably packed for export in a manner which shall reasonably assure arrival in good condition in the country of destination. Export containers shall bear a lot number, code or other markings by which the applicable requirements of § 518.464 (b) may be fulfilled.

(e) Minimum quantity. An application will not be approved nor will payment under this subpart be made if the total quantity covered by such application is less than two thousand (2,000) pounds net weight of raisins.

(f) Re-entry, diversion, re-exportation, or loss. If any quantity of raisins exported under this subpart re-enters the continental United States, or is diverted or re-exported to U. S. territories or possessions or is diverted or re-exported to other than eligible countries, as described in § 518.461, payment will be withheld or, if payment has already been made by the United States Government, the exporter shall refund the amount received on such quantity: Provided, That, if the raisins with respect to which payment may be withheld or refund required under this section are damaged after exportation, the payment withheld or refund required shall be an amount determined by the Secretary, which, however, shall not exceed the amount realized or which might reasonably be realized by the exporter for the damaged raisins over the price at which he sold to the foreign buyer in the sales contract covered by the approved application. In case of complete loss or destruction of the raisins or any part thereof after exportation, without fault or negligence of the exporter, no refund of the payment shall be required for the quantity so lost or destroyed. The exporter shall notify the Administrator immediately upon becoming cognizant of any such re-entry, diversion or re-exportation of, or damage to, the raisins which have been exported under this subpart and shall furnish information as to any claim he may have in connection with such event.

(g) Final dates. (1) The final time and date for entering into a sales contract shall be 12 o'clock midnight, February 28, 1955;

(2) The final time and date for filing an application shall be 12 o'clock midnight, March 14, 1955;

(3) The final time and date of export shall be 12 o'clock midnight, March 15, 1955;

(4) The final time and date for filing claims under this subpart shall be 12 o'clock midnight, April 15, 1955;

Provided, That, upon written request of the exporter stating substantial reasons therefor, the Administrator may, if he deems it desirable, grant an extension of time for the filing of applications, the accomplishment of exportation or the filing of claims.

§ 518.464 Claims for payment supported by evidence of compliance. (a) If the exporter's billing office is located in California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Idaho, Oregon or Washington, he shall file claim for payment under this subpart with the Director, CSS Commodity Office, Commodity Stabilization Service, United States Department of Agriculture, 515 Southwest Tenth Avenue, Portland 5, Oregon. If the exporter's billing office is located in any other state, he shall file claim for payment under this subpart with the Director, CSS Commodity Office, Commodity Stabilization Service, United States Department of Agriculture, 1010 Broadway, Cincinnati 2, Ohio. Such claim shall be filed so that it will be received by the CSS Commodity Office concerned not later than the final date specified in § 518.463 (g) (4). Each claim for payment shall be filed in an original and two copies on Form CSS-21 "Public Voucher—Commodity Programs" and shall show the number assigned by the United States Department of Agriculture to the related approved application, and shall be supported by:

(1) One signed or certified copy of the sales contract.

(2) One certified copy of the sales invoice to the buyer showing the price, f. a. s. U. S. port, to be paid by the buyer. If the price basis of the sale is other than f. a. s. U. S. port, the equivalent f. a. s. U. S. port price shall be computed by the exporter on the invoice showing each cost item (such as ocean freight and marine insurance). In the case of an invoice to a party named by the buyer to be billed, the exporter shall furnish a certified copy of the directions by the buyer to bill such party.

(3) One copy of the on-board export bill of lading signed by an agent of the exporting carrier, except that, where loss, destruction or damage occurs subsequent to loading on board exporting carrier but prior to issuance of on-board bill of lading, one copy of a loading tally sheet or similar document may be submitted in lieu of such bill of lading.

(4) The original or a signed copy of the inspection certificate required in § 518.463 (c).

(5) One copy of approved "Raisin Administrative Committee Application for Purchase of Surplus Raisins for Export," except where claim is filed by the Raisin Administrative Committee.

(6) Such other documents as may be required by the Administrator, evidencing purchase, sale or exportation of the commodity on which payment is claimed under this subpart.

(b) The export bill of lading must show the quantity and description of the commodity, including the lot, code or brand markings appearing on containers, or other reference sufficient to identify the commodity loaded on board the exporting carrier as that commodity covered by the inspection certificate, the date and place of loading, the destination of the commodity, and the name and address of both the exporter and the consignee. If the shipper or consignor named in such bill of lading is other than the exporter (seller) named in the application, the exporter shall furnish with the copy of such bill of lading a waiver by such shipper or consignor, in favor of such exporter, of any right to claim payment under this subpart for the commodity covered by such bill of lading. If the bill of lading shows the name of a consignee different from that appearing as the buyer on the contract under which the bill of lading is made, the exporter shall accompany his claim on the exportation covered by such bill of lading with a certification that the shipment under that bill of lading is to the buyer named in the contract and is made pursuant to that contract.

(c) The foregoing required evidence will not be accepted as conclusive if the Administrator has a reason to believe that exportation of all or any quantity of the commodity was not actually accomplished or that there has not been compliance with other requirements of this subpart, and in any such instance the Administrator may require such additional evidence as he deems reasonable.

§ 518.465 Records and accounts. The exporter shall maintain adequate records showing purchases, sales and deliveries of raisins exported or to be exported in connection with this subpart. Such records, accounts, and other documents relating to any transaction in connection with this subpart shall be preserved until at least April 15, 1957, and shall be available during regular business hours for inspection and audit by authorized employees of the United States Department of Agriculture.

§ 518.466 Amendment and termination. The Administrator may amend or terminate this subpart at any time, but such amendment or termination shall not apply to any sales contract for which an application has been approved under the subpart prior to the effective time of the amendment or termination. Such amendment or termination shall become effective on such date as the Administrator may specify in the amendment or termination, but shall not be earlier than the time of filing of the termination or amendment with the Federal Register Division.

§ 518.467 Persons not eligible for payments. No member of, or delegate to, Congress or resident commissioner shall be admitted any share or part of any payment made under this subpart or to any benefit that may arise therefrom, but this provision shall not be construed to extend to a payment made to a corporation for its general benefit or to any such person acting in his capacity as a producer of the raisins exported.

§ 518.468 Set-off. The Secretary may set off, against any amount owed to any exporter under this subpart any amount owed by such exporter to Commodity Credit Corporation, the United States Department of Agriculture, or any other agency of the United States. Set-off as provided herein shall not deprive the exporter of the right to contest the justness of the indebtedness involved, either by administrative appeal or by legal action.

§ 518.469 Joint payee or assignment. An exporter may name a joint payee on the claim for payment or may assign the proceeds of any claim for payment as provided in this subpart. The exporter may assign, in accordance with the provisions of the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940, Public Law No. 811, 76th Congress, as amended (31 U. S. C. 203, 41 U. S. C. 15), the proceeds of any claim to a bank, trust company, Federal lending agency, or other recognized financing institution: Provided, That such assignment shall be recognized only if and when the assignee thereof files written notice of the assignment with the appropriate person specified in § 518.463 (a) (2), together with a signed copy of the instrument of assignment, in accordance with the instructions on Form CSS-66, "Notice of Assignment," which form must be used in giving notice of assignment to the Administrator. The "Instrument of Assignment" may be executed on Form CSS-347 or the assignee may use his own form of assignment. The CSS forms may be obtained from the Administrator or the CSS Commodity Offices referred to in § 518.464.

§ 518.470 Good faith. Whereas it is the intent of this subpart to encourage the exportation of raisins produced, processed and packed in the United States by making such raisins available to foreign buyers at prices below domestic market prices in the amount of the payment specified in § 518.462; now, therefore, if the Secretary determines that any exporter has not acted in good faith in carrying out the purpose of this subpart, has not passed on to foreign buyers the incentive payment offered in this subpart, or otherwise has failed to discharge fully any obligation assumed by him under this subpart, such exporter may be denied the right to continue participating in this subpart, or the right to receive payment under its provisions in connection with any exportations previously made under this subpart, or both.

§ 518.471 Definitions. As used in §§ 518.460 through 518.471, the following terms have the following meanings:

(a) "Raisins" means Natural Thompson Seedless, Muscat, and Sultana raisins: (1) Produced from grapes grown in the continental United States; (2) processed and packed and the processing and packing performed in the continental United States; (3) which meet the requirements of § 518.463 (b); and (4) which are 1952 or 1953 surplus pool raisins purchased from the Raisin Administrative Committee pursuant to an approved "Raisin Administrative Committee Application for Purchase of Surplus Raisins for Export" or which are an equivalent quantity of Natural Thompson Seedless, Muscat, or Sultana raisins substituted for such raisins so purchased, or raisins which are sold by the Raisin Administrative Committee from 1952 or 1953 surplus pool tonnage directly for export.

(b) "Secretary" means the Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture or any person authorized to perform any act for the Secretary.

A sales contract shall consist of a written instrument signed by the buyer and the seller or shall consist of a written offer and acceptance evidenced by an exchange of telegrams, cablegrams, or letters. The term includes a contract between an exporter and his foreign branch or any affiliate or associate located in an eligible country.

PART 939—BEURRE D'ANJOU, BEURRE BOSC, WINTER NELIS, DOYENNE DU COMICE, BEURRE EASTER, AND BEURRE CLAIRGEAU PEARS GROWN IN OREGON, WASHINGTON, AND CALIFORNIA

DETERMINATION RELATIVE TO EXPENSES AND RATE OF ASSESSMENT FOR 1954-55 FISCAL PERIOD

On September 21, 1954, notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 6069) that consideration was being given to proposals regarding the expenses and the fixing of the rate of assessment for the 1954-55 fiscal period under Marketing Agreement No. 89, as amended, and Order No. 39, as amended (7 CFR Part 939), regulating the handling of Beurre D'Anjou, Beurre Bosc, Winter Nelis, Doyenne du Comice, Beurre Easter, and Beurre Clairgeau varieties of pears grown in Oregon, Washington, and California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice which were submitted by the Control Committee (established pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and order), it is hereby found and determined that:

§ 939.207 Expenses and rate of assessment for the 1954–55 fiscal period—(a) Expenses. Expenses that are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Control Committee, established pursuant to the provisions of the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order, to enable such committee to perform its functions, in accordance with the provisions thereof, during the fiscal period beginning July 1, 1954, and ending June 30, 1955, both dates inclusive, will amount to $23,165.00.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment, which each handler who first handles pears shall pay as his pro rata share of the aforesaid expenses in accordance with the applicable provisions of said amended marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed at seven mills ($0.007) per standard western pear box of pears, or its equivalent of pears in other containers or in bulk.

It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to postpone the effective time of this section until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (1) in accordance with the provisions of said amended marketing agreement and order, the rate of assessment is applicable to all pears shipped during the 1954–55 fiscal period; (2) shipments of such pears are now being made; and (3) it is essential that the specification of the assessment rate be issued immediately so that the aforesaid assessments may be collected and thereby enable said Control Committee to perform its duties and functions in accordance with said amended marketing agreement and order.

As used in this section, the terms "handler," "handles," "shipments," "shipped," "pears," "standard western pear box," and "fiscal period" shall have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Dated: October 8, 1954.

PART 503—AVAILABILITY OF RECORDS

NON-AVAILABILITY OF RECORDS

Section 503.17, the rule of the Office of Alien Property on the confidential nature of records of that office and the conditions under which disclosures may be made, refers to branches of the office, to the New York office, and to classified security information. Branches have been redesignated as sections, there no longer is a New York office, and the designation "classified security information," used in Executive Order 10290 of September 24, 1951 (16 F. R. 9795, 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.) has become obsolete by virtue of revocation of that order by Executive Order 10501 of November 5, 1953 (18 F. R. 7049, 3 CFR, 1953 Supp.) which established a new designation known as "defense information." Accordingly, § 503.17 is hereby amended to conform to these changes. Inasmuch as this amendment relates to agency management, notice, hearing, and suspension of applicability are not required.

§ 503.17 General rule as to non-availability of records of the Office of Alien Property. All official files, documents, records and information in the Office of Alien Property, or in the custody or control of any officer, employee, agent or delegate of the Office of Alien Property, are to be regarded as confidential. No officer, employee, agent or delegate may permit the disclosure or use of the same for any purpose other than for the performance of his official duties, except in the discretion of the Attorney General, the Deputy Attorney General, the Director, or the Deputy Director, of the Office of Alien Property, and in the case of defense information as defined in Executive Order 10501 of November 5, 1953 (18 F. R. 7049, 3 CFR, 1953 Supp.), except in accordance with the provisions of said Executive Order and the Department of Justice regulations thereunder: Provided, however, That each section chief, the Manager, Hawaii Office, and the Manager, Philippine Office, are generally authorized to make available or disclose such official files, documents, records and information in the Office of Alien Property, other than defense information, in the conduct of affairs of his section or office, unless otherwise instructed by the Director. Whenever a subpoena duces tecum is served to produce any such files, documents, records, or information, the officer, or employee, or agent, or delegate on whom such subpoena is served, unless otherwise expressly directed by the Attorney General, will appear in court to answer thereto and respectfully decline to produce the records specified therein, on the ground that the disclosure of such records is prohibited by this section.

R. 7489)) are hereby amended in the following respects:

1. Section 51.2 is amended to read:

§ 51.2 Payment to owners for cattle destroyed. Owners of cattle which are destroyed because of brucellosis, tuberculosis, or paratuberculosis may be paid an indemnity by the Department for each animal so destroyed not to exceed one-third of the difference between the appraised value of the animal and the salvage value thereof, ascertained in accordance with the provisions of §§ 51.4 and 51.7: Provided, however, That no such payment for cattle destroyed shall exceed $25 for any grade animal or $50 for any purebred animal: And provided further, That in the case of tuberculosis or paratuberculosis reactors no such payment shall exceed the amount paid or to be paid by the State where the animal was condemned.

2. Section 51.9 (g) is amended to read:

(g) If the cattle were destroyed as reactors to tests for tuberculosis, or paratuberculosis, unless the claim is to be paid in cooperation with, and supplementary to, payments to be made by the State in which said cattle were condemned.

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance: Provided, however, That claims for cattle on which appraisals have been made and accepted prior to said date shall be governed by the regulations in effect immediately prior to the effective date of the amendment.

The purpose of this amendment is to provide for more liberal indemnity payment by the Federal Government for cattle destroyed because they reacted to a test for brucellosis and to provide for payment of indemnity by the Federal Government for cattle destroyed because they reacted to a test for brucellosis whether or not the State participates in such indemnity payment. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedures Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amendment may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 3, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, sec. 2, 32 Stat. 792, as amended, sec. 11, 58 Stat. 734; 21 U. S. C. 114, 111, 114a)

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter V—Department of the Army

PART 592—PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

PART 606—SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. Paragraph (e) is added to § 592.102 as follows:

§ 592.102 General requirements for negotiation. • • •

(e) Findings required by § 592.201 (d) have been made.

2. In § 592.201–2, paragraphs (c), (d), (e) and (f) are rescinded and the following substituted therefor:

§ 592.201–2 Application. • • •

(c) Subject to paragraph (d) of this section and instructions issued by the Heads of Procuring Activities, purchases by negotiation under the authority cited in paragraph (b) of this section may be made under any one of the circumstances set forth in Subpart B, Part 402 of this title, in the manner prescribed by this and other applicable Department of the Army regulations, and in addition thereto, in the following instances:

(1) When the Head of a Procuring Activity deems negotiation to be necessary for the purpose of implementing procurement policy as announced by the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, Department of the Army, and formal advertising will adversely affect accomplishment of that purpose. When negotiation is justified, the maximum practicable and reasonable degree of competition will be developed as a required part of the negotiation.

(2) Emergency procurements of a high priority nature which could not be effected by formal advertising within the time required for delivery. In this connection attention is directed to § 591.202 (b) of this subchapter.

(d) The Contracting Officer or a person empowered by the Head of a Procuring Activity to determine or establish the method of procurement to be utilized in specific actions will prepare and sign a determination and finding for inclusion in the contract file which will either:

(1) Cite section 2 (c) (1) of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947 as specific authority authorizing negotiation and note other authority which would be used were section 2 (c) (1) of the act not available for citation (i. e., section 2 (c) (2) through 2 (c) (17) of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947). Such determination and finding will include a statement outlining the reasons which justified the negotiation. In those cases where authority to negotiate is obvious from the nature of the items procured, the amount of the procurement or the place of contracting or performance (purchases not in excess of $1,000, medicines or medical supplies authorized resale, perishable subsistence, purchases outside the United States, and classified purchases), a simple statement in lieu of a determination and finding citing the appropriate authority will suffice; or

(2) Cite section 2 (c) (1) of the act, briefly stating the circumstances requiring and justifying negotiation and noting the absence of other authority for the use of negotiation. For example, this type of justification would be applicable to negotiation of set-aside portions of procurement for labor surplus areas as provided for in § 402.219 of this title. Negotiation will not be justified under this subparagraph unless exceptions 2 (c) (2) through 2 (c) (17) of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947 are not applicable.

(e) Requests for approval and subsequent approvals of awards of contracts negotiated pursuant to the authority of this section will be in writing. Approval of awards shall be considered to include the approval of the use of negotiation as well as approval of the award.

(f) Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) will not be used to support contracts negotiated under section 2 (c) (1) of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947, as amended.

(g) Paragraph (e) of this section is not applicable to purchases by negotiation specifically authorized by the Secretary to be made under the authority of Title II, First War Powers Act, 1941, as amended by Public Law 921, 81st Congress.

3. Sections 606.206–7, 606.206–8, 606.207, 606.207–1, 606.207–2 and 606.207–3 are rescinded and the following substituted therefor:

§ 606.206–7 Distribution to audit agencies of procurement contracts and other documents. (a) Contracting Officers of the Department of the Army will distribute authenticated copies of contracts and other information as specified below to the appropriate offices of the Army Audit Agency and the audit agencies of oversea commands within 20 days after they are executed, in order that these agencies may plan and perform the independent audits contemplated by Department of the Army policy (section 401, Public Law 216, 81st Congress; and other applicable statutes).

(1) One copy of all cost (or cost sharing), cost-plus-a-fixed-fee, time and material contracts, and fixed-price contracts containing cost reimbursement provisions for portions of the contract performance (including letter contracts); also one copy of all changes, amendments, and supplements to such contracts.

(2) One copy of any other type of negotiated contract (including letter contracts) where the total compensation to be paid the Contractor is based in whole or in part, on the actual cost incurred, the quantity of work or service performed, the time element in performing the work or service, or on other similar variable factors; also one copy of all changes, amendments, and supplements to such contracts.

(3) One copy of all contracts (including letter contracts) which provide for price redetermination, price escalation, incentive price adjustment, advance payments, or progress payments; also one copy of all changes, amendments, and supplements to such contracts.

(4) One copy of all contracts which have been terminated for convenience of the Government and which were not previously forwarded under requirements of subparagraphs (1), (2), or (3) of this paragraph.

(5) When a contract supplement reflecting (i) redetermination of fixed overhead rates under a cost-type contract or (ii) redetermined prices under a price redetermination or price escalation contract or (iii) a termination settlement is forwarded to a regional office of the Army Audit Agency in accordance with the requirements of subparagraph (1), (2), (3), or (4) of this paragraph, one copy of the record of negotiations will be attached to the supplement. This record will be an extra copy of summary of negotiations necessary for proper documentation in the contract file, or for review by a board of awards (if appropriate). The preparation of a special record is not necessary to meet the requirements of this section.

(b) In addition to the contractual documents required by paragraph (a) of this section, Contracting Officer will within 5 days after receipt thereof from the Contractor forward an original and one copy of all cost statements, financial data, termination settlement proposals in connection with contracts terminated for the convenience of the Government (including inventory schedules and DD Form 546 (Schedule of Accounting Information)), and other information furnished by the Contractor in accordance with each contract referred to in paragraph (a) of this section, or requested or acquired by the Contracting Officer. The copy of the cost statements and other data furnished will be retained by the audit agency and filed with the audit work papers, and the original returned at the time of submission of the audit report or at the time the audit agency determines that an audit is not to be initiated.

(c) For contracts involving Government industrial property in possession of Contractors, Contracting Officers will furnish to the cognizant audit agency a letter notification showing contract number, name, and address of Contractor, address of office administering the property records, and location of the property records. Notifications may be consolidated and furnished weekly or monthly, depending on volume, but separate letters will be furnished for each location of records.

(d) Within the continental United States, distribution of the above indicated contractual documents, supplementary information, and notifications will be made by the purchasing office to the cognizant audit agency regional office of the area in which the records subject to audit are located and will include one extra copy when contracts administered from within the continental limits of the United States are performed outside the continental limits of the United States. Special arrangements for furnishing the required information and documents direct from the purchasing office to branch or other subordinate office of the cognizant audit agency may be made between a purchasing office and an Army Audit Agency regional office. Classified contracts and documents will be transmitted under safeguards prescribed in AR 380–5. The addresses and jurisdictional areas of the Army Audit Agency regional offices are as follows:

Name and Address of Regional Office and Regional Jurisdiction

New York Regional Office, Army Audit Agency, 180 Varick Street, New York 14, N. Y.; First Army Area.

Philadelphia Regional Office, Army Audit Agency, 2800 South 20th Street, Philadelphia 45, Pa.; Second Army Area.

Atlanta Regional Office, Army Audit Agency, 745 Peachtree-Seventh Building, 50 Seventh Street NW., Atlanta, Ga.; Third Army Area.

San Antonio Regional Office, Army Audit Agency, Fort Sam Houston, Tex.; Fourth Army Area.

Kansas City Regional Office, Army Audit Agency, Kansas City Records Center, 5505 Independence Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.; Fifth Army Area.

San Francisco Regional Office, Army Audit Agency, 180 New Montgomery Street, San Francisco 5, Calif.; Sixth Army.

Washington Regional Office, Army Audit Agency, Wing 2, Tempo A, Washington 25, D. C.; Military District of Washington, and audit of contracts originating in the continental United States for project overseas.

(e) Contracts other than those specified in paragraph (a) of this section will not be distributed to the cognizant audit agency.

(f) In oversea commands, the commander will publish the addresses of the offices of the command audit agency to which the above indicated contractual documents, supplementary information, and notification will be furnished.

(g) On notification that either the Cost Inspection Service, United States Navy, or the Auditor General, United States Air Force, has been assigned audit cognizance under the Coordinated Audit Program, Contracting Officers may submit contractual documents specified above direct to the cognizant audit agency. In the absence of such knowledge, documents will be submitted to the regional office, Army Audit Agency, having jurisdiction, who will promptly forward the documents to the cognizant audit office or auditor.

(h) Excessive distribution is prohibited. See § 605.1506–3 (b) of this subchapter.

§ 606.207 Audits of procurement contracts by audit agencies; general. (a) Requirements and procedures pertaining to audits of procurement contracts are set forth in the following sections. Whenever reference is made below to the Army Audit Agency, or officials or offices thereof, the terms will be equally applicable to corresponding audit agencies and offices in oversea commands subject only to such changes as may be necessary for adaptation to the varying organizational patterns of the commands.

(b) Audits of costs claimed are mandatory on all contracts of the types included in § 606.206–7 (a) (1). Audits in connection with fixed overhead rates on proposed cost-type contracts being negotiated will be performed when requested by the Contracting Officer. Audits for the purpose of determining the reasonableness of rates specified in cost-type contracts, such as fixed overhead rates, direct labor-hour rates, or any other rate stipulated as compensation per unit of work completed, will be performed when requested by the Contracting Officer or at the discretion of the Army Audit Agency Regional Director.

(c) In connection with contracts providing for price redetermination, revision of prices escalation, audits will be performed when requested by the Contracting Officer or when deemed desirable by the Army Audit Agency Regional Director. Procedures for determining the need for and the scheduling of audits of redeterminable price contracts are set forth in § 606.207–2.

(d) Audit of termination settlement proposals of terminated cost-type or fixed-price contracts or subcontracts thereunder will be in accordance with the requirements of § 407.515 of this title.

(e) Determination of the need for audits of contracts other than the above will be made by the Contracting Officer or the Army Audit Agency Regional Director on an individual basis.

§ 606.207–1 Cost-type contracts—(a) Submission of vouchers. Unless otherwise specifically provided by contract terms and/or by written agreement between the purchasing office and the cognizant audit agency, all reimbursement vouchers under cost-type contracts will be submitted to the cognizant audit agency for audit prior to payment.

(b) Differences and disputes. (1) Where questions arise as to interpretation of the contract terms, or there appears to be need of either amplification, substantiation, or clarification by the Contracting Officer; or where specified approval or authentication by the Contracting Officer is required by contract terms or applicable regulations, the auditor will, to the extent practicable, present his questions or inquiries to the Contracting Officer prior to processing the cost reimbursement voucher. The Contracting Officer, in turn, will cooperate fully in the prompt resolution of any such problem. Every attempt will be made by the Contracting Officer and the auditor to resolve their problems at local level.

(2) If the audit discloses costs which, in the opinion of the auditor, do not appear to be reimbursable under the terms of the contract, or which appear to be excessive or unreasonable, the auditor will note and explain such costs of DD Form 396 (Notice of Costs Suspended and/or Disapproved). If the Contracting Officer concurs in the auditor's findings he will sign the form, furnish the required copies to the Contractor, and process the voucher for payment as reduced by the amount of costs suspended or disapproved. If the Contracting Officer does not concur in whole or in part with the auditor's findings, the notice may be forwarded to the Contractor without the signature of the Contracting Officer. The cost on which the auditor and the Contracting Officer are in agreement should be processed for payment. Disputed items will not be approved for payment in whole or in part until differences have been reconciled. Every effort will be made by the Contracting Officer and the auditor to resolve any items of difference. Conferences will be held in every case where practicable. Otherwise the matter will be handled as expeditiously as possible by correspondence. If conferences between the auditor and the Contracting Officer, and between the Contracting Officer and the Chief of the Army Audit Agency Branch Office under whose supervision the audit is being performed, do not resolve the differences of opinion in 15 days, the Army Audit Agency Branch Chief will transmit his complete file on the case to the Regional Director, Army Audit Agency, with a request for resolution of the matter. He will furnish a copy of the letter of transmittal to the Chief of the purchasing office involved. The Chief of the purchasing office will within 15 days of receipt of the copy of the above transmittal furnish to the Regional Director, Army Audit Agency, his views and any further data available considered pertinent. Upon receipt of the letter from the Chief of the purchasing office, the Army Audit Agency Regional Director will consider carefully all of the data submitted and the reasoning advanced, and will within 15 days advise the Chief of the purchasing office involved of his views in the matter.

(3) Generally, the Chief of the purchasing office and the Army Audit Agency Regional Director should be capable of resolving any differences of opinion which may exist with respect to the allowability of costs. However, if agreement cannot be reached after the procedure required in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, the Chief of the purchasing office, within 15 days after receiving the Army Audit Agency Regional Director's reply to his previous comments, will transmit the complete file to the Head of the Procuring Activity involved, forwarding a copy of the transmittal letter to the Army Audit Agency Regional Director. Upon receipt of copy of the transmittal letter, the Army Audit Agency Regional Director will forward his complete file, including pertinent audit work papers, to the Chief, Army Audit Agency, sending a copy of his transmittal letter to the Chief of the purchasing office.

(4) Within 10 days after receipt of the files, the designated representative of the Head of the Procuring Activity concerned and the designated representative of the Chief, Army Audit Agency, acting as an informal board, will make a decision on the items in dispute. All decisions of the informal board will have the written approval of the Head of the Procuring Activity concerned and of the Chief, Army Audit Agency, or their authorized representatives. When so approved, the Head of the Procuring Activity will send the decision to the Contracting Officer who will be bound by the decision. The Chief, Army Audit Agency, will send an information copy of the approved decision to the Regional Director, Army Audit Agency.

(5) In the event that the informal board representing the Head of the Procuring Activity and the Chief, Army Audit Agency, are unable to agree, the informal board will prepare and sign a joint statement of their respective positions and opinions which will be referred to The Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, and the Comptroller of the Army for review and decision on the issues involved. Should the issues not be resolved at this level, the dispute may be referred to higher authority through command channels.

(6) Determination reached by the informal board or higher authority will have the effect of a directive and will be so recognized by both the Contracting Officer and the Army Audit Agency auditor. Payment will be made in accordance with the decision reached. Such decisions do not preclude a Contractor from seeking redress under any applicable provisions of the contract or statutes.

(7) In oversea commands, the commanding general of the command involved will establish procedures for final determinations when the audit agency of the command and the procuring activity of the command cannot agree.

§ 606.207–2 Fixed-price contracts—(a) General. (1) The Contracting Officer has final responsibility for the administration of the contract including price redetermination negotiations. He will use audit data, if it has been determined that audit will be performed, to assist him in his task.

(2) The Army Audit Agency has the discretionary right to audit any redeterminable price contract.

(3) Time is a critical element in price redetermination. Contracting Officers and auditors must be keenly aware of the importance of the time element and of the duties, responsibilities, and problems of each other.

(4) It is not considered sound policy to arbitrarily exempt from audit any contract or group of contracts in which pricing or payment is based on cost information furnished by the Contractor. However, where there is adequate knowledge of the Contractor's accounting policies and cost systems, and previous favorable experience, both the Contracting Officer and the Regional Director, Army Audit Agency, should consider the propriety of conducting repricing negotiations on the basis of the Contractor's cost submission, without recourse to audit, after a satisfactory review and analysis by qualified personnel in either or both offices. The procedure is particularly adaptable to contracts of limited amounts. On the other hand, previous unfavorable experience, or lack of any previous experience, may indicate the advisability of initiating an audit immediately after receipt by the Army Audit Agency of a contract containing progress payment and price redetermination clauses. Such an audit ordinarily will be performed concurrently as work under the contract progresses. The Army Audit Agency will notify the Contracting Officer within 5 days after a decision to make a concurrent audit has been reached.

(b) Reporting and scheduling redeterminable price contracts for audit. (1) Determination of the need for audit and the scheduling of the performance of audits of contracts containing price redetermination clauses will be accomplished in accordance with the procedures prescribed below. These procedures are designed to insure the performance of audits in the order of priority necessary to meet the needs of the procuring activities.

(2) Such determination and scheduling will be accomplished through the medium of a monthly report entitled "Redeterminable Price Contract Audit Schedule (Reports Control Symbol CSGLD–556)." The report will be prepared in letter form, with report title and reports control symbol as the subject. Negative reports are not required. The report will be prepared by each purchasing office which administers contracts having price redetermination clauses. Each Audit Agency Regional Office which has audit responsibility for such contracts will take action as indicated in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph. The report will be transmitted by the purchasing office by the 20th of each month and will cover all fixed-price prime contracts having redetermination cutoff points falling within the 2 calendar months following the month in which the report is submitted. (Cutoff point is the last date of the period for which costs are to be considered for audit and will be determined under the price redetermination clause in each contract.)

(3) The purchasing office will submit the report to the appropriate Army Audit Regional Office in triplicate with a separate sheet for each contract, showing:

(i) Reporting office.

(ii) Contract number.

(iii) Contractor and location.

(iv) Dollar value of contract.

(v) Form of price redetermination clause.

(vi) Effective date of last price redetermination (if applicable).

(vii) Anticipated date of price redetermination cutoff point.

(viii) Anticipated date of receipt of cost statement (or date of cost statement if previously received).

(ix) Recommendation with respect to necessity for audit, with brief and concise reasons therefor, indicating audit essential, or audit desirable, or audit not deemed necessary.

(x) A priority number assigned to each contract reported to reflect the order of importance for Army Audit Agency action. For example, the most urgent, irrespective of the cutoff date, would be No. 1, etc.

(4) Contracts previously reported will be included in subsequent reports until one report has been issued after the Contractor's cost data have been delivered by the Contracting Officer to the Army Audit Agency. Upon receipt of Contractor's cost data, the purchasing office may revise previous recommendations and the Army Audit Agency Regional Office may revise previously indicated action. The latest available information and expression of the views of the purchasing office as to desirability and priority of audit will be stated.

(5) If audit action has not been started, the Army Audit Agency Regional Office, upon receipt of the report, will determine the auditing action to be taken and will, in any event, return one copy of the report to the reporting activity with notations to show audit action taken or planned. If indicated action varies from reporting activity recommendations, reasons therefore will be stated.

(c) Auditing redeterminable price contracts. (1) Promptly upon receipt of the Contractor's cost data but in any case not later than 5 working days thereafter, the Army Audit Agency will advise the Contracting Office of the estimated date of submission of the audit report. If later information indicates that the audit cannot be completed within the period originally estimated, the auditor promptly will advise the Contracting Officer of the cause of the delay and of the estimated date of completion. If the delay is caused by failure of the Contractor to maintain dependable and adequate accounting records of contract costs or to furnish requisite records or information to the auditor, the Contracting Officer will take action to require the Contractor to correct the accounting deficiencies and furnish all required data in accordance with the contract terms. However, should the auditor's original or revised estimated date of completion of audit extend beyond 21 calendar days from the date the cost statement was received by the Army Audit Agency, and if the estimated date is not agreeable to the Contracting Officer, the auditor and the Contracting Officer will review immediately the circumstances and attempt to reach a mutually agreeable date for submission of the audit report to the Contracting Officer.

(2) If mutual agreement regarding the submission date of the audit report cannot be reached by the method indicated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the auditor will report through channels to Headquarters, Army Audit Agency, the reasons why the audit will take an extended period of time and why he believes audit essential for use in price redetermination of that particular contract. Similarly, the Contracting Officer will report through channels to the Head of the Procuring Activity his position in the matter and will give substantial reasons why the Government's interest would be jeopardized if negotiations were not concluded prior to receipt of the audit report. Joint consideration will be given to the problem immediately by each echelon until the matter is resolved or until it reaches the Head of the Procuring Activity concerned and the Chief of the Army Audit Agency, which offices will attempt to resolve any problem submitted to them in this area. If agreement cannot be reached at that level, the case will be forwarded to the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, and the Comptroller of the Army for final disposition.

(3) Pending a final decision to redetermine without a completed audit in any case, the auditor will continue the audit until completed or until a decision is reached. If a mutual decision to redetermine prices without a completed audit is made at any level as authorized in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, that decision will be made in writing and will be signed by representatives of the appropriate audit and procurement offices. A signed copy of this decision will be forwarded through channels to the Contracting Officer and the auditor. The auditor immediately will submit a report of his findings to the Contracting Officer for consideration in negotiations. Costs which have not been reviewed and analyzed because of the decision will be so identified in the audit report. With respect to further audit, the auditor will be governed by direction of his superiors.

(d) Scope of audits. Contracting Officers are urged to define specific areas of audit examination which they desire to have given special attention. However, Contracting Officers will not attempt to restrict the scope of audit nor impose time limitations for completion of the audit. The scope of audits will be the minimum under the circumstances in each case, which, in the opinion of the auditor, will provide sufficient evidence upon which to base an opinion regarding the reliability, reasonableness, and fairness of the Contractor's claims regarding costs actually incurred or projected to be incurred in the future, either as a basis for actual contract settlement or for price negotiation, as the case may be. The scope of the audit will depend upon the auditor's professional judgment regarding the Contractor's financial and accounting policies and procedures, including the reliability of his cost system and internal controls.

(e) Discussion of cost questioned with contracts. In order to facilitate negotiations and to insure that the audit findings are in keeping with the facts after full consideration has been given to the Contractor's accounting policies and procedures, the auditor should discuss his audit findings with the Contractor with respect to the costs questioned and the accounting basis therefor unless such discussion would not be in the best interest of the Government. The auditor should inform the Contractor that his audit findings are preliminary to the issuance of the advisory report to the Contracting Officer to assist in price negotiations.

(f) Action of Contracting Officer upon receipt of audit report. Contracting Officers have full responsibility for prices negotiated under contracts containing price redetermination clauses and are not bound to adhere to the audit recommendations. However, audit reports are important in that they furnish Contracting Officers information and technical advice often necessary to equitable negotiations with the Contractor's representatives. Audit reports will be considered fully and used to the best advantage. Whenever an audit has been determined to be necessary, redetermination of prices will not be negotiated until the results of audit are available to the Contracting Officer except under conditions as authorized in paragraph (c) (2) of this section. Audit reports relating to price redetermination are advisory only; however, when the audit report indicates that the costs are unusually excessive or when the costs questioned are substantial, the Contracting Officer should discuss the report with the auditor before he negotiates with the Contractor. Where appropriate or desirable the Contracting Officer should invite the auditor to act as his advisor during negotiation, and the auditor will act in such capacity when practicable.

§ 606.207–3 General—(a) Evaluation of prices negotiated after audit. Upon the negotiation of revised prices, fixed overhead rates and termination settlement in which the results of audit were employed in the negotiations and after receipt of the documents named in § 606.206 (a) (5), the Army Audit Agency will evaluate the new prices, or rates, in the light of all available information for overall reasonableness. In those cases where the new prices appear largely disproportionate to the information available, a report will be made through the Chief, Army Audit Agency to the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C., Attn: Chief, Purchases Branch. The Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, will make such investigation and will take such corrective action as deemed appropriate.

(b) Accounting counsel. Contracting Officers may request, and the Army Audit Agency will furnish, accounting counsel whenever the Contracting Officer determines that such counsel is desirable and appropriate in the negotiation of a contract either in the initial pricing stage or during repricing or contract termination negotiations. Accounting counsel should always be sought where the accuracy or propriety of cost accounting determinations contained in the audit report are challenged by the Contractor.

(c) Reports of irregularities. Any information as to irregularities or unusual matters which come to the attention of the Contracting Officer will be reported promptly to the auditor, and any such information discovered by the auditor will be reported promptly to the Contracting Officer, for appropriate consideration. Reports by the auditor indicating suspicion of fraud or criminal conduct will be furnished to the Contracting Officer who will be governed by § 590.111 of this subchapter.

(d) Audit of subcontracts. (1) Whenever cost-type or redeterminable-price subcontracts extend below a cost-type or redeterminable-price contract in a chain unbroken by a firm fixed-price contract, the Government generally has the same interests in the costs and or prices of such subcontracts as if they were prime contracts. Accordingly, all such subcontracts are subject to audit by the Government and Contracting Officers will insure that:

(i) The right of audit is reserved to the Government in the drafting of all such subcontracts.

(ii) Copies of all such subcontracts and, as appropriate, cost statements and repricing supplements are furnished promptly to the Army Audit Agency.

(iii) Advance arrangements are made for the performance of audit, unless after consideration of the size of the subcontract, prior experience with the subcontractor, and other pertinent factors, the Contracting Officer recommends and the Army Audit Agency concurs, that audit should be waived.

(2) Ordinarily, in subcontracts of substantial size, or where auditors of the Army, Navy, or Air Force are already performing audits at a subcontractor's plant, or where negotiations between the Prime Contractor and the subcontractor are not on an arm's length basis, or where the subcontractor objects to an audit by the Prime Contractor, arrangements should be made between the appropriate Army Audit Agency regional director, the Contracting Officer, and the Prime Contractor for audit to be performed by military department auditors. Where such arrangements are made, the results of audits will be furnished to the next higher tier Contractor, the Contracting Officer for the prime contract, and the auditor of the prime contract.

(3) For subcontracts where conditions outlined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph do not pertain, arrangements may be made for the Prime Contractor or next higher tier subcontractor, as the case may be, to perform the audits of its subcontracts: Provided, That:

(i) The working papers of the audit will be made available to the Army Audit Agency and the right is reserved to the Army Audit Agency to require or perform further audit if the audit performed by the higher tier Contractor is not considered adequate.

(ii) The results of audit will be furnished to the Contracting Officer and to the auditor of the prime contract.

4. In § 606.310, instructions pertaining to line 9 through line 10a (2) are rescinded and the following instructions substituted therefor:

§ 606.310 Instructions for preparation of DA Form 377 (Monthly Summary of Procurement actions.)

Such a determination, if initiated by re-determine, separately what use is made of quest of a Representative of the Small Business Administration, shall be known as a "Joint Determination."

(m) Small Business Specialist. A Small Business Specialist is an individual appointed in accordance with § 606.706 (c) (2), who has been assigned the responsibility for assisting small business concerns to participate in the defense procurement program. (o) Suitable for procurement from Small Business. An item or service is considered suitable for procurement from Small Business when the item or service is one which business concerns in the Small Business category presently:

(1) Are technically competent to produce;

(2) Have adequate available facilities and open capacity to produce;

(4) Are capable of producing to meet the required delivery schedule, and

(5) Are able to produce without overtaxing their financial and technical resources.

§ 606.703 Policy—(a) General. In the interest of assisting Small Business, and of broadening the industrial base of producers, the following general policies and practices adopted:

(1) Review of the Production Allocation Program, for the purpose of determining those items which can be procured from a broad number of sources and from various classifications of industry.

(2) Maximum use of available industrial capacity, with limited use of Certificates of Necessity in those cases where necessary industrial capacity is not available.

(3) Review of military requirement and procurement methods, for the purpose of assisting Small Business and Broadening the industrial base of suppliers.

(4) Establishment of a training program for procurement personnel covering the need for procurement from Small Business and for broadening the industrial base of suppliers through the medium of procurement from Small Business.

(5) Encouragement of subcontracting, with each important and substantial negotiated purchase to be examined to determine the extent to which subcontracting may be accomplished. The extent of subcontracting shall be considered as one of the factors in the negotiation and award of prime contracts.

(6) Appointment of Small Business Specialists in procurement offices to increase Small Business participation in Department of the Army procurement.

(7) Adoption of a broad publicity program covering (i) basic objectives of broadening the industrial base of suppliers, (ii) purchase methods and practices, (iii) aids to small business, (iv) the number and dollar amounts of prime contracts awarded to Small Business, and (v) the desirability and extent of subcontracting.

(8) It is incumbent on all procurement officers to recognize their responsibilities with respect to the utilization of Small Business concerns in the accomplishment of the procurement program. The pressure of urgent work on heavily loaded staffs must not result in failure to develop new sources of supply or to exploit fully those sources which are available but which, because of the small size, do not quickly yield major results in the form of large dollar amounts of contracts placed.

(9) Positive steps will be taken by all procurement personnel to insure compliance with existing policies that Small Business shall receive a fair share of Government contracts. It is essential that special emphasis be placed on wide and judicious solicitations of proposals or quotations, using up-to-date and complete bidder's lists. Multiple awards for quantities less than the total requirement should be used to the maximum practicable extent consistent with other procurement objectives. This method of assistance to Small Business will be used both in formal advertising and in negotiated procurement.

(10) In carrying out this policy, the primary consideration of the Department of the Army shall be that of securing performance or deliveries at the time, in the quantity, and of the quality required by the defense program, and nothing stated herein shall detract from this consideration. Furthermore, actions taken under this policy shall be consistent with other procurement and military objectives.

(11) The purchasing office has responsibility for selecting the method of procurement (formal advertising or negotiation) and for the proper award of contract, and the procedures established hereunder shall be carried out in such manner as not to impair or interfere with the expeditious operation of the procurement process. The Small Business Administration representative will have no vote power in the placing or awarding of contracts.

(12) Price differentials to effectuate the above stated policies are not authorized.

(b) Inclusion of Small Business in production planning. As a continuing activity, production allocation procedures shall be reviewed by the planning agencies to insure that the following specific aids to Small Business are applied to production planning:

(1) Small Business Specialists assigned to current procurement offices are consulted regarding the ability and feasibility of Small Business facilities to participate in specified mobilization planning.

(2) Lists are employed similar to the current bidder's lists, to ascertain new sources.

(3) Planning requirements have been divided into reasonably small lots to further the broad base concept and eliminate undesirable industry concentrations for single and multiple item planning.

(4) Multischedules are placed to the greatest extent possible; i. e., five different schedules are placed with five different suppliers rather than one schedule with a single supplier for five items.

(5) Consistent with the above, avoid wasting skills. Place schedules in small facilities where maximum use of available manpower, skills, and equipment may be realized. Conversely, reserve large items or difficult mass production requirements for appropriate large size and volume producers.

§ 606.704 Small Business organization in the Department of the Army. A Small Business Advisor is appointed on a full time basis at the Department of the Army level, in an advisory capacity to the Under Secretary of the Army, and the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, on all matters pertaining to the Small Business Program within the Department of the Army, and to provide guidance to all Department of the Army Small Business Specialists and their staffs. (b) Small Business Administration statistics and information. Copies of Small Business Administration statistics and information which are furnished the purchasing office by the Small Business Administration will be forwarded to the Senior Small Business Specialist of the Procuring Activity (e. g., Small Business Administration Form 70, Certificates of Competency, etc.) for his information and analysis.

(c) Release of information and statistics by the Department of the Army. Release of information and statistics to other than authorized Department of the Army personnel will be made in accordance with current policy. When request is made through the prescribed channels, information and reports comprising regularly compiled data concerning small business activities may be released to the Small Business Administrator.

§ 606.714 Operational procedures. The policies and procedures herein prescribed do not in any way alter the present policy on methods of procurement (§606.103). Therefore, if formal advertising is determined by the Contracting Officer to be the appropriate method to utilize for a particular procurement, invitations for bids will be issued and awards made in precise accord with the provisions of Part 401 of this title and this subchapter, pertaining to formal advertising. In the implementation of the policies stated herein, Contracting Officers are cautioned not to engage in the practice of inviting bids for formally advertised procurement and then rejecting all bids and resorting to negotiation; for, in so doing, bidders would quickly lose confidence in the competitive bid system. Special care will be exercised to the end that small business concerns whose names appear on the appropriate bidders' lists will receive an opportunity to participate.

(a) Screening of procurements. The purchasing offices, through the Small Business Specialists therein or other designated representatives of the chiefs of the purchasing offices will afford the Small Business Administration representatives assigned to such offices an opportunity to jointly screen all procurements prior to issuance of invitations for bids or requests for proposals of $10,000 and over, except:

(1) Procurements classified Confidential or higher.

(2) Research and development.

(3) Procurements of an emergency nature.

Thereafter, the Contracting Officer will be advised by the Small Business Specialist or other designated representative:

(i) Whether a particular procurement is suitable for performance by small business concerns;

(ii) The minimum percentage of a particular procurement found suitable under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph which the Contracting Officer will endeavor to place with small business concerns.

While emergency purchases and classified procurements are excluded from the screening process, the Contracting Officer will inform the Small Business Administration representative, upon request, of the nature of the emergency, and in all cases will endeavor to secure small business participation when the procurements are suitable for performance by small concerns. In cases where there is no Small Business Administration representatives assigned to a field purchasing office, the Small Business Specialist will screen procurements and Small Business Determinations will be executed where appropriate.

(b) Determinations for Small Business (joint determinations and Small Business determinations). (1) At Department of the Army purchasing offices.

(i) Where the Small Business Administration has a representative assigned full time, only Joint Determinations will be made, except in those cases where the Department of the Army Small Business Specialist feels that a determination for small business should be made, although the Small Business Administration representative has not requested a joint determination. In such cases the Department of the Army Small Business Specialist will initiate a request for a Small Business Determination;

(ii) Where the Small Business Administration has a representative on a part time basis, a workable arrangement will be made between the purchasing office and the Small Business Administration Representative for joint screening for the purpose of making joint determinations. (On those occasions when the Small Business Administration Representative is not available for joint screening, the Department of the Army Small Business Specialist will initiate the screening and requests for Small Business Determinations.)

(iii) Where the Small Business Administration does not have a representative assigned, the Department of the Army Small Business Specialist will perform the screening process and initiate Small Business Determinations.

(2) One hundred percent joint determinations, on either formal advertising or negotiated procurement, may be entered into by a Contracting Officer when he is satisfied that there will be sufficient responsive bids or proposals from small business concerns to assure adequate competition and a fair price to the Government. In cases where 100 percent determinations are not considered advisable, partial determinations may be executed in appropriate cases. In connection with a proposed partial determination, the contracting officer will determine the quantity which, because of manufacturing processes, would be a minimum economical production run and which would probably yield the most favorable price. The proposed procurement must involve at least two such quantities in order to permit the execution of a partial determination.

(3) Contracting Officers shall not consider any one of the following factors in itself as constituting a complete and valid reason for rejection of a joint determination initiated by the Small Business Administration representative:

(i) The fact that a large percentage of previous procurements of the item in question have been placed with Small Business concerns:

(ii) The item to be purchased is on a planned procurement list or under a production allocation program. In such cases:

(a) Partial joint determinations are permissible when appropriate, and

(b) One hundred percent joint determinations are permissible when the following conditions exist:

(1) All planned producers are small concerns, or

(2) It has been confirmed that large planned producers do not desire an opportunity to compete for the procurement in question.

(iii) The item to be purchased is on a Qualified Products List. In such cases, a 100 percent or partial joint determination is permissible and should be given consideration respectively when:

(a) Only small firms are on the list, or

(b) Both large and small firms are on the list.

Every opportunity should be given to small as well as large firms to qualify their products, but no procurements should be delayed pending qualification of products.

(iv) The item or service to be procured is available from only one known source.

In such cases, a joint determination is permissible when "sole source" is a small concern. It is recognized that a joint determination is manifestly inappropriate where there exists a justifiable "sole source" other than a small business. However, contracting officers should carefully scrutinize sole source procurements to determine in each case that a justifiable sole source is in fact involved. In these instances, efforts should be made to develop further qualified sources using any appropriate means, including the assistance of the Small Business Administration, but sources will not be confined to small business concerns exclusively.

(4) The Contracting Officer will endeavor to allow a minimum of 30 days from date of issue of IFB or Request for Proposal to opening or closing date on all procurements. A shorter time than 30 days, however, will not in itself be an acceptable reason for rejecting a joint determination.

(c) Joint determination. (See § 606.702 (d).) Joint determinations will not be made with respect to general classes of items but will be limited to individual procurement actions which are expected to involve an expenditure of $10,000 or more. In the course of screening the Small Business Administration Representative may initiate action for a joint determination in accordance with criteria set forth in section 214 of the Small Business Act of 1953, and the official designated by the purchasing office shall promptly (1) concur in the written recommendation of the Small Business Representative or (2) disapprove, stating in writing his reasons for disapproval. The Small Business Administration Representative will be permitted to appeal any such disapproval, within two full working days to the chief of the purchasing office or his designee, whose decision shall be final. Such joint determination may apply to all or a percentage of a single procurement. Joint determinations shall be binding on Contracting Officers, and such procurement or specified percentage thereof must be placed only with Small Business concerns, except as provided in paragraph (e) of this section.

(d) Small Business determinations. (See § 606.702 (e).) In the event a Small Business Administration Representative is not assigned to a field purchasing office or Small Business Administration personnel do not otherwise request that a joint determination be entered into, the Small Business Specialist assigned to the field purchasing office will initiate action for a Small Business determination regardless of size of procurement, in the same manner and subject to the same provisions as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section.

(e) Withdrawals of determinations. If in the light of the facts and circumstances existing at the time of the placement of the contract the contracting officer considers that a contract cannot be made with a Small Business concern without detriment to the Government's interest (for example, because of unreasonable price, unsatisfactory delivery schedule, insufficient capacity, lack of technical ability to produce, etc.), the Contracting Officer may request withdrawal of the determination. In the case of a joint determination, if the Small Business Administration Representative does not agree, the matter shall be referred to the chief of the purchasing office or his designee, whose decision shall be final, unless the chief or his designee decides to refer the matter to higher authority, in which event the decision of higher authority shall be final. A signed memorandum record of the withdrawal of any determination will be made and retained as a part of the specific procurement files.

(f) Procurements involving a 100-percent determination. (1) Procurements involving a 100-percent determination may be entered into by means of regular negotiation procedures or by a method of negotiating to be known as "Small Business Restricted Advertising." Small Business restricted advertising, including awards thereunder, will be conducted under procedures prescribed for formal advertising under Part 401 of this title, except that bids and awards will be restricted to Small Business concerns and the contract shall be awarded pursuant to the authority of section 2 (c) (1), Public Law 413, 80th Congress, as well as section 214, Public Law 163, 83d Congress. Where regular negotiation procedures are utilized to effect the procurement, competition and widespread publicity will be used to the fullest extent practicable and due consideration shall be given to placing procurements, without detriment to the Government, with qualified small concerns in need of business as against small concerns having ample workload. Each invitation for bid (request for proposal) issued in connection with a proposed procurement which has been earmarked for Small Business concerns will contain substantially the following clause:

NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE BIDDERS

The Small Business Administration and the Contracting Officer have jointly determined, in accordance with the criteria set forth in section 214, Public Law 163, 83d Congress, to award this procurement to a small business concern. Therefore, bids (proposals) under this procurement are restricted to small business concerns, and awards will be made to the small business concern submitting the lowest responsible bid (proposal) conforming to the invitation, price and other factors considered. (The Department of Defense defines small business as any concern which, including its affiliates, employs in the aggregate, fewer than five hundred employees.) The right is reserved to reject any bid (proposal) when it is in the interest of the Government to do so. Bids (proposals) received from firms not classified as small business will be considered as non-responsive.

In cases when a Small Business determination has been made the first sentence in the above: • • • "The Small Business Administration and the Contracting Officer have jointly determined • • • to award this procurement to a small business concern.", will be deleted and the following substituted:

A small business determination has been made (in accordance with current regulations) that this procurement will be awarded to a small business concern.

(2) Where bids are received from large business at prices lower than those quoted by Small Business, it may be an indication that screening for susceptibility of the procurement from small business was not as complete as it should have been. Such bids by large firms will be regarded as courtesy bids and will be considered nonresponsive. Records of such lower bids from large business should be maintained at the purchasing office for use in determining the propriety of executing determinations in connection with future procurements of the same or similar items. Although paragraph (e) of this section permits withdrawal of a determination due to unreasonable price, all purchasing offices should only enter into 100 percent determination after careful consideration of all the factors involved, including the possibility of a bid or proposal from a large firm substantially lower than any which could be received from a Small Business.

(g) Procurements under partial determination. (1) When a determination for a stated percentage of less than 100 percent is entered into (paragraph (b) (2) of this section) in conjunction with a procurement to be effected by formal advertising conducted pursuant to section 3 of the Armed Services Procurement Act, the percentage under partial determination will be negotiated. In situations in which such a stated percentage is so used, the following procedure will be followed:

(i) A notification to prospective bidders, stipulating that a portion of the procurement will be exempted for procurement from small business firms, will be included in the invitation for bid and be synopsized. It will contain the following statement:

NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE BIDDERS

Negotiation for award of the exempted portion of this procurement will be conducted only with small firms who submit bids on the advertised portion and are within 120 percent of the lowest responsive bid.

(ii) Invitations for bids will be issued, except for the portion exempted for Small Business. These invitations for bids will be issued to both large and Small Business firms and only those Small Business firms who then bid on this advertised portion and at a price not in excess of 120 percent of the lowest price bid or not in excess of 120 percent of the fair and reasonable price as determined by the Contracting Officer will be considered eligible to participate in the negotiation of the portion exempted under the partial determination. Care must be exercised that a sufficient number of Small Business firms are included on the bidders' list to insure placement of the portion exempted under the partial determination for Small Business.

(iii) After opening of bids, the portion exempted for Small Business will be negotiated with eligible Small Business firms.

(a) At a price equivalent to the lowest responsive bid received under the invitation for bids, when the award(s) is (are) for a single price.

(b) At a price determined by the Contracting Officer to be fair and reasonable but in no event at a price higher than the highest price of an award made under the invitation for bids when the award(s) is (are) at multiple prices. In the absence of changes in market trends and other factors requiring consideration, the Contracting Officer shall use for such fair and reasonable price the weighted average. The weighted average shall be ascertained by adding the total dollar amounts of all awards under the advertised portion and then dividing such grand total by the total number of units included in all awards under the advertised portion.

(iv) In conducting negotiations for the exempted portion of the procurement, it is permissible to reveal the unit price of the lowest award only.

(v) In cases where no Small Business firm submits a proposal on the portion to be negotiated with Small Business, or cannot meet the price determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, the determination is automatically dissolved and the procurement may be negotiated with the successful bidder(s) on the portion not exempted provided there is a reasonable assurance that a better price cannot be obtained by readvertising or reopening negotiations with all interested firms for the entire quantity to be procured.

(2) When a determination for a stated percentage of less than 100 percent is entered into in conjunction with a procurement to be effected by negotiation conducted pursuant to section 2 (c) (1) of the Armed Services Procurement Act, the procurement will be handled in the same manner as procurements under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, except that the portion not exempted will be negotiated instead of formally advertised. Care must be exercised that sufficient Small Business sources are issued requests for proposals for the portion not exempted to insure competition for the exempted portion. In conducting negotiations for the exempted portion, cost or other pricing data pertaining to the award of the portion not exempted will not be divulged.

(h) Form. The following form of determination is recommended for use with both joint determinations and small business determinations.

1. In accordance with the provisions of section 214, Public Law 163, 83d Congress, it is hereby determined (use "jointly determined" in case of joint determination):

§ 606.715 Certificates of competency—(a) Authority. Authority of the Small Business Administration to issue certificates of competency is contained in Public Law 163, 83d Congress. (See § 606.702 (a).)

(b) Issuance of certificates of competency. The Small Business Administration has the authority to certify the competence of any small business concern as to capacity and credit. Prior to making certifications, the Small Business Administration will obtain and consider such technical and financial information concerning any such firm as may be reasonably available from the purchasing office. Certifications as to financial competency reflect the judgment of Small Business Administration that the Government will not be taking an unreasonable risk of an unsatisfied judgment in the event of default, although it is not implied that the possible future claims by the Government will be fully satisfied. Contracting Officers will accept certificates of competency from Small Business Administration as conclusive without requiring the meeting of any other requirement with respect to capacity or credit.

(c) Meaning of certificate of competency. The following is a brief summary of Small Business Administration's understanding of the meaning of these certificates and the matters upon which they must be satisfied before they issue one.

(1) Capacity. With respect to capacity, Small Business Administration's certificate means that the concern or group of concerns certified has the technical ability, managerial and operational supervision, and that it possesses the necessary equipment, facilities and qualified craftsmanship to perform the contract according to its terms. Further, that it will be able to perform according to the specification and in conformity with the production and delivery schedules set forth in the contract.

(2) Credit. As to credit, Small Business Administration's certificate means that credit factors will not interfere with complete and timely performance. In other words, it means that Small Business Administration is satisfied, either that:

(i) The concern can finance all costs of performance out of its own funds;

(ii) It cannot do so, but the outside financing from private sources will be available; or

(iii) Outside financing is needed and is not available from private sources but will be made by the Small Business Administration.

(d) Appeals procedure. (1) In the event that the Contracting Officer questions the issuance of a proposed Certificate of Competency after complete interchange of information, he will so notify the representative of the Small Business Administration, stating his reasons, and request that the Administrator, Small Business Administration, consider nonissue or withdrawal of the certificate, and that the Contracting Officer be notified in writing of the action taken.

(2) In the further event that nonissue or withdrawal of the certificate is declined by Small Business Administration and a certificate is issued, and the Contracting Officer then determines that acceptance would not be in the best interest of the Government the following procedure will be followed:

(i) The Contracting Officer will withhold award of the contract, pending decision by higher authority.

(ii) The Contracting Officer will promptly forward to the Head of the Procuring Activity a written request for withdrawal of the certificate. This request shall be supported by a complete statement of the facts leading to the Contracting Officer's determination that the certificate should not be applied.

(iii) The Head of the Procuring Activity, if supporting the Contracting Officer, will refer the request to the Office of the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4.

(3) A preaward survey is still required and awards can only be made in accordance with § 590.357 of this subchapter, "Selection of Contractors", except as amended by the Small Business Act of 1953 (§ 606.702 (a)).

(e) Notification to Small Business Administration. (1) Contracting officers will advise Small Business Administration Representatives with respect to small firms which, in spite of having submitted otherwise acceptable bids or proposals that would normally place them in a position to receive an award, have been found deficient as to capacity and or credit, and for this reason contemplated awards to such small business firms are being or may be withheld. Based upon this notification the Small Business Administration may, after their own investigation and evaluation, issue a Certificate of Competency. Unless a Certificate of Competency is received by the purchasing office within 10 working days after receipt by Small Business Administration of the Contracting Officer's advice on a specific small business firm, it will be assumed by the purchasing office that no certificate will be issued and the Contracting Officer will make award in accordance with normal procedures. Upon request, Small Business Administration Representatives will be supplied with all reasonably available pertinent information developed by or known to the purchasing office with respect to the small business firm under consideration. Such information shall be furnished solely by the purchasing office.

(2) Application. (i) This procedure will not apply to proposed awards of less than $1,000.

(ii) This procedure may be utilized by the Contracting Officer on proposed awards of $1,000 and over and less than $10,000 at his option.

(iii) This procedure will be followed on proposed awards of $10,000 and over.

(f) Termination for default. No contract involving a certificate of competency issued by Small Business Administration will be terminated for default without prior administrative approval of the Head of the Procuring Activity, due to the fact that another Government agency is involved.

§ 606.716 Disagreements regarding policies and procedures. Disagreement in matters of procedure or basic intent of the foregoing should be settled with Small Business Administration Representatives at purchasing office or intermediate command levels. Where agreement cannot be reached, the matter will be referred to the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, Attn: Chief, Procurement Division, through channels.

§ 606.717 Defense production pools. The statement of principles and procedures contained herein are applicable to small business production pools approved by the Small Business Administration as well as to defense production pools previously approved by the Defense Production Administration (DPA), both of which will be referred to simply as production pools.

(a) Contracting Officers shall use the following statement of principles for guidance in contracting with approved production pools:

(1) Definition. A production pool consists primarily of a group of manufacturing concerns having among themselves production facilities, whose owners have associated together for the purpose of obtaining and performing jointly, or in conjunction with each other, contracts for the production of articles, equipment, supplies, and materials and the furnishing of services for defense use, and who have agreed among themselves concerning their organization, relationship and procedure, and which has been approved as a production pool in accordance with the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (and/or the Small Business Act of 1953).

(2) Exemption from Federal Anti-Trust Laws and Walsh-Healey Act. Approved production pools have been granted certain privileges including (i) immunity from possible prosecution under the Federal Anti-Trust Laws and the Federal Trade Commission Act to the extent that the operations of such pools are held within the limits of the voluntary program approved by Small Business Administration and (ii) exemption from the requirement to conform to the definition of "manufacturer" or "regular dealer" in section 1 (a) of the Walsh-Healey Act, as set forth in § 400.201–9 of this title. In all other respects, however, financial responsibility and performance capability of the production pool will be determined as for any contractor in accordance with established procedures.

(3) General policy. It is the general policy to conduct business with production pools on the same basis as with all other bidders or contractors. Pools will neither be discriminated against nor favored over other bidders solely by reason of the form of their organization. Furthermore, as in the case of all other potential suppliers, pools will not be relieved of the burden of actively seeking Government contracts nor of being competitive price-wise.

(4) Determination of status. It is the responsibility of the Contracting Officer to determine that a group of firms seeking to do business with the Government is an authorized production pool. In the absence of an approval list published by the Department of the Army, or publication of notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, of the approval of a production pool by Small Business Administration, such pool shall be required to enclose a photostatic copy of its notification of approval when applying for inclusion on appropriate bidders' lists.

(5) Solicitation of bids and quotations from pools. Upon request of a duly authorized production pool, in the form required for all persons and firms, the production pool shall be placed on appropriate bidders' lists. Invitations for bids and requests for proposals shall be furnished to production pools on an appropriate bidders' list for a specific item or group of items. Each production pool will normally be considered as one source of supply, irrespective of the number of its members, and will be generally furnished with one set of IFB's or request for proposal form. However, membership in a pool shall not of itself preclude individual members from being placed on bidders' lists for which they are individually qualified nor from bidding on appropriate procurements.

(6) Procurement of QPL products. A Defense Production Pool may participate in Qualified Products List (QPL) procurement by submitting bids thereunder provided, however, one or more of the members of the pool has QPL approval for the product and, provided further, such qualified members can otherwise meet requirements as to deliveries, etc. In such cases the pool should, at the time of submitting its bid, identify the qualified members and the quantities of the product to be supplied by each qualified member under the proposed contract. Members of the pool who do not have products on the QPL will not participate in the particular QPL product procurement.

(7) Award of contracts. (i) Bids and quotations submitted by production pools will be analyzed pursuant to the same procedures and principles which pertain to all other prospective contractors.

(ii) Approval of an organization as either a defense production pool or a small business production pool does not automatically confer upon such pools the preferences and privileges normally accorded to "Small Business" concerns. Such consideration shall be accorded only to those production pools which have also been designated as "Small Business" in accordance with the criteria set forth in § 606.702 (j).

(iii) Where the pool will substantially perform a contract in plants located in areas of labor surplus, the preferences granted to contractors performing work in such areas will be applied to the award of the contract.

(iv) Small Business Administration or Defense Production Administration approval of a production pool shall not relieve the Contracting Officer of the responsibility for determining the financial and technical ability of the contractor, whether it be a pool or a member thereof, to perform the contract. Before awarding a contract to a pool, the Contracting Officer will assure himself that:

(a) There will be performance, both as to quality and delivery. Preaward surveys will be conducted with respect to determining a pool's capability of performance in the same manner as for any other contractor. In order to assure the uninterrupted production of the manufacture of supplies or the furnishing of services to be undertaken by a pool, the financial resources to be employed in or available for the performance of the contract will be examined just as in the case of an individual contractor, to determine whether they are sufficient to give reasonable assurance of satisfactory performance.

(b) The pool agreement adequately binds each participating member who agrees to undertake part of the work on a contract to comply with his obligation.

(8) Execution of contracts with pools. Contracts awarded to production pools normally will be made in the name of the production pool. A written statement will be submitted by the pool, signed by each member of the pool who is to participate in the performance of the Government contract, and will be appended to the contract certifying to current membership in the pool and contain a guarantee or other assurance by each signatory firm that it will satisfactorily perform its allotted portion of the contract and set forth the extent of each participant's financial liability to the pool for such performance. If the terms of the pool agreement provide for a member to enter into a contract in the name of the member, there shall be submitted with the bid a copy of said pool agreement, together with evidence of specific authorization of the individual member to so act, and the contract may be executed in the name of the individual member who in so doing will be required to assume full responsibility for performance of the contract.

6. Subpart J, Part 606, is added as follows:

SUBPART J—TRANSPORTATION ASPECTS OF PROCUREMENTS

Sec.
606.1001 Purpose.
606.1002 General.
606.1003 General responsibilities of Contracting Officers and Contract Administering Officers.
606.1004 Sources of transportation assistance.
606.1005 Transportation considerations in the procurement cycle.

§ 606.1001 Purpose. The purpose of this subpart is to emphasize the consideration of transportation factors during the procurement cycle and consolidate existing policies affecting the transportation aspects of procurement.

§ 606.1002 General. Proper consideration of the transportation aspects of procurement is necessary in the placement of contracts to insure that procurement is on the basis most advantageous to the Government, all factors considered and that supplies arrive at the proper destination at the time required and in proper condition. Disregard of the transportation aspects of a procurement may lead to improper award of contracts, waste of time and money, and failure to have items available when and where needed.

§ 606.1003 General responsibilities of Contracting Officers and Contract Administrators. (a) To afford, during the procurement cycle, proper analysis and consideration of transportation factors affecting both domestic and export purchases.

(b) To seek advice, assistance, or traffic information from appropriate sources as indicated in references and in § 606.1004.

(c) To incorporate the soundest available transportation provisions in contracts and to see that transportation requirements are met during the performance of contracts.

(d) To bring to the attention of appropriate authorities any practicable improvements in procedures, practices, contract clauses, the terms or quantities of requirements, or similar methods by which transportation factors and other procurement elements may be better coordinated to the advantage of the Government.

(e) At the earliest possible phase in the procurement cycle, to provide, through installation transportation officers, information of prospective procurements or movements so as to facilitate rate negotiation or other traffic management actions.

§ 606.1004 Sources of transportation assistance. (a) The primary sources of transportation assistance available are:

(1) The Chief of Transportation. For freight rate quoting service and general transportation assistance for Contracting Officers located in Military District of Washington.

(2) Zone Transportation Officers. For freight rate quoting service and general transportation assistance for Contracting Officers within their respective transportation zone boundaries.

(3) Army Transportation Officers. For general transportation assistance for Contracting Officers within their respective Army areas.

(4) Installation Transportation Officers. For general transportation assistance for Contracting Officers located on or adjacent to their respective installations. This particularly includes transportation officers in procuring installations.

(b) The procedure for obtaining freight rate quoting service is set forth in SR 55–155–30. (Special regulations pertaining to freight rate quoting service).

§ 606.1005 Transportation considerations in the procurement cycle. Transportation considerations that should be made by Contracting Officers during the procurement cycle, when transportation is involved, are set forth below:

(a) Preliminary phase. From receipt of the procurement directive or other notice to effect procurement, to the preparation of invitations for bids or quotations.

(1) From destination data provided in the procurement directive determine whether FOB origin or FOB destination procurement is required, or whether bids or proposals should be taken on both bases (§ 400.306 of this title).

(2) Review the delivery schedule to see whether shipments can be made as economically as possible under the circumstances. A shipment made in less-than-carload (LCL), or less-than-truckload (LTL) lots is unnecessarily costly when consolidation into carload (CL), or truckload (TL) lots can be effected.

(3) Consider the physical characteristics of shipments. For example, shipments of items separately or setup when they could be shipped nested or knocked down is one cause of excess transportation costs.

(4) Unusually large or heavy items may not be able to be shipped by regular modes of transportation. In such cases special arrangements will have to be made for their shipment. This should be determined prior to and reflected in the issuance of requests for bids or proposals.

(5) Whenever requirements or specifications admit of discretion in the selection of methods of packing and packaging of supplies, select that method which will provide low transportation costs consistent with physical protection and overall economy.

(6) Exert every reasonable effort to determine precise or general destinations of supplies, including oversea area for which intended.

(b) Solicitation phase. Preparation and issuance of invitations for bids or proposals.

(1) Invitations for bids and proposals should set forth as clearly as possible those transportation responsibilities of the bidder in order that he can bid correctly and the Government can benefit by the inclusion of economical transportation charges in the bid or proposal.

(2) If destination of shipment is unknown, the invitation should specify that bids will be submitted FOB origin and shipment will be made on Government bill of lading and, if appropriate, CL or TL lots.

(3) Whenever FOB origin bids or proposals are involved, decide the basis of evaluation of freight cost. If such evaluation is abnormal (as, for instance, when a conjectural destination is available or evaluation will be on "nearest deepwater port"), inform bidders to the extent desirable to insure impartiality. If right is reserved to take advantage of any reduction of freight costs through the application of transit arrangements (see paragraph (c) (3) of this section), the invitation should express such reservation and furnish necessary information.

(4) The invitation should specify, whenever possible, the exact origin or destination of a shipment as appropriate; for example, FOB receiving dock, ---------- General Depot, ---------- State.

(5) As appropriate, each invitation should specify who is to be responsible for the following:

(i) Loading, unloading, and handling costs.

(ii) Processing required to prepare for shipment.

(iii) Drayage costs.

(iv) Transportation marking requirements.

(v) Transportation penalties.

(vi) Transportation taxes.

(vii) Supply of dunnage and lashing materials.

(viii) Transportation claims.

(6) Whenever FOB destination procurement may be involved, the invitation should inform prospective suppliers of any destination transportation disabilities or other factors which may affect the suppliers' transportation costs.

(7) For certain types of procurement, the invitation should elicit information of the minimum size of shipments which the prospective supplier will make, so that freight evaluation may be on a realistic basis (carload, truckload, less-carload, less-truckload). The supplier should be cautioned also that if he ships in lesser quantities he may be charged with any excess costs resulting, unless the Government caused the deviation.

(c) Evaluation and award phase. From issuance of invitation through actual award.

(1) In evaluating bids or proposals submitted on an FOB origin basis when destinations or distribution patterns are known, the cost of transportation must be added to the bid or proposal in calculating the actual cost to the Government. Accurate weights and cubage, current transportation rates, and use of the proper modes of transportation are essential in this process. When oversea destination is known and more than one United States port is appropriate for use in the evaluation, the difference in ocean costs or other costs among the pertinent ports will be considered, so that award will reflect the most advantageous basis of cost of the supplies landed at the oversea port. In such case, the precise total cost is not important, but the comparative cost through the ports respectively serving the bidders is quite important. Pertinent information can be obtained upon request to Zone Transportation Offices.

(2) In determining, by preaward survey or otherwise, the capabilities of a bidder to carry out a contract, definite consideration should be given to the adequacy of transportation facilities at the bidder's plant, including his ability to accumulate and ship in carload or truckload lots.

(3) Consideration should be given to the possibility of obtaining benefit for the Government through the use of transit arrangements. Such arrangements permit the forwarding of a shipment in the same direction after it has been halted in transit (sometimes for as much as 2 years), for storage, processing, fabrication, or other purpose as specified by carriers; all at the through rate (as contrasted with the combination of rates in and out of the transit point) plus nominal surcharges. Transit arrangements are not universal and are varied; traffic management personnel can furnish necessary information and analysis of situations where transit may be beneficial.

(4) When comparing the initial portion of a procurement and the "set aside" portion in conjunction with "set asides" under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 (see §§ 400.302–4, 401.205, and 402.219 of this title) or partial joint or Small Business determinations (see § 606.714 (b)), the transportation aspects involved in each portion must be considered to insure correct comparison.

(5) Whenever it appears to the Contracting Officer that award for shipment to the designated destination will plainly result in cost-hauling or back-hauling to the disadvantage of the Government, considering subsequent moves of the supplies, the matter will be brought to the attention of the requiring agency or appropriate distribution authorities.

(6) If information for possible rate negotiation purposes has not been furnished earlier, or if adjustment in such information is required, appropriate advice will be furnished the Chief of Transportation, through the local transportation officer, immediately upon execution of a contract indicating firm shipment plans.

(7) Contracts, when executed, must be specific with respect to all transportation responsibilities.

(d) Contract administration phase. From contract award through completion or termination of contract.

(1) During this phase numerous factors must be kept under control to assure the best results for the Government in transportation costs and service. Among these are:

(i) Ordering out.

(ii) Routing; release for port shipment; coordination of routing with basis of evaluation.

(iii) Policing of delivery schedules; shipment of carload and truckload lots whenever practicable; meeting minimum weights attached to such rates; adjustment of payments as appropriate.

(iv) Documenting; showing FOB point properly; distribution and validation of documents.

(v) Contract changes affecting transportation.

(vi) Special shipping arrangements, as for oversize and overweight shipments.

(vii) Reporting information for special rate or rating adjustments when opportunities are newly discovered.

(viii) Control of irregularities in packing, loading, loss and damage causes, sealing vehicles, tallies, ordering cars, description of articles, documented weights, and export requirements.

(x) State tax problems.

(xi) Use of transit arrangements.

(xii) Effect of inspection, acceptance, or rejection on transportation.

(xiii) Safety for dangerous shipments.

The foregoing and other questions must frequently be the subject of collaboration between the local transportation officer and the contract administrator.

(2) It is important to insure that the transportation factor is considered in the termination of contracts.

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter II—Federal Maritime Board, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce

Subchapter C—Regulations Affecting Subsidized Vessels and Operators

[General Order 20, Revised]

PART 271—INSPECTION OF OPERATING-DIFFERENTIAL SUBSIDIZED VESSELS

PART 272—POLICY AND PROCEDURE REGARDING CONDUCTING OF SUBSIDY CONDITION SURVEYS AND ACCOMPLISHMENT OF SUBSIDIZED VESSEL MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS

It is hereby ordered that General Order 20 (2 F. R. 3418), as amended by Supplement No. 1 (5 F. R. 2114), (§§ 271.1 through 271.21, Code of Federal Regulations), is hereby superseded by a new part designated as Part 272, which reads as follows:

Sec.
272.2 Subsidy condition survey requirements.
272.3 Subsidy condition survey instructions; general.
272.4 Execution of subsidy condition surveys.
272.5 Distribution.
272.6 Subsidy maintenance and repair procedure.
272.7 Modification, alterations, additions and betterments.
272.8 Classification of repairs.

AUTHORITY: §§ 272.1 to 272.8 issued under sec. 204, 49 Stat. 1887; 46 U. S. C. 1114.

§ 272.1 Purpose. The purpose of this part is to establish the policy and procedure to be followed by the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Office of Ship Construction and Repairs, Maritime Administration, and by the subsidized steamship operators in conducting subsidy condition surveys and accomplishment of subsidized maintenance and repairs on vessels approved for operation under the Maritime Administration Operating-Differential Subsidy Agreements.

§ 272.2 Subsidy condition survey requirements. (a) The Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance shall be responsible for conducting a condition survey of each vessel approved for subsidized operation:

(1) At the commencement of the first subsidized voyage of each vessel placed in subsidized operation.

(2) At the commencement of the first voyage of each such vessel following the effective date of the establishment of the first maintenance (upkeep) and repair subsidy rate, if such subsidy rate was not established as of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) Upon the discontinuance of a maintenance (upkeep) and repair subsidy rate.

(4) Upon the termination of the last voyage of each vessel in the subsidized service or at the termination of an idle status period immediately preceding withdrawal from such service (whether the vessel is withdrawn from service temporarily or permanently). A vessel shall not be considered as temporarily withdrawn if the vessel performs unsubsidized voyages in a subsidized trade route of the same operator.

(5) Upon the termination of the last voyage within each recapture period or at the end of such period with respect to subsidized vessels in idle status at that time.

(6) Upon the termination of the last voyage of each vessel in the subsidized service at the termination of the contract or at the end of such period with respect to subsidized vessels in idle status at that time.

(b) Information relative to the conditions under which subsidy surveys are required as outlined in paragraph (a) of this section will be furnished the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance by the Division of Operating Costs and Contracts, Office of National Shipping Administration and Government Aid and will, in turn, be promptly dispatched by the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance to appropriate Maritime Administration Field Offices.

(c) The Field Representatives of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance are authorized to proceed with condition surveys of subsidized vessels in the instances cited in paragraph (a) (1), (2), (3), (4), and (6) of this section without prior notification from the Division's Departmental headquarters.

(d) It shall be the responsibility of the subsidized operators to make arrangements with the appropriate Field Office of the Maritime Administration for the conducting of subsidy condition surveys as outlined in paragraph (c) of this section. The Operator shall assist (as differentiated from participation as covered in § 272.3) the representative of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance in the Maritime Administration field office in conducting subsidy condition surveys, and shall permit access to all parts of the vessel, its log books and official records. The Departmental Office of the Division will endeavor to furnish the appropriate Maritime Administration field office with advance information for such surveys whenever possible. However, in those instances where no advance information concerning the necessity for the survey is received from the Departmental Office, the Field Office will proceed with the survey, upon request by the operator. In all such cases, the Departmental Office should be promptly advised the name of the vessel involved, the purpose of the survey, and the date and time survey commenced or is contemplated to commence. Replies to such advices by the Departmental Office will be made only when information available in Washington is contrary to that furnished the Field Offices by the operators.

(e) A vessel commencing subsidized operation outside the continental limits of the United States shall be surveyed immediately at her first port of call in the United States, and it shall be incumbent upon the operator to make arrangements with the appropriate Maritime Administration Field Office of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance for the conducting of such survey.

(f) Condition surveys of subsidized vessels which may be required in instances other than those authorized in paragraph (c) of this section will be conducted by Maritime Administration field offices only upon receipt of instructions advising of the necessity for same from the Division's Departmental headquarters.

§ 272.3 Subsidy condition survey instructions; general. Subsidy surveys will be reported on Form MA–58 and shall be prepared in sufficient detail to readily reveal a comprehensive picture of the conditions noted, and shall contain indication of the "Record," "Deferred," "Unsighted," and "Builder's" items. Forms MA–55 Condition Report—Turbines and Gears, MA–56 Tooth Contact Report, MA–57 Drydock Report, and MA–59 Diesel Engine Report are to be used when applicable in reporting their particular phases of the survey to the extent accomplished. At the time a subsidy condition survey is to be made the operator is to be invited to arrange for the attendance of his designated representative. However, such representative is not required to be present.

(a) Record items. This classification shall be indicated in the survey beside all items revealing conditions which, in conformance with good commercial practice, do not require immediate repairs.

(b) Deferred items. This classification shall be indicated in the survey beside all items which, in accordance with good commercial practice, require repairs, but which are postponed, or items which are classification and/or Coast Guard requirements carrying a grace period for performance thereof.

(c) Unsighted items. This classification shall be indicated in the survey beside all items not opened up for internal inspection and those items of the vessel's underwater body which could not be inspected due to the vessel's being afloat.

(d) Builder's and/or repair contractor's responsibility. This classification shall indicate those items which have been determined to be the builder's or repair contractor's responsibility.

§ 272.4 Execution of subsidy condition surveys. All surveys are to be signed after compilation by the port representative, or by the port engineer of the operator of the vessel involved, if such representative was in attendance, as well as by the Marine Surveyor who is conducting the survey, and by the appropriate representative of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance under whose jurisdiction the survey was conducted.

§ 272.5 Distribution. It shall be the responsibility of the respective Maritime Administration Field Offices to compile sufficient copies of the subsidy surveys in order to make distribution as follows:

(a) One copy to the Departmental Office, Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Washington, D. C.

(b) One copy to the operator of the subsidized vessel involved.

(c) One copy to be retained in the files of the office of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance under whose jurisdiction the survey was conducted.

§ 272.6 Subsidy maintenance and repair procedure—(a) Maintenance and repairs; general. (1) The preparation of specifications, the awarding of maintenance and repair contracts, the inspection and approval of maintenance and repairs as to workmanship, quality, materials, and satisfactory completion are all the responsibility of the subsidized operator.

(2) Subsidized operators shall, in sufficient time, notify the representative of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance in the appropriate Maritime Administration field office as to the contemplated date of arrival of a subsidized vessel, and a Marine Surveyor of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance shall, with the operator's representative, make an inspection of required maintenance and repairs, and check repair lists as to the necessity for the work involved.

(3) Subsidized maintenance and repairs shall be awarded on a competitive bid basis whenever practicable or advantageous. However, work awarded on a negotiated basis shall be considered eligible for subsidy consideration if the operator furnishes satisfactory reasons as to the necessity for awarding the work on other than a competitive bid basis. The Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance shall be invited to have a representative present at the negotiation of prices for such work and it shall be his responsibility to determine the justification for performance of maintenance and/or repairs by the subsidized operators on a non-competitive basis as well as reasonableness of negotiated prices. Findings in this respect shall be incorporated in the letters prepared by the Chief, Ship Repair and Maintenance Branch, transmitting to the Departmental Office in Washington, D. C., the maintenance and repair summaries covering the work involved. However, if the operator has given the district representative advance notice of his intention to negotiate the cost of repairs, the absence of such representative during the negotiations shall not, in itself, prejudice the right of the operator to receive subsidy on such repairs.

(4) The repairing and maintenance upkeep of subsidized vessels by a subsidiary of the operator, as differentiated from directly hired shore gang labor, is subject to written approval by the Maritime Administration pursuant to section 803 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936. Requests for such approval shall be addressed to Division of Operating Costs and Contracts, Maritime Administration, Washington, D. C. When such work is performed on subsidized vessels by a subsidiary of the operator the specifications shall be itemized in detail and item priced.

(b) Specifications. Maintenance and Repair specifications, including those covering work to be performed by operator's shore gang are to be prepared by the operator in sufficient detail to permit determination of the reasonableness of prices, and are to include all the items necessary for maintaining the vessel in a seaworthy condition, and in an efficient state of maintenance and repair. Contractor's invoices shall contain the contractor's price on each individual item contained in the specifications, and, whenever applicable, the item number contained in the subsidy survey shall be indicated against the respective corrective items in the maintenance and repair specifications.

(c) Completion certificates. Marine Surveyors of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Maritime Administration, shall inspect all maintenance and repairs, and shall certify on the Completion Certificate that the work involved was necessary, was satisfactorily completed, and the prices for the work covered thereby are fair and reasonable, or state any exceptions thereto. Form MA–139 (10-53) "Certificate For Completion of Work," Exhibit I, shall be utilized for this purpose, and it shall be the responsibility of each subsidized operator to reproduce and furnish his own required supply of these forms. While provision has been made on this form for signatures of the ship's officers and shore representatives of the operator the only signature required by the Maritime Administration is that of its Marine Surveyor. The operator may or may not obtain the other signatures according to its own internal administrative policy. It shall be the responsibility of the subsidized operator to obtain the signature of the Maritime Administration Marine Surveyor on each Completion Certificate. When attendance by a Marine Surveyor, Maritime Administration, was requested by the operator at the time of repairs but the Marine Surveyor could not attend, the appropriate representative of the Ship Repair and Maintenance Branch, Maritime Administration, will execute the following certification on the Completion Certificates:

I certify attendance at the foregoing repairs was requested by the operator and the service requested could not be furnished; however, the prices for the work are considered to be fair and reasonable.

(Name and title)

The work covered by any Completion Certificate not executed in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this paragraph will not be eligible for subsidy until such deficiency is corrected. Furthermore:

(1) For accounting and auditing purposes, there must be attached one Form MA–139 to each repair specification submitted by the operator for subsidy consideration with the exception that if more than one repair specification is issued to the same contractor one Completion Certificate may be prepared in detail to cover all specifications issued to that contractor during one repair period.

(2) The Completion Certificate must apply to the actual maintenance and repair work performed by a repair contractor, or by the operator's own repair shop or shore gang, and does not apply to maintenance and repair material furnished by the operator to the vessel, regardless of whether such repair material is used by a repair contractor, by the operator's own repair shop and/or shore gang, or by the vessel's crew.

(3) In all cases where the operator furnishes material to the contractor or to his own repair shop or shore gang from (i) ship's stores, (ii) operator's warehouse, or (iii) direct purchase for a specified job, he shall submit evidence by appropriate written document to the Maritime Administration Marine Surveyor in attendance, who shall witness or obtain sufficient evidence of the actual delivery of the material specified to the contractor, or operator's repair shop or shore gang, and shall note on the invoice, requisition slip, expenditure voucher, or other form of transfer memorandum, the contract number and item number on which said material was used. The following form is suggested:

Requisitioned Materials—Necessary and Received

Voyage #_____ Order #_____ Item #_____

Marine Surveyor,
Maritime Administration.

(4) A priced copy of the certified invoice, requisition slip, expenditure voucher, or other form of transfer memorandum shall be attached by operator to the contract referred to and submitted in support of the "Subsidy Repair Summary" (Form MA–140), Exhibit II.

(5) Where a requisition covers work in the nature of services such as Boiler Water Treatment, Compass Adjusting, Typewriter Repairs, Radio Servicing, Ship's Laundry, Retinning Utensils, Survey Fees, etc., involving a total expenditure of less than $1,000.00 no Completion Certificate is required—an item priced copy of the invoice will suffice.

(d) Repair summaries. (1) A summary report of voyage maintenance and repairs shall be submitted by the subsidized operator for all terminated voyages whether or not subsidized to the representative of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance of the appropriate Maritime Administration field office. This Form MA–140 as well as all supplements thereto shall be submitted by the operator upon completion of all repairs charged to the terminating voyage, and within 120 days after the vessel involved has sailed from her last United States port of call on the next outward voyage. Any Repair Summaries and/or supplements thereto not so submitted to the appropriate Ship Repair and Maintenance field office within the prescribed 120 days after vessel's sailing from her last United States port of call (Insurance items excepted) will not be eligible for subsidy participation unless such nonsubmittal is due to circumstances beyond the operator's control.

(2) The subsidized operator shall prepare annually a cumulative repair summary, utilizing Form MA–140–A Exhibit III, covering all voyages of subsidized vessels terminating during the current calendar year.

(3) A separate report is to be prepared for each type of vessel (Cargo, Combination Passenger and Cargo, and Passenger) and submitted in duplicate to the Chief, Division of Operating Costs and Contracts at the same time as the voyage repair summaries for the month of December are submitted. It shall be the responsibility of the subsidized operator to reproduce and furnish his own required supply of these forms.

(i) Voyage maintenance and repair summaries must be carefully prepared and executed and must cover all expenditures made on requisitions for maintenance, repairs, materials (including invoices or expenditure vouchers covering the cost of materials used by operator's own repair shops or shore gang), and/or services which are customarily recorded by the industry as maintenance or repair costs including such costs incurred foreign as well as those for which Operating Differential Subsidy is requested. Form MA–140 shall be utilized for this purpose; and, as in the case of the Completion Certificates and Form MA–140–A, each operator shall furnish his own required supply of these forms. Individual contracts or orders covering services less than $1,000, each may be grouped without listing of individual contractors and contracts or job order numbers; the only supports required for such services being one copy of each respective invoice.

(ii) Except as provided heretofore in § 272.6 (c) (5) and subdivision (i) of this subparagraph the Subsidy Repair Summary submitted by the operator to the appropriate Maritime Administration field office must be supported with copies of all documents pertinent thereto, such as the repair specifications, requisitions, completion certificates, invoices for the purchase of material or services, copies of underwriters and classification society surveys, etc.

(iii) The appropriate field representative of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance shall make a review of the repair summary for the purpose of ascertaining that all pertinent and required information and data are attached and in order, and shall transmit the Repair Summary with all supporting data to the Chief, Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Washington, D. C.

(iv) After review of the Repair Summary and supporting papers, the Departmental Office of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Washington, D. C., shall furnish the operator with a letter denoting those items not considered satisfactory for subsidy participation, and the reasons therefor. One copy of this letter shall be forwarded to the Division of Audits.

(v) The subsidized operator (within 90 days from the date of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance letter mentioned in subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph) shall refer to the Office of the Chief, Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Washington, D. C., for reconsideration any and all cases in which he does not agree with the decision that a particular maintenance or repair expense shall not participate in subsidy. All decisions—unless appealed to the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Washington, D. C., within the prescribed 90 days—shall be final. Insurance items disallowed by Underwriters are excepted from this rule.

(vi) The operator shall exercise due diligence and accuracy in categorizing and identifying, both in the specifications and in Form MA–140, those items on which subsidy is requested. The categories of work listed on the Form MA–140 are as follows:

(a) Drydocking and underwater repairs (A–1 and A–2). To include all expenditures for drydocking and underwater repairs including tailshaft, rudder, sea valves, sea chests, bottom painting, hull repairs and any other work that requires drydocking of vessel.

(b) Boiler and machinery repairs (B–1). To include all expenditures for repairs to main and auxiliary machinery, boilers, distilling units, compressors, pumps, piping, etc., and all appurtenances thereto.

(d) Electrical repairs (B–3). To include all expenditures for electrical repairs such as motors, armatures, electrical wiring, lighting, radio, radar, loud speaker and telephone systems, searchlights, fathometer, etc.

(e) Exterior painting (C–1). To include the cost of preparation of surfaces for, and painting exterior surfaces of hull (from light load line) decks and deck equipment, superstructure, cargo booms, masts, etc.

(f) Interior painting (C–2). To include cost of preparation of surfaces for, and painting interior surfaces of vessel, including public spaces, cabins, machinery spaces, cargo holds, tanks, etc.

(g) Tank cleaning (C–3). Include cost of cleaning domestic fresh water and feed water tanks, ballast tanks, fuel oil and lube oil tanks, removal of all dirt and debris from bilges, preparation of surfaces and application of prescribed coating to same.

(h) Boiler cleaning (C–4). To include expenditures for cleaning fire and/or watersides of boilers.

(i) Miscellaneous subsidized repairs and maintenance not classified. To include cost of recurring inspection fees and repairs and maintenance, not classifiable under the above subsidizable subclassifications (a) to (h) inclusive.

(j) Improvements. To include costs properly subsidizable in accordance with § 272.7.

(vii) (a) In the event a vessel to which this Order is applicable shall have terminated voyages during the calendar year which:

(1) Were made in more than one subsidized service, or

(2) Were made in both subsidized and unsubsidizable services, or

(3) Were made in services requiring a reduction of subsidy due to operations in domestic trades, or

(4) Were made in a subsidized service which was affected by subsidy rate changes, then the operator shall be required to allocate the total maintenance (upkeep) and repair costs of the vessel which have been approved by the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance to all voyages terminating during the calendar year on the ratio which the number of days in each such voyage (determined in accordance with General Order 27, Revised) bears to the total of the voyage days of the vessel during the year.

Those items of repair that can be definitely and entirely attributed to a specific nonsubsidized voyage will be so indicated in the letter referred to in subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph, from the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance to the Operator and will not be eligible for subsidy participation.

(b) During any such year or shorter period, the Operator shall be entitled to receive payments on account of Operating-Differential Subsidy on repairs charged to each voyage at the rates determined by the Federal Maritime Board as applicable to the service and on the basis authorized by the Operating-Differential Subsidy agreements; necessary adjustments shall be made following the close of the year or shorter period, after giving effect to the adjustments required by paragraph (c) of this section.

§ 272.7 Modifications, alterations, additions and betterments. (a) Any modification, alteration, addition or betterment (work of such nature being herein called "improvements" except as provided in paragraph (h) of this section) effected during any one or a series of repair periods, whether or not in conjunction with other repairs, the aggregate cost of which does not exceed $50,000, if otherwise eligible, shall be considered for operating differential subsidy participation, in accordance with the provisions set forth in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, provided the vessel is not permanently withdrawn from its subsidy contract within a period of six (6) months after completion of the work.

(b) Any improvement which does not exceed in the aggregate $10,000 is to be treated as operating expenses entitled to operating differential subsidy participation at the rate in effect at the time that the contract for such improvement is awarded.

(c) (1) Any improvement involving an aggregate cost in excess of $10,000, but not in excess of $50,000, shall be set up as deferred charges, and a proportionate amount charged as operating expenses of succeeding voyages, subsidized and/or non-subsidized. The operating differential subsidy rate in effect at the time the work is contracted for is to apply on the cost of the proportionate amounts as and when charged to operating expenses of succeeding subsidized voyages. The length of time over which such charges shall be spread shall be determined by the Departmental Office of the Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance. In determining the length of time over which these charges are to be spread, there shall be taken into consideration the remaining life of the vessel based on a 20-year life expectancy from date of build, the probable length of time during which the vessel will be operated in subsidized services, and the probable useful life of such improvements.

(2) Any contract or work order involving an improvement, the aggregate cost of which is in excess of $10,000, shall be supported in its respective repair summary with an explanation by the Operator as to the reason for or purpose of such improvement.

(d) Any improvement effected during any one or series of repair periods involving an aggregate cost in excess of $50,000 shall ordinarily be considered capital expenditures. However, consideration will be given to applications, in particular instances, for the treatment of expenditures of this nature in excess of $50,000 as deferred charges entitled to operating differential subsidy participation in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section, provided such applications are made to the Chief, Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Washington, D. C., prior to award of the work involved, who shall, over the signature of the Chief, Office of Ship Construction and Repair, refer all such cases to Director, Office of National Shipping Authority and Government Aid with full information and recommendations thereon sufficiently in advance of commencement of the work to permit determination as to the treatment thereof.

(e) Subject to findings in each instance that the work involved constitutes reconditioning or reconstruction expenditures of this nature in excess of $50,000 will be given consideration for construction differential subsidy if application is made for such subsidy under the provisions of Title V of Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, and the Federal Maritime Board grants such subsidy prior to the award of such work.

(f) When the operator desires to spread the work incident to any improvement over more than one repair period he shall make application to the Chief, Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance in writing and if such application is approved the operator shall report the total cost of such work in the Repair Summary covering the repair period in which it is finally completed, and shall attach a copy of the approval to the appropriate Repair Summary (Form MA–140).

(g) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to improvements required to alter, outfit, or otherwise equip a vessel for its intended subsidized service which in the opinion of the Administration should have been effected prior to the initial entry of the vessel into subsidized service. Such improvements shall not be subsidizable, except in accordance with section 501 (c) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended.

(h) Alterations or additions resulting from Union requirements and/or requirements of Regulatory Bodies issued after initial entry of a vessel into subsidized service shall not be considered Improvements under the provisions of this section, but are to be treated as Repairs.

§ 272.8 Classification of repairs. The determination as to which maintenance or repair items are not eligible for maintenance and repair subsidy consideration will be made pursuant to the provisions of the Operating-Differential Subsidy Agreement. The primary examples of such work are, but not limited to, the following:

(a) "Unsighted," "deferred," and "record" items. Repair items correcting conditions noted in "On-Subsidy Surveys" as "Unsighted," "Deferred" and/or "Record," where repairs clearly should have been made prior to the first voyage in subsidy service, or prior to the first voyage upon resumption of operation under the respective Operating-Differential Subsidy Agreement, are not eligible for participation in subsidy. The Chief, Division of Ship Repair and Maintenance, Washington, D. C., shall determine whether repairs performed in connection with an item unsighted in the initial "On-Subsidy Survey" are due to attrition after commencement of subsidized operation, or to prior non-subsidized operation, which determination shall be final. It is not the intent to pro-rate, between the periods before and after a vessel initially commences subsidy operation, the cost of individual repairs made or materials supplied.

(b) Overdue classification and inspection requirements. These are items required by the Classification society or a Government bureau which were due (grace periods not included) and not completed prior to the first voyage in subsidized service, or prior to the first voyage upon resumption of operation under the respective Operating-Differential Subsidy Agreement.

(c) Foreign repairs. Items of maintenance or repair of whatsoever nature performed outside the continental limits of the United States. Spare parts and/or material purchased in the United States but utilized in maintenance or repairs performed foreign shall be considered for subsidy participation.

(d) Marine loss. Repairs recoverable from insurance. (Damage repairs designated by operator in specifications of original summary submittals, as being non-collectible from Underwriter, will be approved for subsidy participation if otherwise acceptable.)

(e) Cargo expense. Special cargo fittings of a temporary nature (as differentiated from installations of a permanent nature), dunnage, cleaning cargo holds and tanks for cargo, reading and certification of temperatures for refrigerated cargoes, etc.

(f) Stevedore damage. Any damage to the vessel or cargo gear directly attributable to the stevedore proper. (Damage occurring during stevedoring operations, but due to ship's personnel or equipment for which the stevedore is not liable will, if satisfactorily supported by documentary evidence, and if otherwise acceptable, be satisfactory for subsidy participation.)

(g) Special trade requirements. Initial installation of (other than replacement of existing worn or damaged) equipment necessary for the vessel's particular trade route, such as Suez Canal Davit etc. New requirements coming into effect after vessel's entry into the particular subsidized service, as differentiated from previously established requirements, shall be considered for subsidy participation.

(h) Stores, supplies, and expendable equipment. This category shall include the cost (and related sales taxes and delivery and loading charges) of:

(1) All consumable stores and supplies (other than edibles, bar and slop chest supplies, fuel and water);

(2) Expendable equipment such as tools, utensils, instruments, strainers, burner parts, valve parts, machinery parts, and other spares normally carried because of frequent need and which may normally be installed by the crew (as differentiated from Spare Parts required by American Bureau of Shipping, the costs of which are included in the maintenance (upkeep) and repair category);

(3) Portable equipment such as vacuum cleaners, room electric fans, washing machines, refrigerators, furniture (not built in) and other portable equipment of a removable nature.

Those items in the categories of (1) and (2) of this paragraph when issued to ship repair yards, general repair and service contractors or shore gang labor in connection with subsidized maintenance and repairs, shall be eligible for subsidy consideration at the "Maintenance and Repair" rate, with appropriate adjustment of the amount of subsidy previously paid or payable at the "Voyage Stores, Supplies, and Expendable Equipment" rate.

(i) Spare equipment. The cost of equipment, major units of machinery and/or spare equipment recommended by the American Bureau of Shipping (as differentiated from spare equipment required by that Society, the costs of which are entitled to Operating-Differential Subsidy participation) will not be considered for Operating-Differential Subsidy participation until such equipment is installed, either by crew or shoreside labor, at which time it will be considered for the "Maintenance and Repair" rate in effect at that time. Examples of such items are tailshafts, propellers, lifeboats, and other complete units, which, when fastened to the vessel or installed, become an integral part thereof.

(j) Operational. In general, the types of items disallowed from repair and maintenance subsidy participation under this classification are those where no actual maintenance or repairs in the literal sense of the words are involved, i. e., loading stores, landing and sorting laundry, pilot service, tug charges, removing surplus equipment to warehouse, etc. Where tugboat charges, handling lines, watchman service, etc., are occasioned because of repairs which, in themselves, are properly subsidizable, then these latter three items would be subsidizable.

(k) Builder's and/or repair contractor's liability. Those items adjudged or noted as being Builder's and/or Repair Contractor's Guarantee Items.

(l) Other. Miscellaneous reasons, such as, but not limited to, the following:

(1) Completion Certificates not signed by Ship Repair and Maintenance Surveyor because of failure of operator to request his attendance.

(2) Apparent excessive maintenance and/or repair costs after operator has had opportunity to lay before the Administration all relevant facts in regard thereto. Any such costs determined to be excessive shall not be taken into account for reserve fund or recapture purposes as provided under General Order No. 31.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

The effective date of this order is October 1, 1954.

By order of the Federal Maritime Board and Maritime Administrator.

Dated: October 6, 1954.

[Rules Amdt. 8-11]

PART 8—STATIONS ON SHIPBOARD IN THE MARITIME SERVICE

ASSIGNABLE FREQUENCIES; OPERATION UNDER INTERIM SHIP STATION LICENSE

In the matter of amendment of Part 8 of the Commission's rules regarding certification of harmonic attenuation capabilities of ship transmitters operating on 2830 kc; Docket No. 11110.

The Commission instituted the above-captioned proceeding by the adoption of a notice of proposed rule making on July 14, 1954. The notice provided a period until August 17, 1954, for the submission of written comments.

The stated purpose of the notice was to provide for the early availability of 2830 kc since such availability "for intership radiotelephony in the Gulf of Mexico would aid materially in relieving the present congestion on the inter-ship radiotelephone frequency 2738 kc. Further, in accordance with § 8.358 (a) of the Commission's rules the frequency 2738 kc will no longer be available for use, as of January 1, 1955, in areas where 2830 kc is available".

Availability of the frequency 2830 kc was proposed to be conditioned upon the filing of a certification that equipment was capable of meeting certain second harmonic attenuation levels. A proposed table specified the minimum attenuation of 2830 kc second harmonic radiation which would be permitted for various ranges of transmitter power.

Of the five comments submitted in this proceeding, two were in full accord with the Commission's proposal while a third, submitted by American Waterways Operators, Inc., recommended only minor modification of the proposal and clarification of the area to which the frequency 2830 kc would be made available. The final two comments, received after the period for filing comments had ended, in effect supported the comments of American Waterways Operators, Inc., insofar as use of this frequency on the Atlantic Seaboard is concerned.

The comments of American Waterways Operators, Inc., stated that many of its members are licensees of ships "engaged in the transportation of heavy commodities some of which move between points on the Mississippi River and its connecting waterways including the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway. In order to coordinate schedules and avoid delays it is necessary for these ship stations to communicate with each other. It is also important that such vessels use the same intership frequency to avoid delay, especially when they interchange traffic." Since the proposed rule making does not indicate whether the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway is to be included as a part of the "Gulf of Mexico", American Waterways Operators, Inc., request that the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway be specifically excluded. Since the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway is, for the most part, physically removed from the Gulf of Mexico, it is not considered as part of the Gulf of Mexico for frequency assignment purposes. In view of this fact, the Commission does not believe it is necessary that the rule specify that the Intracoastal Waterway is not part of the Gulf of Mexico.

American Waterways Operators, Inc., further states that "some of the operators on the Atlantic Seaboard especially in the Norfolk area report that they suffer much interference on 2738 kc. It is believed that the service in this general area would be improved if 2830 kc were added as an intership frequency. Since § 8.358 (a) of the rules does not permit the use of 2738 kc and 2830 kc as intership frequencies in the same area, it is recommended that the rule be amended so as to allow the use of both frequencies 'on the Atlantic Seaboard, including the Atlantic Intracoastal Waterway and Chesapeake Bay' ". The Commission is of the opinion that such a revision would defeat the purpose of providing separate intership frequencies for the Gulf of Mexico and those areas, other than the Gulf of Mexico, to which 2738 kc is now authorized. This purpose was to remove each area as a source of interference to the other as is experienced while sharing a common frequency.

Because existing rules provide that the intership frequency 2738 kc now used in the Gulf of Mexico will no longer be available in that area as of January 1, 1955, compliance with section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable. Accordingly, the rule amendments are herein ordered to be finalized immediately so that licensees desiring to effect the substitution of 2830 kc for 2738 kc may commence to take steps immediately to that end. Further, if normal licensing procedures were followed, it is unlikely that the ships desiring to change to 2830 kc would be able to make the necessary certification and accomplish the steps necessary for regular use of 2830 kc before the date on which 2738 kc becomes unavailable. It is found, therefore, that an emergency exists in the matter of testing transmitters on this new frequency preparatory to certification, and a temporary general authorization until January 1, 1955, is herein provided for that limited purpose. Upon complying with the certification requirement, individual authorization may then be obtained for the regular use of the frequency 2830 kc.

As a result of the finalization herein of the proposed rules, it is appropriate simultaneously to make certain editorial and minor amendments to other rules. Thus, among others, § 8.369 is amended herein so that the frequency 2830 kc will be available for assignment in interim ship station licenses in a parallel manner to that in which the frequency is being made available in regular licenses.

In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That:

1. Pursuant to sections 303 (e), (f) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, Part 8 of the Commission's rules is amended, effective immediately, as set forth below.

2. Pursuant to section 308 (a) (3) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and, effective immediately, a temporary general authorization is granted authorizing the use until January 1, 1955, of the frequency 2830 kc for the sole purpose of testing and adjusting shipboard transmitters to meet the certification requirements of § 8.351 (d) (2), by all licensed ship stations desiring to obtain a regular authorization on 2830 kc for intership communication in the Gulf of Mexico.

(Sec. 4, 48 Stat. 1066, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 154. Interprets or applies sec. 303, 48 Stat. 1082, as amended; 47 U. S. C. 303)

Adopted: October 6, 1954.

Released: October 8, 1954.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

1. Section 8.351 (a) is amended by deleting the present footnote [1] and substituting in lieu thereof a new footnote [1] to read as follows:

[1] By an order adopted October 6, 1954, a temporary general authorization authorized the immediate use of the frequency 2830 kc until January 1, 1955, without the necessity of obtaining individual assignment of the frequency and without the necessity of filing a certification as required by § 8.351 (d) (2). Use of the frequency under the temporary general authorization is, however, restricted solely to testing and adjusting shipboard transmitters to meet the certification requirements of § 8.351 (d) (2). Upon compliance with the certification requirement, the frequency is available for individual assignment for regular use.

2. Section 8.351 (d) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) The frequencies 2738 kc and 2830 kc may not be used or assigned except on condition that the licensee or applicant therefor submits to the Commission a certification in accordance with the requirements of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

3. Section 8.351 (d) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) The certification required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be that made by the manufacturer of the equipment or shall be signed by a person holding at least a second class radiotelephone operator license and shall show the number and class of such license. It shall state that by reason of tests or measurements of the transmitter therein described and performed by the certifier or under his supervision, it has been determined:

(i) That the level of any emission appearing on the second harmonic frequency of the particular carrier frequency desired to be used or assigned is attenuated below the level of the unmodulated carrier on that frequency by not less than the amount shown in the following table:

Maximum authorized transmitter power as specifically defined in § 8.7 (il):	Attenuation (decibels) [1]
Up to and including 150 watts	40
Over 150 watts up to and including 600 watts	50
Over 600 watts	60

[1] This provision is promulgated as an emergency measure to reduce interference with outstanding equipment. Attention is invited to the more stringent requirements proposed in Docket 10887.

and

(ii) That the transmitter meets the foregoing requirements without modification or in the event that modification of the transmitter was found to be necessary, a specific description of such modification, including a description of any wave trap or device which was utilized.

4. Section 8.351 (d) (6) is amended to read as follows:

(6) The frequency 2738 kc is authorized for use on a shared basis with ship stations of other countries, for the purpose hereinafter prescribed in this subpart.

5. Section 8.369 (a) (2) (ii) is amended to read as follows:

(ii) For ship-to-ship communication:

2638 for use in all areas;

2738 for use in all areas except the Great Lakes and, beginning January 1, 1955, except the Gulf of Mexico: Provided, That a certification in accordance with the requirements of § 8.351 (d) has been submitted;

2830 for use in the Gulf of Mexico; provided that a certification in accordance with the requirements of § 8.351 (d) has been submitted;

2003 for use on the Great Lakes exclusively;

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606, Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations; Docket No. 11194.

1. Notice is hereby given that the Commission has received proposals for rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. John S. Booth and Thompson K. Cassel, d/b as Elmira Television, filed a petition on June 4, 1954, requesting that rule-making proceedings be instituted to amend the Commission's Table of Television Channel Assignments by adding VHF Channel 9 to Elmira, New York, as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Elmira, N. Y.	18+, 24–	9–, 18+, 24–

In support of its request, the petitioner urges that the assignment of Channel 9 to Elmira would conform to the Commission's rules and can be accomplished without making any other changes in the table of assignments. Petitioner submits that the assignment of Channel 9 to Elmira would represent a fair and efficient use of the available facilities in the area.

3. On June 24, 1954, a conflicting proposal was filed by Williamsport Radio Broadcasting Associates, Inc., requesting the institution of rule-making proceedings to assign VHF Channel 9 to Blossburg, Pennsylvania, as follows:

City	Channel No.
Blossburg, Pa.	None	9–

Blossburg is a community of 1,933 persons located about 30 miles north of Williamsport. In support of its request, Williamsport Radio Broadcasting Associates urges that the assignment of Channel 9 to Blossburg would conform to the Commission's rules and can be accomplished without involving any other changes in the table of assignments. It is represented that an application to construct a station on Channel 9 in Blossburg will be filed in the event such an assignment is made.

4. The proposed assignment of Channel 9 in either Elmira or Blossburg would require changing the offset carrier requirements of two other assignments on Channel 9 as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Washington, D. C.	9–	9
Greenville, N. C.	9	9–

Station WTOP-TV is presently operating on Channel 9 in Washington, and Station WNCT is operating on this frequency in Greenville.

5. The Commission is of the view that rule-making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that all interested parties may submit their views to the Commission and the Commission may be apprised of such views prior to taking final action.

6. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (4) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

7. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the amendment proposed by petitioners should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before November 12, 1954, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments before taking action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

8. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

RADI-COMM. SERVICE

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY LICENSE SHOULD NOT BE REVOKED

In the matter of W. F. Guennewig, d/b as Radi-Comm. Service, Wood River, Illinois, Docket No. 11192, File No. 1899–C2–L–54; order to show cause why the license of station KSC648 in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service should not be revoked.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 6th day of October 1954;

The Commission having under consideration the application of W. F. Guennewig, d/b as Radi-Comm Service for construction permit for a two-way radio station in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at Wood River, Illinois, File No. 1387–C2–P–53; the construction permit issued thereon on August 10, 1953; the application of Guennewig for a license to cover such construction permit, File No. 1899–C2–L–54; the license to cover such construction permit, issued April 9, 1954; and a report received from its Field Engineering and Monitoring Bureau, dated August 13, 1954, relating to the alleged construction and present status of such station; and

It appearing, that, the application for construction permit was granted subject to the provisions of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and the provisions of Part 6 of the Commission's rules requiring, among other things, that the station be actually constructed and that specified equipment and service tests be undertaken as a part of construction; and

It further appearing, that, the Commission granted the application of Guennewig for license to cover such construction permit upon the applicant's representation that construction had been completed in accordance with the terms and conditions of the construction permit and that the station was ready for operation; and

It further appearing, that, the aforesaid report received from the Commission's Field Engineering and Monitoring Bureau shows that the subject station KSC648 was not adjusted to operate within the limits of the power authorized, that construction of the station was not actually completed because the station was not actually put on the air the equipment tests required to be undertaken as a part of construction, as required by § 6.516 (a) of the Commission's rules, were not made, and the service tests of the station required to be undertaken at the time of filing an application for license to cover the construction permit, pursuant to § 6.516 (b) of the Commission's rules, were not made; and

It further appearing, that, the aforesaid report further discloses that station KSC648 was dismantled and removed from its authorized location without prior Commission authorization, in violation of § 6.313 of the Commission's rules; and

It further appearing, that, In the matter of W. F. Guennewig, etc., Docket No. 11112, the licensee of station KSC648 was apprised of the foregoing violations in the Reply of Acting Chief, Common Carrier Bureau, to Petition to Enlarge Issues, filed August 20, 1954, a copy of which was sent by mail to him on that date; and

It further appearing, that, by letter dated August 31, 1954, it was suggested to the licensee of station KSC648 that he forward the station license for radio station KSC648 to the Commission for cancellation; and

It further appearing, that, Guennewig has not forwarded such station license to the Commission for cancellation; and

It further appearing, that, all of the aforesaid actions of Guennewig constituted deliberate and willful violations of the Communications Act and Commission's rules, as cited, and that said Guennewig deliberately and willfully misrepresented essential facts to the Commission in his application of April 9, 1954, File No. 1899–C2–L–54, for license to cover the subject construction permit; and

It further appearing, that, Guennewig may lack the character and technical qualifications to be a licensee in this service, and that continuation in effect of the license of station KSC648 may not serve the public interest, convenience and necessity; and

It further appearing, that if the true facts had been known to the Commission on April 9, 1954, a license for the subject station would not have been issued:

It is ordered, That, pursuant to the provisions of section 312 (a) (1), (2), (3), (4), (c), and (d) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-named W. F. Guennewig, d/b as Radi-Comm Service shall appear at the Commission's offices in Washington, D. C., at 10:00 a. m. on December 15, 1954, and show cause why the license of station KSC648 should not be revoked.

Released: October 8, 1954.

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING

Northern Natural Gas Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal office at Omaha, Nebraska, filed, on September 7, 1954, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 4.3 miles of 4-inch loop line to its Jordan, Minnesota branch line.

Applicant states that Minnesota Valley Natural Gas Company (Minnesota Valley), currently distributing or authorized to distribute natural gas in Jordan and 20 other communities in that general area, has advised that the discontinuance, prior to the 1954–55 heating season, of a steam plant operated by Northern States Power Company in Jordan will increase its maximum day requirements to 936 Mcf. Jordan's current contract demand is 280 Mcf.

Minnesota Valley has not requested, nor is Applicant herein proposing, an increase in the present total contract demand of 36,538 Mcf for the 21 communities, all of which are included within one billing group under the group billing provisions of Applicant's tariff.

Applicant states that the present 2-inch Jordan branch line is inadequate to serve the 936 Mcf contract demand for Jordan for the 1954–55 heating season, requested by Minnesota Valley in its May 1, 1954, tariff nominations.

The estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $51,000, and Applicant proposes that financing will be out of cash on hand.

Applicant has requested that its application be heard under the shortened procedure provided by § 1.32 (b) (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

The Commission finds:

(1) It is appropriate and in the public interest, and good cause exists, that due notice of this application, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, be given as hereinafter ordered.

(2) It is appropriate and in the public interest in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, and good cause exists, that the application filed herein on September 7, 1954, should be set down for public hearing as hereinafter provided and ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Due notice be given, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, of this notice of application and order.

(B) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing be held on October 26, 1954, at 9:30 a. m., e. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by the application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a noncontested hearing, forthwith dispose of the proceedings, pursuant to the provisions of § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter I—Agricultural Marketing Service (Standards, Inspections, Marketing Practices), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter C—Regulations and Standards Under the Farm Products Inspection Act

PART 70—GRADING AND INSPECTION OF POULTRY AND EDIBLE PRODUCTS THEREOF AND UNITED STATES CLASSES, STANDARDS, AND GRADES WITH RESPECT THERETO

APPLICATION FOR INSPECTION OF DRESSED POULTRY AND EDIBLE PRODUCTS THEREOF FOR CONDITION AND WHOLESOMENESS

The amendment to the regulations governing the grading and inspection of poultry and edible products thereof and United States classes, standards, and grades with respect thereto (7 CFR Part 70), hereinafter promulgated, is pursuant to authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.). The amendment revises the application form for inspection service by establishing an overtime charge at the rate of $3.65 per hour. In addition, a night differential charge is also provided to cover services performed during the hours of 6 p. m. to 6 a. m. These additional charges are necessary in view of recent legislation which changed the overtime rates for Federal employees.

It is hereby found that it would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in public rule making procedures with respect to this amendment or to postpone the effective date of the amendment until thirty (30) days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER for the reasons that (1) legislation authorizes increased salary payment for overtime work and also provides that the services be self-supporting insofar as practicable; (2) increased costs of performing the services will go into effect on November 7, 1954; and (3) the services provided herein are permissive and the industry does not require additional time in order to comply with this amendment.

The amendment hereinafter set forth is promulgated to become effective on November 1, 1954.

[Grapefruit Reg. 97]

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 955.358 Grapefruit Regulation 97—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 55, as amended (7 CFR Part 955), regulating the handling of grapefruit grown in the State of Arizona; in Imperial County, California; and in that part of Riverside County, California, situated south and east of the San Gorgonio Pass, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Administrative Committee (established under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order), and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of grapefruit, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective date. The Administrative Committee held an open meeting on September 30, 1954, to consider recommendations for a regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; information regarding the provisions of the regulation recommended by the committee has been disseminated to shippers of grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, and this section, including the effective time thereof, is identical with the recommendation of the committee; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective on the date hereinafter set forth so as to provide for the regulation of the handling of the grapefruit at the start of this marketing season; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., October 17, 1954, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., December 19, 1954, no handler shall ship:

(i) Any grapefruit of any variety grown in the State of Arizona; in Imperial County, California; or in that part of Riverside County, California, situated south and east of the San Gorgonio Pass unless such grapefruit are at least fairly well colored, and otherwise grade at least U. S. No. 2; or

(ii) From the State of California or the State of Arizona (a) to any point outside thereof in the United States, any grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, which are of a size smaller than 3 1/16 inches in diameter, or (b) to any point in Canada, any grapefruit, grown as aforesaid, which are of a size smaller than 3 1/16 inches in diameter ("diameter" in each case to be measured midway at a right angle to a straight line running from the stem to the blossom end of the fruit), except that a tolerance of 5 percent, by count, of grapefruit smaller than the foregoing minimum sizes shall be permitted which tolerance shall be applied in accordance with the provisions for the application of tolerance, specified in the revised United States Standards for Grapefruit (California and Arizona), §§ 51.925 to 51.955 of this title: Provided, That, in determining the percentage of grapefruit in any lot which are smaller than 3 1/16 inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on the grapefruit in such lot which are of a size 4 2/16 inches in diameter and smaller; and in determining the percentage of grapefruit in any lot which are smaller than 3 6/16 inches in diameter, such percentage shall be based only on the grapefruit in such lot which are of a size 3 12/16 inches in diameter and smaller.

(2) As used in this section, "handler," "variety," "grapefruit," and "ship" shall have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order; and the terms "U. S. No. 2" and "fairly well colored" shall each have the same meaning as when used in the revised United States Standards for Grapefruit (California and Arizona), §§ 51.925 to 51.955 of this title.

[Avocado Order 3, Amdt. 3]

MATURITY REGULATION

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 69 (7 CFR Part 969; 19 F. R. 3439) regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of the Booth 7 variety of avocados grown in South Florida.

It is, therefore, ordered as follows: The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) of § 969.303 (Avocado Order 3, as amended; 19 F. R. 5469; 5967) as pertains to the variety Booth 7 in Columns 2, 3, and 4, respectively, of the table contained therein, are hereby terminated.

Effective time. The provisions of this amendment shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. s. t., October 15, 1954.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

[Avocado Order 4, Amdt. 2]

MATURITY REGULATION

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 69 (7 CFR Part 969; 19 F. R. 3439) regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than October 15, 1954. The present regulations, if continued in effect, would permit avocados of the Booth 5 and Booth 7 varieties to be shipped on and after October 15, 1954. A reasonable determination as to the time of maturity of avocados must await the development of the crop thereof, and adequate information thereon was not available to the Avocado Administrative Committee until October 9, 1954; determinations as to the time of maturity of the varieties of avocados covered by this amendment were made at a telephone meeting of said committee on October 9, 1954, after consideration of all available information relative to the time of bloom and growing conditions for such avocados, at which time the recommendations and supporting information for the amendment to the maturity regulation was submitted to the Department; such telephone meeting was held to consider recommendation for such amended regulation; the provisions of this amendment are identical with the aforesaid recommendations of the committee and information concerning such provisions has been disseminated among the handlers of avocados; and compliance with the provisions of this amended regulation will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

It is, therefore, ordered as follows:

(1) The table contained in paragraph (b) (2) of § 969.304 (Avocado Order 4, as amended; 19 F. R. 5967) is hereby amended to read as follows:

(1) Variety	(2) Beginning Date

Paragraph (e) Nickel-bearing cobalt and alloy scrap is amended to read as follows:

(e) Nickel-bearing alloy and cobalt scrap—(1) Nickel-bearing alloy scrap. Applications for licenses to export contaminated nickel-bearing alloy scrap, Schedule B No. 654502, containing more than 67 percent nickel, and applications to export nickel-bearing stainless steel scrap, Schedule B No. 654502, shall be supported by evidence of commercial unsalability in the domestic market, as provided in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

No objections to the rules proposed having been received within the 30 days following such publication, the amendments set forth below are hereby adopted:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 39.121–122 is amended by:

(A) Inserting immediately preceding subsection (c) of section 122 the following:

(E) Loss for taxable years of corporations beginning in 1947 and ending in 1948. * * *

(F) Loss in case of corporations whose first taxable year began in 1949 and ended in 1950. If the first taxable year of a corporation began in 1949 and ended in 1950, and if the corporation had a net operating loss for such first taxable year, there shall be a net operating loss carry-over for the fourth and fifth succeeding taxable years. The amount of such carry-over shall be determined in accordance with the first sentence of subparagraph (B); except that—

(I) Such carry-over for the fourth succeeding taxable year shall not exceed so much of such net operating loss as is allocable to 1950, and

For the purposes of the preceding sentence, the portion of the net operating loss which is allocable to 1950 shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to such loss as the number of days in the taxable year after December 31, 1949, bears to the total number of days in the taxable year.

(B) Inserting "; sec. 205 (a) (1), Technical Changes Act 1953" before the closing bracket of the historical note following section 122.

PAR. 2. Section 39.122–4 (a) (2) is amended to read as follows:

After—	Before—
Dec. 31, 1948	Jan. 1, 1950	2	3

The exception referred to above is that in the case of a corporation whose first taxable year began in 1949 and ended in 1950, a net operating loss sustained in such first taxable year may be carried over to the five succeeding taxable years in lieu of the three succeeding taxable years shown above. See paragraph (b) of this section for the portion of the loss which may be carried over to the fourth and fifth succeeding taxable years.

PAR. 3. Section 39.122–4 (b) is amended by adding the following new sentences at the end of the material which precedes the example: "In the case of a corporation whose first taxable year began in 1949 and ended in 1950 and which had a net operating loss for such first taxable year, the portion of such loss, otherwise determined under the provisions of this paragraph, which may be carried over to the fourth succeeding taxable year shall not exceed that amount which bears the same ratio to the loss as the number of days after December 31, 1949, in the taxable year of the loss bears to the total number of days in such taxable year. The portion of such loss which may be carried over to the fifth succeeding taxable year shall not exceed the amount by which the carry-over for the fourth succeeding taxable year, determined as provided in the preceding sentence, exceeds the net income, if any (computed as provided in paragraph (c) of this section), for such fourth succeeding taxable year."

SEC. 205. NET OPERATING LOSS CARRY-OVERS (TECHNICAL CHANGES ACT OF 1953, APPROVED AUGUST 15, 1953).

(F) Loss in case of corporations whose first taxable year began in 1949 and ended in 1950. If the first taxable year of a corporation began in 1949 and ended in 1950, and if the corporation had a net operating loss for such first taxable year, there shall be a net operating loss carry-over for the fourth and fifth succeeding taxable years. The amount of such carry-over shall be determined in accordance with the first sentence of subparagraph (B); except that—

(I) Such carry-over for the fourth succeeding taxable year shall not exceed so much of such net operating loss as is allocable to 1950, and

(II) Such carry-over for the fifth succeeding taxable year shall not exceed the amount by which the carry-over for the fourth succeeding taxable year (as limited by clause (I) of this sentence) exceeds the net income for the fourth succeeding taxable year computed as provided in clauses (I) and (II) of the first sentence of subparagraph (B).

(2) Subparagraph (A) of section 122 (b) (2) is hereby amended by striking out "subparagraph (D)," and inserting in lieu thereof "subparagraphs (D) and (E),".

1. Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Director, Bureau of Land Management, by Order No. 541, dated April 21, 1954, 19 F. R. 2473, I hereby classify as hereinafter indicated, under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609, 43 U. S. C. 682a), as amended, the following described lands in the New Mexico land district, embracing approximately 240 acres:

NEW MEXICO SMALL TRACT CLASSIFICATION No. 36

T. 29 N., R. 11 W., N. M. P. M.,
Sec. 3, E½SE¼SW¼;
Sec. 10, E½W½;
Sec. 15, NE¼NW¼, N½SE¼NW¼.

The south boundary of the tract is approximately one-half mile north of the town of Bloomfield, New Mexico. The tract is situated immediately west of State Highway No. 44. Half of the tracts proposed will front on this highway, and the balance will be set back slightly over 500 feet. All of the area is accessible directly from State Highway 44. Most of the area is quite level. The west row of tracts will gradually merge into the low hills along the west side of the area. Most of the tracts however, can be utilized with a minimum of grading or leveling. It may be very difficult to obtain drinking water, and especially water for garden plots. Natural gas pipelines cross the area and gas can be distributed to all of the tracts. Electricity is available along the tracts. Schools and churches are available in Bloomfield.

2. As to applications filed on these lands prior to 10:30 a. m., November 17, 1952, this order shall become effective upon the date it is signed, provided said applications are made to conform to the type of use and descriptions of lands specified in this order.

3. This order shall not otherwise become effective to change the status of such lands until 10:30 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order. At that time the said lands shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to applications under the Small Tract Act as follows:

(b) Date for non-preference-right filings. Commencing at 10:30 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this order, any lands remaining unappropriated shall become subject to disposal under the Small Tract Act only. All such applications filed either at or before 10:30 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this order shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at the hour specified on such 126th day. All applications filed thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

4. A veteran shall accompany his application with a complete photostatic, or other copy (both sides) of his certificate of honorable discharge, or of an official document of his branch of the service which shows clearly his honorable discharge as defined in § 101.36 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, or constitutes evidence of other facts upon which the claim for preference is based and which shows clearly the period of service. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claims. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their application by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

5. The lands will be leased in tracts of approximately 5 acres, 660 feet by 330 feet, with the longer dimension extending east and west. Leases will be for a period of 3 years at an annual rental of $5.00 per year payable for the entire lease period in advance of the issuance of the lease.

6. Leases will contain an option to purchase clause at $300.00 per tract.

(a) Applications for purchase may be filed during the term of the lease, but not more than 30 days prior to the expiration of one year from the date of the lease, provided that minimum improvements suitable for the purpose for which the lease is issued shall have been constructed prior to the date of application to purchase. Minimum improvements shall consist of a house of not less than 300 square feet, including two rooms and bath, electricity and gas, and a water system and sewerage system that will meet the requirements of the State or County Health Departments.

(b) Leases issued under the terms of this order shall not be subject to assignment unless and until improvements as mentioned in (a) above shall have been constructed.

(c) Leases for lands upon which the improvements mentioned above shall not have been constructed at or before the expiration thereof, shall not be renewed.

7. Tracts will be subject to all existing rights-of-way and to rights-of-way for road purposes and public utilities as follows:

If not so located, they may be subject to location after patent is issued. All rights-of-way herein mentioned and reserved, may be utilized by the Federal Government, or by the State, County or municipality in which the tract is situated, or by any agency thereof.

8. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Office of the Secretary

[Case No. 174 [1]]

DOROTHY M. MARNOCHA

APPEALS BOARD OPINION AND DECISION

In the matter of: Mrs. Dorothy M. Marnocha, 5415 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, D. C.; B. F. C. Case No. 174, Appeals Board Docket FC-22.

Under date of March 16, 1954, Mrs. Dorothy M. Marnocha filed with the Appeals Board for the Department of Commerce an appeal from an Order of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce Revoking licenses, Denying Export Privileges, and Barring Practice before the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, dated March 8, 1954 (Case No. 174), signed by John C. Borton, Director, Office of Export Supply, which order was issued against Mrs. Marnocha and certain other respondents. The other respondents mentioned in the said order (and hereinafter referred to as Kemeny) did not take an appeal to this Board from the said order.

The record in this case includes the transcript of a hearing before a Compliance Commissioner of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce on February 5, 1954, at which the Kemeny respondents, but not the instant appellant, appeared and gave testimony bearing on the acceptability of a Consent Order proposed to be entered in this case as to Kemeny, and which was subsequently approved and published on March 13, 1954 (19 F. R. 1426).

The Commissioner, in opening the hearing before him, noted as follows:

However, the hearing is also with respect to the charges against Dorothy M. Marnocha, who is also named as a respondent in the charging letter referred to, and who has submitted a document bearing date of October 22, 1953, directed to D. P. Medalie, Director of Investigation Staff of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, which, in substance, deals with the charges as applicable to said Dorothy Marnocha, and in effect is her answer to the charges.

Pursuant to the regulations promulgated, Dorothy Marnocha, in view of her answer to the charges, is entitled to a hearing thereon, unless such hearing is waived.

As I construe the answer to which I have referred, I interpret the same as being a waiver of an oral hearing. Despite that fact, the Bureau of Foreign Commerce is required to show a prima facie case in support of its charges against Mrs. Marnocha, as well as in support of the charges against the other respondents named in the charging letter.

Appellant's letter of October 22, 1953, to Mr. D. P. Medalie of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce (referred to by the Commissioner in the quotation above) makes reference to the charges and enters general and specific denials with respect thereto.

The Board does not have to rely solely upon the Commissioner's interpretation of this document as waiving hearing but also takes notice of matters in the Appeals Board hearing record which reflect that appellant's attorney had been advised by counsel for Government as to the procedure, prior to the hearing before the Commissioner, that if his client desired an oral hearing she should make that known and would then be informed of the date of the hearing, and that in the absence of such request she would be given no further notice. Appellant's attorney indicated that he had been so informed. Therefore, the Board considers that the appellant, although adequately informed that a written request for an oral hearing was required, did not choose to make such request.

The substance of the charges is to the effect that the Kemeny respondents employed Marnocha as their Washington representative and "expediter" during a period of some months, and that during said period they gave to one Bennett, at that time a licensing officer of the Office of International Trade (now the Bureau of Foreign Commerce), valuable gifts.

Appellant's concern with this matter is that these gifts are alleged to have been made to Bennett on her initiative, and through her. Appellant's position is that she acted only as a "messenger" in but one instance and that she did not knowingly participate in the bribing of a Government official.

At the hearing of February 5, 1954 before the Compliance Commissioner, the Government, as noted above, was required to establish a prima facie case of Marnocha's culpability. It is the opinion of the Board that a prima facie case was established by the Government at that time by means of documentary exhibits and the testimony of the Kemeny respondents.

At the hearing before the Appeals Board, counsel for appellant sought to destroy the value of this evidence by attacking the credibility of respondents, Kemeny, insofar as they testified to the knowledge and culpability of the appellant. It is the opinion of the Board, however, that the testimony given before the Compliance Commissioner under oath, and pointed out before the Appeals Board by counsel for appellant, did not contain such irreconcilable contradictions as to establish that Kemeny respondents were deliberately making false statements as to material facts before the Commissioner and, therefore, the burden of their testimony in respect of Marnocha is deemed credible.

Counsel for appellant most ably presented all pertinent arguments in this appeal, and was of great assistance to the Board in delineating the issues and appellant's position in respect thereof. However, argument by counsel on appeal, and in the absence of any testimony by appellant in her own behalf, is not an adequate substitute for the orderly procedure available to a party respondent, but which the appellant in this case chose not to follow.

The Board notes that the Order Revoking Licenses, Denying Export Privileges, and Barring Practice before the Bureau of Foreign Commerce provides that:

Commencing on October 12, 1954, and at anytime thereafter prior to the expiration date of this order, respondent Dorothy M. Marnocha shall have the privilege of applying in writing to the Bureau for restoration of the privileges denied to her by paragraphs (2) and (3) above, and the Bureau may, upon evidence satisfactory to it, restore all or part of such privileges to said respondent upon such terms and conditions as may be deemed necessary to assure compliance by said respondent with the export law and regulations in the future.

Appellant, therefore, has the privilege of seeking early relief from the provisions of the order, which relief, if denied, does not preclude her from an appeal from such denial.

The Appeals Board finds that, on the record as established, the findings of the Compliance Commissioner and the provisions of the Order Revoking Licenses, Denying Export Privileges, and Barring Practice before the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, insofar as they refer to this appellant, are justified by the evidence.

Now, therefore: It is ordered, That:

1. The provisions of said Order Revoking Licenses, Denying Export Privileges, and Barring Practice before the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, insofar as they affect this appellant, are sustained in full.

2. The appeal be and it is hereby denied.

FREDERIC W. OLMSTEAD,
Chairman, Appeals Board.

[Docket Nos. G-1382, G-1533, G-1881]

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

ORDER REOPENING PROCEEDINGS FOR LIMITED PURPOSES AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

The proceedings at Docket No. G-1382 concern proposed increased rates and charges filed by Northern Natural Gas Company (Northern) on March 27, 1950, and proposed to be made effective as of April 27, 1950. By order issued April 26, 1950, the Commission provided for a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the proposed rate schedules and suspended the operation thereof until September 27, 1950. Thereafter, upon appropriate motion of Northern, these proposed rates and charges became effective on September 27, 1950, subject to the refund of any amounts thereof subsequently ordered by the Commission.

The proceedings at Docket No. G-1533 concern other proposed increased rates and charges filed by Northern on October 27, 1950, and proposed to be made effective as of November 27, 1950. By order issued November 13, 1950, the Commission also provided for a hearing concerning the lawfulness of these proposed rate schedules and suspended the operation thereof until April 27, 1951. This order also provided that the proceedings at Docket Nos. G-1382 and G-1533 be consolidated for hearing purposes.[1] Upon appropriate motion of Northern, the proposed rate schedules as filed on October 27, 1950, became effective on April 27, 1951, subject to the refund of any amounts thereof subsequently ordered by the Commission.

The proceedings at Docket No. G-1881 concern a third group of proposed increased rates and charges filed by Northern on December 26, 1951, and proposed to be made effective in part on January 27, 1952, and in part on February 27, 1952. By order issued January 25, 1952, the Commission also provided for a hearing concerning the lawfulness of these proposed rate schedules and suspended the operation thereof for a period of five months beyond the respective proposed effective dates. Thereafter, upon proper motion of Northern, these schedules became effective in part on June 27, 1952, and in part on July 27, 1952, subject to the refund of any amounts thereof subsequently ordered by the Commission.

After due hearing, the Commission on June 11, 1952, issued its Opinion No. 228 and accompanying order whereby it rejected as unjust and unreasonable the proposed increased rates and charges which were the subject of the proceedings at Docket Nos. G-1382 and G-1533. In lieu thereof, the Commission thereby found other rates to be just, reasonable, non-discriminatory, and non-preferential and ordered that these prescribed rates be made effective as of June 11, 1952, and thereafter observed and in force.

In said Opinion No. 228, the Commission stated (page 41 of mimeographed edition):

As previously mentioned, the first increase in Northern's rates (Docket No. G-1382) became effective under bond on September 27, 1950. The second increase (Docket No. G-1533) became effective April 27, 1951, and Northern has collected such increased rates under bond to the effective date of the rate herein prescribed. Thus we must deal with two periods during each of which different rates were in effect under bond.

We have carefully examined the record in these proceedings to ascertain whether it is feasible to determine therefrom the appropriate disposition of the revenues collected under bond during the two above mentioned periods. It is our conclusion that such disposition cannot be properly accomplished based upon the data now of record. The record does not contain actual operating experience subsequent to April 1951, which was more than one year ago. Additionally, the record discloses that certain items of revenues and expenses included in our cost of service study for the test period were not actually experienced during a part of such period and that it is impossible from the record to make appropriate adjustments therefor.

For these reasons we deem it necessary to reserve the determination of the disposition of the revenues collected under bond, subject to further order of the Commission.

And the order accompanying Opinion No. 228 provided that:

The disposition of the amounts collected under bonds be, and the same is, hereby reserved for determination subject to further order of the Commission.

After due hearing, the Commission on July 30, 1952, issued its Opinion No. 233 and accompanying order in the proceedings at Docket No. G-1881. By said Opinion and order the Commission, upon motion of Commission staff counsel, dismissed in part the increased rates proposed in the filings of December 26, 1951, and Northern was required thereby to file other rate schedules to exclude the portions of the increased rates disallowed by said Opinion No. 233 and order. The reduced rate schedules filed pursuant to this Opinion and order were made effective as of June 27, 1952, subject to the refund of any amounts thereof subsequently ordered by the Commission. The said Opinion No. 233 and order did not represent final disposition of the proceedings at Docket No. G–1881, but rather only final action upon certain of the issues presented by Northern's filings of December 26, 1951. The proceeding remained open for further hearing and further order of the Commission.

[1] By subsequent order issued February 6, 1951, there was also consolidated with these two aforementioned proceedings for hearing proceedings at Docket No. G-1607, being an investigation of other later rate filings of Northern. The proceedings at Docket No. G-1607, however, did not present the possibility of subsequent refunds, as did the proceedings at Docket Nos. G-1382 and G-1533.

Thereafter, upon review pursuant to petitions of Northern and the State Corporation Commission of Kansas, an intervener in the proceedings before the Commission, the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit affirmed the Commission's Opinion No. 228 and accompanying order in all respects except as to rate of return. On the latter issue only the Court reversed and remanded the case to the Commission for further proceedings consistent with the Opinion. The Court affirmed the Commission's Opinion No. 233 and accompanying order in all respects. Northern Natural Gas Company v. Federal Power Commission, 206 F. 2d 690; certiorari denied, 346 U. S. 922.

In Opinion No. 228 the Commission found that a return of 5½ per cent to Northern upon its rate base was just and reasonable, and the prescribed rates were designed to provide such a rate of return. In remanding the case to the Commission on this sole issue, the Court of Appeals directed the Commission "to make additional findings and conclusions upon its determination of the issue of Rate of Return, including its reasons and basis therefor."

While these matters were before it, the Court of Appeals entered an order staying, among others, the Opinion No. 233 and order issued July 30, 1952, from and after November 27, 1952, until further order of the Court, subject to the terms and conditions therein stated.

Further hearings not having been held, and no further orders having been issued in the proceedings at Docket Nos. G–1382, G–1533, and G–1881, it is appropriate that these proceedings be reopened for the purpose of determining (a) the portion of the increased rates and charges collected during the period commencing September 27, 1950, and continuing through November 26, 1952, that should be refunded, and (b) the disposition to be made of such refundable collections.

The Commission orders:

(A) The proceedings at Docket Nos. G–1382, G–1533, and G–1881 be and they are hereby reopened for the limited purpose of receiving evidence with respect to:

(1) Northern's actual cost of service during the period commencing September 27, 1950, and continuing through November 26, 1952, including the rate of return to be allowed Northern, and the portion thereof properly attributable to sales made under those schedules of increased rates and charges which were the subjects of the proceedings at Docket Nos. G–1382, G–1533, and G–1881.

(2) The volumes of gas sold and delivered to each customer at each point of delivery under each monthly billing period for the period of September 27, 1950, to November 26, 1952, both inclusive, and the related amounts collected under each such schedule during each billing period.

(3) The method of determining the amounts to be refunded to each of those entitled thereto, and the fixing of the amounts to be refunded to each such person, including interest at the rate of six percent (6%) per annum.

(B) The public hearing in these reopened proceedings be held commencing at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., e. s. t., on October 25, 1954, in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters specified in paragraph (A) above.

(C) All parties heretofore permitted to intervene in the proceedings at Docket Nos. G–1382, G–1533, and G–1881 may participate in these reopened proceedings.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

Adopted: October 5, 1954.

Issued: October 8, 1954.

By the Commission.

Washington, Friday, October 15, 1954

TITLE 3—THE PRESIDENT

PROCLAMATION 3073

IMPOSING IMPORT FEES ON SHELLED AND PREPARED ALMONDS AND ON SHELLED FILBERTS

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

1. WHEREAS, pursuant to section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as added by section 31 of the Act of August 24, 1935, 49 Stat. 773, reenacted by section 1 of the Act of June 3, 1937, 50 Stat. 246, and amended by section 3 of the Act of July 3, 1948, 62 Stat. 1248, section 3 of the Act of June 28, 1950, 64 Stat. 261, and section 8 (b) of the Act of June 16, 1951, 65 Stat. 72 (7 U. S. C. 624), on April 13, 1950 the President caused the United States Tariff Commission to make an investigation to determine whether almonds, filberts, walnuts, Brazil nuts, or cashews are being or are practically certain to be imported into the United States under such conditions and in such quantities as to render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, certain programs undertaken by the Department of Agriculture with respect to almonds, pecans, filberts, or walnuts, or to reduce substantially the amount of any product processed in the United States from almonds, pecans, filberts, or walnuts with respect to which any such program is being undertaken; and

2. WHEREAS the said Commission instituted such an investigation on April 13, 1950, which it has been conducting since that date on a continuing basis and in the course of which it has from time to time reported to the President regarding the need for the imposition of restrictions pursuant to the said section 22 in order to prevent imports of almonds, filberts, walnuts, Brazil nuts, or cashews from rendering ineffective, or materially interfering with, the said programs, or from reducing substantially the amount of any product processed in the United States from almonds, pecans, filberts, or walnuts with respect to which any such program is being undertaken; and

3. WHEREAS import fees on shelled almonds and blanched, roasted, or otherwise prepared or preserved almonds (not including almond paste) imposed pursuant to the President's proclamation of September 29, 1953 (Proclamation 3034; 18 F. R. 6345), which proclamation was issued under the authority of the said section 22, will cease to apply to such articles entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption after September 30, 1954; and

4. WHEREAS further in the course of the said investigation, on September 24, 1954, the said Commission reported to me its findings regarding the need for import restrictions under the said section 22 on certain tree nuts after September 30, 1954; and

5. WHEREAS, on the basis of such report of September 24, 1954, I find that shelled almonds, and blanched, roasted, or otherwise prepared or preserved almonds (not including almond paste), and shelled filberts, whether or not blanched, are practically certain to be imported into the United States during the period October 1, 1954, to September 30, 1955, both dates inclusive, under such conditions and in such quantities as to render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, the programs undertaken by the Department of Agriculture under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, with respect to almonds and filberts, which programs will be in operation during such period; and

6. WHEREAS I find and declare that the imposition of the import fees hereinafter proclaimed is shown by such investigation of the Commission to be necessary in order that the entry of almonds and filberts described in the fifth recital of this proclamation will not render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, the said programs undertaken by the Department of Agriculture:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the said section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, do hereby proclaim that a fee of 10 cents per pound, but not more than 50 per centum ad valorem, shall be imposed upon shelled almonds and blanched, roasted, or otherwise prepared or preserved almonds (not

[Avocado Order 3, Amdt. 2]

MATURITY REGULATION

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 69 (7 CFR Part 969; 19 F. R. 3439) regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of the Lula variety of avocados grown in "District 2" in South Florida.

It is, therefore, ordered as follows: The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) of § 969.303 (Avocado Order 3, as amended; 19 F. R. 5469, 5967) as pertains to the variety Lulu (corrected to read Lula), in Columns 2, 3 and 4, respectively, of the table contained therein, are hereby further amended to read as follows:

(1) Variety	(2) Beginning date	(3) Minimum weight in ounces	(4) Ending date
Lula (District 1)	Oct. 18, 1954	16	Nov. 1, 1954
Lula (District 2)	Oct. 18, 1954	14	Nov. 1, 1954

Effective time. The provisions of this amendment shall become effective at 12: 01 a. m., e. s. t., October 18, 1954.

MATURITY REGULATIONS

Findings. 1. Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 69 (7 CFR Part 969; 19 F. R. 3439) regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

2. It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time, and this amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of the Blair variety of avocados grown in South Florida.

It is, therefore, ordered as follows:

1. The provisions in paragraph (b) (2) of § 969.304 (Avocado Order 4; 19 F. R. 5967) as pertains to the variety Blair in Columns 1 and 2, respectively, of the table contained therein are hereby terminated; and

2. The table contained in paragraph (b) (1) of § 969.304 (Avocado Order 4; 19 F. R. 5967) is hereby amended to read as follows:

TITLE 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

Subchapter B—Trade Practice Conference Rules

[File No. 21-451]

PROMULGATION OF TRADE PRACTICE RULES

Due proceedings having been held under the trade practice conference procedure in pursuance of the act of Congress approved September 26, 1914, as amended (Federal Trade Commission Act), and other provisions of law administered by the Commission;

It is now ordered, That the trade practice rules, as hereinafter set forth, which have been approved by the Commission in this proceeding, be promulgated as of October 15, 1954.

Statement by the Commission. Trade practice rules for the Chemical Soil Conditioner Industry, as hereinafter set forth, are promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission under the trade practice conference procedure.

The rules are directed to the maintenance of free and fair competition in the industry and to the elimination and prevention of unfair methods of competition, unfair or deceptive acts or practices, and other trade abuses. To this end they afford helpful guidance to all members of the industry.

The industry for which such trade practice rules are established is composed of persons, firms, corporations, and organizations engaged in the production or marketing of commercial products having as their active ingredients materials falling within the following groups: Polyelectrolytes such as polyvinyls and polyacrylics, and cellulose derivatives, and lignin derivatives, which are represented as having a primary function of stabilizing aggregates in soil to which they have been applied and thereby improving the resistance of such soil to the slaking action of water, increasing its water and air permeability, improving the resistance of its surface to crusting, improving its ease of cultivation, and/or otherwise favorably modifying its structural or physical properties.

Proceedings leading to the establishment of rules were instituted pursuant to an application by the industry. A general industry conference was held under the auspices of the Commission in its offices in Washington, D. C., at which proposals for rules were submitted for consideration of the Commission. Thereafter, a draft of proposed rules was released by the Commission and public hearing thereon was held in New York City, at which all interested or affected parties were afforded opportunity to present their views, suggestions, or objections regarding the rules.

Following such hearing, and upon consideration of the entire matter, final action was taken by the Commission whereby it approved the rules hereinafter set forth.

Such rules become operative thirty (30) days from the date of promulgation.

The rules. These rules promulgated by the Commission are designed to foster and promote the maintenance of fair competitive conditions in the interest of protecting industry, trade, and the public. It is to this end, and to the exclusion of any act or practice which fixes or controls prices through combination or agreement, or which unreasonably restrains trade or suppresses competition, or otherwise unlawfully injures, destroys, or prevents competition, that the rules are to be applied.

AUTHORITY: §§ 222.0 to 222.12 issued under sec. 6, 38 Stat. 722; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45.

General statement. The unfair trade practices embraced in the rules in this part are considered to be unfair methods of competition, unfair or deceptive acts or practices, or other illegal practices, prohibited under laws administered by the Federal Trade Commission; and appropriate proceedings in the public interest will be taken by the Commission to prevent the use, by any person, partnership, corporation, or other organization subject to its jurisdiction, of such unlawful practices in commerce.

§ 222.0 Definition. As used in this part, the term "industry product" or "industry products" means any synthetic organic chemical substance, or chemically modified natural substance, which is represented as having a primary function of forming and/or stabilizing soil aggregates in soil to which it has been applied and thereby improving the resistance of such soil to the slaking action of water, increasing its water and air permeability, improving the resistance of its surface to crusting, improving its ease of cultivation, and/or otherwise favorably modifying its structural or physical properties.

NOTE: Present commercial products within the above definition have as their active ingredients materials falling within the following groups: Polyelectrolytes such as polyvinyls and polyacrylics, and cellulose derivatives, and lignin derivatives, which may with more exactitude be described as follows: Synthetic acidic or basic organic chemical substances and salts thereof: any synthetic organic substance which on contact with the soil generates a synthetic acidic or basic organic chemical substance or salt thereof; acidic or basic non-nitrogenous naturally-occurring products and salts thereof; and acidic or basic non-nitrogenous chemically modified naturally-occurring products and salts thereof.

§ 222.1 Misrepresentation and deception in the sale of industry products. (a) In the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of industry products, it is an unfair trade practice to represent or imply, either with or without accompanying qualifications or statements, that an industry product:

(1) Will effect a beneficial crop response in each and every type and kind of soil;

(2) Is a substitute, in any significant degree, for nutrient material;

(3) Is a complete substitute for added natural organic matter, except in its potential to form and/or stabilize soil aggregates;

(4) Will effect an appreciable modification of the texture (i. e., sand-silt-clay ratio) of any soil; and

(5) Will permanently exert a conditioning effect upon a treated soil.

(b) It is also an unfair trade practice in the sale, offering for sale, or distribution of industry products, to represent or imply that:

(1) A particular quantity, or the contents of any package or container of an industry product, will effectively treat any specified area of soil, without clear and adequate disclosure, in conjunction with such representation, of the depth to which such area will be effectively benefited;

(2) An industry product will effectively form and/or stabilize soil aggregates, when the maximum benefit is dependent upon preparation of the soil for application of the industry product or adequate mixing of said product with the soil, without clear disclosure of all relevant information regarding such preparation and/or mixing;

(3) An industry product, which has been mixed, packaged or otherwise combined with a plant nutrient, will exert a beneficial effect as a soil conditioner and/or fertilizer, without clear and adequate disclosure, in conjunction with such representation, of (i) the area and depth of soil which will be effectively conditioned (see subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) and (ii) the percentage of the weight of the entire mixture which is represented by each fertilizing constituent present in said mixture.

(4) Except to the extent that surface crusting is reduced, erosion in some degree controlled, and emergence of germinating plants facilitated, the surface application of industry products on uncultivated or untilled soil, either by dusting in the case of dry material, or sprinkling in the case of a liquid, is sufficient to "condition" the soil. [Rule 1]

§ 222.2 Guarantees, warranties, etc. (a) It is an unfair trade practice to use, or cause to be used, any guarantee or warranty which is false, misleading, deceptive, or unfair to the purchasing or consuming public.

(b) The inhibitions of this section are applicable with respect to any guarantee or warranty in which the terms and conditions relating to the obligations of the guarantor or warrantor are deceptively minimized or stated, or in which the obligations of the guarantor or warrantor are impractical of fulfillment; and also applicable to the use of any guarantee or warranty in respect of which the guarantor or warrantor fails or refuses to observe scrupulously his obligations thereunder.

(c) It is also an unfair trade practice to represent any industry product as being "guaranteed" unless the nature and extent of the undertaking, and the identity of the guarantor, are conjunctively disclosed. [Rule 2]

§ 222.3 Fictitious price lists. The publishing or circulating by any member of the industry of false or misleading price quotations, price lists, terms or conditions of sale, or reports as to production or sales, with the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers, prospective purchasers, or the consuming public, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 3]

§ 222.4 Substitution of products. The practice of shipping or delivering products which do not conform to samples submitted, to specifications upon which the sale is consummated, or to representations made prior to securing the order, without the consent of the purchasers to such substitutions and with the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving the purchasing or consuming public, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 4]

§ 222.5 Defamation of competitors or false disparagement of their products. The defamation of competitors by falsely imputing to them dishonorable conduct, inability to perform contracts, questionable credit standing, or by other false representations, or the false disparagement of the grade, quality, or manufacture of the products of competitors, or of their business methods, selling prices, values, credit terms, policies, services, or conditions of employment, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 5]

§ 222.6 Imitation of trade-marks, etc. The practice of imitating, or causing to be imitated, or directly or indirectly promoting or aiding the imitation of, the trade-marks, trade names, or other exclusively owned symbols or marks of identification of competitors which have not been directly, or by operation of law, dedicated to the public, where such imitation has the capacity and tendency or effect of misleading or deceiving purchasers, prospective purchasers, or the consuming public, is an unfair trade practice. [Rule 6]

§ 222.7 Misrepresentation as to character of business. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry to represent, directly or indirectly, through use of the word "mill" or "mills," or the word "manufacturer," or any other word, term, or representation of similar import or meaning, in his corporate or trade name, or otherwise, that he is a manufacturer of industry products, or that he is the owner or operator of a mill, factory, or producing company manufacturing industry products, when such is not the fact, or in any other manner to misrepresent the character, extent, or type of his business. [Rule 7]

§ 222.8 Procurement of competitors' confidential information. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry to obtain information concerning the business of a competitor by bribery of an employee or agent of such competitor, by false or misleading statements or representations, by the impersonation of one in authority, or by any other unfair means, and to use the information so obtained so as substantially to injure competition or unreasonably restrain trade. [Rule 8]

§ 222.9 Selling below cost. The practice of selling industry products at a price less than the cost thereof to the seller, with the purpose or intent, and where the effect may be, to injure, suppress, or stifle competition or tend to create a monopoly in the production or sale of such products, is an unfair trade practice. As used in this section, the term "cost" means the total cost to the seller, including the costs of acquisition, processing, preparation for marketing, sale, and delivery. [Rule 9]

§ 222.10 Prohibited discrimination[1]—(a) Prohibited discriminatory prices, or rebates, refunds, discounts, credits, commissions, etc., which effect unlawful price discrimination. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to grant or allow, secretly or openly, directly or indirectly, any rebate, refund, discount, credit, commission, or other form of price differential, where such rebate, refund, discount, credit, commission, or other form of price differential, effects a discrimination in price between different purchasers of goods of like grade and quality, where either or any of the purchases involved therein are in commerce, and where the effect thereof may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination, or with customers of either of them: Provided, however—

(1) That the goods involved in any such transaction are sold for use, consumption, or resale within any place under the jurisdiction of the United States;

(2) That nothing contained in this paragraph shall prevent differentials which make only due allowance for differences in the cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which such commodities are to such purchasers sold or delivered;

(3) That nothing contained in this paragraph shall prevent persons engaged in selling goods, wares, or merchandise in commerce from selecting their own customers in bona fide transactions and not in restraint of trade;

(4) That nothing contained in this paragraph shall prevent price changes from time to time where in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods concerned, such as but not limited to actual or imminent deterioration of perishable goods, distress sales under court process, or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned.

[2] For exportations to Austria, the applicant must show the Austrian import identification number. Such numbers run in series from 1,000 to 399,999 inclusive, and in all instances will be preceded by the letters "IKN."

[1] As used in section 10, the term "commerce" means "trade or commerce among the several States and with foreign nations, or between the District of Columbia or any Territory of the United States and any State, Territory, or foreign nation, or between any insular possessions or other places under the jurisdiction of the United States, or between any such possession or place and any State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia or any foreign nation, or within the District of Columbia or any Territory or any insular possession or other place under the jurisdiction of the United States."

(b) Prohibited brokerage and commissions. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to pay or grant, or to receive or accept, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof, except for services rendered in connection with the sale or purchase of goods, wares, or merchandise, either to the other party to such transaction or to an agent, representative, or other intermediary therein where such intermediary is acting in fact for or in behalf, or is subject to the direct or indirect control, of any party to such transaction other than the person by whom such compensation is so granted or paid.

(c) Prohibited advertising or promotional allowances, etc. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce to pay or contract for the payment of advertising or promotional allowances or any other thing of value to or for the benefit of a customer of such member in the course of such commerce as compensation or in consideration for any services or facilities furnished by or through such customer in connection with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of any products or commodities manufactured, sold, or offered for sale by such member, unless such payment or consideration is available on proportionally equal terms to all other customers competing in the distribution of such products or commodities.

(d) Prohibited discriminatory services or facilities. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce to discriminate in favor of one purchaser against another purchaser or purchasers of a commodity bought for resale, with or without processing, by contracting to furnish or furnishing, or by contributing to the furnishing of, any services or facilities connected with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of such commodity so purchased upon terms not accorded to all competing purchasers on proportionally equal terms.

(e) Inducing or receiving an illegal discrimination in price. It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, knowingly to induce or receive a discrimination in price which is prohibited by the foregoing provisions of this section.

(f) Exemptions. The inhibitions of this section shall not apply to purchases of their supplies for their own use by schools, colleges, universities, public libraries, churches, hospitals, and charitable institutions not operated for profit.

(g) Purchases by U. S. Government; applicability of Robinson-Patmuan Anti-discrimination Act to same. In an opinion submitted to the Secretary of War under date of December 28, 1936, the U. S. Attorney General advised that the Robinson-Patman Antidiscrimination Act "is not applicable to Government contracts for supplies." (38 Opinions, Attorney General 539.)

NOTE: In complaint proceedings charging discrimination in price or services or facilities furnished, and upon proof having been made of such discrimination, the burden of rebutting the prima facie case thus made by showing justification shall be upon the person charged; and unless justification shall be affirmatively shown, the Commission is authorized to issue an order terminating the discrimination: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall prevent a seller rebutting the prima facie case thus made by showing that his lower price or the furnishing of services or facilities to any purchaser or purchasers was made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor. See section 2 (b), Clayton Act.

[Rule 10]

§ 222.11 Prohibited forms of trade restraints (unlawful price fixing, etc.) [1] It is an unfair trade practice for any member of the industry, either directly or indirectly, to engage in any planned common course of action, or to enter into or take part in any understanding, agreement, combination, or conspiracy, with one or more members of the industry, or with any other person or persons, to fix or maintain the price of any goods or otherwise unlawfully to restrain trade; or to use any form of threat, intimidation, or coercion to induce any member of the industry or other person or persons to engage in any such planned common course of action, or to become a party to any such understanding, agreement, combination, or conspiracy. [Rule 11]

§ 222.12 Aiding or abetting use of unfair trade practices. It is an unfair trade practice for any person, firm, or corporation to aid, abet, coerce, or induce another, directly or indirectly, to use or promote the use of any unfair trade practice specified in the rules in this part, or of any other unfair method of competition or unfair or deceptive act or practice. [Rule 12]

a. To conform to the amendment of section 451 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U. S. C. 1451), by the Customs Simplification Act of 1954 by providing that cash may be deposited in an amount to be fixed by the collector of customs or his authorized representative, in lieu of the giving of a bond to secure reimbursement for services at night, or on a Sunday or holiday, under the customs overtime laws (19 U. S. C. 267, 1451).

b. To authorize the collector of customs, prior to the expected arrival of a pleasure vessel or private aircraft, to designate a customs employee to proceed to the place of expected arrival to receive an application for night, Sunday, or holiday services in connection with the arrival of such vessel or aircraft, together with the required cash deposit or bond.

Sections 4.10, 4.30, 5.2, and 24.16 are amended as follows:

1. Section 4.10 is amended by deleting the last sentence and substituting therefor the following: "Such request shall not be approved unless the required cash deposit or bond on customs Form 7567 or 7569 shall have been received."

(Secs. 448, 451, 624, 46 Stat. 714, 715, as amended, 759; 19 U. S. C. 1448, 1451, 1624)

2. Section 4.30 (c) is amended by substituting "Such request shall not be approved unless the required cash deposit or bond [2] on customs Form 7567 or 7569 shall have been received" for "Such request for overtime services shall not be approved by the collector unless a bond [2] on customs Form 7567 or 7569 shall have been filed" in the fifth sentence.

3. Footnote 62, appended to § 4.30 (c), is amended to read as follows:

[2] "Before any such special license to unlade shall be granted, the master, owner, or agent of such vessel or vehicle, or the person in charge of such vehicle, shall be required to deposit sufficient money to pay, or to give a bond in an amount to be fixed by the Secretary conditioned to pay, the compensation and expenses of the customs officers and employees assigned to duty in connection with such unlading at night or on Sunday or a holiday, in accordance with the provisions of section 5 of the act of February 13, 1911, as amended (U. S. C., 1952 edition, title 19, sec. 267). In lieu of such deposit or bond the owner or agent of any vessel or vehicle or line of vessels or vehicles may execute a bond in an amount to be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury to cover and include the issuance of special licenses for the unlading of such vessels or vehicles for a period not to exceed one year. • • •" (Tariff Act of 1930, section 451, as amended, 19 U. S. C. 1451.)

4. Section 5.2 (c) is amended by substituting "the required cash deposit or bond on customs Form 7567, 7569, or 7597 shall have been received" for "a bond on customs Form 7567, 7569, or 7597 shall have been filed".

5. The first two sentences of footnote 4, appended to § 24.16 (a) are amended to read as follows:

[4] Before any such special license to unlade shall be granted, the master, owner, or agent of such vessel or vehicle, or the person in charge of such vehicle, shall be required to deposit sufficient money to pay, or to give a bond in an amount to be fixed by the Secretary conditioned to pay, the compensation and expenses of the customs officers and employees assigned to duty in connection with such unlading at night or on Sunday or a holiday, in accordance with the provisions of section 5 of the Act of February 13, 1911, as amended (U. S. C., 1952 edition, title 19, sec. 267). In lieu of such deposit or bond the owner or agent of any vessel or vehicle or line of vessels or vehicles may execute a bond in an amount to be fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury to cover and include the issuance of special licenses for the unlading of such vessels or vehicles for a period not to exceed one year. • • •

6. The third sentence of footnote 4, appended to § 24.16 (a), is amended by inserting "deposits sufficient money to pay, or" after "person requesting such services" and by substituting "an amount" for "a penal sum".

The cash deposit to secure reimbursement shall be fixed by the collector or his authorized representative in an amount sufficient to pay the maximum probable compensation and expenses of the customs employees in connection with the particular services requested. The bond to secure reimbursement shall be on customs Form 7597 or 7599 and in an amount to be fixed by the collector, unless another bond containing a provision to secure reimbursement is on file.

(2) Prior to the expected arrival of a pleasure vessel or private aircraft the collector may designate a customs employee to proceed to the place of expected arrival to receive an application for night, Sunday, or holiday services in connection with the arrival of such vessel or aircraft, together with the required cash deposit or bond. In each such case the assignment to perform services shall be conditional upon the receipt of the appropriate application and security.

(3) An application on customs Form 3853 for overtime services of customs employees, when supported by the required cash deposit or bond on customs Form 7599, may be granted for any period not longer than for 1 year nor longer than the period of the supporting bond. In such a case, the application must show the exact times when the overtime services will be needed, unless arrangements are made so that the proper customs officer will be seasonably notified during official hours in advance of the services requested as to the exact times that the services will be needed.

(Sec. 5, 36 Stat. 901, as amended, secs. 450, 451, 452, 624, 46 Stat. 715, as amended, 759, sec. 6, 49 Stat. 1385, as amended; 19 U. S. C. 261, 267, 1450, 1451, 1452, 46 U. S. C. 382b)

(l) "Supplier" means any person or organization, governmental or otherwise, which furnishes any commodity or service under the act.

(m) "Source" means the country or area from which a commodity is shipped to the cooperating country. Where, however, a commodity is shipped from a free port or bonded warehouse in the form in which received therein, "source" shall mean the country or area from which the commodity was shipped to the free port or bonded warehouse.

(n) "Commission" means any sum paid or to be paid to an agent, broker, or other representative in connection with a sale financed by FOA.

(o) "Discount" means that amount by which the supplier's gross sales price is reduced by a credit, refund or other allowance made or to be made to the buyer or consignee.

(p) "Project" means a single integrated undertaking or enterprise within a cooperating country, which has been mutually agreed upon by FOA and the cooperating country government and which requires financing by FOA of services and/or commodities specifically needed for the accomplishment of the undertaking or enterprise.

§ 201.2 What this part does. (a) (1) Subpart A of this part describes the procedures for enabling cooperating countries to use FOA funds to get commodities and services under the act. Subpart A is divided into two broad categories. The first category deals with the authorization procedures for procurement of commodities and services in non-project type assistance programs. In general, it provides for the submission of procurement authorization applications by cooperating countries and the issuance of procurement authorizations (hereinafter called "PAs") by FOA and sub-authorizations thereunder by cooperating countries.

(2) The second broad category deals with the authorization procedures for the procurement of commodities and services required for projects. In general, it provides for the development of a project proposal jointly by the cooperating country and the applicable USOM, the execution of a project agreement between the cooperating country and FOA, and the issuance of PIOs thereunder. PIOs may be issued for various segments of a project but the only PIOs subject to this part (except where otherwise indicated in the applicable PIOs) are those PIOs which provide for the procurement of those commodities and services covered by the FOA Commodity Code Book.

(b) In general, the fact that a particular purchase is to be paid for by FOA will not basically affect the way in which an importer or supplier does business. Subpart B of this part, however, describes certain things which an importer must do when he has been told that he is buying under the act, and which a supplier must do when he obtains an order that is to be paid with FOA funds.

(c) Subpart C of this part describes the procedures for obtaining reimbursement for assistance furnished under the act.

(d) Subpart D of this part contains the price provisions applicable to purchases of commodities that are to be paid with FOA funds.

(e) Subpart E of this part describes the responsibility of banking institutions in the United States in connection with letters of commitment issued to them by the Director.

SUBPART A—AUTHORIZATION PROCEDURE

§ 201.3 Non-project type assistance: Allotments, procurement authorization applications, procurement authorizations and sub-authorizations—(a) Allotments and procurement authorization applications. FOA will from time to time determine an amount of FOA funds to be allotted for various cooperating countries for non-project type assistance, to be available for the purchase of commodities and services. From time to time the cooperating country will indicate on PA applications the dollar and/or local currency amounts of the commodities and services which the cooperating country desires to procure with its allotted funds. Supplementary information with respect to PA applications may be required from time to time.

(b) Procurement authorizations. (1) FOA will review each PA application to determine that the proposed purchases of commodities and services for delivery to the cooperating country are in accordance with the objectives of the act. Upon such a determination, FOA will, as soon as practicable, issue appropriate PAs for acceptance by the cooperating country. These PAs will cover the commodities and services for the purchase of which the cooperating country may make sub-authorizations to importers, and will specify the maximum dollar and/or local currency amounts which FOA will finance, the source from which the commodities and services (other than ocean transportation) are to be obtained, the periods during which contracts and/or deliveries are to be made, and any other provisions deemed necessary by FOA. Each PA will bear a PA number, and the issuance of a PA will constitute authority to the cooperating country to sub-authorize its importers to use the procurement authorization number in placing orders for the purchase of the commodities and services specified in the procurement authorization to be delivered to the cooperating country. Cooperating countries may request FOA to make changes in PAs.

(2) PA numbers will indicate the cooperating country to which the authorization is given, the commodity code number, the source from which the commodity or services are to be obtained, and a serial number. An example of a PA number is as follows:

Greece	Bread Grains.	U. S. and Possessions.

(c) Commodity codes. PA applications will be made in terms of the FOA Commodity Codes which are listed in the official FOA Commodity Code Book, as revised July 1, 1952, or in subsequent revisions. Authorization will normally be made in the same commodity codes, but in certain instances the PA may be restricted to one or more commodities within a commodity code.

(d) Sub-authorizations. For all procurement under PAs, the cooperating country will make sub-authorizations to importers within the terms of the PAs. The cooperating country, in sub-authorizing, will instruct the importer to use the PA number in placing orders, and will specify to importers the commodities or services, source, applicable currency, periods during which contracts and deliveries must be made, and all of the special provisions of the PA which are applicable to the sub-authorization.

§ 201.4 Project type assistance: Allotments for projects, project proposals, project agreements and project implementation orders—(a) Allotments for projects and project proposals. Apart from the allotments referred to in § 201.3 (a), FOA will from time to time determine an amount of FOA funds to be allotted for project purposes. From time to time project proposals developed jointly by the applicable USOM and the cooperating country will be prepared showing the nature of the project and the dollar and/or local currency amounts of commodities and services needed for the project.

(b) Project agreements and project implementation orders. (1) FOA will review each project proposal to determine that the proposed project and purchases of commodities and services for the project are in accordance with the objectives of the act, and, upon such a determination, FOA will, as soon as practicable, enter into an appropriate project agreement with representatives of the cooperating country. The project agreement will describe the nature of the project, indicate amounts of funds by currency allocated to the project by FOA and the cooperating country, respectively, the duration of the agreement, and such other provisions as may be deemed necessary by FOA. Procurement for the project of commodities and services covered by the FOA Commodity Code Book shall, unless otherwise provided, be made only upon issuance of a PIO and in accordance with the terms of the PIO issued by FOA in Washington, D. C. or the applicable USOM and accepted by the cooperating country representative. With regard to the use of FOA funds, these PIOs will cover the commodities and services to be procured for the project, will designate the importers authorized to purchase such commodities and services therefor, and will specify the maximum dollar and/or local currency amounts which FOA will finance, the source from which the commodities and services (other than ocean transportation) are to be obtained, the periods during which contracts and/or deliveries are to be made, and any other provisions deemed necessary by FOA. Each PIO will have a PIO number, and the issuance of a PIO will constitute authority to importers to use the PIO number in placing orders for the purchase of the commodities and services specified in the PIO to be delivered to the project on behalf of the cooperating country. Cooperating countries may request FOA to make changes in any PIO.

(2) PIO numbers will indicate the applicable cooperating country, the field of activity (e. g., public health, education), the project number, and a serial number. An example of a PIO number is as follows:

Cooperating country	Activity	Project No.	Serial No.
Iran	Industry (cement plant).

(c) Commodity codes. Commodities and services needed for projects will be indicated on project proposals in terms of the FOA Commodity Codes which are listed in the official FOA Commodity Code Book, as revised July 1, 1952, or in subsequent revisions.

§ 201.5 Contracts and deliveries eligible for financing under procurement authorizations and project implementation orders—(a) Commodity and service PAs and PIOs—(1) Contracts. (i) Contracts for the purchase of commodities and services will not be eligible for financing under a PA or PIO if made prior to the date of issuance, or in the event that an initial contracting date is specified, if made prior to the specified date.

(ii) PAs and PIOs will indicate, in addition to an initial contracting date, a contract cut-off date. The contract cut-off date will normally be three to six months subsequent to the first day of the month following the month in which the PA or PIO is issued. In making sub-authorizations under a PA or PIO the cooperating country or authorized agent, as the case may be, must specify that contracts under the sub-authorizations must be made on or before the contract cut-off date. Contracts made after the contract cut-off date will not be eligible for financing under the PA or PIO unless deliveries under such contracts are made within the specified delivery period (see subparagraph (3) of this paragraph).

(2) Reporting. With respect to PAs only, the cooperating country shall, in accordance with instructions issued by FOA, report within 30 days after the contract cut-off date the total or estimated total value of all contracts entered into pursuant to sub-authorizations made under the PA, whether or not deliveries have actually been made. If the total or estimated total value of such contracts, as so reported, is less than the total dollar and/or local currency amount of the PA, the PA will be reduced by the amount of the difference. If no such report is filed by the cooperating country within 30 days after the contract cut-off date, FOA will assume that the PA has been fully sub-authorized and contracted for, and no reduction in the PA will be made.

(3) Deliveries. Each PA or PIO will also state a delivery period. The period will be indicated normally by two dates: (i) The date before which deliveries may not be made (initial delivery date) and (ii) the date on or before which deliveries must be made (terminal delivery date). Where however, an initial delivery date is not specified, the date of issuance of the PA or PIO shall be deemed to be the initial delivery date. Deliveries made before the initial delivery date or after the terminal delivery date will not be eligible for FOA financing under the PA or PIO. FOA may extend the terminal delivery date for limited periods on an individual contract basis, if the contract was made on or before the contract cut-off date.

(b) Submission of documentation of delivery. In the case of reimbursement by letter of commitment to a bank, the submission of documentation shall be in accordance with § 201.16 (c) (2). In the case of other types of reimbursement, proper documentation of deliveries, in accordance with § 201.18 must be presented within 90 days after the latest date on which deliveries may take place under the PA or PIO, to the Controller, FOA, Washington, D. C., or to the appropriate USOM Controller if so specified in the PA or PIO.

(c) Ocean transportation PAs or PIOs. Ocean transportation PAs or PIOs will not be subject to the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, but will be subject to the following provisions:

(1) Deliveries. (i) Delivery of ocean transportation services may be made at any time on or after the initial delivery date and on or before the terminal delivery date specified on the PA or PIO.

(ii) The date of delivery of ocean transportation services shall be deemed to be the date of the relative bill of lading, airway bill, or the cablegram alternatively submitted under § 201.18.

(2) Submission of documentation of delivery. In the case of reimbursement by letter of commitment to a bank, the submission of documentation shall be in accordance with § 201.16 (c) (2). In the case of other types of reimbursement, proper documentation in accordance with § 201.18 (b) must be presented, within 120 days after the date of the bill of lading covering ocean shipment, to the Controller, FOA, Washington, D. C. or to the appropriate USOM Controller if so specified in the PA or PIO.

§ 201.6 General provisions incorporated in PAs and PIOs. Each PA or PIO issued shall be deemed to incorporate the following provisions:

(a) Reimbursement. Upon receipt of the documents required for reimbursement by this part, FOA will make reimbursement up to the amount specified in the PA or PIO for the assistance described in the PA or PIO, such reimbursement to be made by any one of the methods prescribed in Subpart C of this part.

(b) Assignment of right to receive reimbursement. The right to receive reimbursement under a PA or PIO may be assigned, in whole or in part, to a banking institution in the United States, but no such assignment shall be valid unless the proposed assignee has been named in a letter of commitment or otherwise approved by the Director or a Director, USOM.

(c) Modification or revocation. The Director reserves the right at any time and from time to time, and for any reason or cause whatsoever, to supplement, modify, or revoke any PA or PIO (including termination of deliveries under the PA or PIO). In the event of any supplement, modification, or revocation, the right of reimbursement will be modified or terminated accordingly, except that if a letter of commitment has been issued, the rights of the holder of any such letter of commitment shall not be affected except to the extent specified in such letter of commitment.

(d) Refund to Director. (1) The cooperating country will pay promptly to the Director upon demand the entire amount reimbursed (or such lesser amount as the Director may demand) whenever full documentation is not furnished within the specified time, or whenever it appears to the Director that the documentation submitted by or on behalf of the cooperating country (or any approved applicant named in a letter of commitment) does not support the expenditure for which the reimbursement was made, or whenever the Director determines that the reimbursement was improper as being in violation of any of the provisions of the act, any acts amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto, any relevant appropriation acts, or any rules, regulations or procedures of FOA promulgated under any of said acts.

(2) Demands for refunds from cooperating countries under this part may be made by the Director within five years after the date of reimbursement by FOA.

(e) Discounts. If a contract for which reimbursement is claimed provides for one or more discounts, only the invoice amount after discount (seller's gross price less all discounts) will be eligible for reimbursement.

(f) Commissions — (1) Purchasing agents. No commisison paid or to be paid to an agent, broker or other representative of an importer will be eligible for reimbursement.

(2) Sales agents. A commission paid or to be paid to an agent, broker, or other representative of the supplier (domestic or foreign) is not prohibited and will be eligible for reimbursement. However, if the amount of any such commission exceeds the amounts paid by the supplier's competitive sellers or exceeds the amounts paid by the supplier in comparable sales, the Director may, subsequent to reimbursement, request repayment from the importing country of the amount of such commission. The amount of such commission shall be fully reported by the supplier on FOA Form 280 (see § 201.18 (d)). A payment, credit, or other allowance to a foreign distributor of a supplier, in connection with direct imports by such a distributor for his own account, however, is not to be considered as an agent's commission but as a discount, as defined in paragraph (e) of this section, and must be deducted from the gross amount of the supplier's invoice.

(g) Adjustment refunds and adjustment credits. (1) If an importer receives an adjustment refund, or an adjustment credit, arising out of the terms of a contract or out of the normal customs of the trade, the Director will, in making reimbursement directly to a cooperating country, withhold the amount of such refund or credit; in case of other types of reimbursement, the Director will request repayment of the amount of such refund or credit from the cooperating country.

(2) Upon settlement of a claim for an adjustment refund or an adjustment credit, the supplier shall immediately give written notice to the Controller, FOA, Washington, D. C., indicating the PA or PIO number, the name and address of the importer, the date and amount of the original invoice, and the reason for the refund or credit and the amount thereof.

(h) Insurance. (1) Dollar payments of premiums for ocean marine insurance (including war risk insurance) on FOA-financed commodities procured in the United States will be eligible for financing by FOA under a commodity PA or PIO if such insurance is:

(i) Placed by the importer (or by the supplier or any other person if authorized so to do by the importer in a cable, written document, or the letter of credit); and

(ii) Placed at the lowest available competitive rate.

(2) The importer, supplier, or other person placing such insurance shall furnish the PA or PIO number to the insurer. The supplier shall state the name and address of the insurer on the Invoice-and-Contract Abstract (see reverse side of Form FOA–280 set out in § 201.18 (d)).

(3) The insurer shall file a statement with the Controller, FOA, Washington, D. C., by the twentieth of each month, setting forth the PA or PIO number for each insurance policy issued during the previous calendar month under FOA financing, and indicating in detail the character of the coverage, the amounts of such policies, amounts of premiums, names and addresses of the insured, names and addresses of persons receiving discounts or commissions in connection with such policies, and the amount of each such discount or commission. Accompanying such statement shall be a certificate in substantially the following form signed by the insurer:

The undersigned certifies to the Director of the Foreign Operations Administration that the attached statement of accounts relating to FOA-financed ocean marine insurance policies is, to the best of its knowledge, complete and correct; and that the undersigned, in issuing such insurance policies, has not given or received any benefit, by way of side payments, "kickbacks" or otherwise, except as is indicated in the attached statement.

(4) Upon settlement of a claim on account of insurance financed by FOA, the insurer shall immediately give written notice to the Controller, FOA, Washington, D. C., indicating the PA or PIO number, the name and address of the insured, and the amount of the insurance recovery. FOA will request repayment from the cooperating country of the dollar amount of insurance recovered by the insured.

(i) Airmail distribution of ocean bills of lading. The cooperating country or authorized agent will instruct importers to advise shippers to airmail at the time of loading one copy (or photostat) of ocean or charter party bill of lading or airway bill to the Controller, USOM, American Embassy, in the capital city of the cooperating country receiving the shipment.

(j) Price limitations. FOA will not make reimbursement directly to a cooperating country for the purchase in bulk of any commodities at prices higher than the market price prevailing in the United States, adjusted as provided in § 201.20, nor will FOA make reimbursement directly to a cooperating country for a purchase of any commodity at a price higher than the price calculated in accordance with the applicable price provisions in § 201.21; in cases of other types of reimbursement, the Director will demand repayment from the cooperating country of the entire amount so reimbursed.

(k) Export licenses. Where procurement is effected in the United States for any commodity covered by a PA or PIO, export license, to the extent required, must be obtained from the U. S. Department of Commerce. All exports from the United States of commodities furnished under the act are subject to such export quotas as may be established and such export license controls as may be exercised by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

(l) Diversions. (1) The cooperating country agrees, and, as a condition of the receipt by an importer of authority to use the PA or PIO in placing orders, the importer shall be deemed to have agreed, that, upon a determination by the Director that such action is necessary to accomplish the purposes of the act, FOA shall be vested with title to FOA-financed commodities which have been delivered but not then off-loaded in ports of the cooperating country, and the cooperating country will, upon such determination, assign, execute and furnish, or cause to be assigned, executed and furnished, to FOA documents requested by FOA relating to such FOA-financed commodities including, but not limited to, negotiable bills of lading, supplier's invoices, packing lists and inspection certificates. The Director is authorized to take such action with respect to such commodities as he may deem necessary and proper including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the following: (i) To direct masters of vessels carrying such commodities to divert them from the designated ports of destination to such other ports as may be designated by FOA, and (ii) to cause to be inserted in relevant charter parties, bills of lading and other shipping documents a diversion clause substantially in the following form:

FOA may designate an alternate port of discharge within the range of ports covered by the applicable conference tariff. Diversion charges as per tariff to apply including deviation insurance and extra handling cost if incurred.

(2) In the event of any such determination by the Director and action taken pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, FOA will, subject to availability of funds therefor, assume responsibility for extra costs of transportation services (including, where applicable, marine insurance and extra handling costs) caused by such action but FOA shall not be subject to any liability to the cooperating country, its importers or the approved applicant, except for the payment of such costs as FOA, in its sole discretion, may deem appropriate under the circumstances.

(3) Notwithstanding the foregoing subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, if a letter of commitment has been issued, the rights of the holder of any such letter of commitment shall not be affected except to the extent specified in such letter of commitment.

(m) Re-export. The re-export of commodities financed by FOA, within three years of the date of reimbursement therefor, in the form or substantially in the form received, except as authorized by FOA, is not permitted, and in the event of any unauthorized re-export the cooperating country will pay promptly to the Director upon demand the entire amount reimbursed or such lesser or greater amount as the Director may deem appropriate under the circumstances of the particular transaction, not to exceed, however, the amount realized from the sale of any such commodity.

(n) Special provisions. The provisions of this part may be waived, amended or supplemented by special provision in the PA or PIO, or otherwise, pursuant to § 201.23.

§ 201.7 Ocean transportation. (a) Ocean transportation PAs or PIOs and, in the case of c. & f. (cost and freight) or c. i. f. (cost, insurance and freight) shipments, the PAs or PIOs for the commodity involved, may be used by the cooperating country to cover dollar and/or local currency services furnished in connection with the shipment of:

(1) FOA-financed cargoes to the cooperating country on flag vessels other than those of the cooperating country, (i) where FOA dollar reimbursement is requested, to the extent that payment for such services is made in dollars in accordance with the custom of the trade, or, if not in accordance with the custom of the trade, only if approved by the Office of Transportation, FOA, Washington, D. C.; and (ii) where FOA local currency reimbursement is requested, to the extent that payment for such services is made in the specified local currency in accordance with the custom of the trade or other acceptable local currencies.

(2) Non-FOA-financed cargoes to any cooperating country on United States flag vessels.

(3) Non-FOA-financed cargoes on flag vessels other than those of the cooperating country, but only in special circumstances where specifically authorized in writing by FOA to do so pursuant to a request in writing.

(b) The rate charged by a supplier of ocean transportation services shall not exceed the prevailing rate for similar freight contracts, nor the rate paid to the supplier for similar ocean transportation services by other customers similarly situated.

(c) Reimbursement will be made as follows:

(1) Dry bulk cargo shipments. (i) Reimbursement will be made for cost of shipment from ports of loading to ports of discharge at rates established by charter parties; provided that reimbursement of 90 percent of such cost will be made on presentation, in accordance with § 201.18, of documents covering at least 90 percent of the freight cost, the balance, if any, to be payable within 60 days after final settlement of dispatch/demurrage claims and documented by the vessel's signed laytime statement(s).

(ii) Reimbursement for loading, trimming and other related shipping expenses may be made when such expenses are not for the account of the ship nor included in inland transportation charges.

(iii) Reimbursement will not be made for demurrage incurred in excess of dispatch earnings. Amounts earned for dispatch shall be credited first against demurrage, if any, incurred in connection with the same voyage; the balance supported by the vessel's signed laytime statement(s), shall then be refunded to the Controller, FOA, Washington, D. C., within 90 days after date of discharge of the cargo on which dispatch was earned.

(iv) No brokerage commissions in excess of 2½ percent of the freight and no address commission will be eligible for reimbursement; the names of all persons participating in the eligible brokerage commission must be indicated on the charter party.

(2) Dry cargo liner shipments. (i) Reimbursement will be made for cost of shipment from ports of loading to ports of discharge at the rates indicated in the bill of lading, but not in excess of the conference rates for such services.

(ii) Reimbursement for related shipping expenses may be made when such expenses are not for the account of the ship nor included in inland transportation charges.

(3) Tanker shipments. (i) Reimbursement will be made for cost of shipment from ports of loading to ports of discharge at rates established by charter parties or contracts of affreightment.

(ii) Reimbursement for related shipping expenses may be made when such expenses are not for the account of the ship nor included in inland transportation charges.

(d) All charters (whether single voyage charters, or consecutive voyage charters, or time charters) of all vessels must be submitted to the Office of Transportation, FOA, Washington, D. C., for the prior review and approval.

(e) The requirements for use of United States flag vessels are contained in section 509 of the act, section 106 of the Mutual Security Appropriation Act, 1955 (Pub. Law 778, 83d Congress) and section 901 (b) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, added by Pub. Law 664, 83d Congress. These provisions generally require that at least 50 percent of the tonnage of FOA-financed commodities transported on ocean vessels be so transported on United States flag commercial vessels.

§ 201.8 Ships' dollar disbursements. Ships' dollar disbursement PAs may be authorized by FOA in special circumstances and may be used by the cooperating country to cover dollar costs of bunker supplies (and bunker trimming) for flag vessels of the cooperating country under rules and procedures to be specified by FOA.

§ 201.9 Procurement by U. S. Government agencies. When a determination has been made that any commodity or service authorized on a PA or PIO is to be procured by a U. S. Government agency, FOA will authorize the U. S. Government agency to procure the commodity or service in accordance with procedures established for such procurement. In the event that such determination is made prior to the issuance of a PA, FOA may issue a "Procurement Authorization and U. S. Government Agency Purchase Requisition."

SUBPART B—RESPONSIBILITIES OF IMPORTERS AND SUPPLIERS

§ 201.10 Use of PA or PIO number. (a) Each importer must inform his supplier that the transaction is to be financed by FOA, and must give to his supplier the PA or PIO number that has been given to him. The supplier should request the importer to furnish information regarding, and the importer must inform the supplier of, any special provisions which affect the supplier in carrying out the transaction.

(b) The supplier must put the PA or PIO number on all documents required for reimbursement (see § 201.18), and, when procurement is effected in the United States, should put the PA or PIO number on his export license application (see § 201.6 (k)).

§ 201.11 Contracts and deliveries. An importer must comply with the specified contract and delivery dates. A supplier must not accept orders identified by a PA or PIO number unless he expects to comply with the specified contract and delivery dates as notified to him by the importer.

§ 201.12 Marking requirements. (a) All commodities, and their shipping containers, furnished to cooperating countries under FOA financing (whether from the U. S. or other source country), must carry the official FOA emblem designed for the purpose. This identification may be affixed by metal plate, decalcomania, stencil, label, tag, or other means, depending upon the type of commodity or shipping container and the nature of the surface to be marked. The emblems placed on the commodities should be approximately as durable as the goods themselves; the emblems on the shipping containers must be legible until they reach the point of destination.

(b) (1) The size of the emblem may vary depending upon the size of the commodity, package or shipping container to be marked, but should be large enough to be clearly visible at a reasonable distance; wherever possible, the height of the emblem on the shipping container should be at least twice the height of the lettering used in the shipper's marks. In addition, the shipping container will indicate clearly the last four digits of the FOA PA or PIO number and the name of the cooperating country, in characters at least equal in height to the shipper's marks.

(2) The emblem will appear in the colors shown on the samples available in the Office of the Controller, Foreign Operations Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(c) (1) Raw materials (including grain, coal, petroleum, oil and lubricants) shipped in bulk, vegetable fibers packaged in bales, and semi-finished products which are not packaged or crated are, to the extent compliance is impracticable, excepted from the marking requirements of this section.

(2) If compliance with the provisions of this section is found to be impracticable with respect to other commodities, the cooperating country or supplier will promptly request the Office of the Controller, Foreign Operations Administration, Washington 25, D. C., for an exception from the requirements of this section.

§ 201.13 Information to United States small business. To permit FOA, in accordance with section 504 of the act, to give United States suppliers (particularly small business firms) an opportunity to participate in supplying commodities and services financed by FOA, the importer (if not a United States Government agency) shall to the maximum extent possible provide the following information to the Office of Small Business, FOA, Washington 25, D. C., at least 30 days prior to placing any order in excess of $5,000:

(a) A brief general description and the quantity of commodities or services, with specifications written in English and in such a way as to enable United States suppliers to make offers;

(b) Bid closing date and applicable invitation number; and

(c) Address where invitations or specifications may be obtained.

SUBPART C—REIMBURSEMENT FOR ASSISTANCE

§ 201.14 Types of reimbursement. The financing of procurement of commodities or services may be by:

(a) Reimbursement directly to a cooperating country for payments made by it for procurement (see § 201.15);

(b) Issuance of letters of commitment to banking institutions in the United States, undertaking to make reimbursement for payments made by them to suppliers through commercial letters of credit or otherwise on behalf of a cooperating country or an approved applicant (see § 201.16);

(c) Issuance of letters of commitment to suppliers in connection with specific contracts with or on behalf of a cooperating country providing for payments for commodities or services (see § 201.17);

(d) Charges to funds allocated to other departments, agencies, or establishments of the U. S. Government to cover costs incurred in procurement of commodities or services which the Director authorizes from time to time (see § 201.19).

§ 201.15 Reimbursement for specific procurement payments by a cooperating country. Reimbursement shall be allowed only for specific payments made by a cooperating country for procurement covered by PAs or PIOs and supported by the documents required for reimbursement by § 201.18.

§ 201.16 Letter of commitment to a banking institution. (a) For the purpose of financing procurement through commercial letters of credit or other forms of bank credit, the Director or a Director, USOM, may, at the request of a cooperating country or its authorized agent, issue a letter of commitment to a banking institution in the United States for the purpose of assuring reimbursement, not in excess of a specified amount in dollars or other specified currency and in accordance with the terms of such letter of commitment, for sight payments made for the account of an approved applicant including sight payments for procurement outside the United States (including its territories and possessions). Any such payment by a banking institution in the United States made in anticipation of a letter of commitment and falling within the scope of payments authorized by such letter when issued will be deemed to be payments to be reimbursed by the Director thereunder. The letter of commitment shall be substantially in the form of Exhibit I,[1] adapted to special circumstances. Each letter of commitment may also be issued with the PA or PIO in one document substantially in the form of Exhibit 1–A.[1]

(b) Reimbursement under a letter of commitment to a banking institution shall be effected in the amounts specified therein upon presentation of the documents required for reimbursement by § 201.18 and by the letter of commitment.

(c) Each letter of commitment to a banking institution issued shall be deemed to incorporate the following terms and provisions:

(1) The application or request for, and any agreement relating to, any commercial letter of credit issued or confirmed, or payment made, under a letter of commitment to a banking institution in the United States, may be in such form and contain such terms and provisions as the approved applicant and banking institution may agree upon, and the approved applicant and banking institution may agree to any extension of the life of, or any other modification of, or variation from, the terms of any such letter of credit or any agreement covering payments to be made by the banking institution: Provided, That such terms and provisions and any such extension, modification or variance are in no respect inconsistent with or contrary to the terms and provisions of the letter of commitment, and in case of any inconsistency or conflict, the terms and provisions of the letter of commitment shall control. In any event every application for a letter of credit and every request for payment shall include the substance of the directions as to documentation required for reimbursement by this part.

(2) Reimbursement shall be made by the Director promptly (but in no event later than 30 days) after receipt by the Director of the documents required for reimbursement by this part, which documents in normal course should be forwarded to the Director promptly, after the banking institution has made the payment for the amount of which reimbursement is sought.

(i) The Voucher SF–1146 shall bear the following certification by the payee: "I certify that the above bill is correct and just; that payment therefor has not been received," shall be addressed to the Foreign Operations Administration, and shall be signed as "Payee" by the approved applicant, or by the banking institution as agent for and in behalf of the approved applicant.

(ii) The banking institution shall have no responsibility for the truth or accuracy of the statements contained in the supplier's certificate, or invoice-and-contract abstract. The right of reimbursement for payments made by the banking institution will not be affected by the fact that such abstract may be incomplete, or may indicate non-compliance with any provision of this part, or of the PA or PIO, or of the letter of commitment, or may be inconsistent with other documents required for reimbursement.

(3) The banking institution shall make available to the Director, upon request, a copy of each letter of credit issued or confirmed by it, together with any extension or modification thereof; a copy of each application and agreement relating to such a letter of credit, or to a payment instruction or request, together with any extension or modification thereof; a copy of each document in its possession received by it against payment; and detailed advice of the interest, commissions, expenses, or other items charged by it in connection with each such letter of credit or payment instruction or request.

(4) Reimbursement to the approved applicant shall be made by check mailed to the banking institution and payable to its order for the account of the approved applicant.

(5) Acceptance by the banking institution of any document in the ordinary course of business in good faith as being a genuine and valid document and sufficient in the premises, and the delivery thereof to the Director, shall constitute full compliance by the banking institution with any provision of this part, the PA, PIO, or of the letter of commitment requiring delivery of a document of the sort that the document actually so delivered purports to be. The banking institution shall be entitled to receive and retain reimbursement of the amount of all payments made by it against documents so accepted, notwithstanding that such payments may be made in connection with a purchase at a price in excess of the market price prevailing in the United States at the time of the purchase, adjusted for differences in the cost of transportation to destination, quality, and terms of payment, or in excess of the price calculated in accordance with the applicable provisions of §§ 201.7 and 201.21.

(6) The Director, or a Director, USOM, reserves the right at any time and from time to time, and for any reason or cause whatsoever, to supplement, modify, or revoke the PA or PIO (including termination of deliveries thereunder): Provided, however, That no supplement, modification or revocation shall become effective as to the banking institution until the receipt by it from the Director, or a Director, USOM, of written notice of such supplement, modification or revocation, and such supplement, modification or revocation shall in no event affect or impair the right of reimbursement to the extent of any payment made prior to receipt of such notice, or any obligation incurred under an irrevocable letter of credit issued or confirmed prior to receipt of such notice, for which the banking institution has not been repaid by the approved applicant (without, however, any obligation on its part to obtain such repayment). The term "PA" or "PIO" as used in a letter of commitment shall be deemed to include each such supplement or modification from and after receipt by the banking institution from the Director, or a Director, USOM, of written notice of the same, subject always, however, to the foregoing terms and provisions preserving rights of reimbursement in its behalf.

(7) In the event the Director, or a Director, USOM, shall direct termination of deliveries under the PA or PIO or revoke such PA or PIO or supplement or modify the same in relation to the disposition of any document or documents and shall give the banking institution written notice thereof, the banking institution shall in all respects comply with the instruction of the Director, or a Director, USOM, to the extent it may do so without impairing or affecting any irrevocable obligation or liability theretofore incurred by it under any letter of credit issued or confirmed by it, and it shall be repaid and reimbursed by the Director for the costs, expenses and liabilities paid or incurred by it in relation to such instruction. The banking institution shall have no obligation or liability whatsoever to the approved applicant for anything done or omitted to be done by it pursuant to such instructions of the Director, or a Director, USOM.

[1] Filed with the original document.

(8) In the event that the banking institution shall file with FOA a certificate as specified in the third paragraph of § 201.18 (a) (3), or a modified certificate as permitted in § 201.22 (o), it shall be repaid and reimbursed by the Director for the costs, expenses and liabilities paid or incurred by it subsequent to the receipt by FOA of the certificate, as a result either of its following instructions received from the Director, or of its continued holding of documents pending the receipt of such instructions.

(9) The letter of commitment shall inure to the benefit of the banking institution's legal successors and assigns.

§ 201.17 Letter of commitment to a supplier. (a) For the purpose of financing specific procurement contracts, the Director or a Director, USOM, may, at the request of a cooperating country or its authorized agent, issue a letter of commitment to a supplier assuring reimbursement under such contract not in excess of a specified amount of dollars and/or local currency. The letter of commitment will be issued only in connection with a specific contract, will specify the PA or PIO under which it is issued, and will contain such further provisions as may be required by the Director or a Director, USOM.

(b) The monies due or to become due under such letter shall be assignable by the supplier only through signing the certification in the space provided on the letter, and only to a banking institution in the United States. If a notice of assignment is sent to the Director and the Department of the Treasury under the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940, as amended, such notice shall not be effective unless the date and fact of such notice is indicated on the letter of commitment.

(c) Reimbursement under a letter of commitment to a supplier shall be effected in the amounts specified therein upon presentation of the documents required for reimbursement by § 201.18 and the letter of commitment.

§ 201.18 Documents required for reimbursement. Claims for reimbursement must be supported by the following documents (each of which must be identified by the appropriate PA or PIO number), except when and to the extent specifically waived in writing by the Director, or a Director, USOM:

(a) The banking institution has received a common carrier bill of lading, warehouse receipt, mate's receipt, master's receipt, dock receipt or domestic parcel post receipt (if in non-negotiable form, showing that the commodity has been consigned to or is being held for a person or organization designated by the approved applicant); it has delivered or sent the same, in accordance with the instructions of the approved applicant, to a person or organization designated by the approved applicant; and it has in its possession a written undertaking of such person or organization (1) to arrange for ocean shipment and to deliver to the banking institution a copy (or photostat) of the ocean or charter party bill of lading, airway bill, or parcel post receipt for forwarding to FOA, or (2) if unable to arrange for ocean shipments within 90 days of the date of the undertaking, to so notify the Controller, FOA, Washington, D. C., and at such time as FOA may request, to deliver to the banking institution for forwarding to FOA, a common carrier bill of lading or warehouse receipt in negotiable form for the commodity; or

(b) The banking institution has received a common carrier bill of lading or warehouse receipt in negotiable form, and is in possession of the same; it has been unable to deliver the same to a person or organization designated by the approved applicant against the written undertaking described in (a) of this subdivision; and it is holding the negotiable common carrier bill of lading or negotiable warehouse receipt subject to the instructions of FOA, and will forward same to FOA when and if so instructed, except that if it becomes possible before any such instructions are received, it will proceed in accordance with (a) of this subdivision.

(4) One copy (or photostat) of supplier's detailed invoice showing quantity, description, gross sales price, net sales price (after deducting all discounts and purchasing agents' commissions applicable) and basis of delivery (e. g., f. o. b. vessel, f. a. s.) of the commodities or services, and either (i) marked "Paid" by the supplier or (ii) endorsed by, or accompanied by a certificate of, an officer of a banking institution indicating that payment has been made in the amount shown on the invoice.

(4) One copy (or photostat) of ocean or charter party bill of lading or airway bill. In the case of tanker shipments only, one copy (or photostat) of cablegram from ship's agent showing loaded cargo figures, and a certificate by the supplier of the ocean transportation that the bill of lading is not immediately available, and that a copy (or photostat) of the bill of lading will be submitted by the supplier of the ocean transportation to the Controller, FOA, Washington, D. C., within 120 days from date of loading.

(5) One copy (or photostat) of the detailed invoice of the supplier of the ocean transportation indicating the vessel, flag and the dollar and/or local currency cost of ocean freight and related transportation charges, and either (i) marked "Paid" by the supplier of the ocean transportation or (ii) endorsed by, or accompanied by a certificate of, an officer of a banking institution indicating that payment has been made in the amount shown on the invoice. If the bill of lading (required by subparagraph (4) of this paragraph) meets the requirements of this subparagraph no invoice is required.

(6) Such additional or substitute documentation as may be required for reimbursement by endorsement upon the PA, PIO, or letter of commitment, if any.

(c) For the cost of services (other than ocean transportation):

(4) In the event that the dollar and/or local currency cost of services reimbursable by FOA to the supplier includes travel or material or equipment costs:

(i) Receipted vendors' invoices, appropriately detailed as to quantity, description and price; provided that, in respect of individual transactions involving less than $50 each, the supplier may furnish, in lieu of such receipted invoices, a detailed itemization of the vendors invoices with payment indicated by the supplier's check numbers or other certification.

Foreign Operations Administration

SUPPLIER'S CERTIFICATE

FOA Proc. Auth. or Project Implementation Order No. ----

The supplier hereby acknowledges notice that the sum indicated on the acompanying invoice, as claimed to be due and owing under the terms of the underlying contract, is to be paid out of funds made available by the United States under the Mutual Security Act, as in effect on the date hereof, and subject to FOA Regulation 1, as amended, and further certifies and agrees with the Director of the Foreign Operations Administration as follows:

(1) The supplier is entitled under said contract to the payment of the sum claimed, and he will promptly make appropriate refund to FOA upon request of the Director, in the event of his nonperformance, in whole or in part, under said contract, or for any breach by him of the terms of this certificate.

(2) Adjustment refunds or credits arising out of the terms of the contract or the customs of the trade shall be made direct to the buyer, but the supplier will promptly notify the Director concerning any such adjustment refunds or credits, so that the Director may obtain appropriate refund from the cooperating country. If an adjustment results in an additional charge to the purchaser, the supplier will promptly notify the Director of such additional charge.

(3) If the said contract is on a c. & f. (cost and freight) or c. i. f. (cost, insurance, and freight) basis, the supplier is entitled to payment, under FOA Regulation 1, as amended, of any ocean freight charges included in the sum claimed. The supplier is entitled to payment, under FOA Regulation 1, as amended, of any ocean marine insurance premium charges included in the sum claimed.

(4) The supplier is the producer, manufacturer, processor, or exporter of, or a regular dealer in the commodity, or furnishes the service covered by said contract and has not employed any person to obtain said contract under any agreement for a commission, percentage, or contingent fee, except to the extent, if any, of the payment of a commission to a bona fide established commercial or selling agent employed by the supplier as disclosed on the reverse of this form.

(5) The supplier has not given or received and will not give or receive by way of side payments, "kickbacks," or otherwise, any benefit in connection with said contract except as is disclosed on the reverse of this form, or as is the result of the adjustments referred to in Paragraph 2.

(6) If the supplier is the producer, manufacturer or processor of a commodity, said contract is not a cost-plus-a-percentage-of-cost contract.

(7) The supplier further certifies, on the basis of information obtained from such sources as are available to him, that to the best of his information and belief the purchase price is no higher than the market price (which shall mean the export market price, where such a price is customary in the trade) prevailing in the United States at the time of purchase, adjusted for differences in the cost of transportation to destination, quality, and terms of payment.

(8) The supplier further certifies that (a) on the basis of information obtained from such sources as are available to him, and to the best of his information and belief, the purchase price is no higher than the price calculated in accordance with the applicable price provisions of FOA Regulation 1, as amended, and he has complied with the rules provided therein; and (b) he has allowed all discounts, including discounts for quantity purchases and prompt payment, customarily allowed his other customers similarly situated.

(9) If the supplier furnishes only a service, he shall not be deemed to certify to paragraphs 7 and 8 but instead certifies that the rate indicated on the reverse of this form for the service rendered does not exceed the prevailing rate, if any, for similar services or the rate paid to the supplier for similar services by other customers similarly situated.

(10) The supplier has filled in the applicable portions of the invoice-and-contract abstract on the reverse hereof, certifies to the correctness of the information shown therein, and will furnish promptly to the Director at his request such additional information in such form as the Director may require concerning price or any other details of the purchase.

§ 201.19 Procurement by United States Government agencies. When procurement of a commodity or service is made through United States Government procurement facilities in accordance with § 201.9, arrangements will be made for the reimbursement of the procuring department, agency or establishment by FOA.

SUBPART D—PRICE PROVISIONS

§ 201.20 Purchase in bulk of commodities—(a) Adjusted market price. The term "adjusted market price" means the market price prevailing in the United States at the time of the purchase, adjusted for differences in the cost of transportation to destination, quality, and terms of payment, as determined by the Director.

(b) Scope. This section establishes the procedures for compliance with section 510 of the act, which section applies to all purchases in bulk.

(c) Determination of adjusted market price. Determination of the adjusted market price may be made by the Director in such manner as to reflect commonly accepted trade practices. In the case of purchases in bulk made outside the United States, the Director may determine that the purchase price complies with said section 510 of the act, if he determines that such price, plus cost of transportation and related charges at established rates from place of purchase to the cooperating country, does not exceed the market price prevailing in the United States (adjusted for differences in quality and terms of payment), plus cost of transportation and related charges at established rates to the cooperating country. If the price of any purchase in bulk exceeds the adjusted market price, the cooperating country shall pay promptly to the Director upon demand the entire amount of the purchase price.

§ 201.21 Purchase prices—(a) Scope of this section. (1) (i) Section 510 of the act establishes an upper limit to the prices that may be approved by FOA for purchases in bulk of commodities (see § 201.20). Within that limitation, it is the policy of FOA to make payment for purchases of commodities, whether or not in bulk, which are made at prices that approximate, as nearly as practicable, lowest competitive market prices. It is expected that buyers, making adequate solicitation of suppliers from authorized sources and exercising prudence in their negotiations, will agree to pay no more than such prices.

(ii) The rules set forth in this section are intended as a guide to buyers and sellers in conducting their negotiations. The rules in this part fix the point beyond which purchases will not be eligible for reimbursement by FOA. Compliance with them will make a purchase eligible for financing, and post-audit will be made by FOA to determine whether there has been compliance. If, apart from the rules set forth herein, it appears that the objective of lowest competitive market prices is not being met, FOA will take appropriate action to impose additional limitations, and may, in cases where failure to follow this policy is deemed unreasonable by the Director, require from the cooperating country a refund of the entire amount reimbursed.

(2) The provisions of this section shall apply to all purchases.

(b) Meaning of terms in this section—(1) Similar commodity. One commodity shall be deemed similar to another commodity if both have the same use, afford the purchaser equivalent serviceability, and belong to a type which would ordinarily be sold in the same price line.

(2) Comparable sale. (i) The term "comparable sale" includes all sales which are comparable as to quantity, quality, grade, period of delivery, supply area, terms of sale and class of customer.

(ii) If special market conditions exist in a country other than the United States, a sale for export to such country shall not necessarily be deemed to be comparable to a sale for export to any other country.

(3) Competitive sellers. "Competitive sellers" shall mean sellers of the same class (manufacturers, merchant exporters, etc.) who are selling the same or similar commodities from the same supply area.

(4) Manufacturers, producers or processors. "Manufacturers, producers or processors" shall mean sellers who operate a factory, mill, assembly plant, well, mine or similar facility in which, by mechanical or chemical apparatus or other similar means, raw materials or ingredients are processed, component parts assembled or manipulated, in the preparation of the product for sale. A seller shall not be deemed to be a manufacturer, producer or processor in an export sale which involves a commodity which he did not manufacture, produce or process.

(5) Export differential. "Export differential" shall mean the difference between a domestic sale price and an export sale price computed either as a percentage of the domestic price or in accordance with any other established practice of the seller.

(6) Time of purchase. "Time of purchase" shall mean the day as of which the purchase price, or the method for determining the price, is established between the buyer and the seller.

(c) Comparison of prices. (1) Wherever, in this section, the term "same or a similar commodity" is used, comparison, where possible, shall be made with reference to the same commodity. Where such comparison is not possible, comparison shall then be made with a reference to a similar commodity.

(2) Wherever, in this section, a comparison with a domestic sales prices is required and such domestic price is on a different delivered basis than the export sales price as, for example, where the domestic price is on an f. o. b. plant basis and the export price is on an f. a. s. basis, addition of inland transportation costs and other related and necessary inland costs to the domestic price may be made in order to afford a proper comparison with the export sales price.

(3) This section requires comparison of a purchase price with other prices at the "time of purchase." In cases where a purchase price is established between the parties substantially in advance of the day on which delivery is to be made, the Director may refuse to recognize such price for reimbursement, if:

(i) The price is excessive in comparison with other prices for the same or a similar commodity at the time of delivery, and

(ii) It is not customary in the trade for such a long term contract to be made, or it is not customary for such a contract to be made without a provision for a change in price to reflect generally prevailing prices for the commodity at the time of delivery.

(ii) The price (not including ocean freight or ocean marine insurance) for a Class I purchase shall not exceed the price prevailing in the United States in comparable sales of the commodity, at the time of the purchase, as evidenced by current bid and ask quotations in the appropriate market, adjusted by costs customarily and necessarily incurred in making the export sale.

(2) Class II; purchases of unlisted commodities from manufacturers, producers or processors (primary sellers). (i) Transactions in Class II shall include all purchases in the United States from a manufacturer, producer, or processor of any commodity except commodities listed in Class I, or subject to special rules under Class IV below.

(ii) The price (not including ocean freight or ocean marine insurance) for a Class II purchase shall in no case exceed any price charged by the supplier at the time of purchase in a comparable export sale of the same or a similar commodity. Nor shall it exceed the sum of the applicable figures determined under (a) and (b) of this subdivision.

(a) Domestic price base. (1) The price charged by the supplier in comparable domestic sales of the same or a similar commodity made during the period in which the supplier's current domestic prices have been in effect. If, during that period, more than one price was charged in such sales, the figure under this subdivision shall be the price charged in the comparable domestic sale made nearest, in point of time, to the purchase being submitted for FOA reimbursement.

(2) If the supplier made domestic sales of the same or a similar commodity during the aforementioned period, but such sales were not comparable, the figure under this subdivision shall be the price charged in the domestic sale made nearest, in point of time, to the purchase being submitted for FOA reimbursement, adjusted by the supplier's customary differential between such sales and the sale involved in the FOA transaction.

(3) If the supplier made no domestic sales of the same or a similar commodity during the aforementioned period, the figure under this subdivision shall be the price prevailing in the United States at the time of purchase, in comparable domestic sales of the same or a similar commodity by the supplier's competitive sellers.

(b) Export differential. (1) An export differential, if any, customarily used by the supplier in comparable sales of the same or a similar commodity or currently being used by the supplier in comparable non-FOA sales of the same or a similar commodity.

(2) If the supplier has not previously made any export sales of the same or a similar commodity, the figure under this subdivision shall be an export differential which would be recognized for reimbursement by FOA, in comparable sales, at the time of purchase of the same or a similar commodity by any of the supplier's competitive sellers.

(iii) With respect to Class II transactions, FOA may refuse to recognize for reimbursement any purchase price which includes an export differential that is patently out of line with appropriate export differentials of the supplier's competitive sellers.

(3) Class III; purchases of unlisted commodities from sellers (secondary sellers) other than manufacturers, producers or processors. (i) Transactions in Class III shall include all purchases within the United States from a seller other than a manufacturer, producer, or processor of any commodity except commodities listed in Class I or subject to special rules under Class IV below.

(ii) The price (not including ocean freight or ocean marine insurance) for a Class III purchase shall in no case exceed any price charged by the supplier at the time of purchase in a comparable export sale of the same or a similar commodity except to the extent necessary to reflect a difference in his acquisition cost of the commodity. Nor shall it exceed the sum of the applicable figures determined under (a) and (b) of this subdivision:

(a) Domestic price base. (1) The domestic price of the manufacturer, producer or processor of the commodity, in effect at the time of the purchase by the importer.

(2) If the supplier is unable to ascertain the domestic price of the manufacturer, producer or processor of the commodity, the figure under this subdivision shall be the domestic price of manufacturers, producers or processors of the same or a similar commodity, prevailing at the time of purchase by the importer.

(3) If the same or a similar commodity is not sold in the domestic market, the figure under this subdivision shall be the supplier's cost of acquisition.

(b) Export differential. (1) An export differential, if any, customarily used by the supplier in comparable sales of the same or a similar commodity or currently being used by the supplier is comparable non-FOA sales of the same or a similar commodity.

(2) If the supplier has not previously made any export sales of the same or a similar commodity the figure under this subdivision shall be an export differential which would be recognized for reimbursement by FOA, in comparable sales at the time of purchase of the same or similar commodity by any of the supplier's competitive sellers.

(iii) With respect to Class III transactions, FOA may refuse to recognize for reimbursement any purchase price which includes an export differential that is patently out of line with appropriate export differentials of the supplier's competitive sellers.

(4) Class IV; special rules for certain commodities. Special rules for certain commodities may be established from time to time by the Director.

(i) Petroleum products. (a) Purchases from any source: A price for a purchase of a petroleum product from any source will not be approved for reimbursement if it results in a delivered cost to the cooperating country which is in excess of the lowest prevailing delivered cost on the date the purchase price is fixed for a comparable export sale of the same or similar commodity to such cooperating country from any alternative source of supply from which the commodity is available for export in sufficient quantity.

(b) Purchases from sources other than the United States: A price for a purchase of a petroleum product from sources other than the United States will be approved for reimbursement if it complies with the requirements of § 201.20 and of paragraph (e) (2) of this section, and, unless from a supply area excepted by FOA, does not exceed the lowest competitive market price in the United States for a comparable export sale of the same or a similar commodity on the date the purchase price is fixed.

(c) For purposes of this subdivision "price" shall mean the realized f. o. b. price or realized netback.

(e) Prices for purchases outside the United States—(1) Commodities listed in Class I in paragraph (d) (1) of this section. (i) (a) The price plus cost of transportation to the port of entry in the cooperating country for a purchase outside the United States of a commodity listed in Class I in paragraph (d) (1) of this section shall not exceed the price prevailing in the United States in comparable sales of the commodity at the time of purchase, as evidenced by current bid and ask quotations, adjusted by costs customarily and necessarily incurred in making the export sale, plus cost of transportation to the port of entry in the cooperating country.

(b) Nor shall the price exceed the prevailing export market price at the time of purchase in comparable sales of the commodity from the source country.

(ii) Sugar: In addition, in the case of sugar, the purchase price shall not exceed the world price as derived from the daily market quotation on World Raws, No. 4 Contract, F. A. S. Cuban Ports, adjusted for differences in quality, bagging, cost of transportation to destination, and other appropriate considerations.

(2) Unlisted commodities. A price for a purchase outside the United States of a commodity which is not listed in Class I in paragraph (d) (1) of this section or subject to special rules under Class IV in paragraph (d) (4) of this section will be approved for reimbursement if:

(i) It does not exceed any price charged by the supplier at the time of purchase in a comparable export sale of the same or a similar commodity; and

(ii) It does not exceed the export market price prevailing at the time of purchase in comparable sales of the same or a similar commodity by the "principal suppliers" in the source country, determined by applying to that country as nearly as may be, the rules set forth in paragraph (d) (2) of this section; and

(iii) (a) It results in a delivered cost to the port of entry in the cooperating country no higher than the delivered cost which would have been incurred in a purchase for export of the same or a similar commodity from one of the "principal suppliers" in the United States.

(b) For the purposes of this subparagraph, a supplier shall be deemed a "principal supplier" if he is one of the group of the largest volume suppliers responsible for 50 percent of the export sales of the commodity from the United States, or source country, whichever is applicable.

SUBPART E—RESPONSIBILITIES OF BANKING INSTITUTIONS

§ 201.22 Responsibilities of banking institutions in connection with letters of commitment issued to them. (a) Documents required for reimbursement are enumerated in § 201.18. Any additional documents required for reimbursement with respect to any particular transaction will be specified as such in the PA or PIO related to that transaction and to the corresponding letter of commitment, or in the letter of commitment itself. A banking institution in the United States (called "bank" in this subpart) holding a letter of commitment is not required by FOA to obtain any documents other than those enumerated in § 201.18 and any additional documents so specified.

(b) A bank is not responsible for the truth or accuracy of the statements contained in any of the documents required for reimbursement. A bank is not obliged to look beyond these documents nor to make independent investigation as to the accuracy of statements made therein. A bank has no responsibility for the terms or conditions of any project agreement.

(c) (1) A bank's examination of the documents required for reimbursement [3] must be made in accordance with good commercial practice. A bank is responsible to see that the documents required for reimbursement are consistent with the relative PA or PIO and letter of commitment in the following particulars, and no other:

(i) Delivery, to the extent described in paragraph (d) of this section;

(ii) Source, to the extent described in paragraph (e) of this section;

(iii) Destination, to the extent described in paragraph (f) of this section;

(iv) Description, to the extent described in paragraph (g) of this section;

(v) Discounts and purchasing agents' commissions, to the extent described in paragraph (h) of this section;

(vi) If the bank is to be responsible for any additional particulars, these will be specified in the PA, PIO or letter of commitment as additional documents required for reimbursement, or as additional statements to be contained in the documents required for reimbursement.

(2) The right of reimbursement for payments made by a bank in accordance with good commercial practice will not be affected by the information contained in the invoice-and-contract abstract, nor, except with respect to those particulars listed in subdivisions (i) through (vi) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, by the fact that the other documents received by the bank, or information or notice received from any source, indicate noncompliance with any provision of this part, or of the PA, PIO or of the letter of commitment.

(3) The foregoing shall not be construed to limit any rights the Director may have against a supplier by reason of statements contained in the supplier's certificate, nor against a cooperating country under § 201.6 (d).

(d) Delivery. Section 201.5 (a) (3) and (c) (1) permit delivery under a PA or PIO at any time on or after the initial delivery date and on or before the terminal delivery date specified on the PA or PIO. If any of the documents specified in § 201.18 (a) (3), (b) (4), or (c) (3) (or in the PA, PIO, or letter of commitment) are dated at any time within the period during which delivery is permissible under the above subsections, or any other period permitted by FOA, they are acceptable.

(e) Source. If the documents required for reimbursement show shipment from or storage in the area shown as "source" in the PA or PIO, they are acceptable. If such documents show shipment from or storage in another area, the requirement as to source will be satisfied if the bank receives a certificate from the supplier, indicating that the area of "source", as that term is defined in § 201.1 (m), is in fact the same as that indicated in the PA or PIO.

(f) Destination. The PA or PIO will show the recipient country. If the documents required for reimbursement are consistent, under good commercial practice, with shipment or transshipment to such country, they are acceptable.

(g) Description. The PA or PIO will show the commodity or services by description and FOA commodity code number. In issuing or confirming credits, a bank should see that the commodities or services described are not inconsistent with the FOA description and commodity code number. In making payment, whether under letters of credit or otherwise, the bank should act in accordance with good commercial practice, based on the description contained in the documents required for reimbursement, and without regard to the commodity code number.

(h) Discounts and purchasing agents' commissions. A bank is not required to make independent inquiry as to whether an invoice price includes either discounts or commissions payable to purchasing agents, but should not make payment of any such items when disclosed by the documents required for reimbursement.

(i) General provisions of PAs and PIOs. (1) Section 201.6 sets forth certain provisions to be deemed incorporated in each PA or PIO, unless otherwise specified. The documents required for reimbursement by § 201.18 include a supplier's certificate showing compliance with some of these provisions. A bank is entitled to rely on such certificate. Special certificates may also be required by the terms of particular PAs or PIOs or letters of commitment; in such cases, a bank is entitled to rely on such certificates.

(2) Certain other provisions of § 201.6 are included solely for the instruction of suppliers, purchasers, and the cooperating countries themselves, and are not matters for which banks are to assume responsibility. In this category are the provisions of § 201.6 (f) (2), (g), (h), (i), (j), (k), (l) and (m).

(j) Ocean transportation. A bank which obtains a supplier's certificate is not required to assume responsibility for compliance with § 201.7, regardless of whether other documentation or information received indicates compliance or non-compliance with such section.

(k) Contracting and reporting under PAs and PIOs. Banks financing transactions under letters of commitment or PAs or PIOs are not required to assume responsibility for compliance with the provisions of § 201.5 (a) (1) and (2).

(l) Responsibilities of importers and suppliers. Subpart B of this part (§§ 201.10 to 201.13) contains provisions concerning use of the PA or PIO number, placement of orders and delivery dates, markings of commodities, and notice to the FOA Office of Small Business. Banks financing transactions under letters of commitment or PA's or PIO's are not required to assume responsibility for compliance with this subpart.

(m) Bank letter of commitment; expiration in letter of credit transactions. The letter of commitment constitutes an obligation to reimburse for any drafts or documents negotiated under letters of credit prior to the date of maturity specified in the letter of commitment, even though such drafts or documents are paid after such date.

(n) Bank letter of commitment; payment to third persons. The right of reimbursement for a payment made by a bank under a letter of commitment will not be affected by the fact that such payment is made to the approved applicant named in the letter of commitment, or, at the request of the approved applicant, to a person other than the supplier, provided the bank has complied with the other requirements of the letter of commitment and has satisfied itself in good faith that the person to whom it makes payment has made payment to the supplier.

(o) Bank unable to deliver or send non-negotiable document to forwarding agent under § 201.18 (a) (3). The right of reimbursement for payment made by a bank under a letter of commitment will not be affected by the fact that the bank is unable to deliver or send a non-negotiable shipping document or receipt to the designated person as contemplated by § 201.18 (a) (3) (i), if the bank is prevented from doing so because of any action by the United States Government or other causes beyond its control. In such case, the bank's certificate may be altered accordingly, and may state that the bank does not have a written undertaking from the designated person, but the certificate may not be altered in any other way, and the bank will continue to hold the document involved subject to the instructions of FOA, except that if it becomes possible before any such instructions are received, the bank will deliver or send such document to the designated person.

SUBPART F—WAIVER AUTHORITY AND TRANSITORY PROVISIONS

§ 201.23 Waiver and amendment authority. The Director may waive, withdraw, or amend at any time, or from time to time, any or all of the provisions of this part.

§ 201.24 Continuation in effect of certain prior issuances. Cooperating country allotments, PAs, U. S. Government agency purchase requisitions, letters of commitment to banking institutions and letters of commitment to suppliers, issued by ECA under ECA Regulation 1, as amended and by MSA under MSA Regulation 1, as amended, and by FOA under FOA Regulation 1, as amended, are reaffirmed and will continue in effect, subject to the terms and conditions thereof. The provisions of this part may be satisfied by the submission of a certificate or writing in a form: (a) Prescribed by or provided for by corresponding provisions of ECA Regulation 1, as in effect on December 29, 1951, or authorized by ECA on that date, or referring to an ECA Commodity Code number; or (b) prescribed by or provided for by corresponding provisions of MSA Regulation 1, as in effect on July 31, 1953, or authorized by MSA on that date, or referring to an MSA Commodity Code number; or prescribed by or provided for by corresponding provisions of FOA Regulation 1, as in effect on October 14, 1954, or authorized by FOA on that date, or referring to an FOA Commodity Code number. Authorizations, bank contracts, letters of guaranty to banking institutions or suppliers issued by The Institute of Inter-American Affairs, the Technical Cooperation Administration and the Foreign Operations Administration, all prior to October 15, 1954, are reaffirmed and will continue in effect subject to the terms and conditions thereof. Amendments to any of the above documents may continue to be made in accordance with the procedures in effect prior to October 15, 1954.

§ 201.25 Transitory provision. This revision of FOA Regulation 1 will take effect on October 15, 1954, but will not be applicable to claims for reimbursement from, or payments made to, a supplier pursuant to letters of credit issued, confirmed or advised, or payment instructions received, prior to October 15, 1954.

Director,

A new section designated § 116.01-146 prescribes a statement for use in invitations for bids when Federal Qualified Products Lists are used.

The amendment to § 116.01-169 eliminates written contracts for electricity, gas, water, sewerage, and steam services when the suppliers' rates are subject to public regulation and the annual cost is estimated to be $2,400 or less. Existing contracts are not affected by this change.

The amendment to § 116.02-112 prescribes the use of a uniform time period of 20 days for bidders' use in quoting customary and optional discounts for prompt payment.

The amendment to § 116.02-140 eliminates preparation of Standard Form 1036, Statement and Certificate of Award, at Coast Guard units subject to site or comprehensive audit by the General Accounting Office: Provided, That all information usually shown on that form is otherwise available in the records of the unit.

The amendments to §§ 116.02-141, 116.02-142, 116.02-143, 116.03-32, 116.03-40, 116.03-70, 116.03-71, 118.01-1, 118.01-2, 118.01-3, 118.01-4, 118.02-1, 118.02-2, 118.02-3, and 118.02-4 are editorial in nature to clarify the requirements of existing procedures.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by Treasury Department Order No. 120, dated July 31, 1950 (15 F. R. 6521), the following amendments are prescribed:

1. Section 116.01-140 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (c) (1) to read as follows:

§ 116.01-140 Liquidated damages—(a) General. A contract provision for liquidated damages is essentially an agreement of the contracting parties that a predetermined amount of money will be paid as damages for the breach of a contract where actual damages would be extremely difficult or impossible to ascertain. When such a provision is used in Coast Guard contracts, it is not meant to be an exclusive measure of damages, but is intended solely as compensation for delay in performance. Discretion must be used in setting the time for delivery or completion on a realistic basis considering possible delays in obtaining material or unexpected difficulties encountered in prosecuting the work due to weather or the site. Too short a time for performance causes disputes and poor contractual relations, especially when a number of extensions are later requested for reasons which might have been foreseen and when a longer time would have well served the original need.

* * * * * *

(c) Construction contracts (Standard Form 23)—(1) Repairs to vessels. A liquidated damage clause shall be inserted in all contracts for repairs to vessels. The rate of liquidated damages shall be fixed at not less than $25.00 per day. When the operational schedule of a vessel requires its availability at a given date to meet patrol commitments, etc., the rate of liquidated damages should be fixed at a rate high enough to insure, insofar as possible, completion of the work and delivery of the vessel within the contract performance time.

2. Part 116 is amended by adding a new § 116.01-146 reading as follows:

§ 116.01-146 Use of Federal Qualified Products Lists—(a) Contracts entered into by formal advertising. Whenever procurement of products included in a Federal Qualified Products List is to be made pursuant to formal advertising, each solicitation of bids shall contain a statement substantially as follows: "Bids will be considered only for such products as have, prior to the bid opening date, been tested and approved for inclusion in the Federal Qualified Products List(s) (insert here the title of the applicable Federal Qualified Products List or Lists) whether or not such products have actually been so listed by that date. Manufacturers are urged to communicate with the (insert name and address of the applicable office) and arrange to have the product they propose to offer tested for qualification. (Time may not permit qualification for eligibility under this invitation, but products which qualify would be eligible under future invitations.)"

(b) Contracts entered into by negotiation. Reference to Federal Qualified Products Lists in connection with actions leading to contracts to be entered into by negotiation is permissible.

3. Section 116.01-169 is amended by revising paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 116.01-169 Procurement of public utility services. * * *

(c) Coast Guard contracts—(1) Authority for execution. When there is no General Services Administration contract in effect or contemplated, district commanders and commanding officers of Headquarters units may execute contracts with suppliers of utility services at points of recurring demand. Such contracts shall be limited to utilities of a routine nature, such as electricity, gas, water, sewerage, garbage and trash removal, and steam. Unusual utility service requirements, such as street cleaning and maintenance, fire and police protection services, etc., will not be procured unless specifically authorized by the Commandant.

(2) Requirements for contracts. When the furnishing of utility services is governed by Federal, State, or other public regulatory bodies, which fix or authorize the rates to be charged, procurement shall be effected by negotiation. Contracts falling into this category may be executed for the period from the effective date of the contract through the end of the current fiscal year and continuing thereafter until further notice (e. g., for the period July 1, 1954 through June 30, 1955 and continuing thereafter until further notice). However, if the particular type of service is available from more than one source of supply, and is not governed by a Federal, State, or other public regulatory body, contract award shall be made on a competitive basis and the contract term shall be limited to one fiscal year.

(i) Electricity, gas, water, sewerage, and steam services. Contracts shall not be executed for these utility services when the supplier's rates are regulated by a Federal, State, or other public regulatory body and whenever the annual cost of the service to be procured is estimated at the time of initiation of the service to be $2,400 or less, except as follows: whenever the supplier requires the execution of a contract or application form; whenever a connection charge is involved; whenever the negotiation and execution of a contract is deemed to be advantageous to the Government. When the above utility services are purchased without written contract, the procurement authority and the certification of the receipt of the service as billed shall be evidenced in as simplified a manner as possible. Rate schedules will not be required with each monthly billing whenever the rate schedule applicable to the service is in possession of the unit which will certify the account for payment, or the invoice or billing includes the total units of services rendered, the rate charged per unit of service and the total amount of charges. Petty cash procedure may be used whenever applicable.

(ii) Garbage and trash disposal. Garbage is of two classes, salable and nonsalable. The disposal of salable garbage will be by sale to the term contractor or to the highest bidder if no term contract is in effect. Disposal of unsalable garbage and trash may be made under contract or such other methods as local conditions require.

(3) Contract forms. Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, utility service contracts shall be executed on Standard Form 33 (Invitation, Bid, and Award), after deleting inapplicable portions and inserting complete information as to delivery points, meters, voltage, character of service, etc., and pertinent contract conditions. The supplier will be required to attach copies of applicable rate schedules. Changes in utility rates authorized by a Federal, State, or other regulatory body shall be made the subject of a Change Order (Form CG-3473), making reference to the date of approval of the change, and attaching copies of the new rate schedule. Copies of the change order and the new rate schedule shall be given the same distribution as the basic contract.

4. Part 116 is amended by adding a new § 116.01-170 reading as follows:

§ 116.01-170 Purchase of lubricating oils—(a) General. Coast Guard requirements of the types of lubricating oils covered by contracts of the Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency shall be obtained from such contracts, unless otherwise exempted by paragraph (b) of this section. The "Oil Contract Bulletin" issued for each fiscal year by the Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency sets forth procedure to be followed by purchasing units in obtaining their lubricating oil requirements.

(b) Exemptions. Procurement under Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency contracts is not required when:

(1) The maximum single order is less than the minimum quantity obtainable under the Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency contracts; or

(2) Container sizes required are smaller than those available from Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency contracts; or

(3) Purchase without regard to existing Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency contracts is otherwise specifically authorized by the Commandant.

5. Section 116.02-47 is amended by adding new paragraphs (c) (6) and (d) (4) and by revising paragraph (e) to read as follows:

§ 116.02-47 Debarment of bidders.

(c) Bases for debarment and ineligible list entry. * * *

(6) Regulations of the Secretary of Labor, 29 CFR 5.6 (b). Those listed by the Comptroller General in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR 5.6 (b), regulations of the Secretary of Labor issued pursuant to authority granted under Reorganization Plan 14 of 1950, as found by the Secretary of Labor to be in aggravated or willful violation of the prevailing wage or overtime pay provisions of any of the following statutes:

(i) Davis-Bacon Act, as amended, 46 Stat. 994.

(ii) Anti-Kickback Act, as amended, 48 Stat. 948, 62 Stat. 740, 63 Stat. 108, 18 U. S. C. 874, 40 U. S. C. 276b, c.

(iii) Eight Hour Law, as amended, 27 Stat. 340, 37 Stat. 726, 37 Stat. 137, as amended, 54 Stat. 884, 39 Stat. 1192, 40 U. S. C. 321 et seq.

(iv) National Housing Act, as amended, 53 Stat. 804; 12 U. S. C. 1703 et seq.

(d) Treatment to be accorded firms or individuals in debarred or ineligible status. * * *

(4) Restrictions under statutes designated in the regulations of the Secretary of Labor, Title 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations. A contractor listed on the basis of paragraph (c) (6) of this section or any firm, corporation, partnership, or association in which such contractor has a controlling interest, shall be ineligible for a period of three years (from the date of publication by the Comptroller General) to receive any contracts subject to any of the statutes listed in paragraph (c) (6) of this section.

(e) Causes and conditions applicable to determination of debarment. Each executive agency, including the Coast Guard, is authorized to debar in the public interest a firm or individual for any of the causes and under all appropriate conditions listed below. (See paragraph (a) (3) of this section.)

(1) Causes. (i) Conviction for commission of a criminal offense as an incident to obtaining a contract or in an attempt to obtain a contract or in the performance thereof.

(ii) Conviction under the Federal Antitrust Statutes arising out of the submission of bids or proposals.

(iii) Violation of contract provisions, as follows, of a character which is regarded by the agency involved to be so serious as to justify debarment action: willful failure to perform in accordance with the specifications or within the time limit provided in the contract; a history of unsatisfactory performance of one or more Government contracts; violation of the contractual provision against contingent fees; acceptance of a contingent fee, which is paid in violation of contractual provision against contingent fees.

(iv) Debarment by some other executive agency.

(2) Conditions. (i) Debarment for any of the above causes shall be made only upon approval of the head of the executive agency (the Commandant in the case of the Coast Guard) or his duly authorized representative.

(ii) Causes (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall have been established by criminal conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction. In the event appeal taken from such conviction results in reversal of conviction, the debarment shall be removed if the bidder so requests. Criminal conviction for the above mentioned offenses does not necessarily require that the firm or individual be debarred, since the decision to debar is still within the discretion of the executive agency concerned. The seriousness of the offense, the civil satisfaction received by the Government or available to the Government, and all mitigating factors should be considered in making the determination to debar.

(iii) Cause (iii) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be established by evidence which the executive agency determines to be clear and convincing.

(iv) Debarment for cause (iv) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be made on the same bases as provided for whichever of causes (i) to (iii) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is appropriate, and may be based entirely upon the record of facts obtained by the original debarring agency, or upon a combination of additional facts with the record of facts of the original debaring agency.

(v) The debarment shall be for a reasonable, definitely stated period of time commensurate with the seriousness of the offense.

(vi) The firm or individual shall be given written notice of the debarment or of the intent to debar, except in the case of cause (iv) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. The notice shall state as a minimum the period of the proposed debarment, including effective dates; the reasons for debarment, including a statement of the specific instances of dereliction; and shall provide reasonable opportunity for the contractor to present information for consideration upon his behalf. When the contractor does present such information he shall be given written notice of the final decision, and, if the decision provides for debarment, the period and effective dates thereof.

6. Section 116.02–112 is amended to read as follows:

§ 116.02–112 Discounts: determination of award—(a) General. In evaluating bids, Coast Guard contracting officers will consider only discounts for payment within 20 days. Discounts for payment within shorter periods will be disregarded. Longer periods will be evaluated as though the discounts had been quoted for the standard 20-day period. Invitations to bid will convey this basic information to all bidders. The offered discount of a successful bidder will form a part of the award, whether or not such discount was considered in the evaluation of his bid, and such discount will be taken if payment is made within the discount period. If a bid is the lowest one received from a responsible bidder solely by reason of the discount offered and it is determined that the discount cannot be taken, a full statement of the facts and circumstances and of the reasons for the action taken shall be entered upon Form CG–3477, Abstract of Bids, and on Standard Form 1036, Statement and Certificate of Award, or the record substituted for Standard Form 1036 under the conditions set forth in § 116.02–140 (c).

(b) Amendment of Standard Form 33. When Standard Form 33 (Nov. 1949), Invitation, Bid, and Award, is used, the following shall be made a part of the general provisions: "Paragraph 3 (a) of the Terms and Conditions of the Invitation for Bids is inapplicable and the following paragraph is substituted therefor—Bids will be evaluated only on the basis of payment within twenty (20) days. No discount offered for payment within less than twenty (20) days will be considered in evaluating bids for award. Bids offering discounts for payment within periods in excess of twenty (20) days will be evaluated for purpose of award as though they are discounts offered for payment within twenty (20) days."

7. Section 116.02–140 and the center headnote immediately preceding it are amended to read as follows:

STATEMENT AND CERTIFICATE OF AWARD

§ 116.02–140 Requirements for statement and certificate of award—(a) Applicability. The provisions of this section and §§ 116.02–141 through 116.–02–143 apply to procurement by formal advertising as distinguished from negotiation. Instructions for the use of Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) when procurement is effected by negotiation are contained in §§ 116.03–70 and 116.03–71.

(b) When Standard Form 1036 is required. Except as otherwise provided in paragraph (c) of this section, a contracting officer signing an award shall prepare and execute a Statement and Certificate of Award (Standard Form 1036) in connection with every purchase made by formal advertising. Standard Form 1036 will bear the same date as the award and will specify either that the bid was or was not the lowest bid received. If award is made on other than the lowest bid received, the contracting officer shall list on Standard Form 1036 all lower bids received and set forth his reasons for not accepting such bids. The name of the contractor shall be inserted at the top of the form above the space provided for the contract number. Standard Form 1036 must also indicate the appropriation and subhead defraying the cost of the procurement.

(c) When Standard Form 1036 is not required. The preparation of Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) is not required by contracting officers attached to Coast Guard units the records of which are subject to site or comprehensive audit by the General Accounting Office: Provided, That all information usually shown thereon is otherwise available in the records of the unit. In such cases, the retained contractual document shall contain information indicating the basis on which the particular contract is issued (i. e., to the lowest bidder, etc.) and other pertinent information which can be used in selecting the supporting files to be examined during the course of the audit. When this authority is exercised, the requirements of §§ 116.02–141 and 116.02–142 for explanations to be made on Standard Form 1036 shall be made under the contracting officer's signature in other form (i. e., by statement on Form CG–3477, Abstract of Bids, by memorandum, etc.). This authority shall extend only to those units at which the contracting office and the accounting office are located in the immediate proximity of each other. It shall not extend to a district unit, or to a Headquarters unit which submits its records to the Commandant for off-site accounting purposes. Preparation of Standard Form 1036 by contracting officers of units falling into these latter categories shall be mandatory.

8. Section 116.02–141 is amended to read as follows:

§ 116.02–141 Explanation of acceptance of other than low bid(s)—(a) Representative examples. The following are representative examples of award on other than the lowest bid(s) received which require reporting on Standard Form 1036:

(1) Low bid disregarded in consequence of a mistake in bid;

(2) Low bid rejected for violation of covenant against contingent fees;

(3) Low bid rejected on ground of unauthorized agency or undisclosed principal;

(4) Low bid rejected on ground of nonconformity to essential requirements of invitation for bids;

(5) Low bid rejected because bidder determined not to be responsible;

(6) Low bid rejected because of award on basis of factors other than price; or

(7) Low bid not accepted because of bid expiration.

(b) Reasons for nonacceptance of lower bids. When an award is made to other than the lowest bidder, the contracting officer shall make on Standard Form 1036 a full statement of the facts and circumstances and of the reasons for the nonacceptance of all lower bids received. When the invitation for bids does not permit alternate bids and the lowest bidder offers an alternate product, it will ordinarily be sufficient for the contracting officer to state on Standard Form 1036 that the rejected bid does not conform to the specifications in stated material respects and that the invitation for bids did not authorize alternate bids. If the alternate bid is considerably lower than the accepted bid and the alternate product is not suitable for the purpose intended, the contracting officer will so state on Standard Form 1036. If the invitation permits alternate bids and the low alternate bid is rejected, the contracting officer will specify in detail on Standard Form 1036 wherein the alternate product does not conform to the specifications. In the case of lower bids rejected on the ground that the bidders are determined not to be responsible, the contracting officer will make the determination of nonresponsibility on Standard Form 1036.

9. Section 116.02–142 is amended to read as follows:

§ 116.02–142 Additional statements to be made by contracting officer—(a) Assistance to small business concerns and labor surplus areas. In each case where an award is made in favor of a small business concern or is placed in a labor surplus area, the circumstances under which the award was made shall be briefly recited on Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award), together with a statement that the award will further the Congressional policy with respect to small business expressed in section 2 (b) of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947 or will further the policy with respect to labor surplus areas, or both, as the case may be.

(b) Mistakes in bids. Where an award involves a mistake in bid and the matter has been resolved by administrative action, Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) will be accompanied by a copy of the resulting instructions as received in the premises, together with other pertinent documents supporting the case. If an award involves a mistake in bid on which the Comptroller General has rendered a decision, Standard Form 1036 will contain a citation by number and date of the decision or a copy thereof securely attached to the form.

10. Section 116.02–143 is amended to read as follows:

§ 116.02–143 Distribution of statement and certificate of award—(a) Numbered contracts. The original Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) shall be attached to the original contract and forwarded to the cognizant accounting office for filing in accordance with § 118.02–10 of this subchapter. A copy shall be retained with the file copy of the contract at the contracting office.

(b) Unnumbered contracts. The original and one copy of Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) shall be attached to the original and one copy of the accepted bid and forwarded to the accounting office which will effect settlement of the contractor's account in accordance with § 118.02–11 of this subchapter. A copy shall be retained with the file copy of the bid at the contracting office.

(c) When Standard Form 1036 is not required. When preparation of Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) has been waived, the contract documents submitted to the accounting office pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall contain all pertinent information required by § 116.02–140 to effect prompt settlement and subsequent audit of the contractor's accounts.

11. Part 116 is amended by adding a new § 116.03–25 reading as follows:

§ 116.03–25 Purchase orders not in excess of $5,000—(a) Authority. Except as the authority of individual units may be specifically limited by § 116.01–6, contracting officers designated in §§ 116.01–23 and 116.01–24 are authorized to effect purchasing by negotiation by means of fixed price purchase orders, when the aggregate amount involved in any one transaction does not exceed $5,000 and does not require the use of a contract form. In determining the aggregate amount involved, there must be included all supplies and services which properly would be grouped together in a single transaction and which would be included in a single invitation for bids if the procurement were being effected by formal advertising. Requirements aggregating more than $5,000 will not be broken down into several purchases which are less than $5,000 merely for the purpose of permitting procurement by this method.

(b) Competition. Reasonable solicitation of quotations from qualified and eligible suppliers will be secured to assure that the procurement is made to the advantage of the Government, price and other factors considered, including the administrative cost of the purchase. Quotations estimated to exceed $1,000 generally will be solicited by issuing Request for Quotation (Form CG–2982) in accordance with § 116.03–21. However, when appropriate, quotations may be obtained by letter, telegram, telephone, or from suppliers' catalogs. In soliciting quotations, an effort shall be made to obtain prompt payment discounts on the basis of a minimum payment period of 20 days (see § 116.02–112).

(c) Purchase order forms. Contracting officers designated in §§ 116.01–23 and 116.01–24 will prepare and issue purchase orders over $1,000 and not in excess of $5,000 on Form CG–2557 (Purchase Order). If the purchase is less than $1,000, the order may be issued either on Form CG–2557 (Purchase Order) or Standard Form 44 (U. S. Government Purchase Order-Invoice-Voucher), subject to the provisions of § 118.02–13 of this subchapter.

12. Section 116.03–32 Public exigency (sec. 2 (c) (2)) is amended by revising the last sentence of the section to read as follows: "Every contract negotiated under the authority of this section shall be accompanied by a statement signed by the contracting officer justifying the procurement."

13. Section 116.03–40 is amended by revising paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 116.03–40 Supplies or services for which it is impracticable to secure competition by formal advertising (sec. 2 (c) (10)). • • •

(b) Every contract negotiated under the authority of this section shall be accompanied by a statement signed by the contracting officer justifying the procurement, unless the contract is with a supplier of public utility services whose rates are regulated by a public regulatory body.

14. Section 116.03–70 and the center headnote immediately preceding it are amended to read as follows:

STATEMENT AND CERTIFICATE OF AWARD

§ 116.03–70 Requirements for statement and certificate of award—(a) Applicability. The provisions of this section and § 116.03–71 apply to procurement by negotiation as distinguished from formal advertising. Instructions for the use of Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) when procurement is effected by formal advertising are contained in §§ 116.02–140 through 116.02–143.

(b) Elimination of Standard Form 1036 during national emergency. During the period of the present national emergency, Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) is not required in connection with negotiated contracts. However, Standard Form 1036 may be used for preparation of the contracting officer's justifications required by § 116.03–71.

15. Section 116.03–71 is amended to read as follows:

§ 116.03–71 Negotiated contracts requiring justification—(a) Contracts to be justified. Except for contracts with suppliers of utility services whose rates are regulated by a Federal, State, or other public regulatory body, every contract that is negotiated under the authority of section 2 (c) (2) or section 2 (c) (10) of the Armed Services Procurement Act of 1947 (see §§ 116.03–32 and 116.03–40) shall be accompanied by a signed statement of the contracting officer justifying the use of these exceptions. In the event an award is made to a concern other than the one submitting the lowest quotation, the records of the unit shall contain a statement from the contracting officer setting forth his reasons for not accepting the lowest quotation.

(b) Distribution of justifications. Justifications prepared by contracting officers in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section shall be distributed and filed in the same manner prescribed for Standard Form 1036 (Statement and Certificate of Award) in § 116.02–143.

16. Section 118.01–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 118.01–1 Forms of agreement. Coast Guard contractual obligations shall be recorded on separate award type contracts, combination award type contracts, or purchase orders in accordance with § 116.03–25 of this subchapter and §§ 118.02–1, and 118.02–2.

17. Section 118.01–2 Separate award type contracts is hereby revoked.

18. Section 118.01–3 Combination type contracts is hereby revoked.

19. Section 118.01–4 Purchase orders (informal contracts) is hereby revoked.

20. Section 118.01–17 is revised to read as follows:

§ 118.01–17 Contracts required to be numbered—(a) General. The General Accounting Office requires that the contracts designated in paragraph (b) of this section shall be numbered with approved letter symbols and serial numbers for identification, audit, and filing purposes. Documents coming within the purview of this paragraph include purchase orders, contracts, letter orders, letters of intent, leases, easements, proposal and acceptance documents or other documents evidencing in whole or in part an agreement between the parties, which involve the payment of appropriated funds or collection of funds for credit to the Treasurer of the United States, and hereinafter referred to as "contracts." Small purchase agreements utilizing Standard Form 44 (U. S. Government Purchase Order-Invoice-Voucher) do not come within the purview of this section. When documents of the above description do not require numbering in the uniform contract ("Tcg") series, they shall be identified by other means (i. e., purchase order number, invitation number, etc.) and distributed in accordance with § 118.02–11.

(b) Mandatory numbering requirements. The following contracts shall be numbered in accordance with the uniform contract numbering system prescribed in § 118.02–4 and distributed in accordance with § 118.02–10. In case of doubt as to whether the amount to be paid (or collected) under a contract is more or less than $20,000 or whether more than one payment (or collection) may be necessary, the contract shall be numbered. Likewise, where later determination is made that the amount to be paid or collected equals $20,000 or more, a number must also be assigned to such contract.

(1) All contracts involving the payment of $20,000 or more on a single payment voucher.

(2) All multiple payment contracts, regardless of amount. "Multiple payment contracts" include term contracts, leases, open-end contracts, and contracts involving partial payments or more than one payment.

(3) All sales contracts involving the collection of $20,000 or more.

(4) All multiple delivery sales contracts, regardless of amount.

21. Section 118.02–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 118.02–1 Separate award type contracts—(a) General. The separate award type, or "long form," contract contemplates the reduction of an agreement to a single written document signed by both parties at the end thereof, which is drawn and prepared after acceptance of bids or quotations. Bonds, drawings, specifications, conditions, and/or other relevant papers are incorporated as necessary.

(b) Authorized forms. Separate award type contracts used by Coast Guard contracting officers shall be limited to the following, unless otherwise specifically authorized by the Commandant:

(1) Standard Form 2, Lease. Leases of real property.

(2) Standard Form 23, Construction Contract. Construction and repair of vessels, aircraft, and real property (as defined in § 118.03–3) for amounts of $2,000 or more.

(3) Standard Form 40, Contract for Telephone Service. Telephone facilities and service.

(4) Coast Guard Contract for Professional Services. Negotiated contracts for architect-engineering professional services.

22. Section 118.02–2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 118.02–2 Combination type contracts—(a) General. A combination type, or "short form," contract consists of the invitation for bids, the bid, and the award, contained in one instrument. Bonds, drawings, specifications, conditions, and/or other relevant papers are incorporated as necessary. Standard Form 33 (Invitation, Bid, and Award) is the only combination type contract used by the Coast Guard.

(b) Authorized use. Standard Form 33 (Invitation, Bid, and Award) shall be used for all formally advertised supply contracts. It may also be used for the execution of contracts for the following resulting from either formal advertising or negotiation:

(1) Nonpersonal services.

(2) Utility services.

(3) Solid fuels.

(4) Construction and repair of vessels, aircraft, and real property (as defined in § 118.03–3), provided the contract does not exceed $2,000 and does not require the use of bonds.

23. Section 118.02–3 Purchase orders (informal contracts) is hereby revoked.

24. Section 118.02–4 is amended to read as follows:

§ 118.02–4 Uniform contract numbering system — (a) General. Section 118.01–17 designates Coast Guard procurement (and sales) documents which require assignment of contract numbers in the uniform series prescribed by the General Accounting Office. Contract numbers shall be assigned only by the Commandant and allotment administrative officers in the field to whom contracting authority has been delegated in accordance with § 116.01–24 of this subchapter. See also § 118.01–15 re control of contract numbers.

(b) Assignment of contract numbers. Contract numbers, when required, will be placed in the space provided therefor on the printed contract form, or, if no such space is provided, in the upper right-hand corner separate from all other information. The contract number shall consist of an identification symbol followed by a hyphen and the serial number assigned the particular procurement (or sale). Example: T12cg–8.

(1) The capital letter "T" shall preface each contract number to identify the Treasury Department.

(2) When a contract number is assigned by a field unit, the allotment symbol of the unit (district office or Headquarters unit) shall be shown immediately after the letter "T"; thus, the numeral "12" used in the above example identifies the 12th Coast Guard District.

(3) The small letters "cg" shall then be inserted, identifying the document as a Coast Guard contract.

(4) The letters "cg" are followed by a hyphen and the serial number of the contract; in the example, "8" identifies the eighth contract assigned a number by the 12th Coast Guard District. See paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) Number series. Contracts shall be numbered serially in unbroken sequence by each unit authorized to assign contract numbers, beginning with number 1 and going through 99,999 without regard to fiscal year or type of contract. When the serial number reaches 99,999, a new series will be used beginning with the number 1 and adding the capital letter "A" as a suffix; the next series will use the capital letter "B" as a suffix, etc. Supplemental agreements, renewals of leases, and change orders will bear the same identification as the original contract.

25. Part 118 is amended by adding a new § 118.02–6 to read as follows:

§ 118.02–6 Contract indexes. Lengthy contracts shall contain an index or table of contents for the information and assistance of contractors, technical personnel, and others concerned in locating specific contract clauses, drawings, etc. Where practicable, the index or table of contents should follow the cover sheet and preface the actual documents comprising the contract.

26. Section 118.03–5 is amended by revising paragraph (i) (2) to read as follows:

(i) Examination of records. * * *

(2) Contractor-subcontractor transactions. The following provision will be made a part of a subcontract (or contractor's purchase order) issued by a contractor when the subcontract (or contractor's purchase order) is in an amount, or by subsequent change order(s) is increased to an amount, in excess of $1,000 and does not cover the rendering of public utility services at rates established for uniform applicability to the general public:

The contractor further agrees to include in all his subcontracts hereunder which may hereafter be made, a provision to the effect that the subcontractor agrees that the Comptroller General of the United States or any of his duly authorized representatives shall, until the expiration of three years after final payment under the subcontract, have access to and the right to examine any directly pertinent books, documents, papers, and records of such subcontractor involving transactions related to the subcontract. The term "subcontract" as used in this clause excludes (i) purchase orders not exceeding $1,000 and (ii) subcontracts or purchase orders for public utility services at rates established for uniform applicability to the general public.

27. Section 120.01–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.01–1 Purpose of bid guaranties. The purpose of a bid guaranty (commonly referred to as a "bid bond") is to assure that the bidder will execute a contract in the event his bid is accepted. Bid guaranties may be required when, and only when, the solicitation of bids for a contract to be entered into as a result of formal advertising specifies that the contract is to be supported by a performance bond or by performance and payment bonds (see §§ 120.02–1 through 120.02–7). When the contracting officer deems a bid guaranty necessary for the protection of the Government, it shall be in the penal sum of 5 percent of the bid price.

28. Section 120.01–2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.01–2 Form of guaranty—(a) Authorized bond forms. Standard bid bond forms authorized for Coast Guard use are listed in subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) of this paragraph. Detailed instructions for preparation, corporate certifications, surety requirements, etc., are set forth on the reverse of each form. Under most conditions, bid guaranties will be limited to Standard Form 24 (Bid Bond). However, bid guaranties may be furnished in the form of securities (see paragraph (b) of this section), or by an annual bid bond (Standard Form 34) submitted on a fiscal year basis.

(1) Standard Form 24, Bid Bond. This form shall be used for construction work or the furnishing of supplies or services whenever a bid bond is required, except as indicated in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) Standard Form 34, Annual Bid Bond. This form may be used in connection with the procurement of supplies or services in lieu of Standard Form 24 (Bid Bond); it may not be used for bids on construction contracts. An annual bid bond shall be limited to a specific fiscal year. Annual bid bonds shall be forwarded to the Commandant for examination and approval, after which they will be returned to the contracting officer for filing.

(3) Standard Form 28, Affidavit of Individual Surety. This form shall be completed and attached to Standard Form 24 (Bid Bond) or Standard Form 34 (Annual Bid Bond) whenever the sureties on those bonds are individuals.

(b) Options in lieu of sureties. While bid guaranties connected with Coast Guard invitations for bids normally will be furnished on the standard forms indicated in paragraph (a) of this section, the bidder may deposit securities in lieu of furnishing corporate or individual sureties on bonds. When securties are furnished by the bidder, the procedure set forth in §§ 120.01–3 (b) and 120.02 (b) shall be followed.

29. Section 120.01–3 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.01–3 Custody and return of bid guaranties—(a) Bid bonds. Standard Form 24 (Bid Bond) forms a part of the pertinent bid and shall be filed with the original bid. When an annual bid bond (Standard Form 34) is used, the pertinent bid shall be cross-referenced to the file containing the annual bid bond. Affidavits of individual sureties (Standard Form 28) shall be filed with the applicable bid bond (Standard Form 24 or Standard Form 34). (See paragraph (b) of this section regarding special penal bonds for security furnished in the form of United States bonds or notes.)

(b) Securities—(1) Return to unsuccessful bidders. If determination of contract award can be made at the close of bid openings, the contracting officer shall return by registered mail (return receipt requested), or person-to-person delivery (receipt required) if the bidders or their authorized representatives are present, all bid guaranties of unsuccessful bidders. The guaranties of unsuccessful bidders will be returned in the form in which received, except for cash to be returned to a bidder who is not present (either in person or by an authorized representative) and cannot be contacted for person-to-person delivery. In the latter case, the contracting officer will deliver the cash guaranty to the collection clerk for deposit and refund to the bidder on a Public Voucher for Refunds (Standard Form 1047). Likewise, if determination of award cannot be made at the close of bid openings, cash and securities made payable to the Treasurer of the United States shall be deposited with the collection clerk and refunded to the unsuccessful bidder on Standard Form 1047 when the award is made.

(2) Disposition of securities furnished by successful bidders—(i) United States bonds and notes. When United States bonds or notes are accepted as security in lieu of surety or sureties, the bidder will be required to execute a locally prepared penal bond and a power of attorney and agreement for collection or sale of the securities in event of default, in the format prescribed by Treasury Department Circular No. 154 (February 6, 1935). The penal bond form shall be filed with the original bid. The contracting officer may hold United States bonds and notes received as a bid guaranty, at his own risk, in secure storage (i. e., fireproof, combination lock safe) until the contract has been awarded and the related performance and/or payment bonds are received. Upon receipt of the surety bond(s), the United States bonds and notes, and the accompanying power of attorney and agreement, shall be returned to the successful bidder or his authorized representative by person-to-person delivery (receipt required) or registered mail (return receipt requested) without application from the bidder. If the bidder so requests, the United States bonds or notes may be retained and applied as part of the requisite surety bond(s) on his contract, in accordance with § 120.02–7 (b) (1).

(ii) Certified or cashier's checks, bank drafts, money orders, or currency. Security accepted by the contracting officer in the form of a certified or cashier's check, bank draft, or money order made payable to the "Treasurer of the United States," or currency, shall be turned over to the collection clerk for deposit. Upon receipt of the surety bond(s), the bid guaranty held in the above deposit account will be refunded to the bidder on a Public Voucher for Refunds (Standard Form 1047), without application from the bidder. If the bidder so requests, the bid guaranty may be retained and applied as part of the requisite surety bond(s) on his contract, in accordance with § 120.02–7 (b) (1).

(3) Record of disposition of bid guaranties. The contracting officer shall maintain a record of the receipt and disposition of all bid guaranties on Form CG–3477 (Abstract of Bids) or by a memorandum attached to the related bids.

30. Section 120.02–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.02–1 Purpose of performance and payment bonds—(a) Performance bonds. A performance bond is a legal document executed in connection with a contract, for the purpose of providing financial responsibility for fulfillment of all the undertakings, covenants, terms, conditions, and agreements contained in the contract. By the terms of such a bond the contractor, as principal, and a corporate bonding company (or in rare instances an individual), as surety, are obligated to the United States up to a maximum dollar amount, called the penal sum of the bond, to defray damages caused by improper performance.

(b) Payment bonds. A payment bond is an obligation, similar to the performance bond, which secures the payment of all persons who supply labor and material in the prosecution of the work provided for in the contract.

31. Section 120.02–2 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.02–2 When bonds are required—(a) Construction contracts. The act of August 24, 1935, 49 Stat. 793, as amended (40 U. S. C. 270a–270e), known as the "Miller Act," requires performance and payment bonds for all contracts exceeding $2,000 in amount for the construction, alteration, or repair of any public building or public work of the United States. "Public work" shall be construed to include the construction, alteration, or repair of vessels, aircraft, aids to navigation, shore structures, bridges, roads, etc., and dredging.

(b) Supply contracts. Performance bonds may be required under supply contracts when the contracting officer deems them necessary to protect the interests of the Government. However, performance bonds are not a usual adjunct to Coast Guard supply contracts unless the amount exceeds $25,000. Payment bonds may also be required to guarantee payment to those who supply the prime contractor with labor and materials necessary to the performance of the contract.

(c) Waiver of bond requirements. Contracting officers are authorized to waive the requirements of performance and payment bonds for work under contracts performed in foreign countries if they find that it is impracticable for the contractors to furnish such bonds.

32. Section 120.02–3 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.02–3 Penal sum of performance bonds—(a) Construction contracts. Performance bonds shall be required in the penal sum fixed for the payment bonds. (See § 120.02–4.)

(b) Supply contracts. Performance bonds may be required by the contracting officer in such amount as he shall deem adequate to protect the Government.

33. Section 120.02–4 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.02–4 Penal sum of payment bonds—(a) Construction contracts. Payment bonds prescribed by § 120.02–2 (a) shall be required in the following sums:

Amount of Contract and Penal Sum of Bond

(1) $1,000,000 or less: 50 percent of the contract price.

(2) Over $1,000,000 but less than $5,000,000: 40 percent of the contract price.

(3) Over $5,000,000: $2,500,000.

(b) Supply contracts. If the contracting officer deems a payment bond necessary in connection with a supply contract, the penal sum of the bond should be fixed under the same criteria prescribed for construction contracts in paragraph (a) of this section.

34. Section 120.02–5 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.02–5 Standard bond forms—(a) General. Standard performance and payment bond forms authorized for Coast Guard use are listed in paragraph (b) of this section. Detailed instructions for preparation; corporate certification, surety requirements, etc., are set forth on the reverse of each form. Under most conditions, performance and payment bonds used with Coast Guard contracts will be limited to Standard Form 25 (Performance Bond) and Standard Form 25A (Payment Bond). However, other combinations of forms or individual forms shown in paragraph (b) may be furnished for use under specific contracts, or during a specific fiscal year in the case of an annual performance bond (Standard Form 35).

(b) Authorized forms—(1) Standard Form 25, Performance Bond. This form shall be used for construction work or the furnishing of supplies or services, whenever a performance bond is required, except as follows:

(i) Optional use of annual performance bond. Standard Form 35 (Annual Performance Bond) may be used in connection with the procurement of supplies or services in lieu of Standard Form 25 (Performance Bond); it may not be used for construction contracts. When Standard Form 35 has been used and has been completely obligated in an amount equal to the penal sum thereof, an additional bond shall be obtained. An annual performance bond shall be limited to a specific fiscal year.

(ii) When corporate co-sureties used. See subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(2) Standard Form 25A, Payment Bond. This form, for the protection of persons supplying labor and material, shall be used whenever a payment bond is required, except when corporate co-sureties are used (see subparagraph (4) of this paragraph).

(3) Standard Form 27, Performance Bond (Corporate Co-Surety Form). This form shall be used for construction work or the furnishing of supplies or services whenever a performance bond is required and two or more corporate sureties, each limiting its liability to a portion only of the total penalty, are to execute the bond.

(4) Standard Form 27A, Payment Bond (Corporate Co-Surety Form). This form, for the protection of persons supplying labor and material, shall be used whenever a payment bond is required and two or more corporate sureties, each limiting its liability to a portion only of the total penalty, are to execute the bond.

(5) Standard Form 27B, Continuation Sheet (Corporate Co-Surety Bond). This form shall be attached to Standard Form 27 (Performance Bond—Corporate Co-Surety Form) and Standard Form 27A (Payment Bond—Corporate Co-Surety Form) whenever more than 11 sureties are to execute those bonds.

(6) Standard Form 28, Affidavit of Individual Surety. This form shall be completed and attached to Standard Form 25 (Performance Bond), Standard Form 25A (Payment Bond), or Standard Form 35 (Annual Performance Bond) whenever the sureties on those bonds are individuals.

35. Section 120.02–6 is amended to read as follows:

§ 120.02–6 Contracting officers authorized to examine and approve bonds—(a) General. Upon receipt of a bond given in support of a contract, the contracting officer shall ascertain that the bond tendered is in the penal sum required and that it properly describes the contract. The contracting officer shall exercise caution to ascertain that the attorney-in-fact who executes a bond furnishes evidence to support his authority to execute the obligation. It is not necessary to refer the bond to the Commandant for approval prior to execution of the contract: Provided, That the contracting officer makes the required examination as to sufficiency of amount, contract description, and authority of signature. When the contract has been executed, the bonds shall be forwarded to the Commandant under letter of transmittal for reference to the Section of Surety Bonds, Treasury Department. After examination and approval by the Section of Surety Bonds, the bonds will be returned to the contracting officer by the Commandant for filing with the original contract.

(b) Annual performance bonds. Annual performance bonds (Standard Form 35) shall be submitted to the Commandant for examination and approval at the time tendered. After approval has been obtained, the original bond will be returned to the contracting officer for filing. The contracting officer shall maintain an accurate record of all contractual obligations against the penal sum of such bonds to avoid overdraft thereon.

36. Part 120 is amended by adding a new § 120.02–7 to read as follows:

§ 120.02–7 Sureties on bonds—(a) General requirements of sureties. Every bond required or used in connection with Coast Guard contracts shall be supported by good and sufficient surety (corporate or individual).

(1) Corporate sureties. The surety on bonds tendered in support of Coast Guard contracts may be any corporation authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to act as a surety.

(2) Individual sureties. Two responsible individuals may be used as sureties on a bond in lieu of a corporate surety. A firm, as such, will not be accepted as a surety, nor a partner for copartners or for a firm of which he is a member. Stockholders of a corporate principal may be accepted as sureties provided their qualifications as such are independent of their stock holdings therein. Sureties, if individuals, shall be citizens of the United States, except that sureties on bonds executed in any foreign country, in the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Alaska, Guam, or any possession of the United States, for the performance of contracts entered into in those places, need not be citizens of the United States, but if not citizens of the United States shall be domiciled in the place where the contract is to be performed.

(b) Options in lieu of sureties. While bonds connected with Coast Guard contracts normally will be furnished on the standard forms listed in § 120.02–5, any one or more of the types of security indicated in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph may be deposited by the contractor in lieu of furnishing corporate or individual sureties on bonds.

(1) United States bonds or notes—(i) General. In accordance with the provisions of the act of February 24, 1919, as amended (6 U. S. C. 15) and Treasury Department Circular No. 154 (February 6, 1935) (31 CFR Part 225), any person required to furnish a bond has the option, in lieu of furnishing surety or sureties thereon, of depositing United States bonds or notes in an amount equal at their par value to the penal sum of the bond, together with an agreement authorizing the collection or sale of such United States bonds or notes in the event of default on the penal bond. Treasury Department Circular No. 154 (31 CFR Part 225) contains detailed instructions and specimen forms (i. e., receipts for securties, powers of attorney and agreements for the sale—assignment—transfer of securities, and penal bonds applicable to securities) for the acceptance, deposit, and return or other disposition of bonds, notes or other obligations issued or guaranteed by the United States as security in lieu of surety or sureties on penal bonds. For the purpose of this paragraph, contracting officers are "bond-approving officers" and shall comply with the provisions of Treasury Department Circular No. 154 (31 CFR Part 225).

(ii) Disposition of bonds or notes by contracting officers. United States bonds or notes received by contracting officers as security, and such other bonds or notes as may be substituted therefor from time to time as security, shall be deposited by the contracting officer with the Treasurer of the United States, a Federal Reserve bank or any branch Federal Reserve bank having the requisite facilities, or other depositary duly designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury, for safekeeping. All bonds or notes received in the District of Columbia shall be deposited with the Treasurer of the United States. Depositaries of public moneys are not authorized to act as depositaries for bonds or notes accepted as security for the performance of a penal bond, unless specifically designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury. As soon as security for the performance of the penal bond is no longer necessary, the bonds or notes deposited in lieu of surety or sureties on such penal bond, together with the power of attorney and agreement accompanying such bonds or notes, shall be returned to the contractor by the contracting officer, without application therefor from the contractor. Transmittal of bonds or notes to and from contractors or depositaries shall be via hand-to-hand delivery (receipt required) or registered mail (return receipt requested). Bonds or notes accepted by a contracting officer shall be kept in secure storage (i. e., fireproof, combination lock safe) pending deposit or return to the contractor.

(2) Certified or cashier's checks, bank drafts, money orders, or currency—(i) General. Any person required to furnish a bond has the option, in lieu of furnishing surety or sureties thereon, of depositing a certified or cashier's check, a bank draft, a Post Office money order, or currency, in an amount equal to the penal sum of the bond: Provided, That the penal sum of the bond is not in excess of $50,000. Certified or cashier's checks, bank drafts, or Post Office money orders shall be drawn to the order of the "Treasurer of the United States."

(ii) Disposition of funds by contracting officers. Any security accepted by the contracting officer in the form of certified or cashier's checks, bank drafts, money orders, or currency, shall be delivered promptly to the collection clerk for deposit. Collection Receipt (Form CG–2688), fully describing the purpose of the deposit, shall be furnished the contractor by the collection clerk. As soon as the contractor's bonding obligation has ceased, the contracting officer shall initiate action for the refund of the amount of the security to the contractor without application from that party.

(c) Consent of surety. A consent of surety is an instrument by which the surety on a bond or bonds supporting a contract consents to a supplemental agreement which goes beyond the scope of the contract, or a change order in excess of $25,000, and agrees that the bond or bonds previously given to support the basic contract shall apply to the contract as modified. When the consent of a surety is required, it should be obtained in writing in substantially the form shown in subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, titled "Consent of Surety," dated, and completed in the same manner as the basic bond as to signatures, seals, and attests.

(1) Consent of surety to a modification providing for an increase in the penal sums of bonds previously given.

Consent of surety is hereby given to the foregoing contract modification, and the surety agrees that its bond or bonds shall apply and extend to the contract as modified or amended thereby. The principal and surety further agree that on and after the execution of this consent, the penalty of the aforementioned performance bond or bonds is hereby increased by ---------- dollars, and the penalty of the aforementioned payment bond or bonds is hereby increased by ---------- dollars.

(2) Consent of surety without providing for an increase in the penal sums of bonds previously given.

Consent of Surety is hereby given to the foregoing contract modification, and the surety agrees that its bond or bonds shall apply and extend to the contract as modified or amended thereby.

SUBPART A—FILING AND PROCESSING OF COMPLETE APPLICATIONS

§ 108.1 Definitions. All terms used in this part which are defined in Public Law 815, 81st Congress (64 Stat. 967), as amended by Public Law 246, 83d Congress (67 Stat. 522), and Public Law 731, 83d Congress (68 Stat. 1005), and not defined in this section shall have the meaning given to them in Public Law 815 as amended. As used in this part, for purposes of this part and determinations under the act as hereinafter defined, the following terms shall have the meaning indicated in paragraphs (a) to (q) of this section:

(a) Act. "The act" means title III of Public Law 815, 81st Congress (64 Stat. 967), as added by Public Law 246, 83d Congress (67 Stat. 522), and as amended by Public Law 731, 83d Congress (68 Stat. 1005), and such provisions of titles I and II of Public Law 815 as are made applicable to title III by Public Law 246.

(b) Title III. "Title III" means title III of Public Law 815, 81st Congress, as added by Public Law 246, 83d Congress, and as amended by Public Law 731, 83d Congress, and such provisions of titles I and II of Public Law 815 as are made applicable to it by Public Law 246.

(c) Commissioner. "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare or his delegatee.

(d) Local educational agency. "Local educational agency" means a board of education or other legally constituted local school authority (including, where applicable, a State agency which directly operates and maintains facilities for providing free public education) having exclusive administrative control and direction of free public education, or some phase thereof, in a county, township, independent, or other school district located within a State. If the local educational agency so defined does not have responsibility for providing school facilities and such responsibility is vested in a State agency, the term shall include such State agency together with the agency having exclusive administrative control and direction of other phases of free public education.

(e) Free public education. "Free public education" means education which is provided at public expense, under public supervision and direction, and which is provided as elementary or secondary school education in the applicable State. Elementary education may include kindergarten education meeting the above criteria.

(f) Applicant. An "applicant" is a local educational agency which has filed a complete application for assistance in school construction under the act and this part.

(g) Complete application. Where an applicant submits only one project by a filing date, the "complete application" at that time consists of both Part I (Maximum Grant) and Part II (Project) of the application Form RSF–2 prescribed by the Commissioner for use under this act, properly completed and executed, together with all documents, amendments, and communications in support thereof. Where applicant submits more than one project by a filing date, the Part I form and all Part II forms, properly executed and completed, together with all documents, amendments, and communications in support thereof on file at that time, shall be considered as the "complete application." Where more than one Part II application is submitted by an applicant, the applicant shall indicate the order in which its project applications are to be considered by the Commissioner. Only applications meeting the conditions for approval under title III (other than section 306 (b) (3)) and this part shall be considered complete applications under title III.

(h) Project application. "Project application" means Form RSF–2, Part II, properly completed and executed, making application for Federal assistance for constructing school facilities under title III.

(i) Filing of applications. An application will not be deemed to be "filed" unless all necessary parts of the complete application, bearing the required certifications and verifications by the State educational agency, are received by the Commissioner, or enclosed in a cover addressed to the Commissioner and postmarked, on or before the applicable filing date as may be established by Subpart B of this part.

(j) Minimum school facilities. "Minimum school facilities" means those instructional and auxiliary rooms (and initial equipment), exclusive of single purpose auditoriums, single purpose gymnasiums and any built-in spectator space, necessary to operate a program of free public education for the school members of the applicant at normal capacity in accordance with the laws and customs of the State.

(k) Available and usable school facilities. "Available and usable school facilities" means those facilities containing pupil stations counted in ascertaining children who are "unhoused" or "without minimum school facilities."

(l) Normal capacity. The "normal capacity" of a school room is the number of pupil stations which the room accommodates under ordinary conditions in accordance with the laws and customs of the State governing free public education, provided that where kindergartens may be conducted on a two-session-per-day basis the number of pupil stations of the rooms used for that purpose shall be doubled in determining kindergarten needs.

(m) Children who are unhoused or without minimum school facilities. Children who are "unhoused" or "without minimum school facilities" are those children in excess of the normal capacity of available and usable minimum school facilities.

(n) Membership. Unless governed by State law or State regulation, a pupil is a "member" of a class or school from the date he presents himself at school and is placed on the current roll until he permanently leaves the class or school for one of the causes recognized as sufficient by the State. The date of permanent withdrawal should be the date on which it is officially known that the pupil has left school, and not necessarily the first day after the date of last attendance.

(o) Average daily membership. In a given school year, the "average daily membership" for a given school is the aggregate days of membership of individual children in the school divided by the number of days school was actually in session. Only days on which pupils were under the guidance and direction of teachers in the teaching process may be considered as days in session. The average daily membership for groups of schools having varying lengths of terms is the sum of the average daily memberships obtained for the individual schools.

(p) Membership of children of temporary duration only. "Membership of children of temporary duration only" means the school membership of children whose residence in the school area the Commissioner determines probably will be for less than six years beyond the date of the approval of the complete application and whose number is required to be excluded from computation of maximum payments under section 305.

(q) Priority indices. The "priority indices" are the indices established pursuant to this part based on relative urgency of need for the purpose of determining, under title III, the order of approval of applications, and the order of payments.

§ 108.2 Procedure if funds are inadequate to make all payments. Section 303, title III, reads in part as follows:

> The Commissioner shall from time to time set dates, the last of which shall not be later than June 30, 1956, by which applications for payments under this title with respect to construction projects must be filed. If the funds appropriated under this title and remaining available on any such date for payments to local educational agencies are less than the Federal share of the cost of the projects with respect to which applications have been filed prior to such date (and for which funds under this title have not already been obligated), the Commissioner shall by regulation prescribe an order of priority, based on relative urgency of need, for approval of such applications.

§ 108.3 Determination of priority indices for applications under section 305. When the Commissioner has set a date by which complete applications must be filed, the priority indices for approval of such applications shall be determined as follows:

(a) A priority index will be determined for the first construction project for each applicant under section 306 by adding (1) the percentage that the estimated membership of the eligible Federally-connected children in the school district (or in the approved attendance area) is of the total estimated membership of all children in such area at the close of the regular school year 1955–56 to (2) the percentage of the estimated school membership within the school district (or in the approved attendance area) which at the same time is without minimum school facilities: Provided, That in no case shall the total of the two percentages used in determining the priority index exceed twice the percentage in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. No priority shall be established for any applicant having less than 20 unhoused children in the school district (or in the approved attendance area).

(b) In those cases where an applicant has filed more than one project application, the priority index for the second project will be determined by: (1) Dividing the normal capacity of the first project by the total estimated membership at the close of the regular school year 1955–56; and (2) reducing the applicant's priority index by twice the percentage so obtained. Where more than two project applications have been filed, the applicant's priority index for each succeeding project shall be reduced by the cumulative total capacity, as provided in the first sentence of this paragraph, of all the approved projects of the applicant.

(c) In those cases where the jurisdictional area of the applicant with respect to which the application is made comprises an extensive territory and the Federal activity is localized within the area served by one or more attendance centers, and the other attendance centers within the district are practically unavailable to meet the needs of the attendance areas affected by Federal activities, then, in such case, the percentages described in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (a) of this section will be determined with respect to the "Federally affected attendance areas," and not with respect to the entire school district. (The conditions of this paragraph may be met only in large county unit school systems and, possibly, in other extensive districts having large housing projects constructed for defense workers or military personnel which have overburdened one or more attendance centers to such an extent that additional school facilities are required to house the children.)

§ 108.4 Determination of available and usable school facilities. The following school facilities shall be counted as usable and available in determining "unhoused children" or "children without school facilities":

(a) All school facilities which were constructed for school use and which have been used continuously for classroom purposes shall be considered as available and usable unless such facilities have become unsafe or otherwise unusable to the extent that use of such facilities or partial use of such facilities has been abandoned or must be abandoned during the fiscal year in which the application is approved. Basement rooms, hallways, or other space the use of which for classroom purposes, in view of their character, inaccessibility or other equally cogent reason, seriously prejudices educational objectives or has impaired or will impair the health or safety of the school children will not be considered to be available and usable. These criteria shall apply to all facilities owned by other Federal agencies which are available or which may be made available for the education of children counted by applicants.

(b) All school facilities for the construction of which contracts have been let on or before any final date for filing applications shall be considered to be available and usable for the purpose of the applications filed on such date; and all school facilities which have been approved under title II, title III, or title IV of Public Law 815 shall be considered as available and usable as of the date of approval.

§ 108.5 Criteria for waiver under section 305 (e) of the act. (a) The Commissioner's authority in section 305 (e) of the act to waive or reduce the percentage requirement or requirements in section 305 (c), to waive the requirement contained in the first sentence of subsection 305 (d) thereof, or to reduce the percentage specified in clause (2) of such sentence will not be exercised unless:

(1) The applicant meets all conditions of eligibility under title III or, on the basis of the authorized waiver or reduction of one or more of the requirements, would meet such conditions;

(2) The applicant specifically states the extent to which it desires the Commissioner to exercise his authority to waive or reduce one or more of such requirements and makes appropriate requests therefor, agreeing that, if such a request is granted in whole or in part, in computing maximum payment under title III only membership of children within the Federally impacted attendance area shall be considered;

(3) The applicant has two or more attendance centers, and its jurisdictional area is county-wide or is sufficiently extensive as to be reasonably analogous to a county-wide school system;

(4) There has been an unusually large Federal impact from the close of the regular school year 1953–54 to the close of the regular school year 1955–56 in an attendance area affecting one or more attendance centers;

(5) It would not be practicable to transport students in the Federally impacted attendance area to other available school facilities of the applicant because of distance, topography or other equally cogent reasons; and

(6) The Commissioner of Education determines that other exceptional circumstances exist which in his judgment require such waiver or reduction to avoid inequity and to avoid defeating the purposes of title III.

(b) If the Commissioner, on the basis of the minimum criteria above set forth, determines, under subsection 305 (e), to exercise his authority to waive or reduce one or more of the specified requirements:

(1) He shall determine which requirement or requirements he will waive, or reduce, and if the latter, the extent of such reduction;

(2) He shall determine the geographical area of the applicant which shall be considered as constituting the "Federally impacted attendance area"; and

(3) The application otherwise will be processed under title III and this part, taking into consideration only the established "Federally impacted attendance area" but in no case shall payments hereunder exceed the amounts computable on the basis of the district as a whole taking into consideration the waivers or reductions approved by the Commissioner.

§ 108.6 School facilities for children whose membership is of temporary duration only. (a) If the Commissioner determines that the membership of some of the children of the applicant, representing otherwise countable Federal increases under section 305 of the act, will be of temporary duration only, as defined in § 108.1 (p), the membership of such children will be excluded in computing maximum payments under section 305.

(b) The Commissioner, when proper request therefor is made in a Part I application, (1) may make available to such applicant such temporary school facilities as may be necessary to take care of the membership of such children as the Commissioner determines will be members of the applicant's school system for a sufficient period of time to justify the expense; or (2) he may, where the applicant gives assurance in a complete application that at least minimum school facilities will be provided for such children, pay (on such terms and conditions as he deems appropriate to carry out the purposes of title III) to such applicant for use in constructing school facilities an amount not greater than the amount which he estimates will be necessary to make available temporary facilities for such children, provided that the amount so paid shall not exceed the cost, in the school district of the applicant, of constructing minimum school facilities for such children. In no case will provision for such children be made unless they are deemed to be without minimum school facilities.

§ 108.7 Certification of payments. Payments to an applicant will be made only on the basis of a complete application satisfying conditions for payment under the act and this part, and will be restricted in amount to the cost of providing minimum school facilities for unhoused children; however:

(a) Within the maximum otherwise payable under title III (except as provided in § 108.8), the Federal share of the cost of a title III project which will be certified for payment shall be equal to the cost but shall in no case exceed the cost in the school district of the applicant of constructing minimum school facilities and shall in no case exceed the cost in such district of constructing minimum school facilities for the estimated number of children who will be in the membership of the school of such applicant at the close of the regular school year 1955–56 and who will otherwise be unhoused.

(b) Nothing contained in the regulations in this part shall be deemed to bar an applicant under title III, with the approval of the State educational agency, from using for an approved project, in addition to the Federal grant, monies otherwise obtained to provide a higher type or larger or better implemented school facility. The applicant will be required to show in such cases that the added cost is being thus independently met.

§ 108.8 Additional payments under section 308 of the act. Pursuant to the authority vested in the Commissioner by section 308 of the act:

(a) Not to exceed 10 percentum of any amount appropriated under title III (exclusive of any sums appropriated for administration) is reserved and may be used by the Commissioner to make grants to applicants under title III when (1) the application would be approved under the title but for the applicant's inability, unless aided by such grant, to finance the non-Federal share of the cost of a project; or (2) after the approval of the application the project cannot, without such grant, be completed because of flood, fire or similar emergency affecting either the work on the project or the applicant's ability to finance the non-Federal share of the cost of the project.

(b) Under the authority of paragraph (a) (1) of this section, a complete application under title III (except an application with respect to which the Commissioner has waived or reduced eligibility requirements under section 305 (e) of the act and § 108.5) may be considered for payment of part or all of the non-Federal share of the cost of any project which does not include more than minimum facilities for unhoused children, provided: (1) That the application contains a request for payment hereunder; (2) that the estimated number of children countable for payment under title III for the school year 1955–56 equals or exceeds the number obtained by taking 10 percent of the average daily membership of the applicant district for the school year 1953–54; (3) that the applicant has exhausted all fiscal resources, including State aid, bonding authority and Federal aid, which are practicably available to it and is unable to pay the non-Federal share of the cost of the project; (4) that it has been reached on the priority indices established by this part; and (5) that Federal monies reserved under paragraph (a) of this section are available. The additional payment to the applicant under this provision shall not exceed the non-Federal share of the cost of the project less all financial resources practicably available to the applicant; nor shall it exceed the difference between the average cost in the State of providing minimum school facilities for the Federally connected pupils eligible for payment under the act, and the Federal funds made available to the school district under section 305 of the act.

(c) Under the authority of paragraph (a) (2) of this section, a request by the applicant may be considered for the additional payment of part or all of the funds required to complete a project (to the extent that the completed project will not provide more than minimum school facilities for unhoused children) for which a project application under title III has been approved, provided: (1) Federal monies reserved under paragraph (a) of this section are available; (2) the applicant cannot complete the project because of flood, fire or similar emergency affecting either the work on the project or the applicant's ability to finance the non-Federal share of the cost of the project; and (3) that the applicant has exhausted all financial resources practicably available to it, including State aid, bonding authority and Federal aid. The payment to be made under this paragraph shall not exceed the amount required to pay the additional cost caused by the emergency less any financial resources of the applicant practicably available for such purpose, including the proceeds of any insurance.

§ 108.9 Priority and approval of applications; conditioned upon readiness to proceed with construction. Initial approval of a project application meeting the conditions for approval under the act and under this part will be subject to cancellation in the event the applicant is not ready to proceed with construction within 90 days after the date of initial approval, unless such period is extended by the Commissioner for good cause shown; and the applicant's rights to approval and payment may be subordinated by reason thereof to other project applications of lower rank or the applicant may forfeit its priority in the discretion of the Commissioner.

§ 108.10 Proceeding provisions not exhaustive of jurisdiction of the Commissioner. No provision of this part now or hereafter promulgated shall be deemed exhaustive of the jurisdiction of the Commissioner under the act. EXPLOSIVES AND OTHER DANGEROUS ARTICLES

OCTOBER 8, 1954.

The Commission is in receipt of applications for early amendment of the above entitled regulations insofar as they apply to shippers in the preparation of articles for transportation, and to all carriers by rail and highway, as published in orders pursuant to section 835, of the Criminal Code and Part II of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Application for these amendments ordinarily would be considered at our next hearing in this docket. It appears, however, that the proposed amendments have been the subject of exchanges and study by interested parties, in which substantial agreement has been reached, and it is proposed that the applications be disposed of by modified procedure. The reasons for the proposed amendments are shown in the appendix, hereof.

Any party desiring to be heard upon any of the proposed amendments shall advise the Commission in writing within 20 days from the date of this notice; otherwise, the Commission may proceed to investigate and determine the matters involved in the application, or may suspend action pending formal hearing in this docket.

SUBPART J—SPECIFICATIONS FOR CONTAINERS FOR MOTOR VEHICLE TRANSFORTATION

Add § 78.325 (15 F. R. 8554, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.325, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 78.325 Specification MC 304; steel cargo tanks for transporting flammable liquids having vapor pressures above 18 pounds per square inch absolute at 115° F., but not classified as compressed gas.

§ 78.325–1 Requirements for design. (a) Tanks shall be of seamless or welded steel construction and shall be designed and constructed in accordance with Section VIII of the ASME Boiler Construction Code, Rules for Construction of Unfired Pressure Vessels, 1950 Edition, except that Section W of the API-ASME Code for Unfired Pressure Vessels for Petroleum Liquids and Gases, 1943 Edition, may be substituted for like matters covered by the ASME Code. Compliance with the following shall not be required: Paragraph UG–125 to UG–134, inclusive, of the ASME Code, and Paragraph W–601 to W–606, inclusive, of the API-ASME Code. Hereinafter either or both of the aforementioned codes will be referred to as the "Code".

§ 78.325–2 Design working pressure. (a) The design working pressure shall not be less than the highest of the gauge vapor pressures of the commodities to be transported therein at 115° F. nor less than three pounds per square inch gauge.

§ 78.325–3 Material. (a) All material utilized in the construction of the tank and appurtances shall be suitable for use with the commodity to be transported, shall not be subject to destructive attack by the contents, and shall conform to any specification in the Code. Non-malleable metals shall not be employed in the construction of valves, piping, and fittings.

§ 78.325–4 Pipe joints. (a) Welded pipe joints shall be used wherever possible. Joints in copper tubing shall be of the brazed type or of any equally strong metal union type. The melting point of brazing material must not be less than 1000° F. Such joints shall in any event be of such a character as not to decrease the strength of the tubing, as by the cutting of threads.

§ 78.325–5 Strength of piping, fittings, hose, and hose couplings. (a) Non-welded fittings shall be extra heavy. Hose, piping, fittings and pumps shall be designed for a bursting pressure at least four times the design working pressure of the tank with which they are used and not less than four times the pressure to which, in any instance, they may be subjected in service by the action of the pump or other device (not including safety relief valves), the action of which may be to subject certain portions of the pump, tank piping or hose to pressures greater than the design working pressure of the tank. Any coupling used on hose to make connections shall be designed for a working pressure not less than 20 percent in excess of the design working pressure of the hose and shall be so designed that there will be no leakage when connected.

§ 78.325–6 Bulkheads. (a) Every cargo tank having a total capacity in excess of 1,500 gallons shall be divided by bulkheads into compartments none of which shall exceed 1,200 gallons except that a manufacturing tolerance of ten percent (10%) shall be allowed for capacities of individual compartments or tanks. Flat bulkheads without reinforcement by rolling, dishing, corrugating, or other equally strong means are prohibited.

(b) Tanks with compartments carrying flammable liquids of different shipping names or with compartments containing flammable liquids and liquids classified as nonflammable by the regulations, shall be provided with an air space between compartments. This air space shall be equipped and maintained with drainage facilities operative at all times.

§ 78.325–7 Baffles. (a) Every cargo tank and every compartment of a cargo tank over ninety inches in length shall be provided with baffles, the number of which shall be such that the linear distance between two adjacent baffles, or between any tank head or bulkhead and an adjacent baffle, shall in no case exceed 60 inches. The cross-sectional area of each baffle shall not be less than 80 percent of the cross-sectional area of the tank at the same point.

§ 78.325–8 Anchoring of tank. (a) Adequate hold down devices shall be provided to anchor each cargo tank in a suitable manner that will not introduce under concentration of stresses. These devices on vehicles with frames shall incorporate turnbuckles or similar positive action devices for drawing the tank down tight on the frame of the motor vehicle, and such devices shall be designed with a factor of safety of not less than four, and shall be built to withstand loadings in any direction equal to two times the weight of the tank and attachments when filled with water.

(b) Suitable stops and anchors shall be attached to the motor vehicle and the tank to prevent relative movement between them due to starting, stopping, and turning. These steps or anchors shall be installed so as to be readily accessible for inspection and maintenance, except that lagging for lagged tanks is permitted to cover such steps and anchors.

(c) Whenever any cargo tank is so designed and constructed that the cargo tank constitutes, in whole or in part, the stress member used in lieu of a frame, then such cargo tanks shall be designed so as to successfully and adequately withstand the stresses thereby imposed in addition to those covered in the Code.

§ 78.325–9 Filling and discharge shut-off valves. (a) Filling and discharge lines shall be provided with shut-off valves located as close to the tank outlet as is practicable. If such valves are not manually operated, they shall be of an automatic quick-closing internal valve type or an automatic shut-off type provided that if such valves are used, the lines must have a manually-operated shut-off valve located in the line ahead of the hose connection. Stop-check or excess flow valves cannot be used to satisfy the requirements of this section.

§ 78.325–10 Gauging devices. (a) Every cargo tank, except tanks filled by weight, shall be equipped with one or more gauging devices which shall indicate accurately the maximum permitted liquid level. Additional gauging devices may be installed but may not be used as primary controls for filling of cargo tanks. Acceptable gauging devices are the rotary tube, the adjustable slip tube, and the fixed length dip tube. Gauge glasses are not permitted to be installed on any cargo tank.

(b) All liquid level gauging devices, except those on tanks provided with fixed maximum level indicators, shall be legibly and permanently marked in increments of not more than 20 Fahrenheit degrees to indicate the maximum levels to which the tank may be filled with liquid at temperatures above 20° F. In the event that it is impracticable to put these markings on the gauging device, this information shall be marked on a suitable plate affixed to the tank in a location adjacent to the gauging device.

(c) A fixed length dip tube gauging device, when used, shall consist of a dip pipe of small diameter equipped with a valve at the outer end, and extending into the tank to a specified fixed length. On horizontally-mounted cylindrical tanks the fixed length to which the tube extends into the tank shall be such that the device will function to indicate when the liquid, at a point equidistant from the heads of the tank in a vertical plane containing the longitudinal axis of the tank, reaches the maximum level permitted by these regulations. On spherical tanks and on vertically-mounted cylindrical tanks the fixed length to which the tube extends into the tank shall be such that the device will function to indicate when the liquid at a point on the vertical axis of the tank in its normal position reaches the maximum level permitted by the regulations in this part.

§ 78.325–11 Safety devices (a) Each compartment of each tank shall be provided with one or more safety devices which, unless otherwise authorized, shall be safety relief valves of the spring-loaded type, and they shall be arranged to discharge upward and unobstructed in such a manner as to prevent any impingement of escaping gas upon the tank.

(b) Safety relief valves on any tank shall be set to start to discharge at a pressure not in excess of the design working pressure of the tank and shall have a total relieving capacity sufficient to prevent a maximum pressure in the tank of more than 120 percent of the design working pressure, in accordance with Fetterly's formula. The required relieving capacity of safety relief valves for lagged tanks shall be based upon the heat input to a bare tank, except in the case of fully insulated tanks covered by a sheet metal jacket of not less than 16 gauge nominal thickness.

(c) Each safety relief valve shall be plainly and permanently marked (1) with the pressure in pounds per square inch gauge at which it is set to discharge, (2) with the actual rate of discharge of the device in cubic feet per minute of the gas at 60° F. and atmospheric pressure, and (3) with the manufacturer's name and catalogue number. The rated discharge capacity of the device shall be determined at a pressure of 120 percent of the design working pressure of the tank.

(d) Connections to safety relief valves shall be of sufficient size to provide the required rate of discharge through the safety relief valves.

(e) Safety relief valves shall be arranged so that the possibility of tampering will be minimized. If the pressure setting or adjustment is external, the safety relief valves shall be provided with suitable means for sealing the adjustment.

(f) No shut-off valves shall be installed between the safety relief valves and the tank except, in cases where two or more safety relief valves are installed on the same tank, a shut-off valve may be used where the arrangement of the shut-off valve or valves is such as always to afford full required capacity flow through at least one safety relief valve.

(g) Connection of safety relief valve to vapor space: Safety relief valves shall have direct communication with the vapor space of the tank.

(h) Any portion of liquid piping or hose which at any time may be closed at each end must be provided with a safety relief valve to prevent excessive hydrostatic pressure. This safety relief valve must not have an intervening shut-off valve installed.

(i) Automatic excess-flow valves: Each cargo tank outlet shall be provided with a suitable automatic excess-flow valve or, in lieu thereof, may be fitted with a quick-closing internal valve actuated by an independent fluid medium or by the contents if designed, installed, and operated so as to assure against escape of the contents in event of failure of the outlet. These valves shall be located inside the tank or at a point outside the tank where the line enters or leaves the tank. The valve seat shall be located inside the tank or shall be located within a welded flange or its companion flange, or within a nozzle, or within a coupling. The installation shall be made in such a manner as reasonably to assure that any undue strain which causes failure requiring functioning of the valve shall cause failure in such a manner that it will not impair the operation of the valve, except that safety device connections and liquid level gauging devices which are so constructed that the outward flow of tank contents shall not exceed that passed by a No. 54 drill size opening are not required to be equipped with excess-flow valves.

(j) Excess-flow valves shall be so installed and adjusted that they close automatically at the rated flows of gas or liquid as specified by the valve manufacturer.

(k) Capacity of connections to valves: The connections or lines on each side of an excess-flow valve, including valve fittings, etc., shall have a greater capacity than the rated flow of the excess-flow valve.

(l) By-pass valve: Excess-flow valves may be designed with a by-pass not to exceed a No. 60 drill size opening, to allow equalization of pressures.

(m) Utilization of stop-check valves forbidden: The use of combination stop-check valves to satisfy with one valve requirements of § 78.325–9 and of paragraphs (j) to (k) of this section is forbidden.

§ 78.325–12 Pumps. (a) Liquid pumps, whenever used, must be of suitable design, adequately protected against breakage or other damage to the pumps or associated piping by collisions, and kept in good condition. They may be driven by motor vehicle power take-off or other mechanical, electrical, or hydraulic means. Unless they are of the centrifugal type, they shall be equipped with suitable pressure actuated by-pass valves permitting flow from discharge to suction or to the tank.

§ 78.325–13 Provision for expansion and vibration. (a) Suitable provision shall be made in every case to allow for expansion, contraction, and jarring, and to prevent excessive vibration of all pipe. Slip joints shall not be used for this purpose.

§ 78.325–14 Tank outlets. (a) Outlet fixtures of tanks shall be substantially made and attached to the tank in such a manner as to prevent breakage at the outlet point.

§ 78.325–15 Shear section. (a) There shall be provided between each excess-flow valve seat or equivalent, and draw-off valve, a shear section which will break under strain, unless the discharge piping is so arranged as to afford equivalent protection, and leave the excess-flow valve seat intact in case of accident to the draw-off valve or piping.

§ 78.325–16 Protection of piping and appurtenances. (a) Piping, fittings, and draw-off valves projecting beyond the frame, or if the vehicle be frameless beyond the shell, shall be adequately protected by steel bumpers or other equally effective devices, against collision. Any other part of any cargo tank connected with its cargo space and similarly protruding shall be similarly protected.

§ 78.325–17 Overturn protection. (a) All closures for filling openings shall be protected from damage in the event of overturning of the motor vehicle by being enclosed within the body of the tank or dome attached thereto or by the use of suitable metal guards securely attached to the tank or the frame of the motor vehicle. Protection shall also be provided for any protruding or projecting fitting or appurtenance by means of adequate metal guards. The guards shall be designed with a minimum factor of safety of four to withstand loadings in any direction equal to two times the weight of the tank and attachments when filled with water. If the overturn protection is so constructed as to permit accumulation of liquid on the top of the tank, it shall not be provided with drainage facilities which will permit drainage at or near the front of the tank.

§ 78.325–18 Test requirements. (a) The cargo tank shall withstand without leakage a hydrostatic pressure test as prescribed in the appropriate Code under which the cargo tank was constructed. While under test pressure, the tank shall be inspected for leakage, corroded areas, bad dents, or other conditions which indicate weakness that might render the tank unsafe for transportation service, and it shall be rejected if evidence of any such unsafe condition is discovered. The tank lagging and its jacket, if installed, need not be removed unless it is found to be impossible to reach the test pressure and to maintain a condition of pressure equilibrium after the test pressure is reached during tank testing.

(b) Every tank and accessories shall be leakage tested with gas or air after installation and proved tight at not less than the design working pressure of the tank or such greater pressure as they may contain due to pump action. The requirements of this rule shall apply with equal force to all hose used on such tanks, except that such hose may be so tested either before or after installation on the tank.

§ 78.325–19 Data report for tank. (a) A copy of the manufacturer's data report required by the Code under which the tank is fabricated shall be retained in the files of the motor carrier as long as the cargo tank is subject to its control.

§ 78.325–20 Marking of cargo tanks— (a) Metal identification plate. There shall be on every cargo tank a metal plate located on the right side, near the front, in a place readily accessible for inspection. This plate shall be permanently affixed to the tank by means of soldering, brazing, welding, or other equally suitable means; and upon it shall be marked by stamping, embossing, or other means of forming letters into or on the metal of the plate itself, in the manner illustrated below, at least the information indicated below. The plate shall not be so painted as to obscure the markings thereon.

(b) Test date markings. The date and pressure of the last test or retest required by this specification and the due date of the next required routine test or retest shall be painted on the tank in letters not less than 1¼ inches high, in legible colors, immediately below the metal identification plate specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Certification by markings. The markings specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall serve to certify that the information thereby set forth is correct.

CLOTH CLASSIFIABLE AS WATERPROOF CLOTH

TARIFF CLASSIFICATION

The Bureau by its letter to the collector of customs at New York, New York, dated October 11, 1954, ruled that cloths of a kind which are not generally used in the manufacture of articles which are designed to afford protection against water to the extent expected in raincoats, protective sheeting, dress shields, umbrella fabrics, and similar articles, even when such cloths possess water repelling characteristics, are not properly classifiable as "waterproof cloth" within the meaning of that term as it is used in paragraph 907, Tariff Act of 1930.

Insofar as this decision results in the assessment of duty at a rate of duty higher than that which has heretofore been assessed under a uniform practice, it shall be applied only to merchandise entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption after 90 days from the date of publication of this decision in the weekly Treasury Decisions.

NEW MEXICO

ORDER PROVIDING FOR OPENING OF PUBLIC LANDS RESTORED FROM TUCUMCARI PROJECT

OCTOBER 11, 1954.

An order of the Bureau of Reclamation of December 29, 1950, concurred in by the Assistant Director, Bureau of Land Management, May 3, 1951, revoked the Departmental orders of June 21, 1939 and August 11, 1944, so far as they withdrew under the provisions of the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388), the following-described lands in connection with the Tucumcari Project, New Mexico, and provided that such revocation should not affect the withdrawal of any other lands by said order or affect any other order withdrawing or reserving the lands described:

NEW MEXICO PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN

T. 11 N., R. 30 E., Sec. 5, NW¼SW¼.
T. 10 N., R. 32 E., Sec. 2, NE¼SW¼.
T. 12 N., R. 33 E., Sec. 29, E½NW¼.
T. 13 N., R. 33E., Sec. 16, SW¼SW¼.

The areas described aggregate 200 acres.

The land in T. 11 N., R. 30 E., is located about four miles northwest of Tucumcari, New Mexico. This land lies on a rough and rocky mesa suitable only for grazing. Vegetation consists of tobosa grass, a trace of grama, and considerable yucca.

The land in T. 10 N., R. 32 E., is situated three miles south and 12 miles east of Tucumcari on a river terrace adjacent to Barranca Creek. The tract has an elevation of about 3,900 feet, and lies in the 16 inch rainfall belt. The topography is level, and the soil is sandy loam, terrace soil with slightly heavier subsoil. None of the tract or adjacent lands appear to have been cultivated. The area supports a good stand of perennial grasses which makes the tract valuable for grazing.

The land in T. 12 N., R. 33 E., is located four miles north and 14 miles east of Tucumcari on an escarpment facing the Tucumcari Creek. The tract has an elevation of about 4,000 feet, and lies in the 16 inch rainfall belt. It is dominated by rough and rocky terrain and extensive outcrops of a sterile maroon shale. About 15 acres of level land in the valley floor support a sparse cover of salt-tolerant grass, and 8 acres on the rim, some vegetation. The remainder of the tract is essentially barren. The land is used for limited grazing and is not suited to cultivation.

The land in T. 13 N., R. 33 E., is located one mile south and two miles west of the Town of Logan, New Mexico. It is located on a terrace of the Canadian River and has a level to rolling topography. The area has an elevation of about 4,000 feet, and lies in the 16 inch rainfall belt. The tract is at present used for grazing.

No application for the restored lands may be allowed under the homestead, desert-land, small tract, or any other nonmineral public-land law unless the lands have already been classified as valuable or suitable for such type of application, or shall be so classified upon the consideration of an application. Any application that is filed will be considered on its merits. The lands will not be subject to occupancy or disposition until they have been classified.

This order shall not otherwise become effective to change the status of the restored lands until 10:00 a. m., on the 35th day after the date of this order. At that time the said lands shall become subject to application, petition, location and selection, subject to valid existing rights, the provisions of existing withdrawals, the requirements of applicable laws, and the 91-day preference-right filing period for veterans and others entitled to preference under the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. S. C. 279–284), as amended.

Veterans' preference-right applications under the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. S. C. 279–284), as amended, may be filed on or before 10:00 a. m., on the 35th day after the date of this order, and those covering the same lands shall be treated as though simultaneously filed at that time. Applications filed under the act after that time and during the succeeding 91 days shall be considered in the order of filing. Applications by the general public under the public-land laws, filed on or before 10:00 a. m., on the 126th day after the date of this order shall be treated as though simultaneously filed at that time, where the applications are for the same lands; otherwise, priority of filing shall govern.

Inquiries concerning the lands shall be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

7 U. S. C. 1375. Interpret or apply secs. 301, 341–348, 52 Stat. 38, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 1301, 1341–1348.

§ 722.601 Basis and purpose. (a) This proclamation is issued to announce findings made by the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to the total supply and the normal supply of upland cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, and to proclaim whether, upon the basis of such findings, a national marketing quota and a national acreage allotment for the 1955 crop of upland cotton are required under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (referred to herein as the "act"). The term "upland cotton" (referred to herein as "cotton") and the data appearing in §§ 722.602 and 722.603 do not include extra long staple cotton described in section 347 (a) of the act or similar types of such cotton which are imported. Section 342 of the act provides, in part, that, whenever during any calendar year the Secretary determines that the total supply of cotton for the marketing year beginning in such calendar year will exceed the normal supply for such marketing year, the Secretary shall proclaim such fact and a national marketing quota shall be in effect for the crop of cotton produced in the next calendar year. Whenever a national marketing quota is proclaimed, the Secretary is required by section 344 (a) of the act to determine and proclaim a national acreage allotment for the crop of cotton to be produced in the next calendar year. The act further provides that the proclamation with respect to a national marketing quota shall be made not later than October 15 of the calendar year in which the determinations relating thereto are made.

(b) The terms "total supply", "carry-over", and "normal supply", as they relate to cotton, are defined in section 301 of the act as follows:

"Total supply" of cotton for any marketing year shall be the carry-over at the beginning of such marketing year, plus the estimated production of cotton in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins and the estimated imports of cotton into the United States during such marketing year.

"Carry-over" of cotton for any marketing year shall be the quantity of cotton on hand in the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, not including any part of the crop which was produced in the United States during the calendar year then current.

"Normal supply" of cotton for any marketing year shall be the estimated domestic consumption of cotton for the marketing year for which such normal supply is being determined, plus the estimated exports of cotton for such marketing year, plus 30 per centum of the sum of such consumption and exports as an allowance for carry-over.

(c) The findings and determinations made by the Secretary are contained in §§ 722.602 and 722.603 and have been made on the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government. Prior to making such findings and determinations, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 5915) in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) that the Secretary was preparing to examine the supply situation with respect to cotton to determine if quotas were required under the act and that any interested person might express his views in writing with respect thereto, postmarked not later than 15 days from the date of publication of the notice, which was September 11, 1954. All written expressions submitted pursuant to such notice have been duly considered in connection with making the findings and determinations.

§ 722.602 Findings and determinations with respect to a national marketing quota for the 1955 crop of cotton—(a) Total supply. The total supply of cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954 (in terms of running bales or the equivalent), is 21,487,052 bales, consisting of (1) a carry-over on August 1, 1954, of 9,048,052 bales, (2) estimated production from the 1954 crop of 12,389,000 bales, and (3) estimated imports into the United States during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, of 50,000 bales.

(b) Normal supply. The normal supply of cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954 (in terms of running bales or the equivalent), is 17,680,000 bales, consisting of (1) estimated domestic consumption for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, of 9,100,000 bales, (2) estimated exports during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, of 4,500,000 bales, and (3) 30 percent of the sum of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph as an allowance for carry-over, or 4,080,000 bales.

(c) National marketing quota. It is hereby determined and proclaimed that the total supply of cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, will exceed the normal supply of cotton for such marketing year. Therefore, a national marketing quota shall be in effect for the crop of cotton produced in the calendar year 1955. It is further determined and proclaimed that the amount of the national marketing quota for the 1955 crop of cotton shall be 10,000,000 bales (standard bales of 500 pounds gross weight). The amount of such quota has been determined under section 342 of the act which, in effect, provides that the 1955 quota shall be the larger of the following:

(1) The number of bales of cotton (standard bales of 500 pounds gross weight) adequate, together with (i) the estimated carry-over at the beginning of the 1955–56 marketing year and (ii) the estimated imports during the 1955–56 marketing year, to make available a normal supply of cotton. The number of bales of cotton determined under this provision is 9,742,948 bales.

(2) The number of bales of cotton (standard bales of 500 pounds gross weight) equal to the smaller of (i) 10,000,000 bales, or (ii) 1,000,000 bales less than the estimated domestic consumption plus exports of cotton for the marketing year ending July 31, 1954. The number of bales of cotton determined under subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph (2) would be 11,354,526 bales. Therefore, the smaller of subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph would be 10,000,000 bales.

§ 722.603 Determination of national acreage allotment for the 1955 crop of cotton. It is hereby further determined and proclaimed that a national acreage allotment shall be in effect for the crop of cotton produced in the calendar year 1955. The amount of such national acreage allotment shall be 18,113,208 acres. The amount of such national acreage allotment has been determined under section 344 (a) of the act, which provides that the national acreage allotment for cotton shall be that acreage, based upon the national average yield per acre of cotton for the 5 years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the national marketing quota is proclaimed, required to make available from such crop on amount of cotton equal to the national marketing quota.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 14th day of October 1954. Witness my hand and the seal of the Department of Agriculture.

Secretary of Agriculture.

"Total supply" of cotton for any marketing year shall be the carry-over at the beginning of such marketing year, plus the estimated production of cotton in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins and the estimated imports of cotton into the United States during such marketing year.

"Carry-over" of cotton for any marketing year shall be the quantity of cotton on hand in the United States at the beginning of such marketing year, not including any part of the crop which was produced in the United States during the calendar year then current.

"Normal supply" of cotton for any marketing year shall be the estimated domestic consumption of cotton for the marketing year for which such normal supply is being determined, plus the estimated exports of cotton for such marketing year, plus 30 per centum of the sum of such consumption and exports as an allowance for carry-over.

(d) Section 347 (b) of the act provides that whenever during any calendar year, not later than October 15, the Secretary of Agriculture determines that the total supply of extra long staple cotton for the marketing year beginning in such calendar year will exceed the normal supply thereof for such marketing year by more than 8 per centum, the Secretary shall proclaim such fact and a national marketing quota shall be in effect for the crop of such cotton produced in the next calendar year. Whenever a national marketing quota is proclaimed under the act, the Secretary is also required to determine and proclaim a national acreage allotment for the crop to be produced in the next calendar year.

(c) The findings and determinations made by the Secretary are contained in §§ 722.1202 and 722.1203 and have been made on the basis of the latest available statistics of the Federal Government. Prior to making such findings and determinations, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (19 F. R. 6043) in accordance with the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) that the Secretary was preparing to examine the supply situation with respect to extra long staple cotton to determine if quotas were required under the act and that any interested person might express his views in writing with respect thereto, postmarked not later than 15 days from the date of publication of such notice, which was September 18, 1954. All written expressions submitted pursuant to such notice have been duly considered in connection with making the findings and determinations.

§ 722.1202 Findings and determinations with respect to a national marketing quota for the 1955 crop of extra long staple cotton—(a) Total supply. The total supply of extra long staple cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954 (in terms of running bales or the equivalent) is 279,907 bales, consisting of (1) a carryover on August 1, 1954, of 152,907 bales, (2) estimated production from the 1954 crop of 27,000 bales, and (3) estimated imports into the United States during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, of 100,000 bales.

(b) Normal supply. The normal supply of extra long staple cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954 (in terms of running bales or the equivalent), is 130,000 bales, consisting of (1) estimated domestic consumption for the marketing year begining August 1, 1954, of 100,000 bales, (2) estimated exports during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, of none, and (3) 30 percent of the sum of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph as an allowance for carry-over, or 30,000 bales.

(c) National marketing quota. It is hereby determined and proclaimed that the total supply of extra long staple cotton for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1954, will exceed the normal supply of such cotton for such marketing year by more than 8 per centum. Therefore, a national marketing quota shall be in effect for the crop of extra long staple cotton produced in the calendar year 1955. It is further determined and proclaimed that the amount of the national marketing quota for the 1955 crop of extra long staple cotton shall be 30,000 bales of cotton (standard bales of 500 pounds gross weight). Under section 347 (b) of the act, the amount of the national marketing quota in terms of the quantity of cotton needed to make available a normal supply, taking into account the estimated carry-over on August 1, 1955, and the estimated imports during the 1955–56 marketing year, would be substantially smaller than 30,000 bales. However, section 347 (b) of the act also provides that the national marketing quota for the 1955 crop of extra long staple cotton shall not be less than the larger of 30,000 bales or the number of bales equal to 30 per centum of the estimated domestic consumption plus exports for the 1954–55 marketing year.

§ 722.1203 Determination of national acreage allotment for the 1955 crop of extra long staple cotton. It is hereby determined and proclaimed that the national acreage allotment for the 1955 crop of extra long staple cotton shall be 46,154 acres. The amount of such national acreage allotment has been determined under section 344 (a) of the act, which provides that the national acreage allotment shall be that acreage, based upon the national average yield per acre of cotton for the 5 years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the national marketing quota is proclaimed, required to make available from such crop an amount of cotton equal to the national marketing quota.

PART 207—NAVIGATION REGULATIONS

PUDGET SOUND AREA, WASH.

Pursuant to the provisions of section 7 of the River and Harbor Act of August 8, 1917 (40 Stat. 266; 33 U. S. C. 1), § 207.750 (n) governing the use and navigation of a naval restricted area in the waters of Carr Inlet, Puget Sound, Washington, for use as an acoustic testing range is hereby amended to permit a slight shift in the range line and for the use of revolving beacon lights on signal towers in lieu of signal flags, and other minor changes, as follows:

(n) Carr Inlet, naval restricted area.

(2) The regulations. • • •

(ii) No marine craft of any type shall at any time approach or remain within one hundred yards of the hydrophone buoys or the hydrophone cable connection house. The hydrophone buoys will be anchored in Carr Inlet on a line perpendicular to the course line opposite Ketner's Point, and about one mile from the Fox Island shore. The course line, or range, will bear 134° 38' 21" (314° 38' 21") true, and will be marked by range beacons erected near the shore line approximately one mile north-northeast of Steilacoom and approximately two miles north-northeast of Home. The cable connection house will be framed on piling in Carr Inlet approximately 20 yards off the Fox Island shore, opposite Ketner's Point.

(iii) The remainder of the area shall be open to navigation at all times except when the range is in use or when hydrophones are being calibrated. When the range is in use or hydrophones are being calibrated, revolving beacon lights will be displayed on the following signal towers:

Signal tower No.	Location	Visible sector (bearings true)
1	Gibson Point	039° to 285°.
2	Fox Island, 2,500 yards northwest of Ketner's Point.	295° to 111°.
3	Green Point	135° to 330°.
4	Penrose Point	310° to 120°. (000° to 050°.
5	Pitt Island	170° to 225°.
6	Hyde Point	050° to 230°.

The beacon lights on Towers Nos. 1, 4, 5, and 6 will be red, and on Towers Nos. 2 and 3 will be either red or green. The beacon lights will show 1 quick flash every 10 seconds. The lights will be obscured except for the above tabulated visible sectors. The ranging of vessels or calibration of hydrophones requiring restrictions will be conducted at intervals during two 3-hour periods, that is, between the hours of 9 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 4 p. m., Monday through Friday, except for national holidays consisting of New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day, and will total approximately 150 days spread throughout the year. Shutting off of beacon lights will indicate termination of use of the range for the remainder of that period. Insofar as possible, the schedule of operations giving the days the range will be in use for each forthcoming month will be published in local newspapers and in the local U. S. Coast Guard Notice to Mariners.

(iv) When the red beacon lights are displayed indicating that the range is in use or hydrophones are being calibrated, navigation within the area will be restricted as follows:

(b) Power vessels shall not operate within the area, except that traffic in either direction between Hale Passage and upper Carr Inlet, within 200 yards of the low water mark off Green Point, will be cleared by signal for approximately 15 minutes total time within this area at the termination of individual ranging runs, while the vessel being ranged takes position for the next run. Clearance to traverse the area around Green Point will be indicated by extinguishing the red beacon lights and displaying the green beacon lights on Signal Tower No. 2 on Fox Island and Signal Tower No. 3 on Green Point.

(c) Non-powered marine craft shall not operate within one mile of the course line bearing 134° 38' 21" (314° 38' 21") true, and within two miles to the southeast and two miles to the northwest of the hydrophone buoys situated in Carr Inlet opposite Ketner's Point: Provided, however, Non-powered craft may operate within four hundred yards of the low water mark on the northeast side of McNeil Island, within two hundred yards of the low water mark at Green Point, and within two hundred yards of the low water mark on the southwest shore of Fox Island except for maintaining the required one-hundred yard clearance around the cable connection house. (See subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph.)

(g) Red or green signal flags will be displayed on the signal towers in case of failure of the red or green beacon lights. The display of the signal flags at the top of the flag masts will have the same significance as the beacon lights.

SUGAR REQUIREMENTS, QUOTAS, AND QUOTA DEFICITS FOR CALENDAR YEAR 1955

NOTICE OF HEARING AND PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Pursuant to the authority contained in the Sugar Act of 1948 (7 U. S. C. Sup. 1100), the Secretary of Agriculture is preparing to determine the sugar requirements and to establish sugar quotas for the calendar year 1955 (1) for the continental United States pursuant to sections 201 and 202 of the act, and (2) for local consumption in Hawaii and in Puerto Rico pursuant to sections 201 and 203 of the act. The Secretary is also preparing to determine whether any domestic area, the Republic of the Philippines, or Cuba will be unable to market the quota for such area in 1955 and to reallot, pursuant to section 204, any quota deficit so determined.

Section 201 of the act provides that the Secretary of Agriculture shall determine for each calendar year the amount of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in the continental United States. In making such determinations, the Secretary is directed to use as a basis the amount of sugar distributed for consumption during the 12 months ending October 31 of the preceding calendar year and to adjust such amount for any deficiency or surplus in inventories of sugar and for changes in consumption because of the changes in population and demand conditions. The Secretary is also directed to take into consideration certain standards with a view to providing such supply of sugar as will be consumed at prices which will not be excessive to consumers and which will fairly and equitably maintain and protect the welfare of the domestic sugar industry. The standards to be taken into consideration include those enumerated above and also the level and trend of consumer purchasing power and the relationship between the prices at wholesale for refined sugar that would result from such determination and the general cost of living in the United States as compared with the relationship between prices at wholesale for refined sugar and the general cost of living in the United States obtaining during 1947 prior to the termination of price control.

Section 202 of the act provides for fixed quotas for the domestic areas and for the Republic of the Philippines and for the apportionment of the balance of the requirements to foreign countries other than the Republic of the Philippines in accordance with stated percentages.

Section 203 of the act provides that the Secretary also shall determine in accordance with such provisions of section 201 as he deems applicable, the amount of sugar needed to meet the requirements of consumers in Hawaii and in Puerto Rico and shall establish quotas for local consumption in such areas equal to the amounts so determined.

Section 204 of the act provides that the Secretary shall from time to time determine whether in view of various factors specified in the act, any area will be unable to market the quota for such area. Section 204 further provides that upon a finding that any such area will be unable to market its quota, the deficit so determined shall be reallocated, in accordance with a stated formula.

A public hearing will be held in Washington, D. C., in the Auditorium, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, on November 9, 1954, at 9:30 a. m., e. s. t., for the purpose of affording interested persons an opportunity to present orally any data, views, or arguments with respect to the determination of sugar requirements and the establishment of sugar quotas for the continental United States for the calendar year 1955. The principal matters for consideration at the hearing relate to (1) the manner of determining deficiencies or surpluses in inventories of sugar, (2) the effect upon requirements of various changes in demand conditions, (3) the effect of the prospective 1955 level and trend of consumer purchasing power, (4) the manner in which the relationship between the wholesale price of refined sugar and the general cost of living in the United States should be employed or considered, and (5) the relative importance of the foregoing factors in determining the sugar requirements for 1955.

Prior to the issuance of regulations setting forth the sugar requirements for the continental United States for the calendar year 1955 and the sugar quotas for 1955 for domestic and foreign areas, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are presented at the hearing or which are submitted in writing to the Director, Sugar Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. Prior to the issuance of regulations setting forth (1) the sugar requirements for Hawaii and for Puerto Rico for the calendar year 1955 and the sugar quotas for 1955 for local consumption in such areas, and (2) the amount by which any area will be unable to market the quota for such area in 1955 and the reallotment of such deficit, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Sugar Division, Commodity Stabilization Service. Written data, views, or arguments must be submitted in duplicate and must be received not later than November 29, 1954. Such data, views, or arguments submitted at the hearing will be accepted as a part of the record, but will not be copied into the transcript of the oral testimony given at the hearing. All such data, views or arguments will be available for examination at the office of the Hearing Clerk.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 12th day of October 1954.

[SEAL] WALTER C. BERGER,
Acting Administrator.

NOTICES

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

United States Coast Guard

PERSON INVOLVED IN CERTAIN NARCOTIC VIOLATIONS OR WHO IS USER OF OR ADDICTED TO USE OF NARCOTIC DRUGS

DENIAL OR REVOCATION OF SEAMAN'S DOCUMENTS

The provisions of Public Law 500, 83d Congress, 68 Stat. 484, approved July 15, 1954, which provides for the revocation of merchant marine documents to persons involved in certain narcotic violations, reads as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That when used in this Act—

(a) The term "narcotic drug" shall have the meaning ascribed to that term by paragraph (a) of the first section of the Narcotic Drugs Import and Export Act, as amended (21 U. S. C., sec. 171 (a)), and also shall include marihuana as defined in section 3238 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(b) The term "Secretary" means the head of the department in which the Coast Guard is operating.

(c) The term "seaman's document" means any document authorized by law or regulation to be issued to a merchant mariner by the Secretary.

SEC. 2. The Secretary may—

(a) Deny a seaman's document to—

(1) Any person who, within ten years prior to the date of the application therefor, has been convicted in a court of record of a violation of the narcotic drug laws of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any State or Territory of the United States, which conviction has become final; or

(2) Any person who, unless he furnishes satisfactory evidence that he is cured, has ever been a user of or addicted to the use of a narcotic drug; and

(b) Take action, based on a hearing before a Coast Guard examiner, under hearing procedures prescribed by the Administrative Procedure Act, as amended (U. S. C., title 5, secs. 1001–1011), to revoke the seaman's document of—

(1) Any person who, subsequent to the effective date of this act and within ten years prior to the institution of the action, has been convicted in a court of record of a violation of the narcotic drug laws of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any State or Territory of the United States, the revocation to be subject to the conviction's becoming final; or

(2) Any person who, unless he furnishes satisfactory evidence that he is cured, has been, subsequent to the effective date of this act, a user of or addicted to the use of a narcotic drug.

The term "seaman's document," as defined in section 1 of Public Law 500, therefore includes any and all types of licenses, certificates, and documents issued to merchant mariners by the United States Coast Guard and predecessor agencies.

The Acting Secretary of the Treasury in Treasury Department Order 167-9, CGFR 54-33, dated August 3, 1954, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated August 17, 1954 (19 F. R. 5195), delegated to the Commandant, United States Coast Guard, with authority to redelegate, the functions vested in the Secretary of the Treasury by Public Law 500, 83d Congress, 2d Session, 68 Stat. 484, to revoke or deny seaman's documents to persons involved in certain narcotics violations.

Therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by this Treasury Department Order 167-9: It is ordered, That:

(a) The procedures applicable to the denial of a seaman's document based in whole or in part on Public Law 500, as well as any appeal from such denial, shall be in accordance with those governing denial for other causes and the appeal therefrom contained in the applicable rules and regulations in 46 CFR Parts 3, 10, and 12.

(b) The procedures and proceedings seeking the revocation of a seaman's document based in whole or in part on Public Law 500, as well as the appeal therefrom, shall be in accordance with the applicable rules and regulations contained in 46 CFR Parts 4 and 137 except where those requirements may be inconsistent with Public Law 500. Contrary to past practices, these proceedings shall be predicated upon holding an outstanding seaman's document, regardless of whether or not the holder is in the service of a vessel. Since Public Law 500 provides for revocation only, a seaman's document in this instance shall not be suspended nor shall a temporary document be issued pending the determination of an appeal.

(c) The Coast Guard District Commanders and the Officers in Charge, Marine Inspection, are hereby delegated authority in accordance with Public Law 500 to deny issuing a seaman's document to any person.

(d) The Coast Guard examiners are hereby delegated authority in accordance with Public Law 500 to revoke a seaman's document held by any person.

Every applicant for a merchant mariner's document will be required to indicate on the application whether or not the applicant has ever been convicted of violation of the narcotic drug laws of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any State or Territory of the United States. If the answer is "yes," the applicant will be required to state the place, date, and particulars of each conviction. The applicant will also be required to indicate whether or not the applicant has ever used or has ever been addicted to the use of narcotics. If the answer is "yes," further information regarding the place, date, and particulars of use or addiction to the use of narcotics will be required. An applicant's failure to answer or refusal to answer one or more questions in the application will be considered as one of the reasons for refusal to issue the document in question.

In every case where there is reason to believe the holder of a seaman's document is no longer entitled thereto under the provisions of Public Law 500 the Coast Guard will institute proceedings under the applicable rules and regulations in 46 CFR Parts 4 and 137, looking to the revocation of the Coast Guard document.

R. J. LAROS & BRO.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of R. J. & W. J. Laros, tr/as R. J. Laros & Bro., 514 N. 22d Street, Allentown, Pennsylvania, for an authorization for a new Special Industrial Radio Station; Docket No. 11195, File No. 285-D4-P/L-J.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (1) a protest filed on September 10, 1954, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, by Peter T. Kroeger, d/b/a Mobile Radio Dispatch Service (here called Kroeger or protestant) against the Commission's action of August 11, 1954, granting without hearing the above-entitled application; (2) a "Reply to Protest" filed on September 23, 1954, by R. J. and W. J. Laros (here called Laros); and (3) an "Opposition to Reply" filed on September 24, 1954 by Kroeger.

2. On July 7, 1954 Laros filed an application for authorization to operate in Lehigh County, Pennsylvania, one base station and ten mobile units in the Special Industrial Radio Service. The applicant stated that its principal business is that of a plumbing and heating contractor (listing the types of operations involved in that business) and, insofar as here pertinent, appeared to establish eligibility in the Special Industrial Radio Service under § 11.501 (a) of the Commission's rules.[1] The application was granted on August 11, 1954.

3. In his protest, Kroeger alleges that he is the licensee of station KGA 479 in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service at Allentown, Pennsylvania; that, as a common carrier protestant has the obligation to render service to the public and has been doing so since April 1951; that for several years protestant was rendering radio service to Laros as one of his subscribers; that Laros discontinued taking service from protestant and applied for its own station in the Special Industrial Radio Service to which it is not entitled under the eligibility rules of the Commission; and that protestant is a party in interest because he will lose revenue as the direct result of the unauthorized grant to Laros.

4. In addition to the above allegations which seem to be directed toward his standing as a "party in interest" under section 309 (c) of the act, protestant alleges on information and belief that Laros misrepresented the facts to the Commission, in that it is primarily engaged in the servicing work and secondarily in the installation of oil burners and heating systems, rather than construction and fabrications upon which it relied in the application. Hence, protestant alleges that Laros is not eligible for an authorization in the Special Industrial Radio Service, and that he "cannot survive as a common carrier if persons engaged in servicing and maintenance work receive authorizations from the Commission which are available only to persons engaged in production and fabrication activities".

[1] This section, in relevant part, provides that "A person is eligible to hold an authorization to operate a radio station in the Special Industrial Radio Service when such person is engaged in an industrial activity the primary function of which is devoted to production, construction, fabrication, manufacturing, or similar processes as distinguished from activities of a service or distribution nature. • • •".

5. In view of all of the foregoing, Kroeger requests that the Commission postpone the effective date of the grant to Laros and set the application for hearing on the issues specified in the protest.

6. In its reply, Laros requests that the protest be dismissed for the reasons that the protest fails to specify with the particularity required by section 309 (c) any facts which show Kroeger to be a party in interest and to support a conclusion that protestant will lose revenue as a result of the grant to Laros; that protestant does not and cannot show that Laros will again become his customer should this application be ultimately denied or revoked; that, in fact, regardless of the outcome of this protest, Laros will not again become a customer of protestant; that Laros and Kroeger are not competitors for business in any sense; that the protestant's allegation that Laros is not eligible in the Special Industrial Radio Service is directly controverted by the specific information supplied in the application; and that mere allegations on information and belief are not sufficient to support a protest under section 309 (c) of the act without specification of facts upon which the information and belief was based. Finally, Laros contends that if the Commission should grant the protest, the effective date of the grant should not be postponed because the authorization is necessary to the maintenance and conduct of an existing service, within the meaning of the last sentence of section 309 (c).

7. In his opposition to the reply filed by Laros, Kroeger states, among other things, that he does not claim to have a legal right to any revenue or business from Laros, but that he claims that in view of his obligation as a common carrier to render service to the public, he is entitled to protection from operations not authorized by the Commission's rules.

8. The first consideration here is whether Kroeger, by his allegations in the protest, established that he is a "party in interest" under section 309 (c). The section requires that the protest "contain such allegations of fact as will show the protestant to be a party in interest." We are of the opinion that the protestant has met this burden.

9. The general boundary of who is a "party in interest" turns upon interpretation of the case of FCC v. Sanders Brothers Radio Station, 309 U. S. 470, for Congress has clearly indicated that the Sanders case is the touchstone of a determination of who is a "party in interest" from an economic standpoint under section 309 (c).[2] We have previously expressed the view that the term "party in interest" is a limited one, and we adhere to that view. We are of the opinion, however, that the allegations herein that Laros was a customer of Kroeger, that it discontinued taking service from him, that it applied for and obtained a private radio station authorization from the Commission, and that Kroeger will lose revenue as a result of this grant, are, taken together, sufficient to spell out an economic injury which gives the protestant a standing as a "party in interest." While Laros denies that Kroeger is a "party in interest", it does not deny the allegations on which Kroeger based that conclusion. The fact that Kroeger and Laros are not competitors cannot be relied on to defeat the former's standing to protest, where, as here, there is a specific allegation of a loss of revenue and customer. For it is precisely such loss of revenue or customers, or both, that gives substance to an allegation of economic injury in a competitive situation. We therefore find that a sufficient showing to constitute protestant a "party in interest" within the intendment of section 309 (c) has been made.

10. The Commission further finds that the protestant has specified with particularity the facts, matters and things relied upon as required by section 309 (c) of the Communications Act to warrant the designation of the above-entitled application for hearing substantially upon the seven issues set forth in the protest. Since the facts bearing upon these issues are peculiarly within the applicant's knowledge, the issues specified by the protestant are being specifically adopted by the Commission, with appropriate modifications so that the burden of proof and burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence should be upon Laros. The contention of Laros that the protestant's allegations "on information and belief" are insufficient without specification of facts upon which the information and belief was based is without merit. The latter are evidentiary matters to be brought out in the hearing. In any event, the protestant has stated that his allegations concerning the lack of eligibility are based on his examination of the business of Laros.

11. Similarly, we do not find that the instant authorization is "necessary to the maintenance or conduct of an existing service" within the meaning of section 309 (c) so as not to require the Commission to postpone its effective date.

12. Accordingly, it is ordered, This 8th day of October 1954, pursuant to section 309 (c) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, that effective immediately, the effective date of the grant of the above-entitled application is postponed pending final determination by the Commission with respect to the protest filed herein by Peter T. Kroeger, and that the above-entitled application is designated for hearing at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., to commence at 10:00 a. m. on the 15th of November, 1954, on the following issues:

(1) To determine what percentage of the activities of R. J. Laros & Bro. in terms of gross volume of business and payroll is devoted to the following activities referred to in the application:

(a) The erection and installation of plumbing and heating systems,

(b) Electrical conduit and air-duct fabrication and installation tie-in with heating facility,

(c) Ground excavation for sewerage lines and/or installation of fuel storage facilities, and

(d) Modification of existing structures to install heating and/or plumbing systems, and to what extent the radio station applied for would be used in connection with any or all of these activities.

(2) To determine what percentage of the activities of R. J. Laros & Bro. in terms of gross volume of business and payroll is devoted to the servicing of oil burner equipment, an activity not referred to in the application, and to what extent the radio station applied for would be used in connection with this activity.

(3) To determine whether R. J. Laros & Bro. made a full and accurate disclosure of its activities and the purpose for which it planned to use radio in its above-entitled application.

(4) To determine in the light of the evidence adduced with respect to the foregoing issues, whether the above-entitled application of R. J. Laros & Bro. should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof as to each of the above issues shall be on the applicant, R. J. Laros & Bro.

It is further ordered, That the protestant and the Chief of the Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau are hereby made parties to the proceeding herein.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 1-1138]

JULIAN & KOKENGE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO WITHDRAW FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

OCTOBER 12, 1954.

The Julian & Kokenge Co., pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2-1 (b) promulgated thereunder, has made application to withdraw its Common Stock, No Par Value, from listing and registration on the American Stock Exchange and on the Cincinnati Stock Exchange.

The reasons alleged in the application for withdrawing this security from listing and registration include the following:

(1) The concentration of the stock amounts to 86½ percent of the shares in the hands of 3 families, employees and others close to the applicant, leaving only 16,279 of the 122,030 shares in the hands of 262 other public holders as of September 7, 1954, of which, in turn, 9,956 shares are held by 139 shareholders residing in Columbus or elsewhere in Ohio.

(2) Activity on the Cincinnati Stock Exchange is negligible and activity on the American Stock Exchange has averaged less than 125 shares per month over the past 7 years.

(3) Delisting was approved by unanimous vote of shareholders at a meeting on January 21, 1952, at which approximately 70 percent of the outstanding shares including about 34 percent of the shares not owned by the 3 controlling families were voted, and as of September 7, 1954, the applicant had only 57 shareholders owning a total of 4,140 shares who were not shareholders on January 21, 1952.

In view of the concentrated holdings and small trading volume, the Cincinnati Stock Exchange has waived the requirements of its rule having to do with withdrawal of securities from listing. The delisting rules of the American Stock Exchange have been complied with.

Upon receipt of a request, prior to October 28, 1954, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of this security, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms or conditions. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D. C. If no one requests a hearing on this matter, this application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated in the application, and other information contained in the official file of the Commission pertaining to the matter.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

FOUR STATES URANIUM CORP.

ORDER SUSPENDING EXEMPTION AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

OCTOBER 11, 1954.

Four States Uranium Corporation, 618 Rood Avenue, Grand Junction, Colorado, having filed with the Commission on August 16, 1954, a notification on Form 1-A and an offering circular relating to a proposed public offering of 300,000 shares of its $1 par value common stock, and amendments to the notification and offering circular on September 21, 1954, and September 24, 1954, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder; and

The Commission having reasonable cause to believe that the terms and conditions of said Regulation A have not been complied with in that (1) an offering circular has not been and is not being delivered to offerees and purchasers of the said stock as required by Rule 219 (a) and (2) the offering was commenced and securities sold prior to the time permitted by Rule 219 (e):

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933 that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is, suspended.

Notice is hereby given that any person having any interest in the matter may file with the Secretary of the Commission a written request for a hearing; that, within 20 days after receipt of such request, the Commission will, or at any time upon its own motion may, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether this order of suspension should be vacated or made permanent, without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of additional matters at the hearing; and that notice of the time and place for said hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

It is further ordered, That this order and notice shall be served upon Four States Uranium Corporation and Joe Rosenthal personally or by registered mail or by confirmed telegraphic notice, and shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

NATIONAL FUEL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF COMMON STOCK PURSUANT TO RIGHTS OFFERING

OCTOBER 11, 1954.

Notice is hereby given that National Fuel Gas Company ("National Fuel"), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and has designated sections 6 (a) and 7 thereof as applicable to the proposed transactions, which are summarized as follows:

National Fuel proposes to issue and sell, without an underwriting, 381,018 shares of its authorized but unissued common stock, no par value, pursuant to a rights offering to its stockholders on the basis of one share of additional common stock for each ten shares of outstanding common stock at a price to be fixed prior to the offering and which will be supplied by amendment. The additional shares are to be offered to stockholders of record at the close of business on or about November 8, 1954, and the subscription offer will expire at 3:30 p. m., e. s. t., on November 29, 1954.

The right to subscribe for the additional shares of common stock will be evidenced by transferable warrants expressed in terms of "rights", one right being issued for each share of the presently outstanding common stock, and ten rights will be necessary to exercise the privilege of subscribing for one full share of additional common stock ("Basic Right").

No fractional shares are to be issued. However, subject to allotment, any holder of a warrant evidencing a number of rights in excess of ten but not evenly divisible by ten may subscribe for one more full share than he would be entitled to under the Basic Right, and any holder of a warrant evidencing less than ten rights may subscribe for one full share ("Primary Privilege"). No subscriber may exercise more than one such Primary Privilege.

Under a proposed Secondary Subscription Privilege ("Secondary Privilege") and subject to allotment, any holder of a warrant who has exercised either the Basic Right or the Primary Privilege, or both, may subscribe for such additional number of shares as the holder may elect.

As to the allotment in respect of the Primary and Secondary Privileges, any shares not subscribed for under the Basic Right will be issued and sold to persons exercising one or both of the Privileges. However, all subscriptions pursuant to the Primary Privilege will be filled before any subscription under the Secondary Privilege is recognized. In the event there are insufficient shares to fill all Primary Privilege subscriptions, those exercised on the basis of nine rights will be filled first, then those on the basis of eight rights, seven, six and so on in that order. Should it be possible to fill some but not all subscriptions in any one of these groups the subscriptions will be filled in order of their receipt. If there should remain insufficient shares to fill all subscriptions under the Secondary Privilege the remaining shares will be allotted in proportion, as nearly as is practicable, to the number of rights covered by all warrants containing a subscription under the Secondary Privilege rather than upon the basis of the number of shares requested.

Warrants issued to common stockholders whose addresses are outside the continental United States, Canada and Cuba will not be mailed but will be held for their accounts until 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., November 26, 1954, when (if no instructions have been received) they will be sold and the net proceeds, if any, shall be either remitted to them or held for the account of each such stockholder.

The declaration states that the net proceeds from the sale of the additional shares of common stock will be used either to repay a portion of National Fuel's outstanding bank loans now aggregating $8,700,000, which were obtained to provide monies for the purchase of common stock of or for loans to its operating subsidiary companies; or to purchase additional common stock of or for new loans to such subsidiaries.

It is represented that no State or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed issuance and sale of common stock.

The fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated as follows:

Item	Amount
Federal stamp tax	$11,400
Filing fee, Securities and Exchange Commission	700
Fees and expenses of subscription agent (The Hanover Bank)	21,000
Fees and expenses of counsel:

Gifford, Graham, MacDonald & Illig	100
Brooks, Cromarty & Baker	100
Cahill, Gordon, Reindel & Ohl (Blue Sky)	4,300
Auditors' fee (price Waterhouse & Co.)	2,000
Printing of Form S-1, Prospectus, Exhibits, etc	19,000
Printing and engraving securities	5,500
Miscellaneous, including postage and insurance	12,400
Total	83,000

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 5, 1954, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by the said declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time thereafter said declaration, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW TITLE

EDITORIAL NOTE: The enactment of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 makes it desirable to establish a new title in the Code of Federal Regulations to be designated "Title 26—Internal Revenue, 1954." The new title will contain those administrative rules and regulations, general and permanent in nature, which are effective as to all matters to which the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 is applicable. The new title does not supersede the present "Title 26—Internal Revenue" as to those facts or circumstances to which the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 are applicable.

The new Title 26 should be cited as "26 CFR." Thus, the approved abbreviated citation of § 1.213 in Title 26, (relating to medical, dental, etc., expenses) would be "26 CFR 1.213." If reference is made to regulations under the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, that date should be shown in the reference. Thus, in referring to Part 29 of the former Title 26 (Treasury Regulations 111, relating to income taxes for taxable years beginning after 1941 and before 1952), the reference should be to "26 CFR (1939) Part 29".

The present plans of the Internal Revenue Service generally call for issuance of new regulations (such as regulations relating to income taxes, estate tax, gift taxes, wine, etc.), each of which will be designated as a particular part of the new title. It may be necessary in some cases, however, to issue portions of the regulations as Treasury decisions as soon as these portions are developed prior to issuing the complete regulations on that subject in one document. For example, according to present plans for issuing new regulations relating to income tax, approximately 60 separate Treasury decisions will be involved. These separate Treasury decisions will be brought together at a later date and named the Income Tax Regulations (1954 ed.), and will appear as Part 1 of the new Title 26 of the Code of Federal Regulations. The name and appropriate CFR citation will be used as the official designation. The Internal Revenue Service does not expect to assign a separate Internal Revenue Service number (such as Regulations 111 or Regulations 118) to regulations which will be issued under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

The pattern and range of part numbers for the new Title 26 are shown by the following table:

(1) This Convention shall be ratified and the instruments of ratification shall be exchanged at Canberra as soon as possible.

(2) This Convention shall become effective—

(a) In the case of United States tax, on the first day of January in the year in which the exchange of instruments of ratification takes place; and

(b) In the case of Australian tax, for the year of income commencing on the first day of July next succeeding the date upon which this Convention becomes effective in the case of United States tax.

(3) This Convention shall continue in effect indefinitely but either Contracting State may, on or before the thirtieth day of June in any year after 1955, give to the other Contracting State notice of termination and, in that event, this Convention shall cease to be effective—

(a) In the case of United States tax, on and after the first day of January next following the giving of that notice of termination; and

(b) In the case of Australian tax, for the year of income commencing on the first day of July next succeeding the date on which this Convention ceases to be effective in the case of United States tax, and for all subsequent years.

(b) As used in this part, any term defined in the convention shall have the meaning so assigned to it; any term not so defined shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning which such term has under the internal revenue laws. As indicated in Article II (1) (h) of the convention, the term "resident of Australia" shall have the meaning which it has under the laws of Australia relating to Australian tax.

§ 501.2 Dividends—(a) General. (1) Dividends paid on or after January 1, 1953, to a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) or to a foreign corporation by a company (other than a United States corporation) which is a resident of Australia are exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article VI of the convention, if such alien or foreign corporation is a resident of Australia. As to what consitutes a "company" for such purpose, see Article II (1) (l) of the convention.

(2) The rate of United States tax imposed by the Internal Revenue Code upon dividends (other than dividends falling within the scope of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) derived from sources within the United States on or after January 1, 1953, by a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) or by a foreign corporation shall not exceed 15 percent under the provisions of Article VII of the convention, if such alien or foreign corporation (i) is a resident of Australia, (ii) is liable for Australian tax on such dividends, and (iii) at no time during the taxable year in which such dividends are derived has engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein. As to what constitutes a permanent establishment, see Article II (1) (o) of the convention.

(3) Thus, if a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of Australia performs personal services within the United States during the taxable year, has at no time during such year engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein, and is liable for Australian tax on a dividend described in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph which was derived in that year from United States sources, he is entitled to the reduced rate of tax with respect to such dividend, as provided in Article VII of the convention, even though under the provisions of section 871 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 he has engaged in trade or business within the United States during such year by reason of his having rendered personal services therein.

(4) The fact that the payee of a dividend described in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph is not required to pay Australian tax on such dividend because of the application of reliefs or exemptions under Australian tax laws does not prevent the application of the reduction in rate of United States tax with respect to such dividend. If the payee would have been required to pay Australian tax on such dividend had he derived an income large enough to require payment of such tax, then liability for Australian tax exists for the purpose of the reduction in rate of United States tax.

(b) Effect of address in Australia on withholding in case of dividends. (1) For the purpose of paragraph (c) (1) of this section every nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) and every foreign corporation, having an address in Australia, shall be deemed by United States withholding agents to be a nonresident alien or a foreign corporation, respectively, qualifying as a taxpayer who is a resident of Australia.

(2) For the purpose of paragraph (c) (2) of this section every nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) and every foreign corporation, having an address in Australia, shall be deemed by United States withholding agents to be a nonresident alien or a foreign corporation, respectively, qualifying as a taxpayer who is (i) a resident of Australia, (ii) liable for Australian tax on the dividends concerned, and (iii) not engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein.

(c) Withholding of United States tax. (1) No withholding of United States tax is required in the case of dividends paid by a company (other than a United States corporation) which is a resident of Australia to a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) or to a foreign corporation, having an address in Australia, in any case except that in which, prior to the date of payment of such dividends, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has notified the withholding agent that the exemption from withholding shall not apply.

(2) Withholding at source, as required under the internal revenue laws, in the case of dividends (other than dividends falling within the scope of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) derived from sources within the United States by nonresident aliens (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) and by foreign corporations, having addresses in Australia, shall be at the rate of 15 percent in every case except that in which, prior to the date of payment of such dividends, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has notified the withholding agent that the reduced rate of withholding shall not apply.

(3) The provisions of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph are based upon the assumption that the payee of the dividend is the actual owner of the capital stock from which the dividend is derived. As to action by the recipient who is not the owner of the dividend, see § 501.8.

(4) The rate at which United States tax has been withheld from any dividend paid at any time after the expiration of the thirtieth day after the date on which this part is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER to any person whose address is in Australia at the time the dividend is paid shall be shown either in writing or by appropriate stamp on the check, draft, or other evidence of payment, or on an accompanying statement.

§ 501.3 Interest. The convention does not change the rate of United States tax imposed pursuant to sections 871, 881, and 882 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 upon interest. The withholding of United States tax with respect to such income derived from sources within the United States by a nonresident alien who is a resident of Australia, or by a foreign corporation which is a resident of Australia, is not changed by the convention.

§ 501.4 Natural resource royalties and real property rentals. The convention does not change the rate of United States tax imposed pursuant to sections 871, 881, and 882 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 upon natural resource royalties and real property rentals. The withholding of United States tax with respect to such items derived from sources within the United States by a nonresident alien who is a resident of Australia, or by a foreign corporation which is a resident of Australa, is not changed by the convention.

§ 501.5 Copyright royalties—(a) General. (1) Royalties for the use, production, or reproduction of, or for the privilege of using, producing, or reproducing, any literary, dramatic, musical, or artistic work in which copyright subsists, which are derived from sources within the United States on or after January 1, 1953, by a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) or by a foreign corporation are exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article X of the convention, if such alien or foreign corporation (i) is a resident of Australia and (ii) at no time during the taxable year in which such royalties are derived has engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein. Such royalties are, therefore, not subject to the withholding of United States tax at source. As to what constitutes a permanent establishment, see Article II (1) (o) of the convention.

(2) The provisions of this section shall have no application to royalties in respect of motion picture films or in respect of the reproduction by any means of images or sound produced directly or indirectly from those films.

(b) Application of exemption from withholding. (1) To avoid withholding of United States tax at source in the case of the royalties to which paragraph (a) of this section is applicable, the nonresident alien or the foreign corporation shall notify the withholding agent by letter in duplicate that such royalties are exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article X of the convention. The letter of notification shall be signed by the owner of the royalties, trustee, or agent and shall show the name and address of the obligor and the name and address of the owner of the royalties. It shall contain a statement (i) that the owner is neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States but is a resident of Australia under the laws of Australia relating to Australian tax, or, in the case of a corporation, (ii) that the owner is a corporation (other than a United States corporation) which is a resident of Australia under the laws of Australia relating to Australian tax; and, in addition, a statement that the owner has at no time during the current taxable year engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein.

(2) This letter of notification, which shall constitute authorization for the payment of such royalties without withholding of United States tax at source, shall be filed with the withholding agent for each successive three-calendar-year period during which such income is paid. For this purpose, the first such period shall commence with the beginning of the calendar year in which such income is first paid on or after January 1, 1954. Each such letter filed with any withholding agent shall be filed not later than 20 days preceding the date of the first payment within each successive period, or, if that is not possible because of special circumstances, as soon as possible after such first payment.

(3) If such letter is also to be used as authorization for the release, pursuant to § 501.7 (a), of excess tax withheld from royalties, it shall also contain a statement that, at the time when the royalties were derived from which the excess tax was withheld, (i) the owner was neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States but was a resident of Australia under the laws of Australia relating to Australian tax, or, in the case of a corporation, (ii) the owner was a corporation (other than a United States corporation) which was a resident of Australia under the laws of Australia relating to Australian tax; and, in addition, a statement that the owner at no time during the taxable year in which such royalties were derived was engaged in trade or business in the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein.

(4) Once a letter has been filed in respect of any three-calendar-year period, no additional letter need be filed in respect thereto unless the Commissioner of Internal Revenue notifies the withholding agent that an additional letter shall be filed by the taxpayer. If, after filing a letter of notification, the taxpayer ceases to be eligible for the exemption from United States tax granted by the convention in respect to such royalties, such taxpayer shall promptly notify the withholding agent by letter in duplicate. When any change occurs in the ownership of the royalties as recorded on the books of the payer, the exemption from withholding of United States tax shall no longer apply unless the new owner of record is entitled to and does properly file a letter of notification with the withholding agent.

(5) Each letter of notification, or the duplicate thereof, shall be immediately forwarded by the withholding agent to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Audit Division, Alien Returns Section, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

§ 501.6 Pensions and annuities—(a) General. Private and government pensions, and annuities as defined in Article XII (2) of the convention, derived from sources within the United States on or after January 1, 1953, by an Australian resident are exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article XII (1) of the convention. Such items of income are, therefore, not subject to the withholding of United States tax at source. As to what constitutes an Australian resident for such purpose, see Article II (1) (f) of the convention.

(b) Application of exemption from withholding. (1) To avoid withholding of United States tax at source in the case of the items of income to which paragraph (a) of this section is applicable, the Australian resident shall notify the withholding agent by letter in duplicate that such income is exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article XII (1) of the convention. The letter of notification shall be signed by the owner of the income, shall show the name and address of both the payer and the owner of the income, and shall contain a statement that the owner is an Australian resident within the meaning of Article II (1) (f) of the convention.

(2) If such letter is also to be used as authorization for the release, pursuant to § 501.7 (a), of excess tax withheld from such items of income, it shall also contain a statement that, at the time when the income was derived from which the excess tax was withheld, the owner was an Australian resident within the meaning of Article II (1) (f) of the convention.

(3) This letter shall constitute authorization for the payment of such items of income without withholding of United States tax at source unless the Commissioner of Internal Revenue subsequently notifies the withholding agent that the tax shall be withheld with respect to payments of such items of income made after receipt of such notice. If, after filing a letter of notification, the owner of the income ceases to be eligible for the exemption from United States tax granted by the convention in respect to such income, such owner shall promptly notify the withholding agent by letter in duplicate. When any change occurs in the ownership of such income as recorded on the books of the payer, the exemption from withholding of United States tax shall no longer apply unless the new owner of record is entitled to and does properly file a letter of notification with the withholding agent.

(4) Each letter of notification, or the duplicate thereof, shall be immediately forwarded by the withholding agent to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Audit Division, Alien Returns Section, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

§ 501.7 Release of excess tax withheld at source—(a) General. (1) In order to give the convention effective application at the earliest practicable date, the exemptions from, and reduction in the rate of, withholding of United States tax at source granted by this part are hereby made effective beginning January 1, 1954, contingent upon compliance with the applicable provisions of §§ 501.2 through 501.6.

(2) In the case of dividends to which § 501.2 (a) (1) is applicable, which are derived from sources within the United States and paid to a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) or to a foreign corporation, whose address at the time of payment was in Australia, if United States tax at the statutory rate (30 percent as of the date of approval of this part) has been withheld from such dividends on or after January 1, 1954, there shall be released by the withholding agent and paid over to the person from whom it was withheld an amount equal to the tax so withheld.

(3) In the case of dividends to which § 501.2 (a) (2) is applicable, which are derived from sources within the United States and paid to a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) or to a foreign corporation, whose address at the time of payment was in Australia, if United States tax at the statutory rate (30 percent as of the date of approval of this part) has been withheld from such dividends on or after January 1, 1954, there shall be released by the withholding agent and paid over to the person from whom it was withheld the difference between the tax so withheld and the tax required to be withheld pursuant to § 501.2 (c) (2).

(4) In the case of every taxpayer whose address at the time of payment was in Australia and who furnishes to the withholding agent the letter of notification prescribed in §§ 501.5 (b) and 501.6 (b) as authorization for the release of excess tax withheld, if United States tax at the statutory rate (30 percent as of the date of approval of this part) has been withheld on or after January 1, 1954, from royalties to which § 501.5 is applicable, government pensions, private pensions, and annuities as defined in Article XII (2) of the convention, there shall be released by the withholding agent and paid over to the person from whom it was withheld an amount equal to the tax so withheld from such items.

(5) The provisions of this section (other than paragraph (b)) shall have no application to excess tax withheld at source which has been paid by the withholding agent to the district director of internal revenue.

(b) Amounts withheld during 1953. For provisions respecting the refund of excess tax withheld during the calendar year 1953, see § 501.11.

§ 501.8 Addressee not actual owner—(a) General. (1) If the recipient in Australia of any dividend, with respect to which no United States tax has been withheld at source pursuant to § 501.2 (c) (1), is a nominee or representative through whom such dividend flows to a person other than one described in § 501.2 (a) (1) as being entitled to the exemption from United States tax, such recipient in Australia shall withhold upon such dividend (to the extent constituting gross income from sources within the United States) United States tax at the statutory rate (30 percent as of the date of approval of this part).

(2) If the recipient in Australia of any dividend, with respect to which United States tax at the reduced rate of 15 percent has been withheld at source pursuant to § 501.2 (c) (2), is a nominee or representative through whom such dividend flows to a person other than one described in § 501.2 (a) (2) as being entitled to such reduced rate, such recipient in Australia shall withhold an additional amount of United States tax equivalent to the United States tax which would have been withheld if the convention had not been in effect (30 percent as of the date of approval of this part) minus the 15 percent which has been withheld at the source.

(3) In any case in which a fiduciary or partnership with an address in Australia receives, otherwise than as a nominee or representative, a dividend with respect to which no United States tax has been withheld at source pursuant to § 501.2 (c) (1), or with respect to which United States tax at the reduced rate of 15 percent has been withheld at source pursuant to § 501.2 (c) (2), if a beneficiary of such fiduciary or partner in such partnership is not entitled to the exemption from, or reduction in rate of, United States tax granted by Article VI or VII of the convention, as the case may be, the fiduciary or partnership shall withhold the required or additional United States tax with respect to the portion of such dividend included in such beneficiary's share, or in such partner's share, of the income of such fiduciary or partnership which is includible in the gross income of such beneficiary or partner. The amount of the tax to be withheld is to be calculated in the same manner as under subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, whichever is applicable.

(4) If any amount of United States tax is released pursuant to § 501.7 by the withholding agent in the United States with respect to a dividend paid to such a person (nominee, representative, fiduciary, or partnership) with an address in Australia, the latter shall also withhold from such released amount any United States tax, otherwise required to be withheld by the preceding provisions of this section in respect of such dividend, in the same manner as if at the time of payment of such dividend no United States tax, or United States tax at the rate of only 15 percent, whichever is appropriate, had been withheld at source therefrom.

(b) Returns filed by Australian withholding agents. The amounts withheld pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section by any withholding agent in Australia shall be deposited, without converting such amounts into United States dollars, with the Australian Commissioner of Taxation on or before the 15th day after the close of the quarter of the calendar year in which such withholding in Australia occurs. The withholding agent making such deposit shall render therewith such appropriate Australian form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Taxation. The amounts so deposited should be remitted by the Commissioner of Taxation by draft in United States dollars to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Baltimore 2, Maryland, U. S. A., on or before the end of the calendar month in which the deposit is made, and should be accompanied by such Australian form as may be required to be rendered by the withholding agent in Australia in connection with such deposit.

§ 501.9 Information to be furnished in ordinary course—(a) General. In compliance with the provisions of Article XVIII of the convention the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will transmit to the Australian Commissioner of Taxation, as soon as practicable after the close of the calendar year 1954 and of each subsequent calendar year during which the convention is in effect, the duplicate copy of each available Form 1042 Supplement filed for the preceding calendar year pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Information return. (1) To facilitate compliance with Article XVIII of the convention, every United States withholding agent shall make and file in duplicate with the district director of internal revenue for the district in which the withholding agent is located an information return on Form 1042 Supplement, with respect to Australian addressees, which shall be filed for the calendar year 1954 and subsequent calendar years. This return shall be filed simultaneously with Form 1042.

(2) There shall be reported on such Form 1042 Supplement all items of fixed or determinable annual or periodical income (and, for 1955 and subsequent years, amounts described in section 402 (a) (2), section 631 (b) and (c), and section 1235 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, which are considered to be gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets) derived from sources within the United States and paid to nonresident aliens (including nonresident alien individuals, fiduciaries, and partnerships) and to nonresident foreign corporations, whose addresses at the time of payment were in Australia, including such items of income upon which, in accordance with this Treasury decision, no withholding of United States tax is required.

§ 501.10 Beneficiaries of a domestic estate or trust. A nonresident alien who is a resident of Australia and who is a beneficiary of a domestic estate or trust shall be entitled to the exemption from, or reduction in rate of, United States tax granted by Articles VI, VII, and X of the convention with respect to dividends and copyright royalties to the extent such item or items are included in that portion of the income of such estate or trust which is (or would, but for such exemption, be) includible in the gross income of the beneficiary, provided that he otherwise satisfies the requirements of these respective articles. In order to be entitled in such instance to the exemption from, or reduction in rate of, withholding of United States tax such beneficiary must otherwise satisfy such requirements and shall, where applicable, execute and submit to the fiduciary of such estate or trust in the United States the appropriate letter of notification prescribed in § 501.5 (b).

(b) The taxpayer's total gross income from sources within the United States, including every item of capital gain subject to tax under the provisions of section 211 (a) (1) (B) or 211 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, shall be disclosed on the return. In the event that securities are held in the name of a person other than the actual or beneficial owner, the name and address of such person shall be furnished with the claim. There shall also be included in such claim for refund:

(1) A statement that, at the time when the item or items of income were derived from which the excess tax was withheld, (i) the taxpayer was neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States but was a resident of Australia under the laws of Australia relating to Australian tax, or, in the case of a corporation, (ii) the taxpayer was a corporation (other than a United States corporation) which was a resident of Australia under the laws of Australia relating to Australian tax;

(2) A statement that the taxpayer at no time during the taxable year in which the income was derived was engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein;

(3) In the case of a claim involving an overpayment of tax upon dividends to which § 501.2 (a) (1) is applicable, a statement that such dividends were paid by a company (other than a United States corporation) which was a resident of Australia at the time of payment; and

(4) In the case of a claim involving an overpayment of tax upon dividends to which § 501.2 (a) (2) is applicable, a statement that the taxpayer was liable for Australian tax on such dividends.

(c) If, however, the taxpayer derived during the taxable year from sources within the United States income which consists exclusively of dividends to which § 501.2 (a) (1) is applicable, and/or pensions or annuities to which § 501.6 is applicable, the statement specified in paragraph (b) (2) of this section shall not be required.

Because it is necessary to bring into effect at the earliest practicable date the rules of this Treasury decision respecting release or refund of excess tax withheld, and exemption from, or reduction in rate of, withholding of tax, it is hereby found that it is impracticable to issue this Treasury decision with notice and public procedure thereon under section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, or subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of that act.

§ 502.1 Introductory. (a) The income tax convention and protocol between the United States and Greece, signed February 20, 1950, and April 20, 1953, respectively, and proclaimed by the President of the United States on January 15, 1954, referred to in this part as the convention, provides in part as follows effective January 1, 1953:

ARTICLE I

(1) The taxes which are the subject of the present Convention are:

(a) In the case of the United States of America: the Federal income tax, including surtaxes (hereinafter referred to as United States tax).

(b) In the case of the Kingdom of Greece: the income tax, including the schedular or analytical tax, the complementary tax and the professional or business tax (hereinafter referred to as Greek tax).

(2) The present Convention shall also apply to any other taxes of a substantially similar character imposed by either Contracting State subsequently to the date of signature of the present Convention.

ARTICLE II

(1) In the present Convention, unless the context otherwise requires—

(a) The term "United States" means the United States of America and when used in a geographical sense means the States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

(b) The term "Greece" means the territories of the Kingdom of Greece.

(c) The term "United States Corporation" means a corporation, association or other like entity created or organized in or under the laws of the United States.

(d) The term "Greek Corporation" means a legal entity established under the laws of Greece.

(e) The terms "corporations of one Contracting State" and "corporation of the other Contracting State" mean a United States corporation or a Greek corporation, as the context requires.

(i) The term "permanent establishment", when used with respect to an enterprise of one of the Contracting States, means a branch, factory or other fixed place of business, but does not include an agency unless that agent has, and habitually exercises, a general authority to negotiate and conclude contracts on behalf of such enterprise or has a stock of merchandise from which he regularly fills orders on behalf of such enterprise. An enterprise of one of the Contracting States shall not be deemed to have a permanent establishment in the other Contracting State merely because it carries on business dealings in such other Contracting State through a bona fide commission agent, broker or custodian acting in the ordinary course of his business as such. The fact that an enterprise of one of the Contracting States maintains in the other Contracting State a fixed place of business exclusively for the purchase of goods or merchandise shall not of itself constitute such fixed place of business a permanent establishment of such enterprise. When a corporation of one Contracting State has a subsidiary corporation which is a corporation of the other Contracting State or which is engaged in trade or business in such other Contracting State, such subsidiary corporation shall not, merely because of that fact, be deemed to be a permanent establishment of its parent corporation.

(j) The term "competent authority" or "competent authorities" means, in the case of the United States, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or his duly authorized representative; in the case of Greece, the General Director of Direct Taxes, or his duly authorized representative.

(2) In the application of the provisions of the present Convention by either of the Contracting States, any term which is not defined in the present Convention shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning which that term has under the laws of such Contracting State relating to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention.

ARTICLE VI

(1) Interest (on bonds, securities, notes, debentures, or on any other form of indebtedness) received from sources within the United States by a resident or corporation of Greece not engaged in trade or business in the United States through a permanent establishment therein, shall be exempt from United States tax; but such exemption shall not apply to such interest paid by a United States corporation to a Greek corporation controlling, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power in the paying corporation.

(2) Interest (on bonds, securities, notes, debentures, or on any other form of indebtedness) received from sources within Greece by a resident or corporation of the United States not engaged in trade or business in Greece through a permanent establishment therein, shall be exempt from Greek tax but only to the extent that such interest does not exceed 9 percent per annum; but such exemption shall not apply to such interest paid by a Greek corporation to a United States corporation controlling, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power in the paying corporation.

ARTICLE VII

Royalties for the right to use copyrights, patents, designs, secret processes and formulae, trade marks and other analogous property, and royalties (including rentals), (other than those in respect of motion picture films) for the use of industrial, commercial or scientific equipment, derived from sources within one of the Contracting States by a resident or corporation of the other Contracting State not engaged in trade or business in the former State through a permanent establishment therein, shall be exempt from tax by the former State.

A resident or corporation of one of the Contracting States, deriving from sources within the other Contracting State royalties in respect to the operation of mines, quarries, or other natural resources, or rentals from real property, may elect for any taxable year to be subject to the tax of such other Contracting State on the basis of net income as determined under the laws of such other Contracting State during such taxable year.

(4) The term "life annuities" as used in this Article means a stated sum payable periodically at stated times during life or during life, an obligation to make the payments in return for adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth.

ARTICLE XV

(1) The authorities of each of the Contracting States, in accordance with the practices of that State, may prescribe regulations necessary to carry out the provisions of the present Convention.

(2) With respect to the provisions of the present Convention relating to exchange of information and mutual assistance in the collection of taxes, the Contracting States may, in accordance with their respective practices, prescribe rules concerning matters of procedure, forms of application and replies thereto, conversion of currency, disposition of amounts collected, minimum amounts subject to collection, and related matters.

ARTICLE XVI

(1) The provisions of the present Convention shall not be construed to restrict in any manner any exemption, deduction, credit or other allowance accorded by the laws of one of the Contracting States in the determination of the taxes imposed by such State.

(2) Should any difficulty or doubt arise as to the interpretation or application of the present Convention, the competent authorities of the Contracting States shall undertake to settle the question by mutual agreement.

(3) The citizens or subjects of one of the Contracting States shall not, while resident in the other Contracting State, be subjected therein to other or more burdensome taxes than are the citizens or subjects of such other Contracting State residing in its territory. ARTICLE XVIII

The competent authorities of the Contracting States shall exchange such information (being information which such authorities have at their disposal) as is necessary for carrying out the provisions of the present Convention or for the prevention of fraud or the administration of statutory provisions against legal avoidance in relation to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention. Any information so exchanged shall be treated as secret and shall not be disclosed to any person other than those concerned with the assessment, and collection of the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention. No information shall be exchanged which would disclose a technical secret, or process relating to trade, industry, business, or a profession.

ARTICLE XX

(1) In no case shall the provisions of Article XVIII and XIX be construed so as to impose upon either of the Contracting States the obligation

(a) To carry out administrative measures at variance with the regulations and practice of either Contracting State, or

(b) To supply information which is not procurable under its own legislation or that of the State making application.

(2) The State to which application is made for information or assistance shall comply as soon as possible with the request addressed to it. Nevertheless, such State may refuse to comply with the request for reasons of public policy or if compliance would involve disclosure of a technical secret or process relating to trade, industry, business, or a profession. In such case it shall inform, as soon as possible, the State making the application.

ARTICLE XXI

(1) The present Convention shall be ratified and the instruments of ratification shall be exchanged at Athens as soon as possible.

(2) The present Convention shall become effective on the first day of January of the year in which the exchange of the instruments of ratification takes place. It shall continue effective for a period of five years beginning with that date and indefinitely after that period, but may be terminated by either of the Contracting States at the end of the five-year period or at any time thereafter, provided that at least six months' prior notice of termination has been given, the termination to become effective on the first day of January following the expiration of the six-month period.

(b) As used in this part, any term defined in the convention shall have the meaning so assigned to it; any term not so defined shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning which such term has under the internal revenue laws.

§ 502.2 Dividends. (a) Dividends paid on or after January 1, 1953, by a Greek corporation are exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article IX of the convention if the recipient is not a citizen, resident, or corporation of the United States. Such dividends are, therefore, not subject to the withholding of United States tax at source.

(b) The convention does not change the rate of United States tax imposed pursuant to sections 871, 881, and 882 of the International Revenue Code of 1954 upon dividends paid by a corporation other than a Greek corporation. The withholding of United States tax with respect to such dividends derived from sources within the United States by nonresident aliens who are residents of Greece, or by Greek corporations, is not changed by the convention.

§ 502.3 Interest—(a) General. (1) Interest paid on or after January 1, 1953, by a Greek corporation is exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article IX of the convention if the recipient is not a citizen, resident, or corporation of the United States. Interest paid to such recipients is, therefore, not subject to the withholding of United States tax at source.

(2) Interest (other than interest falling within the scope of paragraph (b) of this section) on bonds, securities, notes, debentures, or on any other form of indebtedness, including interest on obligations of the United States, obligations of instrumentalities of the United States, and mortgages and bonds secured by real property, which is paid by a person other than a Greek corporation and which is received from sources within the United States on or after January 1, 1953, by a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) who is a resident of Greece, or by a Greek corporation, is exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article VI (1) of the convention if such alien or corporation at no time during the taxable year in which such interest is received has engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein. Such interest is, therefore, not subject to the withholding of United States tax at source. As to what constitutes a permanent establishment, see Article II (1) (i) of the convention.

(b) Exemption not applicable to interest paid by subsidiary corporation to its parent corporation. Under the exception contained in Article VI (1) of the convention any interest received from sources within the United States and paid by a domestic corporation to a Greek corporation is not exempt from United States tax if such Greek corporation controls, directly or indirectly, at the time the interest is paid more than 50 percent of the entire voting power of all classes of stock of such domestic corporation. The exemption from United States tax provided by Article VI (1) of the convention does not, therefore, apply to such interest paid by such domestic corporation.

(c) Application of exemption from withholding. (1) To avoid withholding of United States tax at source in the case of coupon bond interest to which paragraph (a) (2) of this section is applicable, the nonresident alien who is a resident of Greece, or the Greek corporation, shall for each issue of bonds file Form 1001–G in duplicate when presenting the interest coupons for payment. This form shall be signed by the owner of the interest, trustee, or agent and shall show the name and address of the obligor, the name and address of the owner of the interest, and the amount of the interest. It shall contain a statement (i) that the owner is a resident of Greece, or is a Greek corporation, (ii) that the owner is not engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein, and, in the case of interest paid by a domestic corporation to a Greek corporation, (iii) that the owner does not control, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power of all classes of stock of the United States domestic corporation.

(2) The exemption from United States tax contemplated by Article VI (1) of the convention, insofar as it concerns coupon bond interest, is applicable only to the owner of the interest. The person presenting the coupon or on whose behalf it is presented shall, for the purpose of the exemption from tax, be deemed to be the owner of the interest only if he is, at the time the coupon is presented for payment, the owner of the bond from which the coupon has been detached. If the person presenting the coupon or on whose behalf it is presented is not the owner of the bond, Form 1001, and not Form 1001–G, shall be executed.

(3) The original and duplicate of Form 1001–G shall be forwarded by the withholding agent to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Audit Division, Alien Returns Section, Baltimore 2, Maryland, with the quarterly return on Form 1012. Form 1001–G need not be listed on Form 1012.

(4) To avoid withholding of United States tax at source in the case of interest, other than coupon bond interest, to which paragraph (a) (2) of this section is applicable, the nonresident alien who is a resident of Greece, or the Greek corporation, shall notify the withholding agent by letter in duplicate that such income is exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article VI (1) of the convention. The letter of notification shall be signed by the owner of the interest, trustee, or agent and shall show the name and address of the obligor and the name and address of the owner of the interest. It shall contain a statement (i) that the owner is neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States but is a resident of Greece, or, in the case of a corporation, that the owner is a Greek corporation, (ii) that the owner has at no time during the current taxable year engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein, and, in the case of interest paid by a domestic corporation to a Greek corporation, (iii) that the owner does not control, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power of all classes of stock of the United States domestic corporation.

(5) This letter of notification, which shall constitute authorization for the payment of such interest without withholding of United States tax at source, shall be filed with the withholding agent for each successive three-calendar-year period during which such income is paid. For this purpose, the first such period shall commence with the beginning of the calendar year in which such income is first paid on or after January 1, 1954. Each such letter filed with any withholding agent shall be filed not later than 20 days preceding the date of the first payment within each successive period, or, if that is not possible because of special circumstances, as soon as possible after such first payment.

(6) If such letter is also to be used as authorization for the release, pursuant to § 502.7, of excess tax withheld from interest, other than coupon bond interest, it shall also contain a statement (i) that, at the time when the interest was received from which the excess tax was withheld, the owner was neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States but was a resident of Greece, or, in the case of a corporation, the owner was a Greek corporation, (ii) that the owner at no time during the taxable year in which such interest was received was engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein, and, in the case of interest paid by a domestic corporation to a Greek corporation, (iii) that the owner did not control, directly or indirectly, at the time when such interest was paid, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power of all classes of stock of the United States domestic corporation.

(7) Once a letter has been filed in respect of any three-calendar-year period, no additional letter need be filed in respect thereto unless the Commissioner of Internal Revenue notifies the withholding agent that an additional letter shall be filed by the taxpayer. If, after filing a letter of notification, the taxpayer ceases to be eligible for the exemption from United States tax granted by the convention in respect to such interest, such taxpayer shall promptly notify the withholding agent by letter in duplicate. When any change occurs in the ownership of the interest as recorded on the books of the payer, the exemption from withholding of United States tax shall no longer apply unless the new owner of record is entitled to and does properly file a letter of notification with the withholding agent.

(8) Each letter of notification, or the duplicate thereof, shall be immediately forwarded by the withholding agent to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Audit Division, Alien Returns Section, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

(d) Interest paid by domestic corporation to Greek corporation where degree of stock ownership uncertain. (1) In any case in which a Greek corporation anticipates the receipt of interest from a domestic corporation and the relationship existing between the Greek corporation and the domestic corporation is such as to render uncertain whether, by reason of the exception contained in Article VI (1) of the convention, the exemption will apply to such interest, the Greek corporation shall not undertake to file any Form 1001–G or letter of notification prescribed by paragraph (c) of this section unless it has, prior to such filing, applied for and received from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington 25, D. C., a determination that such Greek corporation does not control, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power in the paying corporation. The application to the Commissioner shall contain a full statement of all the facts pertinent to a determination of the question.

(2) As soon as practicable after the application has been filed, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will determine whether the Greek corporation has such control of the domestic corporation as to render the exemption provided by Article VI (1) of the convention inapplicable to interest paid by such domestic corporation to such Greek corporation and shall notify the Greek corporation of his determination. The Greek corporation shall forthwith file with the domestic corporation a copy of the Commissioner's letter of notification.

(3) If the Commissioner's determination is that the Greek corporation does not control, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power of all classes of stock of the domestic corporation, the Greek corporation may thereafter avoid withholding at the source with respect to subsequent payments of such interest by complying with the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section, that is, by submitting Form 1001–G in the case of coupon bond interest, or the letter of notification for each three-calendar-year period in the case of interest other than interest payable by means of coupons.

(4) A determination of the Commissioner that the Greek corporation does not have such control of the domestic corporation as to render the exemption provided by Article VI (1) of the convention inapplicable will apply until such time as the stock ownership of the domestic corporation has changed to the extent that interest to be received from the domestic corporation by the Greek corporation is no longer exempt from United States tax under Article VI (1) of the convention. If such change in stock ownership occurs, the Greek corporation shall promptly notify both the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the domestic corporation of the then existing facts with respect to such stock ownership.

(5) In any case in which a Greek corporation has received on or after January 1, 1954, interest from a domestic corporation and the relationship existing between the Greek corporation and the domestic corporation was at the time the interest was paid such as to render uncertain whether, by reason of the exception contained in Article VI (1) of the convention, such interest was exempt from United States tax, the Greek corporation shall apply to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for a similar determination as to the degree of control at the time the interest was paid. If the Commissioner's determination is that at such time the degree of control was such as to permit the application of the exemption provided by Article VI (1) of the convention, his letter of notification may, subject to the provisions of § 502.7 (b), authorize the release of excess tax withheld with respect to such exempt interest.

§ 502.4 Natural resource royalties and real property rentals. The convention does not change the rate of United States tax imposed pursuant to sections 871, 881, and 882 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 upon natural resource royalties and real property rentals. The withholding of United States tax with respect to such items derived from sources within the United States by nonresident aliens who are residents of Greece, or by Greek corporations, is not changed by the convention.

§ 502.5 Patent and copyright royalties—(a) General. (1) Royalties for the right to use copyrights, patents, designs, secret processes and formulae, trade marks, and other analogous property, and royalties and rentals for the use of industrial, commercial, or scientific equipment, which are derived from sources within the United States on or after January 1, 1953, by a nonresident alien (including a nonresident alien individual, fiduciary, and partnership) who is a resident of Greece, or by a Greek corporation, are exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article VII of the convention if such alien or corporation at no time during the taxable year in which such income is derived has engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein. Such royalties are, therefore, not subject to the withholding of United States tax at source. As to what constitutes a permanent establishment, see Article II (1) (l) of the convention.

(2) The provisions of this section shall have no application to rentals or royalties in respect of motion picture films.

(b) Application of exemption from withholding. (1) To avoid withholding of United States tax at source in the case of the income to which paragraph (a) of this section is applicable, the nonresident alien who is a resident of Greece, or the Greek corporation, shall notify the withholding agent by letter in duplicate that such income is exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article VII of the convention. The provisions of § 502.3 (c) (other than those pertaining to the degree of control of voting power) relating to the execution, filing, and effective period of the letter of notification prescribed therein with respect to interest, including its use for the release of excess tax withheld, are equally applicable with respect to the income falling within the scope of this section.

(2) Each letter of notification, or the duplicate thereof, shall be immediately forwarded by the withholding agent to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Audit Division, Alien Returns Section, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

§ 502.6 Private pensions and life annuities—(a) General. Private pensions and life annuities, as defined in Article XI (3) and (4) of the convention, derived from sources within the United States on or after January 1, 1953, by a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of Greece are exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article XI (2) of the convention. Such items of income are, therefore, not subject to the withholding of United States tax at source.

(b) Application of exemption from withholding. (1) To avoid withholding of United States tax at source in the case of the items of income to which paragraph (a) of this section is applicable, the nonresident alien individual who is a resident of Greece shall notify the withholding agent by letter in duplicate that such income is exempt from United States tax under the provisions of Article XI of the convention. The letter of notification shall be signed by the owner of the income, shall show the name and address of both the payer and the owner of the income, and shall contain a statement that the owner, an individual, is neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States but is a resident of Greece.

(2) If such letter is also to be used as authorization for the release, pursuant to § 502.7 (a), of excess tax withheld from such items of income, it shall also contain a statement that the owner was, at the time when the income was derived from which the excess tax was withheld, neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States but was a resident of Greece.

(3) This letter shall constitute authorization for the payment of such items of income without withholding of United States tax at source unless the Commissioner of Internal Revenue subsequently notifies the withholding agent that the tax shall be withheld with respect to payments of such items of income made after receipt of such notice. If, after filing a letter of notification, the owner of the income ceases to be eligible for the exemption from United States tax granted by the convention in respect to such income, he shall promptly notify the withhholding agent by letter in duplicate. When any change occurs in the ownership of such income as recorded on the books of the payer, the exemption from withholding of United States tax shall no longer apply unless the new owner of record is entitled to and does properly file a letter of notification with the withholding agent.

(4) Each letter of notification, or the duplicate thereof, shall be immediately forwarded by the withholding agent to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Audit Division, Alien Returns Section, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

§ 502.7 Release of excess tax withheld at source—(a) General. (1) In order to give the convention effective application at the earliest practicable date, the exemptions from withholding of United States tax at source granted by this part are hereby made effective beginning January 1, 1954, contingent upon compliance with the applicable provisions of §§ 502.2 through 502.6.

(2) In the case of dividends and interest paid by a Greek corporation to a recipient other than a citizen, resident, or corporation of the United States, if United States tax at the stautory rate has been withheld on or after January 1, 1954, there shall be released by the withholding agent and paid over to the person from whom it was withheld, an amount equal to the tax so withheld from such items.

(3) In the case of every taxpayer whose address at the time of payment was in Greece and who furnishes to the withholding agent the letter of notification prescribed in §§ 502.3 (c), 502.5 (b), and 502.6 (b) as authorization for the release of excess tax withheld, if United States tax at the statutory rate (30 percent as of the date of approval of this part) has been withheld on or after January 1, 1954, from interest (other than coupon bond interest), copyright royalties and other items to which § 502.5 (a) is applicable, and from private pensions and life annuities as defined in Article XI, there shall be released (except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section) by the withholding agent and paid over to the person from whom it was withheld an amount equal to the tax so withheld from such items.

(4) In the case of every taxpayer whose address at the time of payment was in Greece and who furnishes to the withholding agent Form 1001–G clearly marked "Substitute" and executed in accordance with § 502.3 (c), if United States tax at the statutory rate has been withheld from coupon bond interest on or after January 1, 1954, there shall be released (except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section) by the withholding agent and paid over to the person from whom it was withheld an amount equal to the tax so withheld from such interest. One such substitute form shall be filed in duplicate with respect to each issue of bonds and will serve with respect to that issue to replace all Forms 1001 previously filed by the taxpayer in the calendar year in which the excess tax was withheld and with respect to which such excess is released.

(5) The original and duplicate of substitute Form 1001–G shall be forwarded by the withholding agent to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Audit Division, Alien Returns Section, Baltimore 2, Maryland, with the quarterly return on Form 1012. Substitute Form 1001–G need not be listed on Form 1012.

(6) The provisions of this section (other than paragraph (c) of this section) shall have no application to excess tax withheld at source which has been paid by the witholding agent to the district director of internal revenue.

(b) Interest paid where degree of stock ownership is determined. If United States tax at the rate of 28 percent or 30 percent, as the case may be, has been withheld on or after January 1, 1954, from interest paid by a domestic corporation to a Greek corporation whose address at the time of payment was in Greece, and if the relationship existing between the Greek corporation and the domestic corporation, was, at the time the interest was paid, such as to render uncertain whether, by reason of the exception contained in Article VI (1) of the convention, such interest was exempt from United States tax, the withholding agent shall release and pay over to the Greek corporation an amount equal to the tax so withheld only if the Greek corporation (1) furnishes to the domestic corporation a copy of the Commissioner's authorization of release prescribed in § 502.3 (d) and (2) files the letter of notification prescribed in § 502.3 (c), or the substitute Form 1001–G prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section, whichever is applicable.

(c) Amounts withheld during 1953. For provisions respecting the refund of excess tax withheld during the calendar year 1953, see § 502.10.

§ 502.8 Information to be furnished in ordinary course—(a) General. In compliance with the provisions of Article XVIII of the convention the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will transmit to the Greek General Director of Direct Taxes, as soon as practicable after the close of the calendar year 1954 and of each subsequent calendar year during which the convention is in effect, the following information relating to such preceding calendar year:

(1) The duplicate copy of each available Form 1042 Supplement filed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section; and

(2) The duplicate copy of each available ownership certificate, Form 1001–G, filed pursuant to § 502.3 (c), and substitute Form 1001–G, filed pursuant to § 502.7 (a) and (b), in connection with coupon bond interest.

(b) Information return. (1) To facilitate compliance with Article XVIII of the convention, every United States withholding agent shall make and file in duplicate with the district director of internal revenue for the district in which the withholding agent is located an information return on Form 1042 Supplement, with respect to Greek addressees, which shall be filed for the calendar year 1954 and subsequent calendar years. This return shall be filed simultaneously with Form 1042.

(2) There shall be reported on such Form 1042 Supplement all items of fixed or determinable annual or periodical income (and, for 1955 and subsequent years, amounts described in section 402 (a) (2), section 631 (b) and (c), and section 1235 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, which are considered to be gains from the sale or exchange of capital assets) derived from sources within the United States and paid to nonresident aliens (including nonresident alien individuals, fiduciaries, and partnerships) and to nonresident foreign corporations, whose addresses at the time of payment were in Greece, including such items of income upon which, in accordance with this part, no withholding of United States tax is required; except that any of such items which constitute interest in respect of which Form 1001–G or substitute Form 1001–G has been filed in duplicate with the withholding agent are not required to be reported on such Form 1042 Supplement.

§ 502.9 Beneficiaries of a domestic estate or trust. A nonresident alien who is a resident of Greece and who is a beneficiary of a domestic estate or trust shall be entitled to the exemption from United States tax granted by Articles VI, VII, and IX of the convention with respect to dividends, interest, and copyright royalties and the like, to the extent such item or items are included in that portion of the income of such estate or trust which is (or would, but for such exemption, be) includible in the gross income of the beneficiary, provided that he otherwise satisfies the requirements of these respective articles. In order to be entitled in such instance to the exemption from withholding of United States Tax such beneficiary must otherwise satisfy such requirements and shall, where applicable, execute and submit to the fiduciary of such estate or trust in the United States the appropriate letter of notification prescribed in §§ 502.3 (c) and 502.5 (b).

(b) The taxpayer's total gross income from sources within the United States, including every item of capital gain subject to tax under the provisions of section 211 (a) (1) (B) or 211 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, shall be disclosed on the return. In the event that securities are held in the name of a person other than the actual or beneficial owner, the name and address of such person shall be furnished with the claim. In the case of a claim involving an overpayment of tax upon dividends or interest paid by a Greek corporation, a statement that the dividends or interest were paid by such a corporation shall be included in the claim. If the claim relates to other interest, copyright royalties and the like, pensions, or life annuities, there shall also be included in such claim:

(1) A statement that, at the time when such item or items of income were derived from which the excess tax was withheld, (i) the taxpayer was neither a citizen nor a resident of the United States but was a resident of Greece, or, in the case of a corporation, (ii) the taxpayer was a Greek corporation;

(2) A statement that the taxpayer at no time during the taxable year in which such income was derived was engaged in trade or business within the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein; and

(3) In the case of a claim involving an overpayment of tax upon interest paid by a domestic corporation to a Greek corporation, a statement that the Greek corporation, at the time when the interest was paid, did not control, directly or indirectly, more than 50 percent of the entire voting power of all classes of stock of the United States domestic corporation. If the relationship existing between the Greek corporation and the domestic corporation at the time when such interest was paid was such as to render uncertain whether the exemption granted by Article VI (1) of the convention is applicable to such interest, there shall be furnished a full statement of all the facts pertinent to a determination of the question.

(c) If, however, the taxpayer is an individual who during the taxable year derived from sources within the United States income which consists exclusively of pensions or life annuities entitled to the benefit of Article XI of the convention, the statement specified in paragraph (b) (2) of this section shall not be required.

Because it is necessary to bring into effect at the earliest practicable date the rules of this Treasury decision respecting release or refund of excess tax withheld, and exemption from withholding of tax, it is hereby found that it is impracticable to issue this Treasury decision with notice and public procedure thereon under section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, or subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of that act.

Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

PROCEDURE ALTERATIONS

The standard instrument approach procedure alterations appearing hereinafter are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety of the flying public. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore is not required.

Part 609 is amended as follows:

NOTE: Where the general classification (LFR, VAR, ADF, ILS, GCA, or VOR), location, and procedure number (if any) of any procedure in the amendments which follow, are identical with an existing procedure, that procedure is to be substituted for the existing one, as of the effective date given, to the extent that it differs from the existing procedure; where a procedure is canceled, the existing procedure is revoked; new procedures are to be placed in appropriate alphabetical sequence within the section amended.

1. The low frequency range procedures prescribed in § 609.6 are amended to read in part:

Subchapter F—Personnel

PART 581—PERSONNEL REVIEW BOARDS

ARMY DISABILITY REVIEW BOARD; ARMY DISCHARGE REVIEW BOARD

In § 581.1 (a) (2), subdivision (iv) is revoked; and § 581.2 is revised to read as follows:

§ 581.1 Army Disability Review Board—(a) General. * * *

(2) Application for review. * * *

(iv) [Revoked.]

* * * * *

§ 581.2 Army Discharge Review Board—(a) Constitution, purpose, and jurisdiction. (1) The Army Discharge Review Board is an administrative agency created within the Department of the Army, under authority of section 301, title I, act of June 22, 1944 (58 Stat. 286; 38 U. S. C. 693h), to review upon its own motion or upon application by or on behalf of the individual concerned, the type and nature of the discharge certificate or other documentary evidence of discharge or dismissal given by reason of former members of the armed forces. The scope of the inquiry of the board will be to determine whether the type of discharge received was equitably and properly given. When the board determines in an individual case that the type of discharge was not equitably and properly given, it is authorized, in the manner herein prescribed, to direct The Adjutant General to take appropriate action; that is, to change, correct, or modify any discharge or dismissal, and to issue a new discharge, such direction being subject to review and modification by the Secretary of the Army. Such remedial action is intended primarily to insure that no member is discharged or dismissed former members of the armed forces will be deprived unjustly of any benefit provided by law for former members of the military service by reason of a type of discharge or dismissal inequitably or improperly given.

(2) Secretary-Recorder. The Secretary-Recorder shall have the authority contained in Article 136, Manual for Courts-Martial 1951 (16 F. R. 1303), and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the president. The Secretary-Recorder will not serve as counsel for the applicant or for the Government.

(c) Administrative personnel. Such administrative personnel as are required for the proper functioning of the board will be furnished by the Secretary of the Army.

(d) Application for review. (1) The applicant will submit a written request for a review by the board and such other statements or affidavits as he desires to present.

(2) The request will be made on DD Form 293 (Application for Review of Discharge or Separation from the Armed Forces of the United States), which may be obtained from The Adjutant General, Washington 25, D. C. The request will state in brief the full name, service number, and grade and organization or assignment at date of discharge of the person whose discharge or dismissal is in question; the date and place of discharge; the type and nature of the discharge or dismissal; the basis of the claim for review; what corrective action is desired of the board; whether the applicant desires to appear personally before the board; whether the applicant desires to be represented by counsel before the board and, if so, the name and address of counsel so designated; whether such appearance of applicant, or counsel, or both, is desired to be before the board in Washington, D. C., or San Juan, Puerto Rico; and the address to which all correspondence in connection with the review is to be sent.

(3) The request will be signed by the former officer or enlisted man or woman or, if deceased, by the surviving spouse, next-of-kin, or legal representatives. Proof of death must accompany the request. If the applicant is mentally incompetent, his or her spouse, next-of-kin, or legal guardian will sign the request. Such request must be accompanied by legal proof of the mental incompetency.

(4) No application for review will be granted unless received by the Department of the Army prior to June 22, 1959, or within 15 years after the effective date of the discharge or dismissal of the former service man or woman concerned, whichever date is the later.

(5) The request for review will be forwarded to either:

The Adjutant General,
Washington 25, D. C., or Military Personnel Records Center,
TAGO,
4700 Goodfellow Boulevard,
St. Louis 20, Missouri.

NOTE: If the applicant is a resident of Puerto Rico, the request will be forwarded to:

Army Discharge Review Board,
Headquarters, United States Army Forces, Antilles,
APO 851, c/o Postmaster, New York, New York.

(6) Upon receipt of an application, The Adjutant General will assemble the originals or certified copies of all available Department of the Army records pertaining to the former service man or woman named in such application. Such records, together with the application and any supporting documents, will be transmitted to the president of the board.

(e) Convening of board. (1) The board will be convened at the call of its president and will recess or adjourn at his order. In the event of the absence or incapacity of the president, the next senior member will serve as acting president for all purposes.

(2) Unless otherwise designated by the president, the board will convene in Washington, D. C., at the time and place indicated by him. Panels of the board currently convene in Washington, D. C., and San Juan, Puerto Rico.

(3) The board will assemble in open or closed session for the consideration and determination of cases presented to it. Cases in which no request for hearing is made by the applicant will be considered in closed session on the basis of all documentary evidence presented to the board; that is, any briefs submitted by or on behalf of the applicant.

(f) Hearings—(1) General. (i) An applicant, upon request, is entitled by law to appear before the board in open session either in person or by counsel of his own selection. As used in this section, the term "counsel" will be construed to include members of the Federal bar in good standing, the bar of any State in good standing, accredited representatives of veterans' organizations recognized by the Veterans Administration under section 200 of the act of June 29, 1936 (49 Stat. 2031; 38 U. S. C. 101), and such other persons not barred by law, regulations, or customs who, in the opinion of the board, are considered to be competent to present equitably and comprehensively the claim of the applicant for review. In no case will the expenses or compensation of counsel for the applicant be paid by the Government.

(ii) In every case in which a hearing is requested, the secretary will transmit to the applicant and to designated counsel for the applicant, if any, a written notice stating the time and place of hearing. The record will contain the certificate of the secretary that written notice was given applicant and his counsel, if any, and the time and manner thereof.

(iii) Records, in the case of an applicant who requests a hearing and who, after being dully notified of the time and place of hearing, fails to appear at the appointed time, either in person or by counsel, will be held in suspense for a 10-day period and then returned to file without action.

(2) Conduct of hearing. (i) Conduct of hearing will be, so far as practicable, as provided in section II, SR 15-20-1 (procedural guide for investigating officers and boards of officers in conducting investigations), except that neither the applicant nor his counsel will have access to any classified reports of investigation or papers related thereto or any document received from the Federal Bureau of Investigation. When it is necessary to acquaint the applicant with the substance of a document such as above described, the Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, Department of the Army, on the request of the board, will prepare a summary of, or extract from, the document, deleting all references to sources of information and other matter the disclosure of which, in his opinion, would be detrimental to the public interest. Such summary then may be made available to the applicant or his counsel.

(ii) In the conduct of its inquiries, the board will not be limited by the restrictions of common law rules of evidence.

(iii) In all cases in which the applicant appears in person or is represented by counsel, a reporter will record the proceedings of the board and the testimony taken before it. Shorthand may be used in the initial instance.

(3) Witnesses. The testimony of witnesses may be presented either in person or by affidavits. If a witness testifies in person he will be subject to examination by members of the board.

(4) Continuances. The board may continue a hearing on its own motion. A request for continuance by or on behalf of the applicant may be granted, in the board's discretion, if a continuance appears necessary to insure a full and fair hearing.

(5) Withdrawal. The board may, at its discretion and for good cause shown, permit an applicant to withdraw his request for review without prejudice at any time before the board begins its deliberations.

(6) Expenses. Expenses incurred by the applicant, his witnesses, or in the procurement of their testimony, whether in person, by affidavit, or by deposition, will not be paid by the Government.

(g) Findings and conclusions. (1) The board will make written findings in closed session in each case. The findings will indicate the salient points on which the board bases its conclusions.

(2) On the basis of its findings in each case the board, in closed session, will prepare written conclusions as to whether corrective action will be taken by the Department of the Army with respect to the discharge under consideration. No corrective action which exceeds the jurisdiction of the board, as defined in paragraph (a) of this section, will be taken.

(3) The findings and conclusions of a majority of the board will constitute the findings and conclusions of the board.

(h) Directive to The Adjutant General. The president or acting president of the board will, in the name of the Secretary of the Army, issue a directive to The Adjutant General specifying the action to be taken.

(i) Record of proceedings. (1) When the board has concluded its proceedings in any case, the secretary will prepare a complete record thereof. Such record will include the application for review; a transcript of the hearing, if any; affidavits, papers, and documents considered by the board; all briefs and written arguments filed in the case; the report of the examiner; the findings and conclusions of the board and the directive to The Adjutant General; any minority report prepared by dissenting members of the board; and all other papers and documents necessary to reflect a true and complete history of the proceedings. The record so prepared will be signed by the president and authenticated by the secretary as being true and complete. In the event of the absence of incapacity of the secretary, the record may be authenticated by a second participating member of the board.

(2) All records of proceedings of the board shall be without classification and will be available for perusal by the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs or his duly authorized representative.

(j) Transmittal of records and action by The Adjutant General. The record of proceedings in each case, including a transcript of the testimony before the board, will be transmitted, in duplicate, by the secretary, to The Adjutant General for appropriate Department of the Army action to be taken to carry out the directions of the board. The Adjutant General will perform such administrative acts as may be necessary, and thereafter will notify the applicant and his counsel, if any, of the action taken. Written notice specifying the action taken and the date thereof will be transmitted by The Adjutant General to the president of the board to be filed by the Secretary as a part of the records of the board pertaining to each case. The Adjutant General will, upon written request from the applicant, his guardian, or legal representative, furnish a copy of a transcript of the testimony, a copy of the findings and conclusions of the Army Discharge Review Board, and a copy of the directive of the Secretary of the Army. If it should appear that furnishing a copy of the transcript of the testimony and findings and conclusions of the board would prove injurious to the physical or mental health of the applicant, such information will be furnished only to the guardian or legal representative of the applicant.

(k) Consideration on the board's own motion. The board may, at any time, on its own motion consider and determine a case which appears, on the face of the record, likely to result in a decision favorable to the former soldier and does so result without the knowledge or presence of the former soldier. If such a case does not result in a decision favorable to the former soldier, it will be returned to the files with no formal action recorded and will be considered without prejudice if and when an appeal is made by the former soldier in question. If, upon consideration by the board on its own motion, such a case results in a decision favorable to the former soldier, The Adjutant General will be directed to notify the former soldier at his last known address.

(l) Rehearings. When the board has formally considered the case of the applicant and its decision has been approved in the name of the Secretary of the Army, it will not grant a rehearing unless the basis of the request indicates material evidence, not available at the time of the original hearing, which will likely result in a decision contrary to that reached at the original hearing.

(m) Changes in procedure of board. The board may initiate recommendation for such changes in procedures as established herein as may be deemed necessary for the proper functioning of the board. Such changes will be subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Army.

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans' Administration

PART 3—VETERANS CLAIMS

PART 4—DEPENDENTS AND BENEFICIARIES CLAIMS

PERSONS INCLUDED IN THE ACTS IN ADDITION TO COMMISSIONED OFFICERS AND ENLISTED MEN; CONCURRENT PAYMENT OF TWO BENEFITS TO THE SAME PERSON

1. In Part 3, paragraph (p) of § 3.1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 3.1 Persons included in the acts in addition to commissioned officers and enlisted men. • • •

(p) Commissioned officers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey. (1) Pursuant to section 2, Public Law 786, 77th Congress, commissioned officers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey who are assigned during the period of World War II to duty on projects for the War Department or the Navy Department in areas outside the continental United States or in Alaska, or in coastal areas of the United States, determined by the War or Navy Department to be of immediate hazard, shall, while on such duty, be considered as performing active military or naval service: Provided, Commissioned officers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey serving in the Philippine Islands on December 7, 1941, will be considered as in the active military or naval service from and including that date: Provided, That compensation under this act may not be awarded concurrently with United States employees compensation: And provided further, That benefits may not be awarded prior to December 3, 1942.

(2) Public Law 450, 82d Congress, extended section 2, Public Law 786, 77th Congress, to include April 1, 1953. Public Law 12, 83d Congress, further extended the time limitation to include July 1, 1953.

(3) Public Law 593, 83d Congress, amended section 2, Public Law 786, 77th Congress, to provide coverage for commissioned officers who in time of war or national emergency declared by the President are assigned to duty on projects for the Military Departments in areas determined by the Secretary of Defense to be of immediate military hazard. Benefits payable only by virtue of Public Law 593, 83d Congress, may not be awarded for any period prior to August 16, 1954.

• • • • • •

2. In Part 4, paragraph (d) (1) of § 4.51 is amended to read as follows:

§ 4.51 Concurrent payment of two benefits to the same person. • • •

(d) Employees compensation. (1) Where a person is entitled to compensation from the Bureau of Employees' Compensation based upon death due to service in the Armed Forces and is also entitled based upon the same death to compensation or pension under the laws administered by the Veterans' Administration, he shall elect which benefit he shall receive. Compensation or pension may not be paid in such instances by the Veterans' Administration concurrently with compensation from the Bureau of Employees' Compensation. Election by a widow controls the rights of any of the veteran's children regardless of whether they are in the widow's custody and regardless of the fact that such children may not be eligible to receive benefits under the laws administered by the Bureau of Employees' Compensation, Department of Labor. Except as to claims based on service in the Public Health Service, and cases where the Bureau of Employees' Compensation has made a lump sum settlement in lieu of monthly payments (authorized by section 14 of the Federal Employees' Compensation Act), election to receive benefits from the Bureau of Employees' Compensation does not preclude the allowance of death compensation by the Veterans' Administration upon receipt of a reelection. The provisions of this paragraph are not applicable where the benefit paid by the Bureau of Employees' Compensation is for death resulting from civilian employment; however, where the death cause, held by the Bureau of Employees' Compensation to have been incurred in civilian employment, is also the basis of an award of death compensation by the Veterans' Administration predicated on death due to military service, the Bureau of Employees' Compensation will be notified of the award of death compensation and they will discontinue payment of their benefit, as they hold the two findings to be incompatible.

PART 36—SERVICEMEN'S READJUSTMENT ACT OF 1944

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. In § 36.4302, paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) are amended and paragraph (j) is deleted as follows:

§ 36.4302 Computation of guaranties or insurance credits. (a) For the purpose of computing guaranty in respect to a loan to a veteran, the following maxima cannot be exceeded:

(1) 501 (b) Loans: 60 percent of the original principal amount, or $7,500, whichever is less.

(2) Real estate loans except 501 (b) loans: 50 percent of the original principal amount, or $4,000, whichever is less.

(3) Non-real estate loans except 501 (b) loans: 50 percent of the original principal amount, or $2,000, whichever is less.

(4) Combination real estate and non-real estate loans: 50 percent of the original principal amount, or $4,000, whichever is less. On the real estate portion of the loan allow not to exceed 50 percent of such portion but not to exceed $4,000. Subtract the amount of guaranty so allowed from $4,000. If any guaranty entitlement remains available not to exceed one-half thereof may be allowed on the non-real estate portion of the loan, but the amount so allowed shall not exceed 50 percent of such portion. The aggregate amount of guaranty shall relate to the entire loan.

(b) An amount equal to 15 percent of the original principal amount of each insured loan shall be credited to the insurance account of the lender and shall be charged against the guaranty entitlement of the borrower: Provided, That no loan may be insured unless the borrower has sufficient entitlement remaining to permit such credit, and that the aggregate use of entitlement consequent on such insurance credit shall not exceed the maxima prescribed in section 500 (a) of the act.

(c) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (g) of § 36.4303, the following formula shall govern the ascertainment of the amount of the guaranty or insurance entitlement which remains available to an eligible veteran after prior use of entitlement: Add to the amount of such entitlement previously used for realty, twice the amount previously used for non-realty purposes. Subtract this sum from $4,000. The sum remaining is the amount available for the guaranty or insurance of a real estate loan other than a section 501 (b) loan and one-half of such sum is available for a non-real estate loan. For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of guaranty entitlement which remains available for a section 501 (b) loan after prior use of entitlement, add to the amount of such entitlement previously used for realty, twice the amount previously used for non-realty purposes. Subtract this sum from $7,500. The sum remaining is the amount of entitlement available for section 501 (b) purposes.

(j) [Deleted.]

2. In § 36.4312, the headnote and paragraph (a) are amended and a new paragraph (d) is added as follows:

§ 36.4312 Allowable fees and charges. (a) Incident to the making of a guaranteed or insured loan no charge shall be made against, or paid by, the borrower except those expressly permitted under the schedule set forth in paragraph (d) of this section, and no loan shall be guaranteed or insured unless the lender certifies to the Administrator that it has not imposed and will not impose any charges or fees against the borrower in excess of those permissible under such schedule. Any charge which is proper to make against the borrower under the provisions of this paragraph may be paid out of the proceeds of the loan. Except as provided in the regulations concerning the guaranty or insurance of loans to veterans, no brokerage or service charge or their equivalent may be charged against the debtor or the proceeds of the loan either initially, periodically or otherwise.

• • • • • •

(d) The following schedule of permissible fees and charges shall be applicable to all Veterans' Administration guaranteed or insured loans made on or after November 1, 1954, excepting loans made pursuant to a certificate of commitment issued by the Administrator prior to such date:

(6) Survey, if required by lender or veteran.

(7) Title examination and title insurance, if any.

(8) Such other items as may be authorized in advance by the Deputy Administrator for Veterans Benefits as appropriate for inclusion under this subparagraph as proper local variances.

B. A lender may charge and the veteran may pay a flat charge not exceeding 1 percent of the amount of the loan, provided that such flat charge shall be in lieu of all other charges relating to costs of origination not expressly specified and allowed in this schedule.

C. In cases where a lender makes advances to a veteran during the progress of construction, alteration, improvement, or repair, either under a commitment (VA Form 4–1866) of the Veterans' Administration to issue a guaranty certificate or insurance credit upon completion, or where the lender would be entitled to guaranty or insurance on such advances when reported under automatic procedure, the lender may make a charge against the veteran of not exceeding 2 percent on advances so disbursed for its services in supervising the making of advances and the progress of construction. Such charge may be in addition to the 1 percent charge allowed under paragraph B above.

D. In alteration, improvement or repair loans, including supplemental loans made pursuant to § 36.4355, where no charge is permissible under the provisions of paragraph C above (i. e., in cases in which advances are not made during the progress of construction, alteration, improvement, or repair), the lender may charge and the veteran may pay a flat sum not exceeding 1 percent of the amount of the loan. In refinancing any delinquent indebtedness secured by a lien on real estate the lender may charge and the borrower may pay any of those items allowed under paragraph A and paragraph B of Part I hereof.

In refinancing delinquent indebtedness not secured by a lien on real estate those charges allowed under Part III hereof may be made by the lender and paid by the borrower.

PART V

The fees and charges permitted under Parts I through IV of this schedule are maximums and are not intended to preclude a lender from making alternative charges against the veteran which are not specifically authorized in the schedule provided the imposition of such alternative charges would not result in an aggregate charge or payment in excess of the prescribed maximum.

3. Section 36.4348 is revised to read as follows:

§ 36.4348 Purchase, construction, alteration, improvement or repair loans made under section 501 (b). Loans for the purchase, construction, alteration, improvement or repair of residential property shall be ineligible for guaranty or insurance under section 501 (b) of the act if made in combination with a section 502 or section 503 loan or which include the purchase, construction, alteration, improvement or repair of property containing any business unit, nor is a loan to refinance delinquent indebtedness pursuant to section 507 of the act eligible under section 501 (b) thereof.

TITLE 46—SHIPPING

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter P—Manning of Vessels

[CGFR 54-43]

ENFORCEMENT OF OFFICERS' COMPETENCY CERTIFICATES CONVENTION, 1936

New regulations designated 46 CFR Subpart 157.18, containing §§ 157.18–1 to 157.18–15, inclusive, regarding enforcement of the Officers' Competency Certificates Convention, 1936, were promulgated by the Commandant, United States Coast Guard, on December 15, 1953, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated December 19, 1953 (18 F. R. 8582), which became effective on and after January 18, 1954. These regulations required that every master or person in charge of a vessel subject to R. S. 4438a, as amended (46 U. S. C. 224a), or the Officers' Competency Certificates Convention, 1936, shall file with the Collector of Customs a complete list of the officers employed aboard the vessel upon application for final clearance for a foreign port or for an application for a permit to touch and trade.

Article 5 of the Officers' Competency Certificates Convention, 1936, sets forth provisions for enforcement. The regulations in 46 CFR 157.18–1 to 157.18–15 established procedures considered necessary for enforcement of this Convention on vessels of the United States subject to the provisions of R. S. 4438a and vessels of other countries which have ratified the Convention. The application of these regulations to vessels of other countries which have ratified the Officers' Competency Certificates Convention, 1936, is no longer necessary because such countries have adequate measures to enforce the Convention insofar as vessels registered in their territories are concerned. Therefore, the Coast Guard will no longer require the master or person in charge of a foreign vessel subject to the Officers' Competency Certificates Convention to file with the Collector of Customs a complete list of officers employed aboard the vessel. If the United States Coast Guard or the Collector of Customs shall otherwise find a breach of this Convention in connection with any foreign vessel which is registered in the territory of another member which has also ratified this Convention, the United States Coast Guard or the Collector of Customs will communicate with the consul of the member country in accordance with paragraph 3 of Article 5 of this Convention.

It is hereby found that compliance with the notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedure thereon, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) is not necessary because the amendments set forth in this document are relaxations from prior requirements applicable to foreign vessels and that notice and public procedure thereon are contrary to the public interest.

The requirements for vessels of the United States subject to the provisions of R. S. 4438a, as amended (46 U. S. C. 224a), have not been changed and are necessary to carry out the obligations imposed upon the United States as a signatory member to the Officers' Competency Certificates Convention.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by Treasury Department Order No. 120, dated July 31, 1950 (15 F. R. 6521), to promulgate rules and regulations in accordance with the statutes cited with the regulations below, the following amendments to §§ 157.18–1 to 157.18–15, inclusive, are prescribed which shall become effective on and after the date of publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER:

SUBPART 157.18—OFFICERS' COMPETENCY CERTIFICATES CONVENTION, 1936

Sec.

157.18–1 Vessels subject to requirements of this subpart.
157.18–5 Detention of vessel.
157.18–10 Right of appeal.
157.18–15 Filing lists of officers with Collector of Customs.

AUTHORITY: §§ 157.18–1 to 157.18–15 issued under R. S. 4405, as amended, 4462, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 375, 416. Interpret or apply R. S. 4438a, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 224a; E. O. 10402, 17 F. R. 9917; 3 CFR, 1952 Supp.

§ 157.18–1 Vessels subject to requirements of this subpart. (a) Paragraph (1) of R. S. 4438a, as amended (46 U. S. C. 224a), states:

(1) That the Officers' Competency Certificates Convention, 1936 (International Labor Organization Draft Convention Numbered 53, "concerning the minimum requirement of professional capacity for masters and officers on board merchant ships"), as ratified by the President on September 1, 1938, with understandings appended, and this section shall apply to all vessels, however propelled, navigating on the high seas, which are registered, enrolled and licensed, or licensed under the laws of the United States, whether permanently, temporarily, or provisionally, including yachts enrolled and licensed, or licensed, with the exception of—

(a) Ships of war;

(b) Government vessels, or vessels in the service of a public authority, which are not engaged in trade;

(c) Wooden ships of primitive build, such as dhows and junks;

(d) Unrigged vessels;

(e) All vessels of less than two hundred gross tons.

(b) All vessels of the United States subject to R. S. 4438a, as amended (46 U. S. C. 224a) are subject to the requirements of this subpart.

§ 157.18–5 Detention of vessel. (a) The Collector of Customs, or the Coast Guard District Commander, by written order served upon the master or person in charge of a vessel, may detain any vessel of the United States which he has reason to believe is not in compliance with the requirements of R. S. 4438a, as amended (46 U. S. C. 224a), until he is satisfied that all officers employed aboard such vessel, who are required to be licensed by the Coast Guard, are in possession of the required licenses. If a vessel is detained by a written order of a Coast Guard District Commander, he should give immediate notice of such detention to the Collector of Customs from whose port the vessel will either clear or secure a permit to touch and trade in order that clearance or the issuance of a permit to touch and trade may be withheld.

§ 157.18–10 Right of appeal. Whenever a vessel is detained, the master may appeal, within five days to the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard, who may, after investigation, affirm, set aside, or modify the order of detention.

§ 157.18–15 Filing lists of officers with Collector of Customs. The master of any vessel of the United States subject to the provisions of R. S. 4438a, as amended (46 U. S. C. 224a), shall, upon application for final clearance for foreign port or upon application for a permit to touch and trade, file with the Collector of Customs a complete list of the officers employed aboard the vessel and the Coast Guard serial number and description of license held by each officer.

HAMILTON MANAGEMENT CORP. AND HAMILTON TRUST SHARES

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL OF FEE

OCTOBER 13, 1954.

Notice is hereby given that an application and an amendment thereto for an order pursuant to section 26 (a) (2) (C) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act") has been filed by Hamilton Management Corporation ("Management"), a Delaware corporation and the depositor of and principal underwriter for Hamilton Trust Shares ("Trust"), a common-law trust organized under Colorado law and a registered unit investment trust under the act. The application requests the issuance of an order prescribing a fee of $31,638.69 as reasonable compensation to Management for its performance of certain bookkeeping and other administrative services for Trust and approving the payment of such fee to Management subject to certain conditions, including the immediate assignment and transfer of the amount allowed to the City National Bank and Trust Company of Kansas City, Missouri ("City National"), the present custodian and trustee of Trust, in settlement of all claims which might be asserted by said trustee as a result of certain transactions by Management in the years 1949, 1950, and 1951.

Section 26 (a) (2) (C) of the act makes it unlawful for a principal underwriter or depositor of a unit investment trust to sell securities of that trust unless the trust indenture pursuant to which the securities are issued provides that no payment to the depositor of or principal underwriter for such trust shall be allowed the trustee as an expense, except for the payment to such person "of a fee, not exceeding such reasonable amount as the Commission may prescribe as compensation for performing bookkeeping and other administrative services, of a character normally performed by the trustee or custodian itself."

The application as amended discloses the following facts:

Trust has outstanding both fully paid and periodic payment certificates issued pursuant to a trust indenture, as amended, under which City National serves as trustee and custodian. The certificates represent interests in a fixed list of portfolio securities, originally 30 in number but since reduced to 6, and in cash held temporarily pending investment. Trust discontinued offering these certificates to the public on April 30, 1948. As of December 31, 1953, Trust's net assets had a value of $1,044,825 and Trust had 1,550 certificates outstanding held by 1,533 investors. Of these, 152 certificates were issued after November 21, 1941, and are designated as the "30,000 series."

The trust indenture pursuant to which certificates of Trust have been issued provides that the trustee shall deduct from the income of the trust a general administration fee of 3/16ths of 1 percent of the market value of the underlying securities at the end of each quarter of the year. The amount of the fee so collected applicable to certificates issued prior to November 21, 1941, is paid to Management, which pays the trustee a fee for its services and retains the balance as compensation for its own services. The indenture was amended on November 21, 1941 to provide that the amount of this fee applicable to certificates issued on or after November 21, 1941, shall be credited at the end of each quarter to an Administration Expense Fund. The only charges which have been made against this Fund are the fees payable to the Trustee for his services. The indenture as amended provides that after payment of the Trustee, Management shall be entitled to such reasonable compensation from the Fund as this Commission may allow pursuant to section 26 (a) (2) of the act for performing bookkeeping and other administrative services. The trustee has delegated the performance of certain of these services to Management, which is now applying for reimbursement for actual expenses incurred by it in performing such services for the period, December 1, 1941, through April 30, 1953.

During that period, a total of $66,485.85 has been accumulated in the Administration Expense Fund. It is represented that overall expenses incurred by Management in the performance of administrative services for Trust totalled $124,710.05, of which $31,638.69 is applicable to the "30,000 series" certificates, issued on or after November 21, 1941. The allocation of expenses as between these certificates and those issued prior thereto was made by applying to the various items of expense for each yearly period, one of three different ratios for that period, as deemed consistent with good accounting practice, reflecting the relative amounts of asset values, dollars invested and account activity of the two groups of certificates.

The application states that in 1950 suggestions were made that Management may have made itself liable to the Trust for excessive depletion of the tax reserve of the Trust; for profits made on the disposition of underlying securities which it initially received on the liquidation in kind of certificates acquired from certain certificate holders desiring to terminate their interests in the Trust and who assigned said certificates to Management instead of presenting them for liquidation; for loss occasioned the Trust through the payment of distributions to Management while it held the above mentioned certificates; and for unnecessary brokerage charges incurred by the Trust in the purchase of underlying securities to replace those received by Management on said in-kind liquidations. By reason of such assertions, the trustee made an extensive investigation into the facts and law involved in such transactions and initiated negotiations with Management to protect the interests of the security holders. The dollar amount of the asserted claims is approximately $50,000.

Management denies all imputations of error, negligence, wrongdoing or bad judgment in connection with the asserted claims and contends that the transactions in question were proper in all respects and create no liability on its part either to Trust or to its certificate holders. However, in recognition of the fact that litigation to test the merit or lack of merit of the alleged claims would be both expensive and uncertain as to outcome, Management agreed to a settlement of the claims. The agreement provides that if the Commission should determine and fix the amount due Management as reasonable compensation for the delegated bookkeeping and other administrative services performed by it on behalf of Trust for the period to April 30, 1953, at not less than $29,250 Management would immediately turn over to the trustee the sum allowed in settlement of the asserted claims. As a condition to the agreement, it is further provided that if the Commission should institute, or cause to be instituted, any action or proceeding against Management within two years of March 19, 1953, on the basis of the aforesaid claims or the transactions giving rise to them, the parties are to be restored to their respective former positions and rights without prejudice. The agreement also permits the trustee to apply to a proper court to determine to which specific present and former certificate holders the benefits to be derived by the trustee from the agreement are to be paid and in what amounts.

It is further stated in the application that if the Commission grants the allowance requested, the excess above such allowance in the Administration Expense Fund will be transferred to the Income Account of the Trust for distribution to certificate holders in accordance with the provisions of the indenture. To avoid further delay arrangements have been made to place $24,485.85 of the Administration Expense Fund in the Income Account of the Trust for distribution to certificate holders entitled thereto as of July 31, 1954.

Management has requested the issuance of an order finding that it incurred an expense of not less than $31,638.69 in the performance of delegated bookkeeping and administrative services applicable to certificates issued on and after November 21, 1941, and determining that Management is entitled to $31,638.69 as reasonable compensation under section 26 (a) (2) (C) of the act for the performance of the said delegated services through April 30, 1953.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 26, 1954, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

Any application that is filed will be considered on its merits. The land will not be subject to occupancy or disposition until it has been classified.

BLACKFEET TRIBE OF MONTANA

FEDERAL INDIAN LIQUOR LAWS

Pursuant to the act of August 15, 1953 (Pub. Law 277, 83d Cong., 1st Sess.), I certify that the following ordinance relating to the application of the Federal Indian liquor laws on the Blackfeet Indian Reservation was duly adopted by the Blackfeet Tribe of Montana which has jurisdiction over the area of Indian country included in the resolution:

1. That before any person, association, firm, corporation, or partnership, or any individual or group of individuals, may engage in the wholesale beer business within the exterior boundaries of the Blackfeet Indian Reservation, whether or not the principal place of business of said beer wholesaler is located within the exterior boundaries of the Blackfeet Indian Reservation, he must first make application to the Blackfeet Tribal Business Council for, and obtain a permit or license to engage in, said wholesale beer business. Either maintaining a wholesale beer establishment upon said reservation or making delivery and/or sales of beer at wholesale any place within the exterior boundaries of the Blackfeet Indian Reservation shall constitute engaging in the wholesale beer business.

2. With such application, the applicant shall tender a fee of One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars. If a license or permit is issued to the applicant by the Blackfeet Tribal Business Council, it shall run from June 30 of one (1) year, to the 30th day of June the next following year. If the application is made when there is more than six (6) months of said yearly period remaining, there shall be no reduction in the amount of the license fee. If less than six (6) months remain, then the license fee shall be cut in half. If such license or permit is denied, the fee shall be returned to the applicant.

3. Before a permit or license shall be issued by the Blackfeet Tribal Business Council, the applicant shall be investigated as to moral character and as to whether or not such person is acceptable to the members of the Blackfeet Tribe to engage in said wholesale beer business upon the Blackfeet Indian Reservation. Once a permit or license is granted by the Blackfeet Tribal Business Council, such permit or license may be revoked only for cause and upon a hearing with notice being mailed by registered mail to the owner of such permit or license ten days prior to such hearing, except such permit or license may not be transferred without the approval and consent of the Blackfeet Tribal Council. Cause shall mean the failure to pay license fees each year, and/or the violation of tribal ordinances duly passed or the laws of the State of Montana, or transfer or attempted transfer of such permit or license without the approval and consent of the Blackfeet Tribal Council. The Blackfeet Tribal Council may adopt such ordinances for the maintenance of law and order on the Blackfeet Indian Reservation and regulations of the wholesale beer business conducted on said reservation not inconsistent with the laws of the State of Montana and rules and regulations of the Montana Liquor Control Board but such ordinances shall not become effective until thirty (30) days after their passage and the mailing of a copy of such ordinance by registered mail to each permittee or licensee engaged in the wholesale beer business, on the Blackfeet Indian Reservation.

4. The issuance of a license or permit by the Blackfeet Tribal Business Council and the payment of a fee, as hereinabove provided, shall be a condition of eligibility before any person, firm, association, corporation, partnership, individual or group of individuals may engage in the wholesale beer business in the area within the exterior boundaries of the Blackfeet Indian Reservation, or receive a license from the State of Montana for such purposes, and until such person or organization wishing to engage in the wholesale beer business satisfies said condition, he shall not be permitted to engage in the wholesale beer business or make deliveries or sales of beer at wholesale within the external boundaries of the Blackfeet Indian Reservation.

5. This ordinance is supplementary to, and shall not supersede or otherwise modify, the Blackfeet Tribal Ordinance, approved by the Secretary of the Interior on February 17, 1954, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 24, 1954, governing the retail sale of liquor and beer within the exterior boundaries of the Blackfeet Reservation.

CLASS I MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY AND PASSENGERS

QUARTERLY AND ANNUAL REPORTS; TOTAL MAN-HOURS ACTUALLY WORKED BY DRIVERS AND HELPERS

OCTOBER 4, 1954.

Notice was given June 11, 1954, that the Commission by Division 1 had approved a change in the form of annual reports for the year 1954 and quarterly reports for the year 1955, to require all Class I motor carriers of both property and passengers to report total man-hours actually worked by drivers and helpers, in addition to total man-hours paid for as now required. Upon reconsideration the Commission on September 13, 1954, rescinded the proposed change in reporting requirements pending further investigation.

After again considering all representations received in response to the notice of June 11, 1954, and having investigated the use being made of wage statistics now published, the Commission finds that, effective with quarterly and annual reports filed for periods subsequent to December 31, 1954, all Class I motor carriers of property should be required to report the total man-hours actually worked by drivers and helpers.

Extra Standard" is the quality of frozen french fried potatoes that possess similar varietal characteristics; that possess a reasonably good flavor; that possess a reasonably good color; that are reasonably free from defects; that possess a reasonably good texture; and that score not less than 70 points when scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart.

(c) "Substandard" is the grade of frozen french fried potatoes that fail to meet the requirements of "U. S. Grade B" or "U. S. Extra Standard."

is scored is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

Factors:	Points
Color	30
Defects	40
Texture	30
Total	100

(b) "Good flavor" means the good characteristic flavor and odor of properly prepared french fried potatoes. Such flavor is free from rancidity and bitterness; from pronounced scorched, or caramelized flavors and from off flavors and off odors of any kind.

(c) "Reasonably good flavor" means that the product may be somewhat lacking in good flavor and odor but it free from objectionable flavors and objectionable odors of any kind.

§ 52.2395 Ascertaining the rating for the factors which are scored. (a) The essential variations within each factor which is scored are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is scored is inclusive. (For example, "21 to 24 points" means 21, 22, 23, or 24 points.)

(b) The factors of color and defects are evaluated by observing the product in the frozen state and after it has been heated in a suitable manner.

(c) The factor of texture is evaluated within three minutes after the product has been prepared by heating in a suitable manner and while it is well above room temperature.

(d) "Heated in a suitable manner" means heated in the following manner:

(1) Place the product while still in the frozen state on a piece of crumpled and partially straightened aluminum foil of sufficient size so that at least nine ounces of the product may be spread in a single layer on the foil. The aluminum foil may be supported by a piece of sheet metal or a shallow pan.

(2) Place foil and frozen contents into a properly ventilated oven preheated to 400 degrees F. and allow to remain 15 minutes or until the interior portions of the larger pieces are properly cooked.

Heating may be accomplished by any other method which will give comparable results.

(b) (B) classification. If the frozen french fried potatoes possess a reasonably good color, a score of 21 to 24 points may be given. Frozen french fried potatoes that fall into this classification may not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good color" means that the units may possess a variable color ranging from light cream to brown typical of frozen french fried potatoes; that the product may be dull but not off color and, after heating, the variation in color of the units does not seriously affect the appearance of the product.

(c) (SStd) classification. Frozen french fried potatoes that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 20 points and shall not be graded above Substandard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2397 Defects—(a) General. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from harmless vegetable material, dark carbon specks, unpeeled areas, broken pieces, small pieces, slivers, and irregular pieces, and from units blemished (including those seriously blemished) by sunburn, hollowheart, burned ends, abnormal discoloration, dried cut surfaces, or by other means.

(1) "Blemished" means that the areas affected on a unit materially affect the appearance or eating quality of the unit.

(2) "Seriously blemished" means that the blemished areas on a unit are of such a nature as to seriously affect the appearance or eating quality of the unit.

(3) "Small piece" means any strip less than one inch in length.

(4) "Sliver" means any strip of substantially smaller cross section than the predominating size of the unit.

(5) "Irregular pieces" means pieces that do not have the general conformation of strips.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen french fried potatoes that are practically free from defects may be given a score of 35 to 40 points. "Practically free from defects" means that (1) there may be present not more than one piece of harmless extraneous vegetable material for each 32 ounces of the frozen product; (2) the surfaces of the units are practically free from carbon specks; (3) not more than 15 percent, by count, of the units are small pieces, slivers, or irregularly cut pieces; and (4) not more than 3 percent, by count, of the units are blemished or seriously blemished of which not more than 1 percent, by count, of all the units are seriously blemished. To score in this classification there may be present not more than 200 units per each 16 ounces of the frozen product, except that if the predominating size of the cross sections of the units is less than ⅜" by ⅜" this provision does not apply but the presence of small units may not adversely affect the appearance of the product.

(c) (B) classification. Frozen french fried potatoes that are reasonably free from defects may be given a score of 28 to 34 points. Frozen french fried potatoes that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that (1) there may be present not more than one piece of harmless extraneous vegetable material for each 16 ounces of the frozen product; (2) the surfaces of the units are reasonably free from carbon specks; (3) not more than 30 percent, by count, of the units are small pieces, slivers, or irregularly cut pieces; and (4) not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units are blemished or seriously blemished of which not more than 4 percent, by count, of all the units are seriously blemished.

(d) (SStd) classification. Frozen french fried potatoes that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 27 points and shall not be graded above Substandard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2398 Texture—(a) (A) classification. Prepared french fried potatoes that possess a good texture may be given a score of 25 to 30 points. "Good texture" means that the external surfaces of the units are moderately crisp, show no noticeable separation from the inner portion, and are not excessively oily; the interior portions are well cooked, tender, and practically free from sogginess.

(b) (B) classification. If the prepared french fried potatoes possess only a reasonably good texture a score of 21 to 24 points may be given. Frozen french fried potatoes that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B or U. S. Extra Standard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good texture" means that the external surfaces of the units may be slightly hard or slightly tough, show no more than a moderate separation from the interior portion, and are not excessively oily; the interior portions are well cooked, reasonably tender, and reasonably free from sogginess.

(c) (SStd) classification. Frozen french fried potatoes that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 20 points and shall not be graded above Substandard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.2399 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. When certifying samples that have been officially drawn and which represent a specific lot of frozen french fried potatoes the grade for such lot will be determined by averaging the total scores of the containers comprising the sample if all containers comprising the sample meet all applicable standards of quality promulgated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification, and with respect to those factors which are scored:

(a) Not more than one-sixth of the containers fails to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(b) None of the containers falls more than 4 points below the minimum score for the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(c) None of the containers falls more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(d) The average score of all containers for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the containers comprising the sample.

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter II—Securities and Exchange Commission

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Purpose of amendments. On September 9, 1954, the Commission published notice that it had under consideration proposed amendments to its rules and forms under the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, designed primarily to conform existing rules to the changes in those statutes made by Public Law 577, 83d Congress, which will be effective October 10, 1954. All interested persons were invited to comment upon the proposed amendments. The Commission has considered all comments and suggestions received and has determined to adopt the amendments in the form set forth below.

The most important change effected by Public Law 577 involves section 5 of the Securities Act of 1933. Other amendments to that statute and to the Trust Indenture Act of 1939 and the Investment Company Act of 1940 were enacted as necessary to accommodate the provisions of those acts to the amendment of section 5. The Securities Act as amended by Public Law 577 will permit the making of written offers to sell and solicitations of offers to buy during the waiting period by means of a preliminary or summary prospectus filed with the Commission prior to its use. In other respects it will expand the authority of the Commission to permit the use of written material in addition to the full prospectus in connection with the offering of securities for sale. The amendment, however, will continue to prohibit the sale of securities or the making of contracts to sell or contracts of sale prior to the effective date of the registration statement.

The amendments set forth below do not relate to the use of such summary prospectuses as may be permitted under section 10 (b), or expanded advertisements under section 2 (10) (b), of the amended statute. The nature and form of such advertisements, communications and summary prospectuses are presently under consideration by the Commission and it is expected that proposals for the adoption of appropriate rules may be published for comment within the near future.

Statutory basis. The amendments are adopted pursuant to the authority vested in the Commission by the Securities Act of 1933, particularly sections 18 and 19 (a), and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly section 23 (a), and the Investment Company Act of 1940, particularly section 38 (a).

The text of the action follows: [1]

I. Section 230.120 (Rule 120) is amended to read as follows:

§ 230.120 Inspection of registration statements. Except for material contracts or portions thereof accorded confidential treatment pursuant to § 230.485, all registration statements are available for public inspection, during business hours, at the principal office of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

II. Section 230.131 (Rule 131) is rescinded.

III. a. Section 230.132 (Rule 132) is amended by deleting the words "proposed form of prospectus" wherever such words appear in the rule and substituting therefor the words "preliminary prospectus".

b. Paragraph (b) of § 230.132 is amended by deleting the reference therein to § 230.131 and substituting therefor § 230.433.

c. Paragraph (d) (15) of § 230.132 is amended by deleting the words "offer to buy or sell" from the second sentence of the legend contained therein and substituting therefor the words "purchase or sale of".

d. The amendments mentioned in a through c read as follows:

§ 230.132 Definition of "offer to sell," "offer for sale," "attempt or offer to dispose of," and "solicitation of an offer to buy" as used in section 2 (3) in connection with certain identifying statements—(a) General provision. For purposes of section 5 only, sending or giving to any person or publishing an identifying statement, and communications between underwriters and dealers reasonably related to the contemplated use and distribution of an identifying statement and preliminary prospectus, shall not constitute an "offer to sell," "offer for sale," "attempt or offer to dispose of," or "solicitation of an offer to buy" as used in section 2 (3) of the act: Provided, • • •

(b) Definition of "identifying statement" and "preliminary prospectus." For the purpose of this section, the term "identifying statement" means a written communication or advertisement meeting the requirements set forth below; the term "preliminary prospectus" means a document meeting the requirements of § 230.433.

(c) Required information. • • •

(2) The identifying statement shall indicate from whom copies of the prospectus or preliminary prospectus may be obtained and shall include a detachable form for use in requesting such copies: Provided, That this information need not be included in the identifying statement as filed, in which event it must be added by the person who sends, gives, or publishes the statement. The detachable form shall be substantially as follows:

Please send me a copy of the prospectus [or preliminary prospectus] • • •

The publication of this notice is no assurance that the proposed offering will be made or as to the amount of securities, if any, that will be available for distribution by this firm.

IV. Section 230.153 (Rule 153) is amended to insert "(a)" after the words "section 10" wherever they appear in that rule. The clause immediately preceding subparagraph (1) of this rule is amended as follows:

§ 230.153 Definition of "preceded by a prospectus", as used in section 5 (b) (2), in relation to certain transactions. (a) • • • Provided, That as to any transaction occurring prior to the expiration of forty days after the effective date of the registration statement or the expiration of forty days after the first date upon which the security was bona fide offered to the public by the issuer or by or through an underwriter after such effective date, whichever is later (exclusive of the time during which a stop order issued under section 8 is in effect as to such security):

• • • • • •

V. Section 230.162 (Rule 162) is rescinded.

VI. Section 230.400 (Rule 400) is amended by adding a second sentence as follows:

b. Paragraph (c) of § 230.424 is amended by inserting the clause "After the effective date of a registration statement" at the beginning of the first sentence of this paragraph.

XVII. Section 230.429 (Rule 429) is amended to read as follows:

§ 230.429 Contents of prospectus when several statements in effect. When two or more registration statements become effective for different blocks of securities of the same class, a prospectus which meets the requirements of the act and the rules and regulations of the Commission for use in connection with the securities covered by the latest registration statement will be deemed to meet such requirements for use in connection with the securities covered by the earlier registration statements, provided (except for a prospectus relating to a security currently offered by an issuer described in the last sentence of section 24 (d) of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended) such prospectus also contains the information contained in the earlier prospectuses with respect to (a) the underwriting, marketing and distribution arrangements, (b) the price to the public, underwriting discounts and commissions and proceeds to the registrant, and (c) the application of the proceeds.

Information contained herein is subject to completion or amendment. These securities may not be sold nor may offers to buy be accepted prior to the time the registration statement becomes effective. This prospectus shall not constitute an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy in any State in which such offer or solicitation would be unlawful prior to registration or qualification under the securities laws thereof.

XXI. In § 230.457 (Rule 457), paragraph (a) is amended as follows:

§ 230.457 Computation of fee. (a) At the time of filing a registration statement, or any amendment thereto pursuant to the provisions of section 24 (e) (1) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 as amended, the registrant shall pay to the Commission a fee of one one-hundredth of 1 percent of the maximum aggregate price at which the securities are proposed to be offered, but in no case shall such fee be less than $25.

XXII. Section 230.460 (Rule 460) is adopted as follows:

§ 230.460 Preparation and distribution of preliminary prospectus. (a) Pursuant to the statutory requirement that the Commission in ruling upon requests for acceleration of the effective date of a registration statement shall have due regard to the adequacy of the information respecting the issuer theretofore available to the public, the Commission will consider whether the persons making the offering have taken reasonable steps to make the information contained in the registration statement conveniently available to underwriters and dealers who it is reasonably anticipated will be invited to participate in the distribution of the security to be offered or sold.

(b) As a minimum, reasonable steps to make the information conveniently available would involve the distribution, to each underwriter and dealer who it is resonably anticipated will be invited to participate in the distribution of the security, a reasonable time in advance of the anticipated effective date of the registration statement, of as many copies of the proposed form of preliminary prospectus permitted by § 230.433 as appears to be reasonable to secure adequate distribution of the preliminary prospectus.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, in the event that the form of preliminary prospectus, which has been distributed by the issuer or underwriter, is found to be inaccurate or inadequate in material respects, acceleration of the effective date of a registration statement will not be granted until the Commission has received satisfactory assurance that appropriate correcting material has been sent to all underwriters and dealers who received such preliminary prospectus or prospectuses in quantity sufficient for their information and the information of others to whom the inaccurate or inadequate material was sent.

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) to (c) of this section, the granting of acceleration will not be conditioned upon the distribution of a preliminary prospectus in any State where such distribution would be illegal.

(e) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) to (d) of this section, the granting of acceleration will not be conditioned upon the distribution of a preliminary prospectus (1) in the case of a registration statement relating solely to securities to be offered at competitive bidding, provided the undertaking in paragraph (a) (2) of § 230.415 is included in the registration statement, or (2) in the case of a registration statement relating to securities currently offered by an issuer described in the last sentence of section 24 (d) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 as amended.

(f) In addition, in passing upon requests for acceleration, the Commission will consider whether there has been a bona fide effort to make the prospectus reasonably concise and readable, so as to facilitate an understanding of the information required or permitted to be contained in the prospectus.

XXIII. Section 230.461 (Rule 461) is adopted as follows:

§ 230.461 Requests for acceleration of effective date of registration statement. Requests for acceleration of the effective date of a registration statement shall be made in writing by the registrant, the managing underwriters of the proposed issue, and the selling security holders, if any. Such requests should also state the date upon which it is desired the registration statement becomes effective.

XXIV. Section 230.470 (Rule 470) is expanded by deleting the period at the end thereof and adding the following clause, "except that an amendment filed pursuant to section 24 (e) (1) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 shall conform to the appropriate form for registration in effect at the time of filing of the amendment."

XXV. In § 230.473 (Rule 473), the first sentence is amended by deleting "offering" and substituting therefor "sale" to read as follows:

§ 230.473 Delaying amendments. An amendment altering the proposed date of the public sale may be made by telegram or by letter. • • •

XXVI. In § 230.478 (Rule 478), subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a) is amended as follows:

§ 230.478 Powers to amend or withdraw registration statement. • • • (a) • • • (1) by filing of a delaying amendment as provided in Rule 473; • • •

XXVII. In § 230.494 (Rule 494), the first sentence of paragraph (a) is revised as follows:

§ 230.494 Newspaper prospectuses. (a) This section shall apply only to newspaper prospectuses relating to securities, as to which a registration statement has become effective, issued by a foreign national government with which the United States maintains diplomatic relations. • • •

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 141b—STREPTOMYCIN (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN) AND STREPTOMYCIN- (OR DIHYDROSTREPTOMYCIN-) CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

STREPTOMYCIN FOR INHALATION THERAPY

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended by 61 Stat. 11, 63 Stat. 409, 67 Stat. 389; sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 357, 371; 67 Stat. 18), the regulations for tests and methods of assay for streptomycin (or dihydrostreptomycin) and streptomycin- (or dihydrostreptomycin-) containing drugs (21 CFR Part 141b; 19 F. R. 1141) and certification of streptomycin (or dihydrostreptomycin) and streptomycin- (or dihydrostreptomycin-) containing drugs (21 CFR Part 146b; 19 F. R. 672, 1141) are amended as indicated below:

1. Section 141b.117 is revised to read:

§ 141b.117 Streptomycin for inhalation therapy, dihydrostreptomycin for inhalation therapy—(a) Potency—(1) Streptomycin content. Proceed as directed in § 141b.101, except if it is packaged with inert gases proceed as follows: Use not less than 6 immediate containers. Place one-half the number of such containers in a suitable sharp freezing unit having a temperature not higher than −30° C. After freezing, cut open the containers and transfer the contents of each to a suitable beaker and allow gas to evaporate. After gas has evaporated, wash and dry the residue remaining in the container into the beaker with sterile distilled water, after which wash the entire contents of the beaker into a 500-milliliter volumetric flask and make to mark with sterile distilled water. Use an appropriate aliquot of each of these solutions and proceed as directed in § 141b.101 to determine the average total quantity of streptomycin in each container. Expel the drug from each of the remaining containers as directed in its labeling. After all gas (with drug) has been expelled, cut open the containers and place each in a large beaker containing 500 milliliters of sterile distilled water. Let stand for not less than 15 minutes, with frequent agitation. Remove an aliquot and proceed as directed in § 141b.101 to determine the quantity of streptomycin that remains in each container. The quantity of streptomycin expelled is determined by subtracting the average amount of the residue found from the average total amount contained in the containers. Its potency is satisfactory if it contains not less than 90 percent, or 85 percent if it is packaged with inert gases, of the number of milligrams of streptomycin that it is represented to contain.

(2) Dihydrostreptomycin content. Proceed as directed in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, except use the dihydrostreptomycin working standard as a standard of comparison. Its potency is satisfactory if it contains not less than 90 percent, or 85 percent if it is packaged with inert gases, of the number of milligrams of dihydrostreptomycin that it is represented to contain.

(b) Unless it is packaged with inert gases, toxicity, histamine, moisture, pH, streptomycin content (if it is dihydrostreptomycin), crystallinity (if it is crystalline dihydrostreptomycin). Proceed as directed in §§ 141b.103, 141b.105, 141b.106, 141b.108 (b), and 141b.5 (c) of this chapter.

(c) If it is packaged with inert gases, moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141a.7 (c) of this chapter, but in lieu of the directions for preparing the sample in § 141a.7 (c) (3) of this chapter prepare the sample and calculate as follows: Freeze the container as described in paragraph (a) of this section. After freezing, open the container and remove a representative 10-milliliter aliquot. Place this sample in a dry titrating vessel, immediately add an excess of Karl Fischer reagent, and back-titrate with water-methanol solution until the endpoint is reached.

$$\text{Percent moisture} = \frac{(v_1 - V_2 f) Xe}{100}$$

2. Section 146b.112 Streptomycin for inhalation therapy • • • is amended in the following respects:

a. Paragraph (a) is amended to read:

(a) Streptomycin for inhalation therapy is streptomycin that conforms to the requirements of § 146b.101 (a) for streptomycin, except § 146b.101 (a) (2) and (4), and except that if it is packaged with inert gases its moisture content is not more than 0.5 percent. Dihydrostrepomycin for inhalation therapy is dihydrostreptomycin that conforms to the requirements of § 146b.103 (a) for dihydrostreptomycin, except the standards for sterility and pyrogens, and except that if it is packaged with inert gases its moisture content is not more than 0.5 percent.

b. Paragraph (b) Packaging is amended by changing the last sentence to read: "Each such container shall contain not less than 50 milligrams and may contain one or more suitable and harmless inert gases or each may be packaged in combination with a container of a suitable and harmless solvent."

c. In paragraph (c) Labeling, subparagraph (1) (ii) is amended to read:

(ii) The number of milligrams in the immediate container, or (if it is packaged with one or more inert gases), the number of grams that shall be ejected when used as directed in the labeling.

d. Paragraph (c) (1) (iii) is amended to read:

(iii) The statement "Expiration date ----," the blank being filled in with the date which is 24 months if it is packaged with inert gasses, or 48 months after the month during which the batch was certified: Provided, however, That such expiration date may be omitted from the immediate container if such immediate container is packaged in an individual wrapper or container.

e. Paragraph (c) (2) (i) is amended by changing the period at the end thereof to a comma and adding the following clause: "unless it is packaged for dispensing and it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled."

f. Paragraph (c) (2) (ii) is amended by inserting after the word "dispensing" the following clause: "and it is intended for use by man,".

g. Paragraph (c) is further amended by adding the following new subparagraph:

(3) On the circular or other labeling within or attached to the package, if it is packaged for dispensing and it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled, adequate directions and warnings for the veterinary use of such drug by the laity. Such circular or other labeling may also bear a statement that a brochure or other printed matter containing information for other veterinary uses of such drug by a veterinarian licensed by law to administer it will be sent to such veterinarian on request.

h. In paragraph (d) Requests for certification • • •, subparagraph (2) (i) (a) is amended by inserting after the words "5 immediate containers" a comma and the parenthetical clause: "(or if it is packaged with inert gases, not less than 7 immediate containers and not more than 12 immediate containers)".

i. Paragraph (d) (2) is further amended by renumbering subdivision (ii) as (iii) and inserting the following new subdivision between subdivision (i) and renumbered subdivision (iii):

(ii) If it is packaged with inert gases and the streptomycin or dihydrostreptomycin used has not been previously submitted; 5 packages containing approximately equal portions of not less than 0.5 gram each, packaged in accordance with the requirements of § 146b.101 (b).

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371)

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

Dated: October 14, 1954.

TITLE 43—PUBLIC LANDS: INTERIOR

Chapter I—Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior

[Circular No. 1884]

PART 161—THE FEDERAL RANGE CODE FOR GRAZING DISTRICTS

PREFERENCE RIGHT LEASES FOR LANDS RESTORED FROM WITHDRAWAL; ISSUANCE OF LICENSES AND PERMITS

1. Section 160.8 is amended to read as follows:

§ 160.8 Leases of withdrawn or reserved lands; preference right leases for lands restored from withdrawal. (a) The signing officer may issue leases for public lands withdrawn for resurvey, or withdrawn and reserved in aid of legislation, or for power sites, classification or other public purposes,[1] if the use of the land for grazing is not inconsistent with the purposes of the withdrawal. Lands included in stock driveway and public water reserve withdrawals may be leased in accordance with the § 295.7 (c) of this chapter. Any lease issued covering withdrawn lands must contain the stipulations which have been prescribed for the protection and use of the land for the purpose for which it was withdrawn or reserved.

[1] Certain lands withdrawn for reclamation purposes are, pursuant to the cooperative agreement of February 28, 1945, between the Bureau of Reclamation and the Bureau of Land Management, leased in accordance with principles of section 15 leases, under authority of subsection (I) of section 4, act of December 5, 1924 (43 Stat. 703, 43 U. S. C. sec. 501.) Those lands withdrawn for reclamation purposes which are not subject to the Cooperative Agreement of February 28, 1945, will, upon restoration from the reclamation withdrawal become subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

(b) Where public lands are restored from a withdrawal and the signing officer determines that a grazing lease for the lands may be issued, the party using such lands or part thereof for grazing purposes under authority of the agency which had jurisdiction over the land immediately prior to their restoration, shall have a superior preference to lease the restored lands previously used by him. The preference right must be asserted and an application for lease on combined application and lease Form 4–721 (see § 160.5) must be filed not more than 90 days after the date of signing of the order of revocation of the withdrawal, or not more than 90 days after the end of the current lease year under which the land is being used, whichever is the later. The application must be accompanied by a copy of the prior lease, license, permit or other authority upon which the preference claim is based. The new lease will be dated as of the first day following the end of such current lease year, or as of the date of its issuance, in the discretion of the signing officer and for such term as he may determine.

2. Paragraph (e) of § 161.6 of the Federal Range Code for Grazing Districts (43 CFR 161.6 (e)) is amended as follows:

i. The caption is amended to read:

(e) Administration of lands additionally available; preference right for lands restored from withdrawal. • • •

ii. The present paragraph (e) is designated as subparagraph (1) of paragraph (e).

iii. A new subparagraph is added as follows:

(2) Where public lands are restored from withdrawal and the range manager determines that the lands are available for grazing use, the party using such lands or part thereof for grazing purposes under authority of the agency which had jurisdiction over the lands immediately prior to their restoration, shall have a superior preference to the further grazing use of such lands. The preference right must be asserted and an application for license or permit, on Form I–291 obtainable from the range manager, must be filed with that officer not more than 90 days after the date of signing of the order of revocation of the withdrawal, or not more than 90 days after the end of the current lease year under which the land is being used, whichever is the later. The application must be accompanied by a copy of the prior lease, license, permit or other authority upon which the preference claim is based. The range manager may issue to such applicant an annual license or a term permit as he shall determine, authorizing such grazing use subject to the applicable regulations in this part.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

Food and Drug Administration

[21 CFR Part 120]

TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is given that the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, in accordance with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended, sections 408 and 701, 68 Stat. 511 and 52 Stat. 1053, 21 U. S. C. 348 and 371, and the Administrative Procedure Act, section 4, 60 Stat. 238, 5 U. S. C. 1003, hereby offers an opportunity to all interested persons to submit their views in writing and to request a hearing on them to the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., within sixty days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, upon the proposed regulations set forth below:

§ 120.1 Definitions and interpretations. (a) Secretary, without qualification, means the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare.

(b) Department, without qualification, means the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

(c) Commissioner means the Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

(d) Pesticide Branch means the unit established within the Food and Drug Administration charged with administration of the Pesticide Residue Amendment to the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, section 408.

(e) Raw Agricultural Commodities include, among other things, fresh fruits whether or not they have been washed and colored or otherwise treated in their unpeeled natural form; vegetables in their raw natural state whether or not they have been stripped of their outer leaves, waxed, prepared into fresh green salads, etc.; grains, nuts, eggs, raw milk, meats, and similar agricultural produce. It does not include foods which have been processed, fabricated, or manufactured by cooking, freezing, dehydrating or milling.

(f) Where raw agricultural commodities bearing residues within a tolerance permitted under section 408 are used, the processed foods will not be considered unsafe within the meaning of section 406 if:

(1) The poisonous or deleterious pesticide residues have been removed to the extent possible in good manufacturing practice, and

(2) The concentration of the pesticide in the preserved or processed food when ready to eat is not greater than the tolerance permitted on the raw agricultural commodity.

§ 120.2 Pesticide chemicals considered unsafe. (a) In general pesticide chemicals are not generally recognized as safe for use, for the purposes of section 408 (a), except sulfur, lime, and lime sulfur.

(b) Upon written request, the Pesticide Branch will advise interested persons whether a pesticide chemical should be considered as poisonous or deleterious, or one not generally recognized by qualified experts as safe.

(c) The training and experience necessary to qualify experts to evaluate the safety of pesticide chemicals for purposes of section 408 (a) are essentially the same as training and experience necessary to qualify experts to serve on advisory committees prescribed by section 408 (g). See § 120.11.

§ 120.3 Tolerances for related pesticide chemicals. (a) Pesticide chemicals which cause related pharmacological effects will be regarded, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, as having an additive deleterious action. (For example, pesticide chemicals within each of the following groups have related pharmacological effects: Many chlorinated hydrocarbons, arsenic-containing chemicals, metallic dithiocarbamates, many organic phosphates).

(b) Tolerances established for such related pesticide chemicals may limit the amount of a common component such as As_2O_3 which may be present, or may limit the amount of biological activity such as cholinesterase inhibition which may be present, or may limit the total amount of related pesticide chemicals such as chlorinated hydrocarbons which may be present.

§ 120.4 Certification of usefulness and residue estimate. The time period for the Department's consideration of a petition will not begin to run until the Secretary of Agriculture certifies that the pesticide chemical involved is useful and gives an opinion as to the residue likely to be present in or on a raw agricultural commodity when a pesticide chemical is used in the manner proposed. The tolerance thereafter established ordinarily will not exceed the amount of residue estimated to remain.

§ 120.5 Zero tolerances. A zero tolerance means that no amount of the pesticide chemical remains on the raw agricultural commodity when it is offered for shipment. A zero tolerance for a pesticide chemical on a raw agricultural commodity may be established because, among other reasons:

(a) A safe level of the pesticide chemical in the diet of two different species of warm blooded animals has not been reliably determined.

(b) The chemical is carcinogenic, or has other alarming physiological effects, to one or more of the species of the test animals used when fed in the diet of such animals.

(c) The pesticide chemical is toxic but is normally used at times when, or in such manner that, fruit, vegetables, or other raw agricultural commodities will not bear or contain it.

(d) All residue of the pesticide chemical is normally removed through good agricultural practice such as washing or brushing or through weathering or other changes in the chemical itself.

§ 120.6 Exemptions from the requirement of a tolerance. (a) An exemption from a tolerance shall be granted when it appears that the total quantity of the pesticide chemical in or on all raw agricultural commodities for which it is useful under conditions of unrestricted use will involve no hazard to the public health.

(b) When applied to growing crops, in accordance with good agricultural practice, the following pesticide chemicals are exempt from the requirement of a tolerance:

(2) N-Octylbicycle (2,2,1)-5-heptene-2,3-dicarboximide).

(3) Petroleum oils.

(4) Piperonyl butoxide.

(5) Piperonyl cyclonene.

(6) N-Propyl isome.

(7) Pyrethrum and pyrethrins.

(8) Rotenone or derris or cube roots.

(9) Ryonia.

(10) Sabadilla.

These pesticides are not exempted from the requirement of a tolerance when applied to a crop at time of or after harvest.

§ 120.7 Petitions proposing tolerances or exemptions for pesticide residues on raw agricultural commodities. (a) Petitions to be filed with the Department under provisions of section 408 (d) shall be submitted in duplicate to Pesticide Branch. If any part of the material submitted is in a foreign language, it shall be accompanied by an accurate and complete English translation. The petition shall be accompanied by an advance deposit for fees prescribed in § 120.33. The petition shall state petitioner's mail address to which notice of objection under section 408 (d) (5) may be sent.

(b) Petitions shall be submitted in the following form:

To Pesticide Branch, Food and Drug Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

DEAR SIR:

The undersigned, ----------, submits this petition with respect to a pesticide chemical pursuant to section 408 (d) (1) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. Attached hereto, in duplicate and constituting a part of this petition are the following:

A. The name, chemical identity, and composition of the pesticide chemical.

If the pesticide chemical is an ingredient of an economic poison, the complete quantitative formula of the resulting economic poison should be submitted.

B. The amount, frequency, and time of application of the pesticide chemical.

C. Full reports of investigations made with respect to the safety of the pesticide chemical. (These reports should include, where necessary, detailed data derived from appropriate animal or other biological experiments in which the methods used and the results obtained are clearly set forth.)

D. The results of tests on the amount of residue remaining, including a description of the analytical method used.

Sufficient information should be submitted about the analytical method to permit competent investigators to apply it successfully.

E. Practicable methods for removing residue which exceeds any proposed tolerance.

F. Proposed tolerances for the pesticide chemical if tolerances are proposed.

G. Reasonable grounds in support of the petition.

Enclosed is { money order / bank draft / certified check } for $ .00 payable to the Treasurer of the United States to cover clerical operations, initial administrative review and the cost incurred in considering the petition after it has been filed.

Very truly yours,

---------- (Petitioner)

Per ----------

---------- (Indicate authority)

Mail address ----------

This petition must be signed by the petitioner or by his attorney or agent or, if a corporation, by an authorized official.

The data specified under the several numbered headings should be on separate sheets or sets of sheets, suitably identified.

The petitioner will be notified of the date on which his petition is filed. An incomplete petition will not be filed but the petitioner will be notified in what respect his petition is incomplete.

All Petitions Should Be Submitted in Duplicate. A Single Copy Will Not Be Accepted for Filing

(c) A petition shall not be accepted for filing if any of the data prescribed by section 408 (d) are lacking or are not set forth so as to be readily understood, nor until any sample of the pesticide chemical requested by the Department has been furnished. Data in a petition entitled to protection as a trade secret will be held confidential and not revealed unless it is necessary to do so in administrative or judicial proceedings under section 408.

(d) The Pesticide Branch shall notify applicant of acceptance or non-acceptance of a petition and if not accepted the reasons therefor. Copy of the notice shall be sent to the Plant Pest Control Branch, Department of Agriculture. If accepted the date of notification becomes the date of filing for the purposes of section 408 (d) (1). If applicant desires he may supplement a deficient petition after notification as to deficiencies. If the supplementary material or explanation of petition is deemed acceptable, petitioner shall be notified and date of such notification becomes the date of filing. There shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a notice of filing, together with date of filing, name of petitioner and a brief outline of the petition, including description of analytical method or reference to publication in which it appears if such publication is generally available.

(e) The Department shall specify in its request for a sample of the pesticide chemical, a quantity which it deems adequate to permit tests of analytical methods used to determine residues of the pesticide chemical, and of methods proposed by the petitioner for removing any residues of the chemical which exceed the tolerance he proposes.

(f) In case the method described for the determination of pesticide residues appears of doubtful suitability for the purpose proposed, the petition may be accepted and published but later rejected or held in abeyance if trials of the method confirm the fact that it is unsuitable.

(g) The date of receipt from the Secretary of Agriculture of certification as to usefulness shall be the date used for computing the ninety-day limit for the purposes of section 408 (d) (2).

§ 120.8 Withdrawal of petitions without prejudice. In some cases the Pesticides Branch or an advisory committee to which the petition has been referred, will notify the petitioner that the petition, while technically complete, is inadequate to justify the establishment of a tolerance or the tolerance requested by petitioner. This may be due to the fact that the data are not sufficiently clear or complete. In such cases, the petitioner may withdraw the petition pending its clarification or the obtaining of additional data. This withdrawal may be without prejudice to a future filing. Upon refiling, the time limitation will begin to run anew from the date of refiling and a deposit for fees as specified in § 120.33 shall accompany the resubmission of the petition.

§ 120.9 Substantive amendments to petitions. After a petition has been filed, or referred to an advisory committee, the Petitioner may submit additional information or data in support thereof, but in such cases the petition will be given a new filing date or a new initial date of consideration by the advisory committee, and the time limitation will begin to run anew.

§ 120.10 Referral of petition to advisory committee. (a) If within the prescribed period a person filing a petition requests that the petition be referred to an advisory committee, he shall make such request in writing to the Commissioner and forward with such request an advance deposit for fees prescribed by § 120.33.

(b) In case the Commissioner on his own initiative deems it necessary to refer a petition to an advisory committee, he shall so advise the person filing the petition in writing.

§ 120.11 Appointment of advisory committee. (a) Whenever the referral of a petition or proposal to an advisory committee is requested or the Commissioner otherwise deems such referral necessary the Commissioner will request the National Academy of Sciences to select qualified experts, including at least one representative from land-grant colleges, willing to serve on the advisory committee. All such experts shall have had sufficient training and experience in biology, medicine, physiology, toxicology, pharmacology, veterinary medicine, or other appropriate science to evaluate the safety of pesticide chemicals. The Department will request the National Academy of Sciences, when it furnishes the names of such experts to furnish a biographical sketch showing the background of their experience and their connection, if any, with academic and commercial institutions. Such experts in the employ of land-grant colleges shall be considered as representatives from land-grant colleges.

(b) Each advisory committee shall consist of not less than three experts, at least one of whom is from a land-grant college. The Commissioner may specify a larger number to serve. He shall appoint one member of the committee as chairman and the chairman shall be the spokesman of the committee for receiving and forwarding reports, and other functions of the committee.

§ 120.12 Procedure for advisory committee. (a) The Commissioner shall submit to the chairman of the committee the petition for tolerances together with certification by the Secretary of Agriculture and such other relevant reliable information as may be available. When the Commissioner submits a proposal to an advisory committee on his own initiative, he shall advise the petitioner and furnish him copies of material, other than the petition and certification, which is furnished the committee. The chairman of the committee shall acknowledge receipt of information and readiness of the committee to act and the date of such acknowledgment shall be considered the beginning of period allowed for consideration by the committee. Copy of this acknowledgment shall be forwarded to the petitioner by the chairman of the committee.

(b) A secretariat to advisory committees will be established by the Commissioner. The secretariat shall furnish members of the committee with copies of proposal or petition and certification from the Secretary of Agriculture, and any relevant data received by the chairman. If the chairman of the committee believes that a meeting of the committee is necessary before making a recommendation, he shall so advise the Commissioner. Such meetings shall be held in Washington, D. C., or such other place as the Commissioner may designate. The Commissioner shall furnish a suitable meeting place for the committee. If a meeting is held the secretariat shall keep the minutes and provide clerical assistance.

(c) As soon as practicable but not later than sixty days after acknowledging receipt of proposal or petition (unless the time has been extended as provided in paragraph (d) of this section), the chairman shall certify to the Commissioner the report of the committee including any minority report, and shall return the petition for tolerances and certification by the Secretary of Agriculture. The report will include copies of all relevant material considered by the committee, except that in the case of scientific literature readily available in scientific libraries proper reference can be made to it instead of furnishing actual copies. The report of the advisory committee shall be available for inspection by any interested person after a tolerance or exemption resulting from the petition is published.

(d) If at any time within sixty days the chairman believes the advisory committee needs more time, he shall so advise the Commissioner in writing in which case he shall make the certification contemplated by section 408 (d) (3) of the act within the additional thirty days.

(e) The date of receipt of the committee report will be the date for computing time for the Commissioner to act for the purposes of both section 408 (d) (3) and 408 (e).

(f) The chairman of the committee after consultation with the committee members will advise the National Academy of Sciences of the committee's opinion as to the member who may best represent the committee at a hearing, if one occurs.

(g) More than one petition or proposal may be handled by a committee concurrently.

(h) Persons authorized under section 408 (h) to discuss proposals or petitions with the committee shall notify the chairman and if practicable make appointments through him. The report of the committee shall show the names of persons other than committee members discussing proposals or petitions with the committee. Except for discussions with authorized persons the committee shall not disclose data originating with a petitioner prior to publication of a regulation.

(i) The Food and Drug Administration shall execute a contract with each committee member specifying a reasonable per diem as compensation for time spent in traveling to and from the committee meetings, if they are held outside of the city of his residence, and in committee meetings; and providing for the payment of necessary travel and subsistence expenses while the member is serving away from his place of residence.

§ 120.13 Objections to regulations and requests for hearings. (a) Objections under section 408 (d) (5) shall be submitted in quintuplicate to the Hearing Clerk of the Department. Each objection to a provision of the regulation shall be separately numbered.

(b) A statement of objections shall not be accepted for filing if:

(1) It fails to establish that the objector is adversely affected by the regulation; or

(2) It does not specify with particularity the provisions of the regulation to which objection is taken; or

(3) It does not state reasonable grounds for each objection raised. Grounds which it is reasonable to conclude are capable of being established by reliable evidence at the hearing and which if proved would call for changing the provisions specified in the objections will be deemed reasonable grounds.

(c) If the statement of objections may not be filed, the Commissioner shall advise the objector of the reasons.

(d) If objections to a regulation issued pursuant to a petition are filed by a person other than the petitioner, the Food and Drug Administration shall send a copy of the objections by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the petitioner at the address given in the petition. Petitioner shall have 2 weeks from the date of receipt of the objections to make written reply.

§ 120.14 Public hearing, notice. (a) If the objections and statements filed by any person, when they are considered with the record in the proceeding, including any reply to the objections which the petitioner may have filed, show that the person filing the objections is adversely affected and that the grounds stated in support of the objections are reasonable, the Commissioner shall cause to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a notice reciting the objections and announcing a public hearing to receive evidence on them. The notice shall designate the place where the hearing will be held, specify the time within which appearances must be filed, and specify the time, not earlier than thirty days after the date of the notice, when the hearing will start. The hearing shall convene at the place and time announced in the notice but thereafter it may be moved to a different place and may be continued from day to day or recessed to a later day without other notice than announcement thereof by the presiding officer at the hearing.

§ 120.15 Presiding officer. The hearing shall be conducted by a presiding officer, who shall be a hearing examiner appointed as provided in the Administrative Procedure Act and designated by the Secretary for conducting the hearing. Any such designation may be made or revoked by the Secretary at any time. Hearings shall be conducted in an informal but orderly manner in accordance with these regulations and the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act. The presiding officer shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations, to request the member of an advisory committee designated as provided by section 408 (d) (5) to testify with respect to the report and recommendations of the committee, to rule upon offers of proof, admissibility of evidence and receive relevant evidence, to examine witnesses, to regulate the course of the hearing, to hold conferences for the simplification of the issues, and to dispose of procedural requests but shall not have power to decide any motion which involves final determination of the merits of the proceeding.

§ 120.16 Parties, burden of proof, appearances. At the hearing, the person whose objections raised the issues to be determined shall be, within the meaning of section 7 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act, the proponent of the order sought, and accordingly shall have the burden of proof. Any interested person shall be given an opportunity to appear at the hearing, either in person or by his authorized representative, and to be heard with respect to matters relevant to the issues raised by the objections. Any interested person who desires to be heard at the hearing in person or through a representative shall, within the time specified in the notice of hearing, file with the presiding officer a written notice of appearance setting forth his name, address and employment. If such person desires to be heard through a representative, such person or such representative shall file with the presiding officer a written appearance setting forth the name, address, and employment of such person. Any person or representative shall state with particularity in the appearance his interest in the proceedings, and shall set forth the specific provisions of the regulations concerning which objections have been made on which such person desires to be heard. The appearance shall also set forth with particularity the position to be taken concerning the objections on which he wishes to be heard. No person shall be heard if he failed to file his appearance within the time prescribed in the absence of a clear showing of good cause why the appearance was not filed. All present at the hearing shall conform to all reasonable standards of orderly and ethical conduct.

§ 120.17 Pre-hearing and other conferences. (a) The presiding officer, on his own motion or on the motion of any party or his representative, may direct all parties or their representatives to appear at a specified time and place for a conference to consider:

(1) The simplification of the issues;

(2) The possibility of obtaining stipulations, admissions of facts and documents;

(3) The limitation of the number of expert witnesses;

(4) The scheduling of witnesses to be called;

(5) The advance submission of all documentary evidence;

(6) Such other matters as may aid in the disposition of the proceeding.

The presiding officer shall make an order which recites the action taken at the conference, the agreements made by the parties or their representatives, the schedule of witnesses, and which limits the issues for hearing to those not disposed of by admissions or agreements; and such order shall control the subsequent course of the proceeding unless modified for good cause by subsequent order.

(b) The presiding officer also may direct all parties and their representatives to appear at conferences at any time during the hearing with a view to simplification, clarification or shortening the hearing.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

§ 120.18 Submission of documentary evidence in advance. (a) All documentary evidence which is to be offered at the hearing shall be submitted to the presiding officer and to the parties sufficiently in advance of the offer of such documentary evidence for introduction into the record to permit study and preparation of cross-examination and rebuttal evidence.

(b) The presiding officer after consultation with the parties at a conference called in accordance with § 120.17 shall make an order specifying the time at which documentary evidence shall be submitted. He shall also specify in his order the time within which objection to the authenticity of such documents must be made to comply with paragraph (d) of this section.

(c) Documentary evidence not submitted in advance in accordance with the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall not be received in evidence in the absence of a clear showing that the offering party had good cause for his failure to produce the evidence sooner.

(d) The authenticity of all documents submitted in advance shall be deemed admitted unless written objection thereto is filed with the presiding officer upon notice to the other parties within the time specified by the presiding officer in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, except that a party will be permitted to challenge such authenticity at a later time upon a clear showing of good cause for failure to have filed such written objection.

§ 120.19 Excerpts from documentary evidence. When portions only of a document are to be relied upon, the offering party shall prepare the pertinent excerpts, adequately identified, and shall supply copies of such excerpts, together with a statement indicating the purpose for which such materials will be offered, to the presiding officer and to the other parties. Only the excerpts, so prepared and submitted, shall be received in the record. However, the whole of the original document should be made available for examination and for use by opposing counsel for purposes of cross-examination.

§ 120.20 Submission and receipt of evidence. (a) Each witness shall, before proceeding to testify, be sworn or make affirmation.

(b) When necessary in order to prevent undue prolongation of the hearing, the presiding officer may limit the number of times any witness may testify or the repetitious examination and cross-examination of witnesses, or the amount of corroborative or cumulative evidence.

(c) The presiding officer shall admit only evidence which is relevant, material and not unduly repetitious.

(d) Opinion evidence shall be admitted when the presiding officer is satisfied that the witness is properly qualified.

(e) The presiding officer shall file as exhibits the FEDERAL REGISTER promulgating the regulation to which objections were taken and any report, recommendations, underlying data, and reasons which were certified to the Secretary by an advisory committee pursuant to section 408 (d) (3). The report, recommendations, underlying data, and reasons shall be subject to section 7 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act. All documents constituting the record accumulated up to the start of the hearing shall be open for inspection by interested persons during office hours in the office of the Hearing Clerk.

(f) The member of an advisory committee, if any, designated to testify, or any member requested to testify by the petitioner, the Department, or the presiding officer, or who upon his own initiative requests to be heard, shall appear and testify with respect to the report, recommendations, underlying data, and reasons of the committee. The designated member shall receive per diem, and travel and subsistence expenses when incurred, as though he were attending a meeting of the advisory committee. The expenses shall be paid from deposit made to cover the acceptance for filing of objections.

(g) If any person objects to the admission or rejection of any evidence, or other limitation of the scope of any examination or cross-examination, he shall state briefly the grounds of such objection, and the transcript shall not include extended argument or debate thereon except as ordered by the presiding officer. A ruling of the presiding officer on any such objection shall be a part of the transcript, together with such offer of proof as has been made.

§ 120.21 Transcript of the testimony. Testimony given at a hearing shall be reported verbatim. All written statements, charts, tabulations, and similar data offered in evidence at the hearing shall be marked for identification and, upon a showing satisfactory to the presiding officer of their authenticity, relevancy, and materiality, shall be received in evidence subject to section 7 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act. Exhibits shall, if practicable, be submitted in quintuplicate. In case the required number of copies are not made available, the presiding officer shall exercise his discretion as to whether said exhibit shall be read in evidence or whether additional copies shall be required to be submitted within a time to be specified by the presiding officer. Where the testimony of a witness refers to a statute, or to a report or document, the presiding officer shall, after inquiry relating to the identification of such statute, report, or document, determine whether the same shall be produced at the hearing and physically be made a part of the evidence by reference. Where relevant and material matter offered in evidence is embraced in a report or document containing immaterial and irrelevant matter, such immaterial and irrelevant matter shall be excluded and shall be segregated insofar as practicable, subject to the direction of the presiding officer.

§ 120.22 Oral and written arguments. (a) Unless the presiding officer shall issue an announcement at the hearing authorizing oral argument before him, it shall not be permitted.

(b) The presiding officer shall announce at the hearing a reasonable period within which interested persons may file written arguments based solely upon the evidence received at the hearing, citing the pages of the transcript of the testimony or of properly identified exhibits where such evidence occurs.

§ 120.23 Indexing of record. (a) Whenever it appears to the presiding officer that the record of hearing will be of such length that an index to the record will permit a more orderly presentation of evidence and reduce delay, the presiding officer shall require counsel for the parties to prepare a daily topical index which will be available to the presiding officer and all parties. Preparation of such an index shall be apportioned among all counsel present in such manner as appears just and proper in the circumstances.

(b) The index should include each topic of testimony upon which evidence is taken, the name of each witness testifying upon the topic, the page of the record at which each portion of his testimony appeared, and the number of each exhibit relating to the topic. The index should also contain the name of each witness followed by the topics upon which he testified and the page of the record at which such testimony appears.

§ 120.24 Certification of record. At the close of the hearing the presiding officer shall afford interested persons a short time, except in unusual cases not longer than one week, in which to point out errors which may have been made in transcribing the testimony. The presiding officer shall promptly thereafter order such corrections made as in his judgment are required to make the transcript accurately conform to the testimony, and he shall certify the transcript of testimony and the exhibits to the Secretary.

§ 120.25 Filing the record of the hearing. As soon as practicable after the close of the hearing, the complete record of the hearing shall be filed in the office of the Hearing Clerk. The record shall include the transcript of the testimony, any exhibits, and any written arguments that may have been filed.

§ 120.26 Copies of the record of the hearing. The Department will make provisions for a stenographic record of the testimony and for such copies of the transcript thereof as it requires for its own purposes. Any person desiring a copy of the record of the hearing or of any part thereof shall be entitled to the same upon payment of the costs thereof.

§ 120.27 Proposed order. As soon as practicable after the time for filing written arguments has ended the Commissioner shall prepare and cause to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a proposed order which shall incorporate findings of fact, recommend decisions on the objections which were the subject of the hearing and a tentative regulations. The proposed order shall specify a reasonable time, ordinarily not to exceed 30 days, within which any interested person may file exceptions. The exceptions shall point out with particularity the alleged errors in said proposed order, and shall contain a specific reference to the pages of the transcript of the testimony or to the exhibits on which each exception is based. Such exceptions may be accompanied by a memorandum brief.

§ 120.28 Final order. As soon as practicable after the time for filing exceptions has passed, the record and the exceptions shall be presented to the Secretary and he shall cause to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER his final order promulgating the regulation.

§ 120.29 Adoption of tolerance on initiative of the Secretary or on request of an interested person. (a) Upon the request of an interested person (other than a person who has registered or who has submitted an application for the registration of an economic poison under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act) furnishing reasonable grounds therefor, and upon advance deposit to cover fees as prescribed in § 120.33, the Commissioner shall propose the issuance of a regulation establishing a tolerance for a pesticide chemical or exempting it from the necessity of a tolerance. Reasonable grounds shall include an explanation showing wherein the person has a substantial interest in such a tolerance or exemption from tolerance, information, if available, as to why registrant of the pesticide chemical under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act has not petitioned for a tolerance or exemption from tolerance and adequate data on subjects outlined in clauses A, B, C, D, E, and F of section 408 (d) (1).

(b) The notice of the proposal shall show whether it is made on initiative of the Commissioner or at the request of an interested person, naming such person.

(c) If within thirty days after publication of the proposal a person who has registered, or who has submitted an application for registration of an economic poison under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act containing the pesticide chemical named in the proposal, requests in writing that the proposal be referred to an advisory committee and makes advance deposit to cover fees as provided by § 120.33, the Commissioner shall appoint a committee as provided in § 120.11 and refer the proposal and relevant data to such committee. The Department and the committee shall proceed as prescribed in section 408 and this part.

§ 120.30 Judicial review. (a) The Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare hereby designates the Assistant General Counsel for Food and Drugs of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare as the officer upon whom copy of petition for judicial review shall be served. Such officer shall be responsible for filing in the court a transcript of proceedings and the record on which the order of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare is based. The transcript and record shall be certified by the Secretary.

(b) Before forwarding the transcript and record to the court the Department shall advise the petitioner of costs of preparing it and as soon as payment to cover fees is made shall forward the transcript of proceeding and record to the court.

§ 120.31 Temporary tolerances. (a) A temporary tolerance (or exemption from a tolerance) established under authority of section 408 (j) of the act shall be deemed to be a tolerance (or exemption from the requirement of a tolerance) for the purposes of section 408 (a) (1) of the act.

(b) (1) A request for a temporary tolerance or a temporary exemption from a tolerance by a person who has obtained an experimental permit for a pesticide chemical under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act shall be accompanied by a copy of such experimental permit, and such data as are available on subjects outlined in clauses A, B, C, D, E, F and G of section 408 (d) (1) and an advance deposit to cover fees as provided in § 120.33.

(2) Before an experimental permit has been obtained, the Pesticide Branch upon request of the Department of Agriculture or a person who proposes to apply for an experimental permit will consider available data and discuss its adequacy for the purpose of justifying a tolerance or exemption from a tolerance.

(c) A notice of the issuance of a temporary tolerance outlining any additional restrictions as to use of the chemical imposed under the experimental permit under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act may be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER if the Secretary deems such publication desirable.

(d) A temporary tolerance or exemption from a tolerance may be issued for a period designed to allow the orderly marketing of the raw agricultural commodities produced while testing a pesticide chemical under an experimental permit issued under authority of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act when the Department concludes that the public health can be adequately protected during such marketing. A temporary tolerance or exemption from a tolerance may be revoked if the experimental permit is revoked, or may be revoked at any time if it develops that the application for a temporary tolerance contains a misstatement of a material fact or that new scientific data or experience with the pesticide chemical indicates that it may be hazardous to the public health.

§ 120.32 Procedure for amending and repealing tolerances or exemptions from tolerances. (a) The Commissioner on his own initiative or on request from an interested person furnishing reasonable grounds therefor, shall propose the issuance of a regulation amending or repealing a tolerance for a pesticide chemical on raw agricultural commodities or granting or repealing an exemption from tolerance for such chemical. Requests for such amendment or repeal shall be made in writing and accompanied by an advance deposit to cover fees as provided in § 120.33.

(b) Reasonable grounds shall include an explanation showing wherein the person has a substantial interest in such tolerance or exemption from tolerance and an assertion of facts (supported by data if available), showing that new data are available as to toxicity of the chemical, or that experience with the application of the tolerance, or exemption from tolerance, may justify its amendment or repeal.

(c) The notice announcing the proposal to amend or repeal a regulation shall show whether the proposal was made on the initiative of the Commissioner or at the request of an interested person, naming such person. From this point the proceedings shall be the same as prescribed by paragraph (e) of section 408, beginning with the second sentence of such paragraph, and the regulations applicable to paragraphs (d), (e), (f), and (g) of section 408.

§ 120.33 Fees. (a) A $50.00 nonreturnable fee will be charged for clerical handling and administrative review of each of the following:

(1) Petition or request proposing the issuance of a regulation.

(2) Referral of a petition or proposal to an Advisory Committee.

(b) Except as noted in paragraph (c) of this section each petition or request for the establishment of a tolerance shall be accompanied by a deposit of $500.00. Of this, $50.00 is the fee specified in paragraph (a) of this section, and $450.00 is a fee for considering the petition after it has been filed, or for processing the request. After the petition is filed or processing of the request is started, the $450.00 fee shall not be returned.

(c) In case a petition or request for the establishment of a tolerance proposes the extension of a tolerance already established for a pesticide chemical on one raw agricultural commodity to additional raw agricultural commodity or commodities it shall be accompanied by a deposit of $140.00. Of this, $50.00 is the fee specified in paragraph (a) of this section, and $90.00 is a nonreturnable fee for considering the petition after it has been filed or for processing the request. After the petition is filed or processing of the request is started, the $90.00 fee shall not be returned.

(d) If a petition is not accepted for filing because it is technically incomplete, the deposit, less cost specified in paragraph (a) of this section, shall be returned, unless the petitioner indicates that he wishes to submit a supplement in which case the deposit will be held by the Department and the supplement shall be accompanied by a nonreturnable fee of $50.00.

(e) (1) In the event of a referral of a petition or proposal under this section to an advisory committee, the costs shall be borne by the person who requests the referral of the data to the advisory committee.

(2) Cost of the advisory committee including expenses of the secretariat will not exceed $75.00 per member per day plus cost of necessary travel and subsistence of committee members while they are away from their respective places of residence, plus cost of duplicating documents referred to the committee.

(3) An advance deposit shall be made in the amount of $2500.00 to cover these costs, and the fee specified in paragraph (a) of this section, and further advance deposits of $2500.00 each shall be made upon request of the Commissioner when necessary to prevent arrears in the payment of such costs. Any deposits in excess of actual expenses will be refunded to the depositor.

(f) When a petition is withdrawn after filing and resubmitted it shall be accompanied by a nonreturnable fee of $150.00.

(g) After a petition has been filed, any additional information or data submitted in support of it (i. e., any substantive amendment) shall be accompanied by a nonreturnable fee of $150.00.

(h) Objections under section 408 (d) (5) shall be accompanied by a nonreturnable filing fee of $250.00.

(i) All deposits and fees required by the regulations in this part shall be paid by money order, bank draft, or certified check drawn to the order of the Food and Drug Administration, collectible at par at Washington, D. C. All deposits and fees shall be forwarded to the Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington 25, D. C., whereupon after making appropriate records thereof they will be transmitted to the Treasurer of the United States, for deposit to the special account "Certification and Inspection Services, Food and Drug Administration."

(j) The Department may waive or refund such fees in whole or in part when in the Commissioner's judgment such action will promote the public interest.

(k) Any person who believes that payment of these fees will work a hardship on him may petition the Secretary to waive or refund the fees.

Dated: October 8, 1954.

Acting Secretary.

[Docket No. FDC-57]

TOLERANCES FOR POISONOUS OR DELETERIOUS RESIDUES IN OR ON FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES [1]

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 406, 701, 52 Stat. 1049, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 346, 371; 67 Stat. 18), upon the basis of evidence of record at the hearing held pursuant to the notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 17, 1949 (14 F. R. 5724), and after consideration of briefs and proposed findings filed by interested persons, it is proposed that the following order be promulgated:

Findings of fact. [2] 1. Growing plants that yield edible fruits and vegetables are subject to attack by insect pests and plant-disease micro-organisms. The resulting injury in either case may vary from slight, with little or no damage to the edible portions of the plant, to the complete destruction of the crop. (R. 43-47, 52-56, 82, 83, 89, 90-92, 97, 142, 144, 145, 291, 362, 376-382, 458-460, 507, 551-571, 580-586, 611, 642, 650, 729, 1266-1271)

There are many species of insect pests. Sometimes insects of the same species will attack several kinds of food plants. Some of the factors that affect the size of the insect population are available food supply, climate, and the presence of predators. In the United States the same fruits and vegetables are often grown in different areas under conditions of climate that vary widely, and the potential damage to crops from the same insect pest varies widely in different areas. (R. 32, 34, 36, 37, 59, 60, 61, 62, 83-86, 94, 145-147, 217, 222, 223, 255, 267-271, 291, 333, 346, 362, 422-425, 455, 460-462, 612, 728, 1353, 1442, 1584-1587, 1951-1952, 2182, 2230, 3718)

3. Damage from attacks by insect pests may be reduced in several ways, but the method most widely used in the United States is to apply to the growing plant substances that are poisonous to the attacking insects. Most substances poisonous to insects are also poisonous to warm-blooded animals and man. However, there may exist great differences in this respect, and the different species of insects may vary in their susceptibility to different poisonous substances. The effectiveness of an insecticide against certain types of insects is not the same in different areas. No one poisonous substance is effective against all insect pests. The number of poisonous substances available for use against insect pests is steadily increasing. Research looking toward the synthesis of new insect poisons is being conducted by scientific institutions and government agencies concerned with the problem of pest control and by many companies interested in the sale of pesticides. (R. 27-28, 33, 35, 56, 65, 81, 100-105, 109, 335, 386, 495-497, 621, 670-700, 776, 779, 984, 1092-1093, 1102-1108, 1299, 1466, 1468, 1586-1604, 1608-1638, 1765-1766, 1792-1793, 1846-1847, 1861, 1970-1971, 2176-2180, 2358, 2467, 3785, 4171-4174)

4. Many of the poisonous chemicals used to combat insects and plant diseases tend to injure the plants to which they are applied, and the amounts used must be limited or the damage from the chemical may be greater than from the insect pests or plant diseases they control. Considerable experimental work with new chemicals for combatting insects (insecticides) and plant diseases (fungicides) is necessary before they are ready for commercial distribution. (R. 120, 171, 182-183, 302, 326, 484, 931, 998, 1134, 1136, 1260, 1444, 1716-1717, 3596-3598, 4127, 4882-4883)

5. There are many different types of plant diseases. As in the case of insect pests, the most common method of controlling plant diseases is also by the application of chemicals to the plants attacked. Many substances capable of destroying micro-organisms in man or other animals are of some value in destroying micro-organisms responsible for plant diseases, but most such substances have no practical use for this purpose because they severely injure the plants to which they are applied. The number of substances used to combat plant diseases was rather limited until a few years ago, but the number is now rapidly expanding. For many years compounds of copper, sulfur, and of sulfur and lime were used almost exclusively. In recent years an increasing number of organic chemicals have been used to control plant diseases, and new compounds are being developed by research. (R. 888-894, 896-902, 911-928, 940-959, 1346-1352, 1359-1376, 1448, 2008-2036, 2517-2519, 3289-3294, 3311-3312, 3331, 4011-4015, 4716-4729, 4746-4747, 4804-4808, 4842-4846, 5741-5743, 6322-6324)

6. Some plant diseases are transmitted from one generation of plants to another through seed. In recent years it has become standard practice to treat vegetable seeds with poisonous substances to destroy the spores of micro-organisms capable of causing certain plant diseases. The evidence indicates that such seed treatment causes no measurable uptake of poisonous substances by the plant. For this reason, some very toxic substances such as compounds containing mercury, which should not be applied to growing plants, may be used for treating seed without danger to the consumer of vegetables grown from the treated seed. (R. 894-896, 965, 1066-1068, 1079-1080, 2400, 2660-2661, 2720-2723, 2977-2979, 4071-4072, 4138, 4195, 4320, 4339-4344, 4825-4826, 4860-4864, 5122, 5338-5742, 6313-6314, 6904)

7. The United States Department of Agriculture is constantly engaged in investigating problems connected with pest control. Often these investigations are conducted in cooperation with State agencies. Practically every State operates an agricultural experiment station or other official agency to carry on investigations on subjects of local interest and to furnish advice and suggestions to interested persons. One of the services rendered by most such agencies is the issuance of spray-schedule recommendations, designed to protect fruits and vegetables against the pests most likely to attack them. Growers of fruits and vegetables usually use the substances recommended by their State agencies but do not always follow the recommendations as to the amounts to be applied and the time of application. They may at times use substances not recommended by State agencies. (R. 29, 30, 80, 112, 122-126, 298, 347, 359, 360, 363, 426, 481-495, 507-511, 520, 587-589, 666, 1135, 1640-1641, 2121-2123, 2165, 2314, 2353, 2479, 2962, 3114, 3116-3117, 3152, 3153, 3482, 3910, 4081-4084, 4107, 4213, 4415, 4788-4806, 5138, 5231-5232)

[1] The findings of fact and proposed regulations are based on hearings held in 1950. They do not take into account technical and research advances made since that time.

[2] The citations following each finding of fact refer to the pages of the transcript of the testimony and the exhibits received in evidence at the hearing.

8. Fruit and vegetable growing is subject to many vicissitudes. There may be overproduction at times, with low prices, while at other times high prices fail to bring a profitable return to growers because of low yields. Economic factors, including the cost of the various pesticides available, influence growers in the amounts and kinds of such products they use. Generally speaking, the application of effective insecticides and fungicides is a necessary part of the business of growing fruits and vegetables commercially, and the cost of applying such substances is a recognized and anticipated part of the cost of production. The application of pesticides may be looked upon in one sense as an insurance against crop failure. (R. 42, 43, 69, 70, 82, 455-457, 467-468, 518-520, 562-569, 722, 984, 996, 1019-1024, 1533-1541, 1762-1764, 1769-1771, 2180-2182, 2393-2395, 2602, 2817-2818, 3196, 3245, 3719, 3950, 4031-4032, 4233-4235, 4526-4528, 4551, 4595)

9. In most instances there is a choice of using one of several substances to control a particular insect on a particular crop. These substances may vary in effectiveness, availability, cost, and method of application. A substance may become less effective after continued use, since some insects apparently develop a resistance to its poisonous effects. In a particular situation some poisonous control substances may be necessary, but a particular substance cannot be singled out as the only one necessary for the purpose. In this respect fungicides are in a situation similar to insecticides. For the purpose of section 406 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, it is reasonable, in the case of fresh fruits and vegetables, to include in the category of "required" poisonous or deleterious substances those that have been found on the basis of testimony by competent investigators at a hearing held under authority of section 701 of the act to be effective in controlling pests, and to establish such tolerances for residues as are necessary to protect the public health. (R. 56-58, 68, 70, 112, 113, 162, 165, 170, 174-175, 182-183, 185, 189, 194, 196, 232, 426-430, 455, 728, 997-1016, 1346-1352, 1541-1544, 1665-1673, 2241, 2381, 2466, 2686, 3094, 3111-3114, 3126, 3146, 3153, 3783, 3883-3984, 4015-4016, 4063, 4253, 4439-4440, 4525-4526, 4606-4607, 4857-4860, 5144-5146, 6248-6249)

10. Most insecticides and fungicides applied to fruit and vegetable plants leave detectable surface residues on the fruit and vegetables at harvest. The quantity of such residues is affected by a number of factors, including amount and frequency of application, time of application with respect to development and size of the edible portion of the plant, and the length of time between the last application and harvest. A natural decrease in quantity of residue results from various causes, such as volatilization, decomposition, and weathering. Some pesticides volatilize or decompose, or do both, with such rapidity that within a few days after application no detectable residue remains. Others are lost at a slower rate. When fruits and vegetables increase in size after application of the pesticide, there is a decrease in the relative amount of residue in comparison with the weight of the food. The type of vegetable to which the pesticide is applied is also an important factor that affects the amount of residue. In many instances the edible portion of the vegetable is so protected that substances that are applied do not penetrate to the edible portions. Such is the situation in the case of pesticides applied to foliage of root crops, if there is no translocation. In vegetables, such as peas and beans that are sold to consumers in the pods, poisonous residues remaining on the pods must, for practical administrative purposes, be considered as added to the food. This is true even though the pods may, on occasion, be discarded before the food is eaten. In the case of some leafy vegetables, the large surfaces may result in relatively high residues in proportion to the weight of the food, and in others the physical structure of the leaf may cause a greater retention of the residue. In some leafy vegetables, however, outer leaves containing considerable amounts of residue fall off before harvesting. (R. 338, 398-400, 598-599, 700-703, 711-741, 776-788, 833, 836, 845-847, 1073-1074, 1218, 1317, 1403, 2203, 2355, 2523, 2692-2693, 2720, 2752, 3281, 3996, 4129, 4356, 4896, 4945-4948, 4971-4974)

11. With few exceptions, pesticides are not taken up from the soil by the roots or absorbed through the foliage of fruit and vegetable plants and translocated. There was evidence indicating that benzene hexachloride and other chlorinated hydrocarbons applied to the soil may be absorbed and affect the flavor of some vegetables. Direct application of this substance to growing fruit may affect the flavor of the mature fruit. The development of off-flavor from the use of pesticides may render fruits or vegetables adulterated for reasons other than danger to health. Limits on the use of pesticides for such a reason should not be confused with limits imposed for protection of the public health. (R. 652, 1469, 1643-1650, 2962, 2971-2972, 3078-3079, 3636, 3908, 3978, 4188, 4661, 5034, 6516-6522)

12. Usually the application of insecticides and fungicides is made to fruit-producing trees and plants after the fruit has formed and results in contamination of the surface of the fruit with these substances. Certain applications of pesticides sometimes referred to as dormant sprays are made to fruit trees or plants before the fruit has formed. There was no evidence to suggest that applications of pesticides prior to formation of fruit result in the addition of poisonous or deleterious substances to the fruits. (R. 1524, 2246, 2355, 4088, 4109, 4139-4140, 4146, 4367, 4976-4979, 5122-5127, 5885-5886)

13. The possibility of danger to health of consumers from poisonous residues was recognized many years ago. At times, due to high insect population and their resistance to insecticides, it was considered necessary by growers to apply relatively large amounts of insecticides at frequent intervals, resulting in excessive poisonous residues at time of harvest. Some insecticides are of such a high order of toxicity that relatively small amounts remaining as residues are a potential health hazard. The necessity of removing excessive poisonous residues from fruit and vegetables before shipment is well recognized. There has been considerable research by governmental agencies and the interested industries to determine the best means of removing excessive residues. Washing in specially prepared solutions for the purpose of removing residues resulting from the application of lead arsenate and fluorine-containing compounds has been extensively used in past years on apples, pears, and some vegetables. Washing has also been successfully employed to remove excessive poisonous residues from other fruits and vegetables. Wiping and brushing have been found to remove excessive residue from some fruits and vegetables. Stripping the outer leaves or stalks of leafy vegetables often removes substantial portions of the residues. (R. 114-116, 198-209, 231-237, 318, 364-388, 442-447, 463-464, 484, 574, 598-599, 713, 1154-1184, 1470-1486, 1559-1579, 1650-1651, 2476-2478, 2758, 2830, 2832, 3131, 3154, 3292-3293, 3673-3675, 3804, 3838, 3879, 3890, 4024, 4049, 4154-4155, 4260-4263, 4424, 4543, 4561, 4580)

14. The use of pesticides in excess of the minimum amounts needed to give effective control is unnecessary, may injure the plant, and results in economic waste. The use of excessive amounts of pesticides may leave unnecessarily high residues and result in consumers ingesting poisonous substances in quantities that may be harmful. From a known spray schedule persons trained in the use of insecticides and fungicides can estimate with a fair degree of accuracy the maximum amount of substances, applied according to the schedule, that will remain as residues at harvest. Qualified and experienced persons can formulate spray schedules utilizing different poisonous substances so that such schedules, if followed, will give effective protection against anticipated pests while the amount of residues remaining at harvest can be expected to fall below predetermined amounts. The recommendations of State entomologists and plant pathologists are made on the basis of experience, usually covering a period of more than a single year. Occasionally, however, pests attack crops unexpectedly and existing recommendations are inadequate for control. In such cases emergency measures may be suggested. For example, attacks by grasshoppers may occur unexpectedly and necessitate the use of pesticides not normally recommended. (R. 347-350, 395, 470-474, 1007-1016, 1035-1065, 1136-1137, 1261, 1435-1436, 1439, 1452, 1525-1526, 2480, 2859, 3116-3117, 3258-3259, 3524-3525, 3628-3629, 3865-3866, 3910-3911, 3914-3915, 3920, 3975-3976, 4064-4066, 4271-4273, 4416-4419, 4500, 4506, 4511, 4572, 4784)

15. A number of organic chemicals have been found to possess the property of killing different species of plants selectively. Some of these chemicals are also sometimes applied directly to fruit trees at blossomtime to control fruit set and at harvesttime to control fruit drop. These chemicals have been widely used in recent years for destroying weeds in various crops, including berries, peas, corn, etc., and to defoliate certain plants. These practices are growing. When applied directly there may be an addition of the chemical to the fruit, and a tolerance should be provided. The proper use of these chemicals does not in most cases result in residues in or on fruits or vegetables. However, there may be some unintentional contamination even when good agricultural practice is followed. Protection of the public health from the addition of such poisonous substances to fruits and vegetables when it cannot be avoided by sound agricultural practice requires the adoption of tolerances for certain herbicides. (R. 886–888, 3755, 3810, 5933–5944, 5951–5952, 6168–6170, 6197–6199, 6729–6731)

16. There are a number of chemicals used for liberating poisonous gases in the soil. They are commonly referred to as soil fumigants and are used primarily to control microscopic worm-like animals, known as nematodes, and to some extent other organisms in the soil that interfere with the growth of plants. The principal soil fumigants are carbon bisulfide, carbon tetrachloride, chloropicrin, ethylene dibromide, methyl bromide, dichloropropane, and dichloropropene. Such substances are commonly applied to soil before plants are set out, since contact between chemical and plants may result in injury to the plant. There is no evidence of any uptake of any of these named substances into the edible portions of fruits and vegetables. Research is under way on possible uptake of certain less volatile chlorinated hydrocarbons. (R. 321, 703–704, 1684–1687, 2087, 2351–2352, 2354, 2685, 2724–2729, 3294–3295, 3314–3316, 4072, 4122, 4148, 4330–4335, 4397–4398, 4610–4612, 4616, 4658–4660, 5619–5621, 5624, 6012–6032, 6075–6076, 6143–6159, 6540–6544, 6903; Ex. 717, 718, 978)

17. Certain organic chemicals (in addition to those referred to in finding 15) similar in composition to some of the plant hormones are applied to fruit trees or plants at blossomtime to improve the set of fruit. Some are used to reduce the amount of set to such an extent that the trees will be able to produce mostly large fruit. Other chemicals are applied to aid in the set of certain fruits, such as tomatoes, in cool weather. Application of such chemicals at blossomtime has not been shown to cause any contamination of the fruit at harvest. Among the chemicals used for these purposes are some of the dinitrophenols, which are quite toxic. The practices described in this finding can be regulated so that no poisonous or deleterious substance is added to fruit. The evidence does not indicate that tolerances are now needed. (R. 4612–4613, 5944–5945, 5955, 5958–5970, 5981–6009)

18. Some of the substances needed by plants for normal growth, and which are commonly obtained through their root systems, may at times be unavailable in the soil. In some instances, the needed substance can be supplied by spraying it on the foliage of the plant. It has become accepted practice to observe the growth of citrus trees (and to a lesser extent other plants), and where there is indication of a lack of certain elements to spray the trees with a dilute solution or suspension of compounds containing the needed substances. Compounds of manganese, zinc, boron, and iron are commonly applied in this manner. Although these substances may be added to the fertilizers used, the results obtained by adding them to the soil are often delayed and less effective. When applied to the foliage according to good agricultural practice the amounts of the substances added to fruit are small. The substances used are of low toxicity, and there is no likelihood of consumer injury if good agricultural practice is followed. (R. 1065, 3359, 3436–3437, 3477–3478, 3487, 3500, 3517–3518, 3526–3538, 3550–3551, 3754–3755, 3810–3812, 4631–4632, 5851–5866)

19. Lead arsenate is sometimes applied to citrus trees, particularly to grapefruit, to retard the development of acid in the fruit. Small amounts may be absorbed, and traces of lead have been detected in the interior portions of grapefruit from trees sprayed with lead arsenate. In States where citrus fruit is grown there are often laws limiting the addition of lead arsenate. Where permitted by State laws, the application of lead arsenate to citrus trees can be considered as required. A tolerance should be established to prevent danger from excessive use. (R. 3408–3417, 3428, 3450, 3454–3475, 3484, 3501, 3539–3546, 3555–3556, 3758–3759)

20. Witnesses familiar with agricultural practices in all parts of the United States testified on the basis of their experience as to the use of insecticides, fungicides, and other pesticides on fruits and vegetables. Some data as to the quantities of residues that might be expected at harvest were available for many such substances. A condensed summation of the testimony as to the use of pesticides has been prepared to show those pesticides recommended by qualified persons or institutions for each fruit and vegetable mentioned in the testimony. Where available, the residue likely to be found before cleaning, if recommendations are followed, is also shown. Where fruits or vegetables are commonly washed, polished, or otherwise cleaned, the probable reduced quantity of residue is also shown.

21. Generally speaking, it has been found that substances that kill insects are poisonous or deleterious to higher animals. Likewise, practically all the substances that are capable of destroying the micro-organisms causing plant diseases have been found to be deleterious to humans. The substances used as weed killers, to defoliate plants, and to affect fruit set and fruit drop often contain chemicals known to be deleterious to humans. For the purpose of applying the provisions of section 406 of the act, it is reasonable to classify any substance falling in the above categories as deleterious substances unless reliable pharmacological experiments have shown otherwise. (R. 31, 62, 4849–4857, 7092–7093)

22. From results obtained in feeding experimental animals, and from physiological or other effects on man where human exposure has occurred, it is possible to predict the probable effect on humans of the long-continued ingestion of poisonous or deleterious substances. In interpreting such data on a poisonous or deleterious substance, the following points must be borne in mind:

a. Any lack of uniformity of response within and among animal species.

b. The occurrence of unusually alarming reactions such as production of cancer or blood disorders.

c. The occurrence of sensitivity, tolerance, or idiosyncrasy in response to exposure.

In predicting the quantity of a poisonous or deleterious substance that may be consumed over a long period without hazard to man, it is reasonable and advisable to assume that:

a. Man is ten times more prone to injury from the substance than other species of warm blooded animals.

b. The most sensitive men are ten times more susceptible to injury from the substance than the average man.

Thus, in dealing with new substances to which the human race has not been exposed extensively, it is proper in estimating the quantity that may be consumed without hazard to man to apply a combination of these two factors and use a combined safety factor of 100. Where there has been extensive exposure of humans to the poisonous or deleterious substance and data are available concerning any physiological or other effects on humans, a safety factor of somewhat less than 100 may be employed. Where unusually alarming reactions have occurred from exposure of humans or other animals to the substance it may be desirable to employ a safety factor somewhat greater than 100.

Combinations of poisonous or deleterious substances of similar pharmacological properties require special regulation. (R. 6897, 7301–7303, 7391, 7393, 8511–8513, 8539)

23. Since many poisonous and deleterious substances are found in pesticide residues and the possible additive effect on the public health from all combinations of such substances is not known, and since the amounts of the separate poisonous and deleterious substances which experts believe may be tolerated by humans without hazard to man are at best only estimates, it will aid in the protection of the public health to limit the amount of such substances tolerated on fresh fruits and vegetables so that in no case is the amount tolerated greater than the maximum amount required for the protection of the fruits and vegetables against pests that may attack them.

24. In establishing tolerances, consideration should be given to the quantities of the different fruits and vegetables likely to contain poisonous residues that may be consumed by humans under any probable condition. Some persons may attempt to exist for rather extended periods on diets consisting almost entirely of one or more fresh fruits or vegetables. No data are available on the amount of the maximum consumption of fruits or vegetables under such conditions. Limited surveys have been made of the quantities of commercially grown fruits and vegetables that have been purchased by consumers for food use.

It is not possible to determine accurately the maximum, minimum, or average per capita consumption of each fresh fruit and vegetable or of combinations of these. There are wide geographical, seasonal, and family variations in amounts and kinds of fresh fruits and vegetables consumed.

Investigations have been made of the fresh fruits and vegetables purchased by households in a few cities in the United States. For the purpose of establishing tolerances it can reasonably be assumed that the fresh fruits and vegetables purchased are consumed. These investigations reveal that citrus fruits and melons constitute the fruits bought in greatest quantity by weight. Generally speaking, tolerances for poisonous substances added to citrus fruits and melons should be limited to the amounts necessary to protect such fruits against pests.

In arriving at estimates of the weight of different fruits that may be consumed regularly, for the purpose of estimating possible consumption of pesticide residues, it is reasonable to assume that quantities purchased per week may be consumed at the same level for longer periods and that the use in estimating consumption of a quantity between the average and maximum amounts purchased is better calculated to insure the purpose of achieving general protection of the public health than the use of the average quantities purchased.

As an estimate of the possible daily consumption of fruits in terms of weight, the following figures may be used as a guide for establishing tolerances:

	Daily consumption in pounds
Citrus fruits and melons	1.5
Apples and pears	1.0

Where tropical and subtropical fruits are used they would replace some of the above, and 1 pound a day would be a reasonable figure for a guide.

In the case of vegetables, potatoes constitute the vegetable used in greatest quantity by weight. Since the insecticides and fungicides used in the production of potatoes normally add to the edible portion of the potato only very small quantities, if any, of the poisonous or deleterious substances used, this vegetable may be considered separately when estimating the weight of vegetables consumed that may carry pesticide residues. As a reasonable basis for calculation, it is unlikely that consumption of fresh vegetables other than potatoes will exceed 1 pound per day. Due to the large quantities of potatoes consumed regularly, poisonous substances added to them should be restricted as much as possible. (R. 6934–6949; Ex. 1065)

25. In some cases poisonous and deleterious substances that occur in pesticide residues may also be introduced into the general food supply from other sources. Data on this point are meager. In the case of compounds containing lead, the average diet contains detectable quantities that may amount to as much as ⅓ milligram a day.

Small amounts of arsenic from various sources are also present in the average diet. This may amount to as much as 0.5 milligram a day.

Compounds containing fluorine are found in practically all ground water. The concentration is frequently less than 1 part per million, the average amount necessary to insure maximal dental health. However, the amount of fluorine in ground water varies considerably from place to place, and is so great (2 to 7.2 parts per million) in a few areas that injury to the teeth results. The balance is a delicate one. Fluorides have been added to the water supply in some areas in which the fluorine content of the water is less than 1 part per million.

Minute amounts of mercury are found in soot and dust. The amount that may be absorbed by humans from such sources is not known.

Selenium is widely distributed in soils. Grains grown in certain areas of the United States contain several parts per million of selenium taken up from the soil. (R. 7012–7037, 6919–6923, 8685–8686, 8694; Ex. 1087, 1088)

26. The adoption of the following principles in setting tolerances for poisonous and deleterious substances in pesticide residues will protect the public health and also enable growers of fresh fruits and vegetables to obtain adequate protection against pests:

a. If the quantity of a poisonous or deleterious substance that may be contributed to the diet from all sources, including that derived from residues on fruits or vegetables when these are consumed in quantities that may be reasonably anticipated, exceeds the quantity estimated to be safe, the tolerance for such substance on fresh fruits and vegetables is set at the point of estimated safety.

b. In the case of such similar or related substances as the arsenicals used as pesticides, the various compounds whose action depends on their fluorine content, and the metallic salts of thiocarbamic acid it is proper to set tolerances for the active components common to each class in order to avoid hazards to man.

In the case of the various chlorinated hydrocarbons, the poisonous properties of each such compound are apparently not directly proportional to its chlorine content. On the basis of our present knowledge, it is proper, in order to avoid hazard to man, to limit combinations of such substances so that if two or more such compounds are present in pesticide residue and the quantity of each compound is calculated as the percent of its applicable tolerance, the sum of such percentages is not more than 100. A similar combined tolerance for organic phosphates is proper.

c. If the total quantity of a poisonous or deleterious substance that may be ingested from all sources does not exceed the quantity estimated to be reasonably safe for consumption, the tolerance for such substance on each fruit or vegetable crop is based on the quantity of such substance necessary to protect the crop.

d. If the quantity of a poisonous or deleterious substance that may be ingested from all sources, including that derived from the use of fruits or vegetables, exceeds the amount estimated to be safe for consumption, but where cleaning methods are available for use in ordinary commercial practice whereby the amount of residue may be so reduced that it, together with the amount derived from other sources, is within safe limits, the quantity remaining after such commercial cleaning is set as the amount tolerated.

e. Although the moisture content of fresh fruits and vegetables varies, it is impracticable to establish tolerances on the basis of the dry matter of such fruits and vegetables, and tolerances for these must be set for each product as it is found, when such product is subject to the requirements of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

27. Some poisonous or deleterious substances are applied to fruits or vegetables in such manner that there is no reasonable possibility that residues remaining when the crop is marketed will endanger the public health. Under these circumstances, a tolerance is not required. (These substances should be exempted from the necessity of a tolerance under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act which became law after the hearings referred to herein.) (R. 776–786, 6900)

28. The following substances used as pesticides do not cause residues that are considered poisonous or deleterious: Sulfur, lime-sulfur, slaked lime. (R. 6899)

29. The following chemicals are poisonous or deleterious. After the designation of each chemical, facts having a bearing on what tolerance should be established are set forth. A conclusion is drawn as to what tolerance should be adopted to protect the public health.

Aldrin. Aldrin is the name recognized by the United States Department of Agriculture for a chemical insecticide containing not less than 95 percent of the compound 1,2,3,4,10,10-hexachloro-1,4,4a,5,8,8a-hexahydro-1,4,5,8-dimethanonaphthalene and 5 percent of insecticidally active related chlorinated hydrocarbons.

Aldrin is a recently developed insecticide that has been found effective against a number of important pests. It has been found useful in the control of grasshoppers. It has been used only to a limited extent on fruits and vegetables but has shown promise in various trials against a variety of insects.

Although it tends to be dissipated after application, residues of aldrin may, under certain conditions, remain for some time. Methods for the determination of residues of aldrin are reported. These include the general method for chlorine in organic combination and a special colorimetric method.

Aldrin is quite toxic. Its use should be restricted as to quantity and the number of fruits and vegetables on which used. (R. 5776–5777, 5785–5788, 8416–8480, 8483–8496; Ex. 903, 1216, 1217, 1218, 1219)

A tolerance for aldrin of 0.1 part per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

Allethrin. Allethrin is a name adopted by the United States Department of Agriculture for the chemical insecticide dl-2-allyl-4-hydroxy-3- methyl-2-cyclopenten-1-one esterified with a mixture of cis and trans dl-chrysanthemum monocarboxylic acid. (R. 6884; Ex. 1062)

This is a relatively new synthetic insecticide material. It has been used experimentally but the record does not show that it is necessary. There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance for this substance.

Arathane. See Dinitrocaprylphenyl crotonate.

Arsenic compounds other than lead arsenate and calcium arsenate. In addition to lead arsenate and calcium arsenate, a number of other arsenic compounds are occasionally used as insecticides. The reasons for using these arsenicals instead of lead arsenate or calcium arsenate is not clearly shown by the record. The following arsenic compounds are involved:

Basic copper arsenate.
Copper-aceto-arsenite (paris green).
Magnesium arsenate.
Manganese arsenate.
Sodium arsenate.

(R. 5229–5230)

Basic copper arsenate has some special fungicidal properties due to its content of copper. It has been used on apples, peaches, beans, potatoes, and tomatoes and has potential insecticidal value in the same way as other arsenicals. (Ex. 834, 1292)

The toxicity of all these arsenic compounds is in proportion to their content of arsenic. The same analytical method for arsenic is applicable to all of them, and analyses are properly reported in terms of arsenic trioxide.

A tolerance based on the arsenic trioxide content such as is adopted for calcium arsenate should be applicable to these arsenicals.

Benzene hexachloride; BHC; 1,2,3,4,5,6-hexachlorocyclohexane (a mixture of several isomers); lindane (the gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride). Both benzene hexachloride (a mixture of several isomers) and the gamma isomer known as lindane have recently come into general use as insecticides. The record is replete with evidence that they are widely used on both fruits and vegetables. The use of crude benzene hexachloride, however, may sometimes alter the flavor of the fruit or vegetable to which it is applied. (R. 6858–6875)

The residues of benzene hexachloride or lindane (when no other chlorinated hydrocarbon has been applied) can be determined by the general method for organic chlorine. (R. 867–868) A specific method for benzene hexachloride has been reported. (R. 872–873; Ex. 152)

Some data on actual residues are reported. These range from less than 1.0 part per million to around 15 parts per million in the case of some vegetables.

A tolerance for lindane of 10 parts per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

Commercial benzene hexachloride containing a mixture of isomers, particularly because of the beta isomer, is more toxic than lindane.

A tolerance for commercial benzene hexachloride of 5 parts per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man. (R. 6488–6489, 6494–6500, 6522–6524, 8497, 8509–8515, 8529–8567)

Bioquin. See Copper-8-quinolinolate.

Bis(2-hydroxy-5-chlorophenyl) sulfide. This is the fungicide designated by the trade name CR 305. (R. 2011; Ex. 430, 787)

Although this chemical is mentioned in the record, sufficient evidence is not supplied on which to base findings as to the need for its use or its safety.

Bismuth subsalicylate. This compound is mentioned in the record as being used on beans for white mold. No information on residue was given. In view of the toxic nature of bismuth compounds, more data are needed before any tolerance can be set. (R. 6901; Ex. 787)

Bis(parachlorophenoxy) methane. This chemical is sold under the trade name of Neotran, and is used as an insecticide for the control of mites.

It has been used on citrus fruits. (R. 3568, 3615, 3761, 3797; Ex. 640, 642)

The record does not contain data adequate to permit an accurate determination of the toxicity of this chemical. There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

CS 645A. A component of Dilan. See Dilan.

Cadmium compounds. The record indicates that the use of compounds of cadmium should be restricted to that which does not add this substance to the fresh fruit or vegetable shipped.

Calcium arsenate. This arsenical was once quite widely used as an insecticide on a number of fruits and vegetables that were not injured by its application. To a certain extent it has been used interchangeably with lead arsenate, but is more apt to injure foliage than lead arsenate. It is now used to a limited extent on a number of fruits and vegetables, such as apples, pears, asparagus, broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, etc. (R. 20–22, 1263–1270, 1854–1858, 2222–2223, 2939; Ex. 835)

The amount of residue on fruits and vegetables resulting from use of calcium arsenate can be determined. (R. 805)

There are little or no data on residues where calcium arsenate was used alone but considerable data on total arsenical residues.

The toxicity of arsenicals is dependent on the quantity of arsenic present. Calculated as As_2O_3, about 3 milligrams a day can be tolerated without hazard to man. (R. 7010)

For the purpose of establishing a tolerance, calcium arsenate should be grouped with other arsenicals and an over-all tolerance should be established in terms of the quantity of As_2O_3 present in the residue.

A tolerance for arsenicals of 3.5 parts per million of As_2O_3 on fruits and vegetables on which they are required will be without hazard to man.

Calcium cyanide. This chemical has a limited use in vineyards and in greenhouses in connection with cucumbers and tomatoes. The record indicates that its insecticidal action is due to the liberation of hydrocyanic acid gas, which is soon dissipated. It is said to leave no residue. (R. 698, 715, 5421)

No tolerance is justified. This chemical should be used only under conditions which leave no residue on fruits or vegetables as prepared for market.

Chlordane. Chlordane is the coined name for 1,2,4,5,6,7,8,8-octachloro-2,3,-3a,4,7,7a - hexahydro - 4, 7 - methanoindene. Octa-Klor, Octachlor, and Velsicol 1068 are trade names for this same chemical. (R. 5592, 5603)

Chlordane is used to protect fruit from attacks by grasshoppers. (R. 739, 1266, 5592; Ex. 155, 527, 530, 721, 769, 834, 886-889)

Chlordane is extremely toxic. (R. 8255)

A tolerance for chlordane of 0.1 part per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

Chlorinated camphene. Toxaphene is the name recognized by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for this chemical insecticide.

Chlorinated camphene has been used successfully on a number of fruits and vegetables. It has about the same potential range of usage as DDT and methoxychlor.

Amounts of residue that may be expected when it is used, in general are less than 7 parts per million. This figure may be exceeded if excessive amounts are used. (Ex. 520, 535, 546, 642, 687, 881)

Residues resulting from the use of chlorinated camphene may be determined by the method for organic chlorine and application of a suitable factor. (R. 807–809)

The toxicity of chlorinated camphene is about the same as that of DDT. (R. 7452–7459, 7541–7549)

A tolerance for chlorinated camphene of 7 parts per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

Chloropicrin. This is a soil fumigant the technical designation of which is trichloronitromethane.

Copper compounds other than copper arsenate, copper-aceto-arsenite (paris green), copper-8-quinolinolate, and cupric - N - nitroso - phenylhydroxylamine. The fungicidal effect of compounds of copper has been known and utilized for many years. Many other compounds of copper are now used. In some of these copper has been combined with organic compounds in an attempt to obtain the combined effect of copper and the organic compound. (Ex. 895)

The toxicity of copper compounds now in use as fungicides, except copper arsenate and arsenite, copper-8-quinolinolate, and cupric-N-nitroso-phenylhydroxylamine, varies only slightly, and they may be placed in one group. (R. 6900, 8596–8605, 8616–8643)

The copper fungicides are so widely used that no attempt will be made here to list all the fruits and vegetables involved. They cannot be used interchangeably, however, as several may cause injury to certain plants. The need for selecting the suitable copper compound is recognized in good agricultural practice. (Finding 20; Ex. 891–899)

If used according to good agriculture practice, no hazard to man will result from the use of the following:

Bordeaux mixture.
Copper acetate.
Copper carbonate, basic (malachite green).
Copper-lime mixtures.
Copper oxychloride.
Copper silicate.
Copper sulfate.
Copper sulfate, basic.
Copper-zinc-chromate.
Cuprous oxide.

(R. 5396–5402, 6909, 8625–8643)

These compounds should be exempted from the requirement of a tolerance under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Copper cupferron. See Cupric-N-nitroso-phenylhydroxylamine.

Copper-8-quinolinolate. This chemical fungicide is also known as Bioquin. The extent of its use is not clear. It is mentioned as having been experimentally used on avocados. (Ex. 642)

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

Craig 341. See 2-Heptadecyl glyoxalidine.

Cryolite (sodium aluminum fluoride). Cryolite has been an important insecticide for use on apples and pears. It now has a limited use on citrus fruits and beans and possibly on other vegetables.

When used on apples and pears the quantity of residue varies, but when apples or pears are washed the quantity of cryolite remaining contains not more than 7 parts of combined fluorine per one million parts of apples or pears. The amount on citrus fruit after preparing for market is somewhat less than this.

Analytical methods are available for determining the fluorine component of residues of cryolite. Excessive quantities of cryolite and other inorganic fluorine-containing compounds in the diet are capable of causing injury to the teeth of children during the period of tooth formation.

A tolerance for cryolite of 7 parts of fluorine per million parts by weight of fruit or vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

Cube, cube root. This is the root of a tropical plant. It contains varying amounts of rotenone. The value of the cube root depends on its rotenone content. See Rotenone for a discussion of uses, toxicity, and tolerances. (R. 6781-6782)

Cupric - N - nitroso - phenylhydrotylamine. This chemical is also known as copper cupferron and M–294.

In recent years it has shown some promise as a fungicide on cucurbits and tomatoes. Experimental work to determine toxicity has been started. (R. 2991, 2995, 6211–6215)

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

D–14: See Disodium ethylene bisdithiocarbamate.

DDD, TDE, Rhothane. DDD and TDE are common names and Rhothane a trade name for 1,1-dichloro-2, 2-bis-(parachlorophenyl) ethane. This compound has also been called tetrachlorodiphenyl-ethane and dichloro-diphenyl-dichloroethane. (R. 6387–6389)

This insecticide is quite similar in composition and mode of action to DDT. The same general analytical methods can be used for determining DDD in residue as is used for determining DDT. (R. 6390–6393)

The toxicity of DDD is comparable with that of DDT. (R. 7893–7900, 7905–7940)

A tolerance for DDD of 7 parts per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

DDT. DDT is the common abbreviated name of a product having the generic chemical designation dichlorodiphenyl-trichloroethane. Technical DDT is a complex mixture containing about 75 percent of 1,1,1-trichloro-2,2-bis(parachlorophenyl) ethane, the other major component being 1,1,1-trichloro-2-(orthochlorophenyl)-2-(parachlorophenyl) ethane.

DDT is used on 20 or more fruits and 20 or more vegetables. Residues in general have been less than 7 parts per million. (Finding 20)

Analytical methods for determination of DDT in residues are available, although such methods do not differentiate DDT from all similar chlorinated hydrocarbons. (R. 781; Ex. 137–140)

The toxicity of DDT has been studied by a number of investigators who are not in complete agreement as to the amounts which can be consumed by humans without risk of injury. Probably this amount is between 2.5 and 5 milligrams of DDT per day.

A tolerance for DDT of 7 parts per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

DFDT (difluorodiphenyl trichloroethane). A product similar to DDT, which contains fluorine as a replacement for the chlorine of DDT.

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

Dichlorodiphenyl ethane. This chemical is listed as a fungicide. (Ex. 787)

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

2,3-Dichloro-1,4-naphthoquinone. This chemical is known under the trade names of Phygon and Phygon XL. (R. 5279)

It is used for fungicidal purposes on plants as well as for the treatment of seed. It has been used to some extent on apples, peaches, tomatoes, and celery. (R. 5298–5321; Ex. 845, 846)

A method of determining the quantity of this chemical in residues has been reported, but no residue data have yet been obtained through use of the method. (R. 5280–5285; Ex. 843, 1256)

There is a lack of data on results of long-term feeding experiments with this chemical.

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

2,4-Dichlorophenoxy acetic acid. This chemical is commonly known as 2,4-D. It is widely used as a weed killer, and when so used it may accidentally contaminate fruits or vegetables. It is applied directly to apples and pear trees near harvesttime to lessen premature fruit drop. The residue resulting from that use is quite small, since the 2,4-D is applied in a very dilute solution. It is also applied to citrus trees. There should be no more residue on citrus fruit than on apples. (R. 1060, 5964, 6074–6075; Ex. 829, 920, 927, 929, 930)

An analytical method for determining 2,4-D in residue has been reported. (R. 6034; Ex. 979)

The amount that could be taken daily without hazard to man ranges from 5 to 10 milligrams. (R. 8070–8075, 8084–8098)

A tolerance for 2,4-D of 5 parts per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

(R. 6078; Ex. 939, 976)

In view of the potential hazards from this type of poisonous substance, residues from it should be held at a low level. (R. 7999–8013; Ex. 1175)

There is no evidence concerning a method for the determination of this chemical in residues on fruits or vegetables.

There are no data as to toxicity of this particular chemical.

Dinitro-O-sec. butylphenol. This chemical is used as a weed killer in connection with the growing of peas. (R. 5942, 5951; Ex. 956)

Its toxicity has not been determined by feeding experiments carried on over the lifespan of the animals. Six-month feeding experiments showed considerable toxicity to rats. It was found to cause cataracts in ducklings. (R. 8033–8041; Ex. 1180)

No tolerance is justified. This chemical should be used only where no residue will be left on fruits or vegetables as prepared for market.

Dinitro-O-cresol (sodium salt of). This chemical has been used as a weed killer and for application to apple and peach trees for thinning fruit. (R. 5943, 5983–5989; Ex. 937–941)

The toxicity of this chemical is high and there was a high incidence of cataracts in ducklings when they ingested it. (Ex. 1175–1176)

No tolerance is justified. This chemical should be used only under conditions that leave no residue on fruits and vegetables as prepared for market.

Di(parachlorophenyl) methylcarbinol. This chemical is sold under the trade names of Dimite and DMC.

It has had some use as a miticide and against red spiders on apples, pears, and peaches and has been used in greenhouses on unspecified plants. No residue data were offered. (R. 9149, 9155; Ex. 1288, 1289)

Where present alone, the quantity in residue can be determined by the Schechter-Haller method for DDT. (R. 9152; Ex. 1289)

Chronic-toxicity data on this chemical are not reported.

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

Disodium-3, 6-endoxo-hexahydrophthalate. This chemical is known by the trade name of Endothal.

It has been shown by experiments to have promise as a herbicide and defoliant. (R. 6203)

Tests to determine its toxicity have begun but have progressed only far enough to show that the product is toxic to some extent. (R. 8799–8808)

The record contains no residue data on fruits or vegetables on which it may be found.

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

Disodium ethylene bisdithiocarbamate. This chemical is known under the common name nabam and the trade names Dithane and D–14.

Evidence shows that disodium ethylene bisdithiocarbamate is not applied as such to plants but that a zinc salt is mixed with it before application, causing the formation of zinc ethylene bisdithiocarbamate. See Zinc ethylene bisdithiocarbamate.

Since the record indicates that the sodium salt is changed to the zinc salt before application to plants, a tolerance for the zinc salt should be set, but not a tolerance for the sodium salt.

Dithane (Z–78). See Zinc ethylene bisdithiocarbamate.

EPN. See O - Ethyl - O - paranitrophenyl benzenethiophosphonate.

Endothal. See Disodium-3,6-endoxohexahydrophthalate.

O-Ethyl-O-paranitrophenyl benzenethiophosphonate. This chemical is also known as EPN. It has been found effective against several insect pests. (R. 6283–6295; Ex. 1008)

There is record of the use of EPN on apples (Ex. 1005–1008), blackberries (Ex. 690), cherries (Ex. 390), citrus fruit (Ex. 642) dewberries (Ex. 690), peaches (R. 6290), pears (R. 1509), pineapples (Ex. 787), prunes (R. 6289), raspberries and strawberries (Ex. 690), beans (Ex. 212), beets (R. 1267); corn (Ex. 698), cucurbits (R. 1266), lettuce (R. 1267), potatoes (Ex. 212), spinach (R. 1266), and turnips (Ex. 212).

The Averill and Norris method for the determination of parathion can be used for the determination of the quantity of EPN in residues. (R. 842–844)

Residue data are reported on apples, citrus fruit, peaches, and pears showing amounts varying from traces to 2–3 parts per million on citrus fruits (the highest reported). (Ex. 642, 1008)

The pharmacological properties of this chemical are similar to those of parathion but it is somewhat less toxic. It is estimated that 4 milligrams per day may be tolerated. (R. 7696–7715, 7716–7722; Ex. 1160)

A tolerance for EPN of 3 parts per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

After washing, amounts found ranged from 1.4 to 6.1 parts per million. (Ex. 1009)

For findings about toxicity and a safe tolerance, see Zinc ethylenebisdithiocarbamate.

Glyoxalidine. This general designation is sometimes used for 2-heptadecyl glyoxalidine. The trade name Crag 341 is also used for this chemical.

H–258. This is said to be an organic compound containing cadmium. The record does not show the definite identity of H–258.

Heptachlor. Heptachlor is the trade name for the chemical 1,4,5,6,7,8,8a-heptachloro - 3a,4,7,7a - tetrahydro - 4,7-methanoindene.

Heptachlor is one of the components of chlordane. (R. 5600, 8330; Ex. 885)

It has proved effective against ants and grasshoppers.

The quantity present in residues may be determined by the general method for organic chlorine. (R. 5601)

The toxicity of heptachlor is probably about the same as that of technical chlordane. (R. 8337–8339)

A tolerance for heptachlor of 0.1 part per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

2-Heptadecyl glyoxalidine. This chemical is also known as Crag 341. (R. 5383)

It has been used as a fungicide for control of apple scab and cherry leaf spot. (R. 5373–5386; Ex. 790, 861, 862)

Hexaethyl tetraphosphate and tetraethyl pyrophosphate. These chemicals are known as HETP and TEPP, respectively. Insecticides containing these substances have been sold under a number of fanciful names such as Vapotone, Killex, etc. (Ex. 180)

Although the two chemicals named above are not identical, the commercial preparations in use under these names appear to be mixtures of the two. Tetraethyl pyrophosphate is the active ingredient of these mixtures. (R. 6549; Ex. 145)

Tetraethyl pyrophosphate is widely used as an insecticide. The residues rapidly decompose into relatively inert ingredients but the undecomposed product itself is extremely toxic. (R. 845; Ex. 1029)

The record shows use on 20 or more fruits and a like number of vegetables. (R. 679, 698, 1063, 1624, 1632, 1964, 3201, 3208, 6563; Ex. 161, 164, 180, 512, 533, 534, 642, 751, 834). There should be no residue problem if these chemicals are applied 3 days or more before harvest. (R. 8580; Ex. 1029)

Although acutely toxic, these chemicals do not cause a residue problem if used according to good agricultural practice. (R. 6904, 8588)

No tolerance is justified. This chemicals should be used only under conditions that leave no residue on fruits or vegetables as prepared for market.

Hydrocyanic acid. This chemical is applied as a fumigant to citrus trees to control scale. The trees may carry fruit at the time of application. The hydrocyanic acid is quickly dissipated, and no residue can be detected after 36 hours. (R. 3727–3728, 3789; Ex. 641)

Hydrocyanic acid is acutely toxic, but under the conditions of use on citrus fruit trees should cause no health hazard to the consumer of citrus fruit.

No tolerance is justified. This chemical should be used only under conditions that leave no residue on fruits or vegetables as prepared for market.

K–1875. See Bis(parachlorophenoxy) methane.

K–6451. See Parachlorophenyl parachlorobenzene sulfonate.

Karathane. See 2,6-Dinitro-6-caprylphenyl crotonate.

Lauryl pyridinium bromide and lauryl pyridimium chloride. There is no evidence of use other than as soil fumigants; no tolerance appears necessary.

Lead arsenate (basic lead arsenate). Lead arsenate has been widely used as an insecticide for many years. Prior to the introduction of organic insecticides it was the insecticide in most general use in the United States. It is still used extensively. (R. 5247; Ex. 836, 837)

Methods are available for the determination of both the lead and arsenic components of lead arsenate. (R. 775, 804–805)

Residue data on lead arsenate are voluminous.

Where several applications of lead arsenate are made to fruits or vegetables the residues will probably be in excess of 7 parts per million of lead before washing; after washing it should be below this figure. (Ex. 23, 34, 54–56, 181B, 183A, 183B, 183C, 254, 258, and others)

The toxicity of lead arsenate to animals and man has been studied extensively. The toxic action of lead arsenate is cumulative. The long-continued daily ingestion of lead arsenate containing more than 1 milligram of lead is not safe. (R. 7034, 7051–7053)

Experience has shown that lead arsenate on apples and pears in amounts such that its lead content is not more than 7 parts per million parts of the fruit is not likely to cause injury. (R. 6989–6991)

A tolerance of 7 parts per million for the lead component of lead arsenate on fruits and vegetables, except for citrus fruit, on which the lead component should not exceed 1 part per million, will be without hazard to man.

Malachite green. Presumably this is the basic carbonate of copper. See Copper compounds.

Mercury compounds. These fall into two classes, one class being for application to seed, the other for use on growing plants. When applied to seed there is no evidence that mercury is later taken up by the growing plant.

The mercury compounds for use on growing plants include phenylmercuric triethanolammonium lactate, phenylmercuric acetate, and phenylmercuric methanol ammonium acetate.

These compounds have been used experimentally as fungicides, and there has been some use on fruit trees before fruit is formed. (R. 900; Ex. 430)

The organic mercury compounds are effective against apple scab and have a limited use on other fruit trees. (R. 922, 2501, 6608–6707)

A method is available for the determination of mercury in residues, and data were presented showing what residues may be expected on apples when phenylmercuric compounds are used against apple scab. (Ex. 831, 1032, 1039, 1040)

The toxicity of mercury compounds depends to some extent on the chemical combination of the mercury. The phenylmercuric compounds are among the most toxic for continued ingestion, since in this form the mercury component is absorbed by the body and is stored. (R. 8644–8652)

The exact combination of mercury in residue from phenylmercuric compounds has not been determined, but there is some evidence that it may no longer be the same as when the phenylmercuric compounds are applied. Mercury that is stored in the body is unsafe in any amount. (R. 6616, 8650)

No tolerance is justified. The compounds of mercury should be used only under conditions where no residue will remain on fruits or vegetables as prepared for market.

Metacide. This is the trade name for the methyl homologue of parathion. The commercial preparation under this designation contains some parathion. (R. 5534–5535; Ex. 878)

The methyl homologue of parathion has the same general properties and range of use as parathion. (R. 5545, 5549–5551)

The Averill-Norris method for the determination of parathion can be used to determine the methyl homologue. (R. 5540)

The toxicity of the methyl homologue of parathion is about the same as parathion. (R. 7251–7252)

A tolerance for Metacide of 1 part per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

Methoxychlor. This is the common name for the chemical 1,1,1-trichloro-2,2-bis(paramethoxyphenyl) ethane. This chemical is similar to DDT in its molecular configuration. It has insecticidal properties similar to DDT, and its use in general parallels that of DDT. (R. 6263–6275; Ex. 1007)

Methoxychlor in residues can be determined by the Schechter-Haller method for DDT. A specific method for methoxychlor is reported. (R. 6346, 6347, 8878; Ex. 1247)

Data showing the residues from the use of methoxychlor are reported for a few fruits and vegetables. Since many of the results reported do not represent amounts remaining after weathering, they are higher than would be expected in the ordinary use. Under normal conditions the residues from methoxychlor should be about the same as from DDT. (R. 6257–6258)

The toxicity of methoxychlor to animals is somewhat less than that of DDT. (R. 7683, 7691–7692; Ex. 1158)

A tolerance for methoxychlor of 14 parts per million on fruits and vegetables on which it is required will be without hazard to man.

Nabam. See Disodium ethylene bisdithiocarbamate.

Naphthalene acetic acid. Naphthalene acetic acid and the sodium salt of beta-naphthalene acetic acid are not used as insecticides or fungicides but as synthetic plant hormones. Naphthalene acetic acid has been used in low concentration to prevent premature dropping of apples and pears. (R. 5960–5963; Ex. 829)

Since this chemical is applied in very minute quantities, the residue, if any, will be low.

A tolerance of 1 part per million will permit all necessary agricultural use and will constitute no hazard to man.

Neotran. See Bis(parachlorophenoxy) methane.

Nicotine and nicotine compounds. Nicotine and nicotine sulfate have been widely used for many years as insecticides on many fruits and vegetables, including citrus fruits and leafy vegetables. (R. 389, 998, 1603, 3045, 3262, 3634; Ex. 20, 22, 71, 161, 178, 232, 253, 327, 509X, 726, 834)

Methods for the determination of nicotine in residues are available. Some data are reported. (Ex. 349, 424, 642)

Nicotine compounds are toxic. When water-insoluble nicotine preparations are employed, a spray residue may result. (R. 776)

No tolerance is justified. This chemical should be used only under conditions that leave no residue on fruits or vegetables as prepared for market.

Octachlor, Octa-Klor. See Chlordane. 1,2,4,5,6,7,8,8-Octachloro-2,3,3a,4,7,7a-hexahydro - 4,7 - methanoindene. The commonly used designation for this chemical is chlordane. See Chlordane.

Octamethyl pyrophosphoramide. This chemical is also known as bis(dimethylamino) phosphonous anhydride. It has been used as an insecticide against aphids and mites in England. The product has not been used commercially in the United States. It is absorbed to some extent by plants on which applied, so that their foliage becomes toxic to some insects. (R. 7794–7801; Ex. 1162, 1163)

Plants sprayed with this chemical were fed to large animals, without evidence of acute toxicity. (R. 7802–7818; Ex. 1164)

The chemical itself is very toxic. No study is reported of its chronic toxicity. (R. 7818–7832, 7851–7862; Ex. 1166)

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

N-Octylbicyclo (2,2,1)-5-heptene-2,3-dicarboximide. This chemical is known as Octacide 264 and MGK–264. It has also been referred to in the record as Van Dyk 264. (R. 6844, 6847)

It has been found useful as a synergist for pyrethrum and allethrin. (R. 6844–6850)

When used as a synergist with pyrethrum this chemical should cause no health hazard if the mixtures are used according to good agricultural practice. (R. 6900)

This compound should be exempted from the requirement of a tolerance under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Ovotran. See Parachlorophenyl-parachlorobenzene sulfonate.

A method for the determination of this chemical in residues on fruits and vegetables is reported. Some data relative to quantity of residue on a few fruits are reported. (Ex. 1250–1251)

The data on the toxicity of this chemical are not extensive. (R. 8126–8135; Ex. 1198)

In view of the lack of long-term feeding experiments, there is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

It has shown some promise for control of mites on apples, pears, prunes, citrus fruit, beans, celery, and cucumbers. (R. 9169; Ex. 642, 1022)

The quantity of the residue may be estimated by use of the organic chlorine method. A specific method for this chemical is also described. (R. 9176)

Residue data on experimentally treated oranges, apricots, and pears are reported. (R. 9173–9175)

Short-term experiments with rats and dogs are reported, but data concerning chronic toxicity of the compound are not reported. (R. 7626–7637, 9178; Ex. 1154, 1154A)

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

2 - (Paratertiarybutylphenoxy) - 1-methylethyl-2-chloroethyl sulfite. This chemical is the active principle of a recently developed miticide known as Aramite. (R. 5327)

It has been found to be useful against mites on apples, citrus fruit, grapes, peaches, apricots, cherries, plums, beans, celery, tomatoes, and strawberries. (R. 8911)

A method for determining the quantity of parathion residue on fruits and vegetables has been evolved, and considerable data on residues are available. (R. 782, 842, 5445; Ex. 147)

Data on residues on applies, apricots, blackberries, blueberries, cherries, citrus fruit, and a number of other products are reported. In general, these results show less than 1 part per million on the fruit or vegetable. (R. 397–400, 1178, 1266, 1273, 1619–1620, 1630, 3016, 3264, 3490, 3560, 3735, 3815, 3818, 3994, 4432; Ex. 62, 84–87, 89, 90, 268, 297, 354, 512, 529, 535, 633, 642, 780, 871, 1246, 1265A)

The acute toxicity of parathion is very great, but it becomes dissipated very rapidly after application, so that it can be used without leaving residues that are actuely toxic. (R. 7237–7250, 7253–7281, 7282–7319; Ex. 1129–1133)

A tolerance for parathion of 1 part per million on fruits and vegetables on which use is required will be without hazard to man.

Paris green. Paris green is the commonly used name for the chemical copper acetoarsenite. See Arsenic compounds other than lead arsenate and calcium arsenate.

P. E. P. S. This is a designation for polyethylene polysulfide. The record does not furnish sufficient data to establish the status of this substance as a fungicide.

Petroleum oils. Several fractions of petroleum are used as insecticides or fungicides. There is record of the use of petroleum oils on a number of fruits, including apples, pears, apricots, berry fruits, citrus fruit, figs, grapes, guava, mangoes, peaches, and plums. (R. 1419, 1772, 3032, 3264; Ex. 161, 230, 291, 295, 548, 619, 834)

Petroleum oils have been used to a lesser extent on vegetables. Use is reported on beans, cabbage, carrots, celery, corn, cucumbers, onions, peas, and tomatoes. (R. 4200, 6742; Ex. 161, 512, 834)

Petroleum oil, when used in this manner, does not constitute a health hazard and should be exempted from the requirement of a tolerance under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Phenothiazine. This chemical has been used as an insecticide on apples. (Ex. 301) A method for the determination of the quantity of phenothiazine in residues is available.

The toxicity of phenothiazine has been studied. (R. 7222–7232)

A tolerance for phenothiazine of 7 parts per million on apples will be without hazard to man.

Phygon XL. See 2,3-Dichloro-1,4-naphthoquinone.

Piperonyl butoxide and piperonyl cyclonene. These chemicals increase the effectiveness of pyrethrum and rotenone and are used in combination with these insecticides as synergists. (R. 6773) They may be used with pyrethrum and rotenone for all purposes for which these substances are used. The toxicity of these compounds is of a low order. (R. 7984–7986; Ex. 1201–1202)

When used as synergists with pyrethrum and rotenone the residues present no health hazard. (R. 6900)

This chemical should be exempted from the requirement of a tolerance under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Pyrethrum, pyrethrum flowers. The basic product consists of the dried flowers of Chrysanthemum cinerareafolium. (R. 6800) The active ingredients of pyrethrum flowers are known as pyrethrins. Ground pyrethrum flowers and pyrethrins in mixtures with various carriers have been widely used as insecticides, particularly on vegetables. (R. 6777) Synergists may be added to increase effectiveness of the pyrethrins.

These substances decompose rapidly after application to fruits and vegetables and lose their toxicity. (R. 6805)

No health hazards are to be anticipated as pyrethrum or pyrethrins, with or without synergists, are used today. (R. 6900)

R–242. See Parachlorophenylsulfone.

Rotenone. Rotenone is the name applied to an insecticide ingredient obtained from cube and derris. Powdered cube and derris roots may be used as insecticides, or the active ingredient rotenone may be extracted and used in various formulations. Piperonyl cyclonenes and other synergists may be added. (R. 6781–6783) Rotenone preparations have been widely used, particularly on vegetables.

No health hazards are to be anticipated from the present-day use of rotenone or rotenone with synergists. (R. 6900)

This substance should be exempted from the requirement of a tolerance under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Ryania. The ryania used for insecticide purposes is the finely ground stemwood of the plant Ryania speciosa. The principal use of ryania is against the corn borer. (R. 5261, 5269–5270; Ex. 840, 842). N-propyl isome is often used as a synergist.

No health hazards are to be anticipated from the present-day use of ryania. (R. 6900)

This substance should be exempted from the requirement of a tolerance under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

SR-406. This is a trade designation for N-trichloromethyl-thiotetrahydrophthalimide. It has sometimes been called Orthocide-406. (R. 6579; Ex. 1030A) The name captan has been accepted by the United States Department of Agriculture for this pesticide.

The acute toxicity reported for this chemical is low. Sub-acute tests are under way. No data on chronic toxicity were available. (R. 7964, 7967; Ex. 1199–1200)

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance for this chemical.

Sabadilla seed. Sabadilla is a tropical or subtropical plant, the seed of which has insecticidal properties. (R. 6448–6453; Ex. 1021A and B)

Sabadilla seed are reported as useful on cabbage and squash.

No health hazards are to be anticipated from the present-day use of this substance. (R. 6900)

Sabadilla seed should be exempted from the requirement of a tolerance under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Selenium compounds. Selocide is the trade name for a concentrated solution of a mixture of potassium hydroxide, ammonium hydroxide, sulfur, and selenium in the proportions corresponding to the empirical formula $(KNH_4S)_3Se$ (R. 6814; Ex. 280 (p. 117)).

The reactions that occur when a concentrated solution of Selocide is diluted with water, as in preparing a spray mixture, are not known. When such a dilution occurs, there is produced a finely divided dark-red precipitate which appears to be the red allotropic form of selenium. This form of the element may be converted into soluble combined states by water and mild oxidizing agents or by bacteria. (R. 6828; Ex. 280 (pp. 117, 144)). Selocide has been used on apples, pears, peaches, and citrus fruit against mites. (R. 6813) Selenium is one of the most toxic elements known. Its chronic toxicity is great when it is present in inorganic or organic compounds. (R. 7554). When selenium is present in the diet of cats in a dietary concentration of about 0.3 part per million, it causes signs of intoxication. (R. 7555). The record is replete with other evidence of the toxicity of selenium compounds. (R. 7553–7616; Ex. 1151, 1152)

Selenium is more toxic to young, growing animals than to adults. (R. 7558)

Small quantities of elemental selenium appearing in the diet over a long period of time may be absorbed. (R. 7613)

No tolerance is justified. Selenium or selenium compounds should not be used under any condition that will leave a residue in or on fruits or vegetables as prepared for market.

Selocide. See Selenium compounds.

Sesamin. Sesamin is the name given to a constituent of sesame oil. This substance has no insecticidal properties but is useful as a synergist for pyrethrum and possibly other insecticides.

The record indicates that its principal use is in connection with pyrethrum as a fly repellent. (R. 6877–6883)

No data on toxicity, if any, of sesamin are reported.

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

Sodium aluminum fluoride. This chemical, when obtained from the naturally occurring mineral product, is commonly known as cryolite. See Cryolite.

Sodium fluosilicate. There is very little evidence about this compound. It possibly may be useful under some conditions, but the evidence does not show what these conditions are.

Sulfur. Sulfur is not classed as a poisonous or deleterious substance.

Tartar emetic. Tartar emetic is the common name for potassium antimonyl tartrate. It has been used, mixed with sugar, for the control of thrips on citrus trees. It has also been used to some extent on onions. In both cases it has been found to be reasonably effective. (R. 7657)

There is an adequate method for the determination of the antimony component of tartar emetic in residues. When used on citrus fruit the residue varies, but may be as high as 10–20 parts per million before the fruit is washed. After washing, amounts reported were below 5 parts per million. (Ex. 672)

The acute toxicity of tartar emetic is high. The chronic toxicity, based on the antimony content, is about the same as that of arsenic trioxide. (R. 7661–7662)

A tolerance for tartar emetic of 3.5 parts per million of antimony trioxide on citrus fruit and on onions will be without hazard to man.

It has been used in limited experiments on lima beans, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, collards, and kohlrabi. (Ex. 472, 527, 710, 733, 857)

An analytical method for determining amounts of this chemical in residues has been worked out. (R. 5322; Ex. 849)

Residue data and chronic-toxicity data are not reported. There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

Tetracthyl dithiopyrophosphate. Tetraethyl dithiopyrophosphate, also known as sulfotepp, has been used experimentally on greenhouse tomatoes, cucumbers, and lettuce. (R. 8850–8858; Ex 1244)

Insufficient data are available on which to base a tolerance for this substance on fresh fruits or vegetables.

Tetramethylthiuram disulfide. This chemical is sold under the designation thiram for agricultural use. The principal use is for treating seeds. No tolerance is justified from such use.

Thiram. See Tetramethylthiuram disulfide.

Trichlorophenol. This chemical is used as a soil fumigant. No tolerance is justified.

2,4,5-Trichlorophenoxy acetic acid, 2,4,5,-T. The record does not permit findings as to the insecticidal or fungicidal use of this chemical.

U. S. I. 469. This compound has been tried experimentally as a synergist. (R. 6773, 6787; Ex. 1053)

Its acute toxicity is low but no data on chronic toxicity are reported. There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

Xanthates. The following xanthates have been recognized to have properties placing them in the class of defoliants and selective weed killers; Potassium ethyl xanthate, potassium isopropyl xanthate, potassium methyl xanthate, sodium ethyl xanthate, sodium isopropyl xanthate, sodium methyl xanthate. (R. 6729; Ex. 1048)

The use of these chemicals has been mainly on an experimental basis. (R. 6729–6731)

No data on residue were presented. All these compounds are thought to break down rapidly into harmless substances but no definite evidence on this point was available. (R. 6731, 7639–7650)

There is no record basis for establishing a tolerance.

Z-78. See Zinc ethylenebisdithiocarbamate.

Zinc dimethyldithiocarbamate. This chemical is known by the coined name of ziram.

Zinc dimethyldithiocarbamate has been used as a fungicide on apples, apricots, cherries, and other fruits and on vegetables. It has the same general applicability as the iron salt. (R. 899, 6303)

For findings about toxicity and a safe tolerance, see Zinc ethylenebisdithiocarbamate.

Zinc ethylenebisdithiocarbamate. This chemical is known under the coined name of zineb and the trade names Dithane, Z–78, and Parzate. The substance is widely used as a fungicide on fruits and vegetables; its use generally parallels that of sulfur. (Ex. 286, 442, 533, 550, 555, 558, 710, 745, 798, 1006, 1010; R. 955, 956, 3310, 3870, 6309)

A method for the determination of this chemical in residues is reported. (Ex. 1012, 1016) Very little data showing residues from actual commercial use are reported.

The toxicity of ferbam, ziram, and zineb is proportional to the quantity of the dithiocarbamic acid component that each contains. Since this is essentially the same for each compound, a tolerance for the three chemicals, singly or in combination, may be established properly in terms of the total amount of dithiocarbamic acid component present in the residue. For practicable application of such a tolerance, the total amount of dithiocarbamic acid component present in residues may be calculated to the corresponding amount of zinc ethylenebisdithiocarbamate.

The acute toxicity of ferbam, ziram, and zineb is low. However, they have goitrogenic properties, and a limitation on the amounts that may remain as residues is required. (R. 7726–7729, 7768–7786, 7869–7886; Ex. 1161, 1168)

A tolerance for ferbam, ziram, or zineb or any combination of the three, of 7 parts per million of metallic dithiocarbamates, calculated as zinc ethylenebisdithiocarbamate, on fruits or vegetables on which they are required will be without hazard to man.

3. The poisonous and deleterious substances for which tolerances are set in proposed § 120.101 are required or cannot be avoided in the production of the fresh fruits and fresh vegetables in or on which residues from such substances are tolerated.

4. The tolerances for pesticide residues provided in § 120.101 will protect the public health.

Therefore, it is proposed that the title of Part 120 be changed to read Part 120—Tolerances and Exemptions from Tolerances for Pesticide Chemicals in or on Raw Agricultural Commodities; that § 120.1 Fluorine; limit for the quantity remaining as insecticidal residue on apples and pears be repealed; and that the following new section be inserted in Part 120:

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

§ 120.101 Tolerances for pesticide residues in or on fresh fruits and vegetables. (a) (1) This section designates the poisonous or deleterious substances that, for the purposes of section 406 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, are found to be required in the production of the fruits or vegetables named in paragraph (e) of this section. The tolerances established for such substances apply only to residues resulting from their application prior to harvest. A tolerance in terms of parts by weight for the poisonous or deleterious substance, or poisonous or deleterious residue resulting from its addition, to 1 million parts by weight of the fruit or vegetable is set forth after the name of each of the required substances.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the following substances are not considered as poisonous or deleterious substances: Sulfur, lime, lime-sulfur.

(b) The poisonous and deleterious substances for which tolerances are established by this section are named by their common names wherever practicable, otherwise by their chemical names or by names assigned to them by the United States Department of Agriculture. For the purposes of this section, the substances for which common, group, or Department of Agriculture names are used are as follows:
